"WHO'S YOUR LITTLE WHOSIT?" THAT'LL BE THE QUESTION AFTER WEDNESDAY

When Wednesday has completely passed, we might know something, that is, something about who's going to be the 1942 Stork Derby Winner.

For six years, merchants of Gatesville have been welcoming this little stranger with gifts, similar to the Three Wise Men of Jesus' time, but they don't call them the thing, but they're valuable to Mama and Papa, not to mention the big boy or girl or both or more that will appear on that day of days, or shortly afterwards.

To date, the "men" are out in front with four wins to 1 over the "ladies" and we really think the ladies ought to get a break again this year. However, that don't come under the head of our business, we just try to do our best to help them get a nice welcome, and we have some in already, and you know, Mr. Merchant, the sky's the limit, and you can add your name to this welcoming committee, just a little advertisement, letting the world know you're giving what.

Now this here baby in question must have a parent or more living in in Coryell county. If they go away to be born, we can't help that, just so their bonafide residence is Coryell county. The reason for this is that there is no (not yet) hospital in Coryell county, and sometimes they're born away. When the hospital's completed, it'll be different. You'll just either have to be born in Coryell county at your home, or in the new hospital, the County-City Hospital, if that's what they are going to call it.

But that's getting off the subject, too, you've got to get the doctor's slip in to the Coryell County News office before 1:00 p. m., January 12, 1942. That's the 2nd Monday in the month. Slip bearer, must bear identification. If you're here before, we'll file them and await that time.

Just for instance, here's some recent winners, Gary Glenn Graf, Harvey Richardson, Vernon H. Wells, Sara Lynn Scott, and John Kermit Derrick.

Donors so far this year besides the Coryell County News are: Mayes Studio & Radio Shop, City Drug Store, Morton Scott, Palace Theatre, Martin's Cleaners, Gatesville Laundry, Foster Drug, Murray Grocery and Market, Gatesville Drug Co., White Auto Store, Wm. Gamblin, Mrs. J. B. Graves, Cozy Cafe, and The National Bank of Gatesville, and your name—

Miss Ruth Rutherford, student at NTSTC in Denton, has been spending the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Rutherford.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The soldiers' quarters on the troopship Somersetshire, carrying Her Majesty's 23rd Royal Lancers, resounds with the men's happy singing as they near their native England after five years' service in India. The regiment is under command of Col. Blair whose wife travels with him. They are joined at Gibraltar by Captain Gilbert Reed, engaged to Lady Joan Anstruther in London. As the ship steams onward, Gilbert meets several of the men: Smith a cultivated youth with doubtful past; Brough, the pompous sergeant; Withers, the chronic malcontent; Bulger, the plump, happy-go-lucky accordion player. On an inspection tour Gilbert encounters Nurse Anne Harrison, beautiful, despite her prim spectacles. They quarrel.

Chapter Two

Gilbert's second meeting with the prim little nurse was hardly more auspicious than the first. He was still on his inspection rounds, accompanied by the pompous Sergeant Brough, when they emerged through a door into the hospital corridor, flinging the door open violently. It banged into a little wagon laden with surgical instruments, bandages and other medical appurtenances, being pushed along the hall by Nurse Harrison. The whole business was knocked to the floor with a terrifying crash. Anne turned on them, her eyes flashing in genuine fury. "Really, Captain, is it necessary to wreck the hospital?" "I'm really very sorry, sister," pleaded Gilbert. "It was an accident." "If you'd look where you were going, it would be easier for me to keep order in the ward," she retorted, unmollified. "I'm extremely sorry," murmured Gilbert humbly, at the same time stooping to help her collect her materials. But while he did so he scrutinized her face closely. Finally, summoning up more daring than he had ever needed on a battlefield, he suddenly snatched her spectacles from her face. Both sprang to their feet, and she stood glaring at him—her lovely features now fully disclosed and made lovelier by her flaming anger. "That's better," he remarked jauntily. "You're charming without them." "Give them back to me," she snapped. "I'm on duty and I'm not in the habit of fooling." Whereupon she popped the glasses back on her nose, wheeled about and marched off, pushing the little wagon before her. That evening in the private salon, Colonel Blair and his next in command, Major Swayle, sat at a table sipping cocktails with their respective ladies. With them, still bespectacled and busily knitting, sat Nurse Harrison. Mrs. Swayle, a loquacious, excessively hearty Englishwoman of the boots-and-saddle school, was regaling them with some of her hunting experiences. Captain Reed approached the table and bowed. "Mrs. Blair, we're dancing an eightsome reel, and we're a lady short. Will you—" "That's much too energetic for me," smiled the Colonel's lady. "Then, perhaps," said Gilbert hopefully, "Miss Harrison—"

