GATESVILLE, TEXAS 5c A COPY VOLUME X
FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1942 NUMBER 50

This here shore must be a big war. Looks like there's enough equipment in Coryell county now to whip nearly anybody. Men, too.

The vice-consul of Chile, representing the USA there, said at Lions Club Wednesday, the first three he looked up in any town, was the publisher, law enforcement officials and doctors. That's a nice "plug" for your paper man. We would like to see it universally adopted.

Here's one we clipped from a "clipper", "Vignettes of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, Sunday.

"Employment Item. If all the paper printed by Government press agents, was laid sheet on sheet, it would stretch from h—l to the fourth dimension.

"If all this hooey was printed by newspapers, country semi-weeklies would pass New York dailies in size, and become priority patients for the sheriff's department, after the bankrupt notice had ben posted on the front door.

Boy and Girl Scouts gather it and the Government scatters it to the four winds. Nice work, keeps everybody busy. Bill Rutherford in the Moore County News."

This ain't bad, either: — and Taxes, Too? Did you ever stop to think just how much money a billion dollars is?

If a person started his own business in the year 1 A. D., with a billion dollar capital, and if he managed to run his business so poorly that he lost $1,000 each day, at the present time he would still have enough capital to continue in business, still losing $1,000 a day, for almost an additional 800 years — or until the year 2739 A. D. If you don't believe that, figure it out and see for yourself. W. H. Cooke in the Rockdale Reporter."

Therefore a billion dollars must be a lot of money. We just don't know.

The name of this column is also the name of a motion picture. We wish we could do as well as the motion picture.

Three More Men Missing, Captives Or Interned

Carl McClendon, who handles soldier problems for the American Red Cross, announces three more men, according to the Red Cross are carried by the War Department as "missing in action, captured or interned."

They are Gus N. Dycus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evie Dycus of Rt. 1, Copperas Cove; Lester E. Hoard, son of Mrs. Exer M. Hoard, Rt. 1, Ireland, and George F. Ray, son of Mrs. Margaret Ray, Rt. 1, Oglesby.

Elbert B. Tipton, son of Henry E. Tipton of Rt. 1, Copperas Cove has been granted a medical discharge.

LESTER BOONE

Pledging himself to "an all-out war effort," Lester Boone, Fort Worth Representative, has formally announced his candidacy for the Texas Railroad Commission, and called attention to the fact that it was one of Texas' most vital factors in the war effort. He further pledged in his announcement to attend all commission meetings.

Boone, who is now serving in the Texas Legislature from Fort Worth, sponsored the Omnibus Tax Bill which made possible the payment of old age pensions, teachers retirement pay, aid to the blind, and aid to crippled and dependent children. As a member of the House Military Affairs Committee, he aided in the passage of the Texas Defense Guard Bill, which became a law, thereby giving Texas greater security in the present crisis.

"I pledge an administration of harmony and will cooperate with other members of the commission," Boone said in his announcement. "I pledge myself to an all-out war effort in this vital department of State Government and will attend all commission meetings."

ARMY TAKES OVER GATESVILLE LADY; NOW WITH W. DEPT.

Technically, that might not be exactly correct, that heading. . . Anyhow, Mrs. Howard Franks is no longer acting secretary of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce. She's been taken over by the Army or War Department, and is now "with the colors." She is assisting in the "billeting office" in the front end of the library in the City Hall.

Mrs. Tom Mears is back at her desk as Secretary of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce.

J. MILTON PRICE HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF BEAT 2

To the voters of Commissioners Beat No. 2:

First I want to thank each of you who have helped me in the past and am thanking you in advance for your help and favors in the future. I hope to see each one of you personally, but if I do not, please take this statement as a personal solicitation for your support.

Due to weather conditions the past year and this year, our road conditions are bad and there is a great deal of work that needs to be done and that I would like to do and I intend to now as long as I am Commissioner, take the "Tank Destroyers Almost Destroyed" In Crash Wed.

No, it's not that bad! No one was seriously injured Wednesday morning when a wooden stand erected in front of the City Hall collapsed with the combined weight of almost 200 officers.

A score of student officers of the Tank Destroyer School were injured as the stand came down. They were o pose for a picture.

It is believed that the stand, put up on Tuesday evening, was weakened considerably by the rain during the night before.

There was no panic, as befits a group of soldiers, and the injured officers were taken care of immediately in the Army Dispensary in the City Hall building. All students returned to Class Thursday morning.

"Double Header" 26 Cars and 2 Express Cars

It was a sight for sore eyes, especially since we've been used to seeing either "mixed" trains or just plain small rights.

Wednesday evening, with a looking in, a double-header with 26 Pullmans and two express cars rolled into the local station.

