"The names of all characters in today's dramatization are not fictitious, and any resemblance to names of living persons or actual places is purely incidental."

"There'll be Bluebirds Over." Granted! And, there were "Sea Gulls" over the limestone hills of Coryell Tuesday. Guess they'd lost their ship. It's just rained that much! You know, sea gulls follow ships at sea. Maybe they were looking for one here.

Reminding you: Hollywood has not got nearly all the wolves!

And, have a care for your water! More about this, no doubt, later.

$66,518.50 added to $85,235.00 equals $151,752.50. That's the Food Stamp bill for Coryell county for the year, Mty 16, 1941, thru May 15, 1942.

You say, so what? Well, the highest number fed during that period was 2,412 during January, and the lowest month was 1,952.

Well, the county's population is 20,225, less the average for the year of 2,011, leaves 18,214 of us buying our own groceries and not getting any "thrown in." This, of course, does not include the "overhead."

It seems to us, it's time, and high time, we were "watching" some of the pennies that are being spent on this, and other non-defense movements.

Good? Well, we'll concede that. But, so is sugar, so are tires, so are thousands of other things we doing without now. There are, however, a number of these "good" things we "can" do without, too.

It seems at least, inconsistent, to ration commodities, and at the same time, "give" Blue food stamps so other folks can get "double for their money."

Thanks, somebody, for cleaning up N. Lutterloh. It really needed it! This same thing could be tried on any number of vacant lots. Why not Victory Gardens on "spare," and, green beans, peas, etc., would even look nice on N. Lutterloh, not to mention "spuds."

"How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm," after they've gotten the high defense pay. Brother, it's just not being done this season. With common labor getting 50c or more per hour, where's the farmer, or small merchant that can meet, rather, beat that? Frankly, there isn't any, and that, brother, is the cause of the so-called "farm labor shortage," which isn't going to improve any. Then, there's the draft and WPA.

TD School Notes By Our "P. A." And Theirs

Maybe they were washed in with the recent heavy Texas dew, but there were two "soldiers of the sea" here in Gatesville—deep in the heart of . . . mud.

They were 1st Lts.—correction, please—recently promoted Captains Allen T. Barnum and William H. Souder, Jr., Marine Corps officers attending the Tank Destroyer School.

And, being the only two non-Army men in the school doesn't seem to phase these "devil dogs." They feel that odds like 2 to 285 gives the Marines an even break. Army men don't agree.

Acting as spokesman, Capt. Barnum said: "It's a Marine Corps policy made possible through the excellent cooperation of the Army, to keep in touch with Army methods and developments by sending officer representatives to all service schools. All services, Navy, Army and Marines, can learn much from each other's methods, and will learn much thru such means as the Tank Destroyer School.

"For the combat forces, licking the Axis is a three-way job!"

While in Gatesville, Captains Barnum and Souder are residing with Dr. M. W. Lowrey at 1209 College street.

VOCATIONAL AG. EXPERIMENT WITH SUGAR BEETS HERE

Thru the Vocational Agriculture Department in Gatesville, the State Department of Agriculture is giving sugar beet seeds to farmers and vocational boys to experiment with and to find out if this crop will grow in this part of the state. If the sugar beets are a success here in this area, the state plans to erect a sugar refinery.

These beets are planted in rows varying in width from 24 to 48 inches, the grower using his own judgment as to what width row best suits his cultivation. Also, he may plant the seed in any type land he may have, because no one knows definitely on what kind of soil the sugar beet grows best.

CAMP HOOD WORK CALLS

The last number called for work on Camp Hood is: Laborer No. 10,106. If your number is between 1 and above number and you are not working, report to the United States Employment Service office at Belton.

Commander VIII Army Corps Visits TD School Here

Major General Daniel I. Sultan of the VIII Army Corps, with headquarters at Brownwood, paid a visit in Gatesville Wednesday.

Major General Sultan inspected the Tank Destroyer School Headquarters in Gatesville, and later watched demonstrations and field exercises at Camp Hood.

Also, that familiar figure, and well liked Brigadier General A. D. Bruce, Commanding officer of Camp Hood, made one of his frequent trips to Gatesville, and accompanied Major General Sultan on the inspection tour.