At the Colonel's good-natured urging Anne decided to join her adversary of the instrument-wagon episode. "Am I forgiven?" he asked, as they came together amid the maze of the complicated eight-sided dance, executed to the skirling rhythms of the regiment's bagpipers. "For what?" she inquired. "Little matter of discipline," he grinned. "Speaking of discipline, Captain Reed," she returned, "you must realize that a member of Queen Alexandra's Imperial Nursing Service isn't expected to spend all her free time dancing." "I only know one thing better," he answered. "And that is?" "That's my secret. I'll reveal it to you after the dance." But after the dance they found another, more unexpected topic of conversation. When he escorted her back to the Colonel's table they were greeted by the snippish Mrs. Swayle in that lady's most elaborately saccharine tone. "Gilbert, how is your dear fiancée, Joan? What do you think she'd like for a wedding present? Oh, but you're dancing with Miss Harrison, of course—I mustn't disturb you." "You're wrong, Mrs. Swayle," said

Anne coldly. "I'm going back on duty. Good night." She hastened away, followed for a few steps by Gilbert, who then stopped and hesitated in miserable uncertainty. Finally he wandered disconsolately to the bar. Gradually the party at the table broke up, until all had left except Mrs. Blair and Dr. Pearson, the regimental surgeon. As the former rose from her seat, her face was contracted with a spasm of pain and she sank back again. He rushed forward to help her. "I'm sorry, doctor. It's my silly heart again." "Why didn't you tell me before? It seems worse." "I didn't want the Colonel to know." The doctor shook his head gravely. Gilbert routed his inspection rounds that night so as to bring him to the hospital last, after dismissing the sergeant. He entered the ward to find Anne crouching beside a patient who lay still as death. "Who is it?" he whispered. "Private Mortimer, B squadron—pneumonia. He's got to get well—it would be such a pity, now we're nearly home—" "He will," muttered Gilbert. "I believe you could get anything you wanted. . . . By the way, I'm sorry about tonight. That woman evidently doesn't like you?" "She was quite right. A nurse must know her place. And mine is here," she added, turning back to her patient. "Good night, Captain Reed." "Good night, sister—er—what is your name?" "Harrison!" "No — I mean — what's your name?" She turned and considered him a moment; then, with a sudden smile: "My name is Anne." "Anne," he repeated softly. "Good night—Anne." From somewhere below decks a trumpet faintly sounded "Last Post," and all over the ship the lights went dim. (To be Continued)

THOMSON-ANDERSON NUPTIAL RITES SOLEMNIZED IN METHODIST CHURCH

A wedding of paramount interest throughout the state was that of Miss Nettie Jane Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Thomson Sr. of Gatesville, and Hal Anderson of Rockdale, which took place Sunday, Dec. 21 at 1:30 o'clock in the First Methodist Church of this city. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Anderson of Conroe.

The Rev. E. L. Craig performed the single ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms and ferns, interspersed with floor baskets of gladioli and stevia, and lighted by white cathedral tapers in candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a powdery blue two-piece alpaca frock, styled with three-quarter length sleeves, appliqued flowers on the shoulders, a flared skirt, and silver rose-shaped buttons down the front of the waist. Her off-the-face hat was of the same shade blue felt with a blue cushion dotted veil, and her shoes and bag were sherry. For the traditional something old she wore an onyx and platinum bracelet, which belonged to the French Royalty, and had been bought at an antique shop by her grandfather, F. A. Thomson of Temple, for her grandmother. Mrs. Thomson gave it to the bride when she graduated from high school. For something borrowed she carried a linen and lace handmade handkerchief which had been bought in Brussels, Belgium, and belonged to Mrs. Henry Sadler. Completing her costume, the bride carried a white satin muff covered with gardenias and tiny pink roses.