Aboard was the personnel of the 638th Tank Destroyed Battalion, who landed and took over in a hurry, fading into the night toward their bivouac.

Coming in recently, we've got ten these numbers officially, the 703rd, 818th, 634th, 638th and the 804th. What are the real numbers we are not informed, but there's a lot of everything here, along this line now.

It's awfully hard to write a self-censored story and tell something without telling anything.

TWO NEW BUSINESS! ROLLER RINK AND BLUEBONNET CAFE

Well, you might say, eat at the Blue Bonnet Cafe and roll it down at "Red's Roller Rink, RRR!"

Cause Red McCoy's opening his roller rink, and Dick Whigham's took over Paul's Cafe, and is running it under the moniker, "Bluebonnet Cafe."

USO Religious Committee Named; Other Plans, Too

USO, meeting with citizens in Gatesville has named a Religious Committee, chairmaned by Rev. Lawrence Hayes, pastor of the First Baptist Church, with Rev. Hayes representing the religious committee on a new Management Committee which was named as follows:

Eiland Lovejoy, Howard S. Compton, Dan McClellan, George Painter, Robert W. Brown, H. K. Jackson, and Ercell W. Brooks.

Brigadier General A. D. Bruce of Camp Hood has been asked to assign an officer to represent the army on the above committees.

USO plans are developing rapidly, and as soon as architects' plans have arrived from New York City, work will start. Much of the equipment needed in the program will be purchased in Gatesville and the merchants are urged to contact R. W. Palmatier regarding bids to be placed on materials needed, and you may phone number 345.

Programs for soldiers will be put on in the very near future, using other facilities in Gatesville for the present. Mr. Palmatier has requested the citizens of Gatesville to continue saving magazines and books for the soldiers; and he would like to have them left in the USO building and time from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Thursday the Management committee of the USO visited Brownwood to observe buildings, programs, and to consult with the USO staff for the purpose of orientating the committee to the work which will be carried on in Gatesville.

ROY EVETTS HAS A STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF BEAT 2

To the voters of Beat No. 2: Again, I place myself before the people as a candidate for County Commissioner, Coryell Co., Beat No. 2.

I would like for each individual to consider this a personal solicitation of your vote and support. Due to tire rationing, I will be handicapped in making a house to house canvass, but will conduct an active campaign and try to see each voter before the election.

If you people will elect me your Commissioner, I will do all that

WASHINGTON NEWS
FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN
W. R. POAGE

As I see it, too many people in the government are trying to use the war as a means economic reforms in which they are interested. I don't believe that the war should be used to pet schemes or plans. We must win the war, or all of our social and economic program will be lost. When we have won the war, we can then decide how far we want to go toward collectivism or individualism. Right now both groups are trying to secure the advantage. Today the house passed the regular appropriation bill for the Federal Security and related agencies. This is the bill which carries the appropriation for the CCC and the NYA. Both these agencies have undoubtedly done some very fine work, and during the period of depression there was a very real need for both. There are some people who feel that these and all similar agencies are not a proper function of government. Other people want them to be a permanent part of our government. I feel that both these groups are wrong. I think that in times of depression it is proper for the government to provide employment for its young people, but I don't think that it is desirable to have our young people lean on the government when they could the return of widespread employment much of the justification for the NYA is gone, and the Committee cut its appropriation to approximately one-third of what it was last year. I voted for the cut, but realizing that the NYA is conducting a very fine vocational training program for our war industries, I did not vote to wipe out the entire agency and thereby destroy the usefulness of the training centers and machinery that are now available for defense work. More than 5-6 of the funds appropriated for NYA are earmarked or national defense training and work.

On the other hand, I felt that the regular work of the CCC could not be justified at this time. Any necessary work that the CCC is now doing could be done by regular workmen, and surely no boy can say that he must look to the CCC for a job at this time. This bill wipes out the appropriation for the CCC. I supported this cut

It is the so-called "liberal group" that has tried to use the war as a means of retaining all of these alphabetical relief agencies regardless of their need. On the other hand, it is the money interests and particularly the major oil companies that are trying to use the war as a means of destroying all of the independent gasoline dealers, oil producers and refineries. They are making a terrible effort to secure nationwide gasoline rationing regardless of the fact that there is no shortage of gasoline in much of the country. Of course, if they are successful in this, they will do unspeakable injury to our section of the country, and as I see it, they will do nothing to aid in the winning of the war. On the contrary, they will take away the incentive to produce some acceptable substitute for rubber tires. I fear that this also evidences the same defensive attitude that has characterized so much of our military policy. I feel that we should take the war to the enemy and that we should seek to solve the rubber problem by attacking it and putting something on the wheels of our automobiles - not by stopping them.