Cecil R. Clements Killed in Action In Philippines

Cecil R. Clements, son of John H. Clements of Copperas Cove, was listed as killed in action in the Philippines in the war department's latest army casualty list issued Sunday.

It was believed that Clements, an enlisted man, was either killed or died of wounds in fighting on Bataan peninsula.

Robt. W. Brown and daughter, Martha Clair, went to Stephenville Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. W. S. Allen.

Commanding Officer Mitchell Field, to The Rutherfords

Giving more details on the mission, and circumstances of your and my friend, Pvt. 1cl. William F. Rutherford, Major William D. Hopson, Commanding Officer of Mitchell Field, Long Island, New York, has written Mrs. Mary E. Rutherford, the letter below:

Young Rutherford, member of a five-man crew of a patrol bomber, was lost at sea, Sunday, May 10, "caused by the desire of the crew to go beyond the requirements of duty in carrying out their mission, which led to flight in weather that was unsuitable."

Office of the Squadron
Commander
Mitchell Field, N. Y.
May 14, 1942.

Mrs. Mary E. Rutherford,
408 W. Main St.,
Gatesville, Texas.

My Dear Mrs. Rutherford:
I want you to know all of the details we have been able to ascertain about the accident in which your son, Pvt. 1c. William F. Rutherford was lost.

He, with four others, left Mitchell Field at 11:15 Sunday morning on a patrol flight over the ocean. They were due to return at about six in the evening. At seven when they had not returned, six ships were dispatched to search for them. The mission was unsuccessful. During the night a dawn search mission was arranged that involved possibly as many as 50 airplanes from different organizations. One of these ships ascertained the location where our ship struck the water. The surrounding area was combed thoroughly and the balance of Monday and Tuesday. These combing patrols located both life rafts, unopened, and debris representing integral parts of the airplane which could not have been dislocated unless the airplane struck the water with terrific force. A fog bank was lying across the patrol course at this point at the time it is estimated that the ship arrived.

It is the opinion of many of the pilots of the Squadron that the accident was caused by the desire of the crew to go beyond the requirements of duty in carrying out their mission, which led to flight in weather that was unsuitable.

Your son gave his life to our country on a flight that was highly important to the government and vital to our National Defense. I hope that knowledge of this may be of some consolation to you. Please accept the heartfelt sympathy of our entire organization.

Hwy. 36 "Thawed" Work Was "Froze"; Begins Soon

County Judge Floyd Ziegler advised Thursday that the proposed 3½ miles of construction on Highway 36 has been "thawed out" or "unfroze" and that work would start on this project within the next few weeks.

Instead of a contract job, it will be done by State Highway Department maintenance crew. A permit for the construction was granted by the State Highway Department by authorization thru the federal government, which now controls highway construction thruout the USA.

Copperas Cove-Gatesville
Six and one-half miles of right-of-way beginning at Copperas Cove, toward Gatesville has been approved by the federal engineers and the plans for the construction have been ordered.

Also, the highway department has been instructed to start plans for this end (the 6½ miles) on to Gatesville. All of which sounds interesting, and very necessary.

INVASION PLANNED

London, May 20. (AP)—Britain intends to make a carefully planned attack against the Nazi-held continent, the government assured the House of Commons Wednesday, but until such an attack can be prepared it regards continued bombing of Germany as its best contribution to the war effort. It seems to us, action, without the words, would be better. Why tell 'em!

RAIN HELPS SINO DEFENSE

Chungking, China, May 20. (AP)—A heavy downpour, perhaps the beginning of the months-long summer rainy season, drenched the southwestern Burma-Yunan battlefields Wednesday as China hastily strengthened defense along the Indo-China border to the south and fought to stem the Jap offensive on the eastern coast of Chekiang. We can sympathize—we've had rain, too.

WASHINGTON NEWS
FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN
W. R. POAGE

Both Houses have passed the bill providing for an increase in pay for our soldiers and sailors. The Senate bill fixed the pay of a private or apprentice seaman at $42.00 per month (just exactly double what it is today). The House raised this to $50.00 per month. It is impossible to know just at this time what the Conference Committee will finally accept. It is, however, quite sure that there will be a substantial increase in the pay of all enlisted men and a $25.00 per month increase for second lieutenants and ensigns. The bill does not provide for any increase in pay for the higher officers. The entire increase is a temporary one, and the pay increase ceases one year after the end of the war.