Mrs. L. K. Thomson Jr. of Monroe, Louisiana and Mrs. Henry Clay of Waco, sister-in-law and cousin of the bride, were matrons-of-honor, and Miss Grace McKinney of Houston and Wortham was bridesmaid. Mrs. Thomson wore a gold frock with brown accessories and a corsage of purple anemones; Mrs. Clay's dress was rose with rose and brown accessories and a corsage of ranunculi; and Miss McKinney was attired in a beige suit with which she wore dark green accessories. Her corsage was of ranunculi.

Tommy Wolfe of Hico was best man, and L. K. Thomson Jr. of Monroe, Louisiana and Tom Post Thomson, brothers of the bride were ushers.

Nuptial music was furnished by Jack Reesing of New Orleans, La. and Mrs. C. L. Kirby Jr., cousin of the bride. Mr. Reesing played a prelude of organ music, the traditional wedding marches, and accompanied Mrs. Kirby Jr., who sang "At Dawning" preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Kirby wore a light blue frock with brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of ranunculi.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip, after which they plan to make their home in Rockdale, where the bridegroom is science teacher in the schools.

Mrs. Anderson was graduated from Gatesville High School and attended Southwestern University at Georgetown, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Mr. Anderson is a graduate of Conroe High School, and last spring he received his degree from Southwestern University. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Among the out-of-town people who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Wolfe and Tom H. Wolfe Jr., of Hico; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Weiser, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. ## FLORENCE WINKLER BECOMES BRIDE LAWRENCE MILLER

Miss Florence Ruth Winkler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Winkler of The Grove, became the bride of Lawrence A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Miller of Waco, in a candle light ceremony which took place in the home of the bride's parents Wednesday evening, December 17, at 7 o'clock. The Rev. George Siler officiated. Vows were spoken before an improvised altar, which was banked with bronze and orchid chrysanthemums and sunset roses, inter-persed with ferns.

Miss Wanda Miller sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and was accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Blankenship, who also played the wedding marches.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with fitted bodice, bouffant skirt and long, fitted sleeves. Her veil was fastened to a coronet of lace, and her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums. Her only attendant was Miss Wanda Miller, niece of the bridegroom, who wore a frock of powdery blue with short, puffed sleeves, adorned with a shoulder corsage of chrysanthemums.

B. C. Winkler, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Miller as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. The lace-laid refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of sunset roses. On each side of the centerpiece were tall tapers. The two-tier wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. R. L. Hewett, sister of the bride, and Miss Aliene Hewett served.

Mrs. Miller is a graduate of Gatesville-High school and attended CIA and Mary Hardin-Baylor. Mr. Miller has for the past four years worked in Hearn Hospital, Bakersfield, California, and is now connected with the Air Corps at La Verne, California.

The couple departed Saturday morning for La Verne, where they will make their home. Mrs. Miller chose a suit of luggage brown with green accessories for traveling.

LIBERTY NEWS

By Mrs. Bessie Brown

On our sick list this week we have: Otis Eugene Tyson, Mrs. J. J. Glaze, Mr. Ed Belvin, and Mrs. Marshall Eppler.

Loy Gene Brown and Alvin Kautzsch were here last week. Mrs. Kautzsch and daughter, Annett Joy, returned to Lubbock with them. These young men report they like the West. Mr. Brown is employed by the Central Plains Dairy Association and Mr. Kautzsch is employed as carpenter by a contracting company.

Liberty Methodist Church welcomed their new pastor last Sunday. He is Rev. Bruce Weaver of Jonesboro. Thought very young, he is already a wonderful preacher. His sermon had unusual clearness and unity of thought, and it was delivered with force and clearness. The sincere interest he showed in his work and his pleasing personality has already won many friends.

Mrs. Merrit Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dooley of Ireland visited in the Elam home Sunday.

W. T. Perryman, our school bus driver is spending Christmas in Los Angeles, California with his brother, Ralph, who is engaged in defense work.