The same issue of this paper that carries this letter will also carry my formal announcement for reelection to Congress. It has always been my policy to suspend these letters during a campaign. While I am fortunate and will have no opponent this year, it is not fair to expect the newspapers of the district to publish these letters during a campaign. To do so might cause misunderstanding. This will, therefore, be the last letter until after the election. If the people and the papers then feel that they care to have these reports, I shall resume them. In the meantime, I want to thank all of my friends and particularly my newspaper friends for your very kind and generous indulgences.

Coryell County wool was this week entered in state-wide competition at the wool show at Rankin. Two of Seth Turner's fleeces were sent to this show. They were of exceptional good quality, long staple, and shorn from very smooth ewes. The fleeces of tremendous weight which may cause a discrimination. Seth is the president of the Purlmela 4-H club. Seth is especially interested in sheep and has a very nice start of the better kind.

Why not turn those large grade sows into registered bred gilts? The money they will bring will buy a choice registered gilt in many cases and further raise the quality of Coryell County hogs. Some people are heard to say they are not interested in purebreds, grades are better, etc. Just here we should like to emphasize the fact that any time a grade is better than a purebred it is because of the purebred parents somewhere in the breeding. We can depend more certainly on the offspring from purebreds. There isn't any just argument for every man who has a brood sow for that brood sow not to be a purebred in Coryell County because the prices of our purebreds are practical farm prices and not inflated breed prices: How about it? Let's turn that grade sow into a registered gilt. There are many advantages. When the buyer wants feeder pigs, purebreds will feed just as well and in many cases much better. And when he wants registered pigs, we are ready to fill the order—two chances to make money instead of one.

Saccharine is a coal tar product which is 300 to 550 times as sweet as sugar but which has no food value. In using it to sweeten canned fruit or other fruit products, it should be added just before serving and not with the fruit. Cooking saccharine brings out a bitter flavor. Naturally the use of saccharine does not effect the consistency of jellies or preserves. It may be purchased at drug stores in powder or tablet form. Its most satisfactory use is for sweetening beverages.

Sugar Substitutions in freezing fruits: The dry sugar pack for freezing fruits is recommended over the syrup pack now. Use one part of dry sugar to six parts of fruit. However corn syrup can be substituted for sugar syrup in freezing 1 cup corn syrup and 1-2 cup water or 1-2 cup corn syrup, 1-2 cup sugar, and three-fourths cup water.

THE NEWS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

When William Gow, dictatorial provost of the Scottish town of Baskie, brutally refuses help to the widow Hegarty whose beloved dog Patsy faces execution because she is too poor to pay his license fee, a scathing article is written against Gow by Frank Burdon, idealistic young newspaperman. Gow's political chances are greatly damaged by the resulting storm of public protest. Gow's daughter Victoria, with whom Burdon finds himself falling in love, persuades him to sign a retraction; but he changes his mind when the provost continues to persecute Mrs. Hegarty. Instead he has the dog stolen from the authorities. Meanwhile Gow is entertaining at dinner Lord Skerryvore, political leader whose support he seeks in the coming election. While Skerryvore questions him about the unpopular dog episode, they are interrupted by a bedlam of dog barks on the lawn.

Chapter Five

Gow, Skirving, Lord Skerryvore and the other men rushed out to the balcony, where they were joined by the ladies, all of them drawn

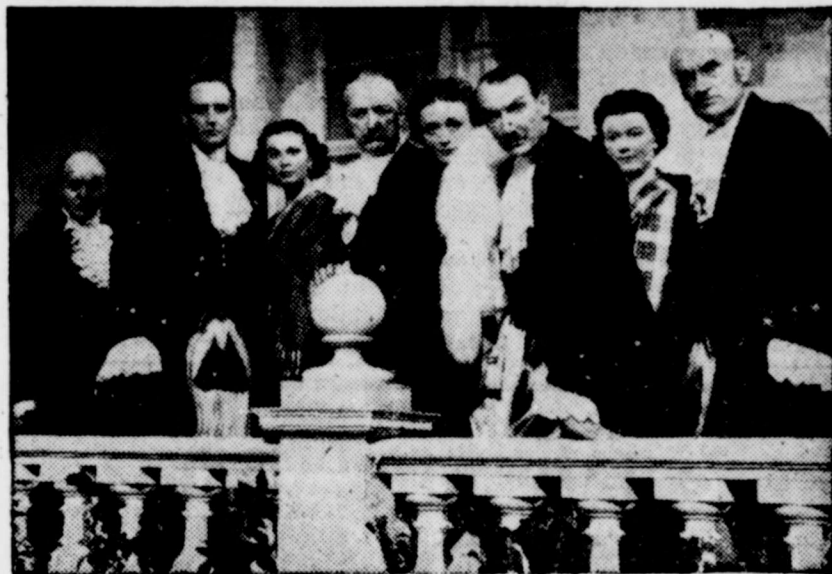

Then Constable McKellar, puffing and grunting, rushed up to Provost Gow to impart his devastating news. "Oh, Mr. Provost, he's gone! Patsy's gone!"