I think these pay increases are entirely justified. I have never known why any man who has serving his country in military or naval service where he was not only subject to duty 24 hours per day, seven days in the week, and where he was constantly exposing his very life should not get as much as the man who worked short hours and in absolute security in an office or factory. I realize, of course, that the soldier is furnished his "board and lodging" as well as clothes, which the civilian employee must pay for himself. I realize that the American Army is the best fed and the best cared for in the world and that under this bill, with the exception of the Australian, be the best paid army in the world. I felt the increase was justified and was happy to vote for it, although I felt that it would have been wise to pay a part of the increase in war bonds.

It is expected that within a days the Military Affairs Committee will bring out a bill to provide allotments for dependents of men in the service. While the details may be changed, General Lewis B. Hershey, chief of the selective service, has recommended that the government allow $20.00 per month to a wife and $10.00 per month for each child. He proposed that the soldier or sailor be required to match the allotment for the wife. In this way the families of service men would have at least some income assured them. I think some such allotment should and will pass.

The House has also passed a bill to increase the enrollment at West Point. At present, each congressman is allowed to make nominations so as to keep three cadets in the Academy at all times. This means an average of three-fourths of a nomination per year as the course of study requires four years to complete. At the beginning of the war the Army had a large number of reserve officers, and it is not likely that the boys who enter West Point will see any service in this war. It is, however, thought that the facilities of the Academy should be used to the utmost and that the additional boys could be cared for without enlarging the physical plant. The bill has not yet passed the Senate, but if it does, it will mean that there will be a very short time for the selection of cadets, as the new class must begin its studies by July 1. Our district did not have a vacancy at West Point this year, and we have more than a hundred applications now on file. Many of these boys will not be able to qualify without an examination, but there are many who have all the necessary academic work. I presume that nominations will of necessity be confined to this group.

The Senate has finally passed the bill creating a Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, and the President has named Mrs. W. P. Hobby of Houston as director of commanding officer. I did not vote for the creation of this Corps. I had hoped that it would not be necessary to induct women into our fighting forces, but if it is necessary, then women in uniform should enlist just as men do and be subject to all Army regulations.

This bill does not make members of this Corps either civilians or members of the Army. I still doubt its practicability, but I am sure that the President could not have found a more capable commander. Mrs. Hobby is a native of the 11th District. She was born at Killen and reared at Temple. If it is possible to make this Corps function as it should, she will do it. The Corps will be open to voluntary enlistment within about three months. Its members will receive the same pay as soldiers and must be between 21 and 45 years of age.

Mrs. Buster Cummings and son, Jimmy, of McKinney are visiting in Gatesville. Misses Marvene Powell and Ruth Williams were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. U. Z. Touchstone.

SJTS Has 2 Tilts On Weekend Diamond Card

The State Training School's talented nine will have a busy weekend, as they meet the Deaf School of Austin Saturday and a team comprised of stars from Levita and Jonesboro Sunday.

The State, which always boasts a fine club, are due to find plenty of competition when they tangle with the Austin lads, who, according to Rabon Blach, State manager, are finished performers, despite their handicaps.

Just how strong the Levita-Jonesboro club will be cannot be determined, but in the past years, Jonesboro has always been a strong contender for the county championship.

Both games will begin at three p. m.

Truck Company Softball Team To Play Locals

A hard-hitting crew of softballers, sporting the colors of the Provisional Truck Company, which is stationed in our fair city, open civilian-military athletic competition tonight when they meet a local team composed of performers who played in the old City League, which has not seen actual competition for two years.

Red White, the city's softball zealot, will manage the Gatesville outfit. Manager White has not given his starting lineup, but did say that Woody Wilson, ace moundsman for the Coca-Cola Bottlers when that team was annexing championship after championship, will open in the box for the town club. The battery for the truck company is not known.

This twilight contest is due to start at 7:45.

SPORT SCRAPS

By POST

Tonight at the Municipal Stadium, a local softball team will do battle with a team from the Provisional Truck Company. The game is to start at 7:45.