Mr. Clovis Belvin has moved his family to Hamilton. We understand that he has a responsible position with the Thompson Lumber Yard. Mr. Belvin is a very successful young man. He is pleasing, capable, and industrious, and he possesses that rare initiative that enables him to make "a go" of his undertakings.

Pvt. Gilbert Newsom, who is stationed with the U.S. Army in North Carolina, is spending Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Newsom. He surprised us all by bringing home a bride. He was married recently to a Miss Slayden, somewhere in the "Old States".

Quite a few changes are being made in our community. The Hoffman family has moved to the J. D. Hampton farm; J. J. Glaze's family is moving to Gatesville, where they have purchased a home; Don Calhoun is moving from Pearl to the Calhoun plantation; Gayle Calhoun is moving to the J. P. Jones home, which he has purchased recently; J. B. Jones is moving to his own farm from his father's place. The Willie Harlien family of Pottsville is moving to the Glaze place that has recently been purchased by the Edgar Newsom family; Mrs. Thelma Hill and son, Bruce, will occupy the Alvin Kautzsch home; Hobdy Hill's family has moved to the James Billingsley place. It is understood that the Wilmer Chumney family will go from Ohio to the Live Oak community.

Fred Hartgraves has had as his week end guest his mother, Mrs. Hartgraves from Jonesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Powell and son, John, were business visitors at the Elam place last week.

America's War Victims Appeal for Your Help

First war poster of the new World War, painted by the distinguished artist James Montgomery Flagg, carries an appeal for a $50,000,000 war fund to aid the victims of aggression upon the United States and its island possessions.

To aid the victims of warfare being waged upon America and her island possessions, the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for a $50,000,000 war fund. Chairman Norman H. Davis announced from the national headquarters in Washington.

Mr. Davis urged men, women and children to give to this mercy fund through their local Red Cross Chapters. These funds will support the Chapter's war work with the families of men in the military services, as well as the broad relief program of the national Red Cross.

President Roosevelt, who is president of the American Red Cross, issued a proclamation urging all citizens to give to the Red Cross war fund.

In launching the appeal, Chairman Davis said:

"There are millions of our citizens who desire today to demonstrate their will to victory over the enemy. Not all can be in the armed forces, and not all can volunteer their services for humanitarian work, but all can volunteer their dollars to arm the Red Cross to be their representative at the scene of battle and distress.

"Today is the day to demonstrate our high morale, our unity, our determination not alone to support our President and our fighting men at the front, but also to insure to our wounded, homeless and suffering fellow citizens in our Pacific Islands that we stand one hundred per cent ready to aid them through the Red Cross."

FACTS
—all flavors!

Did you ever hear two eyewitnesses argue about a ball game they've both seen . . . DIFFERENTLY?

Your newspaper nearly always gets its facts right. It tells you who played, where they played, who won, what the score was. Newspaper men are TRAINED to get facts straight. But, being human, they're not infallible. When the "home-town" paper reports the game—win or lose—it reports it with a little home-town flavor, of course. But it DOESN'T CONCEAL THE FACTS.

Now everybody with any brains at all has OPINIONS. Editors, preachers, storekeepers and ditch-diggers "take sides." Sometimes they agree, sometimes they disagree. In America we give every man the right to his own OPINIONS and the right to speak his mind about them.

educate, inform and influence others by peaceful means. We let any man propose his own brand of religion, his own brand of politics, his own views about laws or behavior. We let competing merchants buy advertising space to state their offers and give their opinions about the wares each believes you should buy from HIM. We let the Red Cross or the U.S.O. solicit support for its work—or let any other organization or cause voice its plea.

Your newspaper—the one you are reading now—is a composite of many flavors. It tries to tell you the facts accurately—and usually succeeds. It tries to tell you what "both sides" of an argument are.

Its news and editorial columns are the PAPER'S honest view of what HAPPENED today and yesterday and what it believes MAY HAPPEN tomorrow. It opens its advertising columns to all reputable manufacturers or merchants or politicians . . . each to tell HIS opinion of what he wishes to sell.

Fact . . . opinion. Freedom to print facts and express opinions along with them. That is the very essence of democracy. Without that freedom—and without citizens CAPABLE of acting in the light of free fact and opinion—there is no democracy!

We even go further, over here. We give every man the right to "AGITATE" for his side—to preach, Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.