Nothing is known of the strength of either team. The Gatesville team has not even had a workout, and will probably look ragged tonight. Woody Wilson will pitch for the town boys, but the starting hurler for the army team is not known.

There is a city league in Temple already under way, with the Quartermaster detachment club there being the classiest outfit of the organization. Wednesday they walked the Community Natural Gas team of Temple, 12-7, easing off after running up a 10-0 count in three innings.

Softball out at Camp Hood has been slowed up considerably by heavy rains of the past few weeks. B Company of the 893rd Tank Destroyer Battalion, is leading the league at present, and are heavily favored to go on and cop the title. C Company, boasting a powerful aggregation of sluggers, will probably finish in the runner-up position.

The Camp Hood baseball squad opened their season by handily trimming the State Training School squad Sunday, 9-4. These two clubs will probably meet for a return game soon.

Efforts are being made to organize a league embracing Gatesville, including all army units stationed therein, and Camp Hood. These plans received a severe blow when it was decided to have the annual rodeo, thus removing the athletic field as a place to play. The town team, a CCC squad, the truck company, and three or four teams from the Tank and Tank Destroyer battalions were listed as possible entries.

Rain and mumps disrupted the high school's spring football program so badly that interested fans know no more about the potential strength of the squad than they did at the close of last fall's schedule. The '42 schedule is due to be released soon.

Mrs. M. J. McWilliams of Ft. Worth visited friends here this week.

GAS RATE REDUCTION BEING MADE BY LOCAL COMPANY, 15TH

A flat reduction of 10 cents per thousand cubic feet in local natural gas service rates for residential and commercial customers, effective with meter readings May 15, is announced by Community Natural Gas Co. This decrease was made possible when the Lone Star Gas Co., the pipe line company, voluntarily agreed with the Federal Power Commission to reduce its rates by that amount. The over-all saving throughout Lone Star Gas system will be approximately $2,000,000 per year.
In announcing the reduction, Chester L. May, president of the Community Natural Gas Co., said the flat 10 cent decrease off present rate forms would stand for the present while the company is conferring with the Texas Railroad Commission on a new rate schedule most advantageous to consumers, particularly during the winter months.

Explaining the reasons for the large reduction, officials of the Lone Star Gas system stressed their desire to put all energies into the war effort and to dispense with extended litigation.

"During its 33 years of development, Lone Star Gas system has poured large amounts of capital into the company in order to insure dependable gas service," said D. A. Hulcy, Lone Star president. "The area served by the system has reached an all time high in industrial, commercial and residential expansion, resulting in an increase in volume of gas normally used. Because of long preparation, we are prepared to meet the requirements of these larger demands and now with our system built up, we are pleased that under present circumstances we are able to give our customers a substantial reduction and at the same time dispose of all rate controversies. It is our earnest hope that, as we all adjust ourselves to the war effort, sufficient new peace-time uses for gas service can be developed for the future to justify this low rate indefinitely."

SAMUEL GOLDWYN presents
Jascha HEIFETZ
They Shall Have MUSIC!
 ANDREA LEEDS · JOEL McCREA
 GENE REYNOLDS · WALTER BRENNAN
 Directed by ARCHIE MAYO

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
 Frankie, anxious to repay the kindness shown to him by Professor Lawson and his lovely daughter Ann, does his best to save the Lawson School for Music from its many creditors. Meeting Jascha Heifetz outside Carnegie Hall, Frankie exacts a half-promise to help from him, and this incident is exaggerated until it is believed that Heifetz will play at the school's concert himself. When his side-walk pals try to help him by stealing Heifetz's $70,000 Stradivarius, Frankie sees this as a means of persuading Heifetz to come after all, and reports the discovery of the violin to the police. Meanwhile Peter, Ann's fiance, is using his own methods to get Heifetz to the school. Frankie is arrested, but is able to see Heifetz at the police-station and tries again to persuade him to help.

Chapter Six

Unaware of the storm around it, the concert at the Lawson School of Music was in full swing. Bursts of applause greeted and said goodbye to each number, to each young artist. In the audience, poorly-dressed mothers, fathers, aunts, uncles, sisters, brothers, friends listened with a rapt attention that ited the children forward, and up to a greatness they had not yet known in their lives. And the Professor was deliciously happy. A police car drove up to the curb outside. Six policemen and a lieutenant jumped out, followed by Flower and the truckman. The women on guard were helpless, and stepped aside. Ann saw the police, and was terrified. The lieutenant addressed her. "Miss Lawson! These men have an order from the sheriff's office—" "Please—won't you wait until the concert's over?" "Nothing doing!" Flower interrupted. "They told me Heifetz was coming and I believed them." "Sorry, lady—" Betty, whom Frankie adored, was singing, and melting the hearts of all except Flower. Ann pleaded with him. "Please, Mr. Flower, won't you please wait. . . Why take it out on those poor children—they haven't done anything to you—" "I'm not going to wait another minute!" he said loudly. "Quiet, you!" a policeman barked, and Flower blinked. "This kid's good—" Then Betty's number was over, and over the wild applause Ann heard Flower order his men to the stage. "Wait a minute," she called. "Let me break the news to my father. He doesn't know this is happening." But when she came to him, he was bubbling with delight over Betty's performance. "Where were you, Ann? Did you hear her?" "I want to talk with you, Dad." "Not now, darling. I have to make a speech—" He left her abruptly, to go before the curtain, and Ann stood in the wings with the ecstatic children. While he spoke, and told of the school's great plans, the children's expression turned to horror. Their next number was to have been a symphonic arrangement, played by the town's best players. And now, right now, Flower and his men were removing the instruments. They turned at Ann's skirt, but she could not look at them, and could only avoid the mass of upturned, pitiable faces. When the Professor came off the stage, Ann came to him, and her tone and words were unfathomable to him. "Listen, Dad, we've always managed to get along, haven't we?" "Yes! For Heaven's sake, Ann!" "Promise me, darling, no matter what happens you won't get discouraged—" "Discouraged! Are you crazy?" "Oh, Dad—" Then she broke, and fell sobbing into his arms. She released herself, determined to tell him. And suddenly there was the sound of a violin, a lovely, liquid sound. "That's a good tone," murmured the Professor. "Mmmm. Mmmm—very good—very good. Who is that?" They moved out of the wings, to where they could see. Ann stared. Her face lit up. "It's Heifetz!" she exclaimed. "Heifetz!" The Professor's voice was an echo, quivering with surprise and astonishment. The children crowded around them, unaware of what was going on, knowing only that it was great music. Heifetz was standing next to a wall, near the audience, and from his treasured Stradivarius came the glorious strains of "Tchaikowsky's Melodie".

Frankie hobbled over to the group standing in the wings. "I told you he'd come. The second he found out—he said—'don't worry, nobody's gonna shut your school down'—" "Frankie, you darling!" Ann whispered, embracing him. "You did it!" "Gee, Miss Ann—" "Hey, give me one of those," Peter said to Ann. "I chased him all over town—" Ann was in his arms, ecstatic. "Darling!" The Professor patted Frankie's cheek. "Frankie . . . I was worried about you—," he said. "But listen to Heifetz! That's the way you're going to play some day—like Heifetz." In the vestibule, Flower's men were being hurried by Flower himself. "Get a move on! Didn't you hear what Heifetz said—put all that stuff back!" And up the steps from the street came a brilliant group, dressed in splendid evening finery. The Duchess, for whom Heifetz was to have played, spoke to her hostess. "What is this place, Mrs. Whitehead?" "I don't know, your Highness—but he said if we wanted to hear him play, we'd have to come here." "Charming! Charming!" When they came into the auditorium, Heifetz was playing, and the Lawson School's orchestra was his accompaniment. Frankie nodded, his tongue stuck out between his teeth. He winked at the Professor, who was in his own little heaven. He was conducting the Lawson school children's orchestra, the great work of his life. And Jascha Heifetz was the soloist. The next day, Jascha Heifetz, giver of life to great music, became the sponsor of the Lawson School of Music. In the evening the entire school, along with the Professor, Ann, Peter, Frankie, Socha, Peter and Dominick were Jascha Heifetz's guests of honor at his concert in Carnegie Hall.

of their achievements. The squad, which was coached by Captain Ralph Eldridge, consisted of the following men who were college and high school stars prior to their induction. Heading the list was Staff Sgt. Al Joern, formerly a star with the University of Minnesota; Corporal John Keller, captain of the Ford City Penna., high school team, which won the championship of Penna.; Tech 5th Gr. Joe Howley, a Duquesne Prep star, and voted the most outstanding player of the league; Corp. Pat Adamo, Elwood City, Pa., boy who was high scorer of the league; Tech. 5th Gr. Burwell Wilkes, Harvard University basketball and football star; Privates Ben Whalen and Bob Seldomridge, former team-mates on the Lancaster high school team of Penna.; Tech. 4th Joe Cwyk, a star on the Centrol Catholic high of Pittsburgh; Private Joe Henard, who was all-state forward from Tennessee in '37; Al (Whack) Hall, Baltimore high school standout, and voted the most outstanding basketball player on the post.

Word has reached your correspondent of the transfer of Pfc. Frank Reddington, Former Navy Canaan, Conn., four letter man and Golden Gloves champ from Connecticut. The transfer will occur on the even of Reddington's scheduled bout with Frank "built when feat was cheap" Brennan, thus leaving the camp heavyweight championship still in doubt. Reddington, who barnstormed thru-out Europe, meeting the best of his profession, will enter the Officers' Candidate School at Camp Lee, Virginia, and will pursue a commission in the Quartermaster Department. Hence, the 893rd will lose one of its most outstanding and popular men, but it is the Quartermaster's gain.

Scoop: Ever since Tech. Sgt. Sinclair's wife has arrived in Texas, he is all full of smiles and not so rough on the clerks in the Personnel Office. But the clerks are still waiting on the steak dinner he promised the boys at their new home—he always did brag about the wonderful groceries his wife prepares!

Boys Now Go To 1st and 2nd Draft Registrants

Questionnaires (occupational) will be sent to the First and Second Selective Service Registrations who have not been inducted into the armed forces, it was announced by Gen. J. Watt Page, state director. They will be out by the end of May.

The government wants to know not only what they are doing, but also, what they can or might be able to do to assist in the war effort.

The local board plans to have all these out by May 27, and emphasizes the necessity for accuracy and the completion of these forms. THEY MUST BE ANSWERED IN INK. You have TEN DAYS in which to answer this questionnaire and return to the local board.

Beginning Wednesday, May 27, there will be assistants on the second floor of the courthouse to assist in filling out these between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Read the questionnaire carefully, and give the information exactly as it is called for and you will be able to complete 9 out of 10 without assistance.

Boys Taken Here From Minnesota; Fight Over Spoils

Two youngsters, 16 and 17, were picked up by Sheriff J. H. Brown, and the car they were driving, all from Minnesota. The boys were Richard Ackerman and William Meeds.

Sheriff Brown said the car they were driving had a driver's license belonging to V. V. Workman, a traveling salesman of Red Wing, Minn., and the boys were said to have confessed to having robbed a butcher shop in Crisco, Iowa, and possibly Lime Springs, Ia. In the car was a box of candy bars, cakes and other eats.

In an argument, said to be over the dividing of the spoils, some $17 and the "eats," one of the boys cracked the other over the head with a pop bottle. This caused them to be caught, as they went to a local doctor to be treated.

They were held in the local jail, and the FBI was called, since this is a Federal case, an alleged stolen car taken across a state line.

"Horrible Creature" A Coryellian From North Side

J. M. Hollingsworth, up north in Coryell county, so far that his address is Valley Mills, brought us a bug.

A localite said it was a cockroach, but we don't think so. It has that added something, and it's not an O. G., either.

No tellin' what you can find in these parts, and for a better name, we're calling it a Jap bug. It's that bad.

STATE SCHOOL HEAD SPEAKS TO OPTIMISTS IN WACO TUESDAY

R. N. Winship, Jr., superintendent of Gatesville State School for Boys, was the principal speaker at the Tuesday luncheon of the Optimist Club, Waco.

"Boys released from the school are being swiftly absorbed in war work, and contractors are asking for more of them," Mr. Winship said.

Boys here are not released until they can find work, and many are not able to find work in their home towns.

Explaining the local school is not a penal institution, but really a school where boys are taught how they must act to get along in the world, Winship asserted that of the 600-odd at the school, there are none who cannot be successful citizens if they are given a helping hand when they are released, but, this, he said, was up to the individual.