"And who's Patsy?" demanded Skerryvore.

"M-m-mrs. Hegarty's lord, your dogship!" the policeman blurted out.

"Storm in a teacup, eh? Embarrassment of youth, eh?" cried the great man. "Call my car!"

But he was not to escape so easily. To get to his car it was necessary for his lordship to go back through the house; and the house was now literally swarming with dogs. Dogs of every color, size, shape, creed and denomination; dogs that paced to and fro on the floors, overran tables and chairs, chewed at cushions and yanked off tablecloths. First Skerryvore, and then the still expostulating Gow and his retinue, were swamped by the mass of caninity which packed every room and barred entrances and exits. At last, while a Great Dane demoralized Gow by putting its paws affectionately up on his shoulders, and a nondescript pooch wrestled with Lisbet Skirving for her fur cape, Lord Skerryvore half-slid and half-tumbled his way through the canine morass and gained his car. Climbing into it with his companions, he drove off in one of the highest dudgeons ever seen from the house by the infernal chorus of yapping and barking that filled the air.

The sight that greeted them was one never before beheld by human eyes. Swarming all over the lawn were scores of dogs of all sizes, all shapes, all breeds and some of no discernible breed. They ran up and down, back and forth, some ran around in circles, and others tried repeatedly to climb up the balcony wall. And always and continually they kept up their unearthly chorus of barks and howls. Flitting here and there in the darkness, always keeping among the shadows, the figures of a few men could be vaguely discerned, urging the pack forward closer and closer toward the house.

"What's the meaning of this tomfoolery?" roared Skerryvore, standing on the balcony and gazing down on the sea of apparently demented dogdom.

"Really, my lord, I —" Horace's stammered attempt at an explanation was drowned out by a renewed swelling of the bedlam of barks.

Then, before he could regain his composure or his voice, a photographic flash bulb winked from among the dark shadows on the lawn.

"What — what —" began Lord Skerryvore.

"Thank you," called the photographer jauntily. Another flash bulb went off and another "thank you" was tossed at them as the newspaper men packed their equipment and vanished.

in Scotland.

A moment later, as Viccy stood on the balcony almost in tears, she saw Burdon appear on the lawn and beckon to the men who were herding the dogs. "That's enough, boys! Call 'em off, now!" Then, seeing Victoria, he called gaily: "Oh, hello!"

"I never want to see you again!" she cried, and went into the house. From the outskirts of the lawn the hunting horns began to sound, and the dogs, with a final tumultuous rush, came pelting out of the house and were gone down the road with even more suddenness than they had appeared.

In his library, after the noise and excitement had cleared, Provost Gow bitterly held a post mortem on his blasted career as politician and man of the people. Though Victoria was present and deeply felt his hurt, the one most ostentatious in her sympathy and most tender in her ministrations was Lisbet Skirving. Then, turning on Victoria, she snarled, "And you! You've worked against your own father, carrying on with that rotten little bounder! ... Ah, Willie, my darling, my love, they can't do this to you!"

She threw her arms around Gow, who sat silent and unprotesting.

"Here, here, what does this mean?" bawled Skirving.

"It means," said Victoria dully, "that I'm not wanted in this house."

Slowly she went up to her room.

FOX FLASHES

By PFC Joseph I. Fox

One of the celebrities of A Co. is Art Fairfield. Art, whose home is up Indiana way, before his induction into the armed forces showed great promise as a leather pusher, fighting his way up from the amateurs, preliminaries and club fights to the dream of all fighters, a match in the Garden.

Art fought at Hostac, the Seattle, Washington boy, who if memory serves correctly, later beat Babe Risco for the Middleweight title, a title held by such ring immortals as George Chips, Les Darcy, Vince Dunee, Teddy Yaroz, Freddie Steele and Ken Overland.

Altho handicapped early in his career by the amputation of two fingers on his left hand, Art went on to even greater heights.

Lillibridge is seen every morning at ten-30 leading a group of tyro buglers towards the woods.

Did you know that in civilian life Robt. McDowell was a dancing instructor.

Things I'd like to see: A Jit-terbug contest between Tony Campagna and Kerstan.

McGlumphy, when he meets the sender of the fan mail, he receives every mail call.

They say that Joe Vedderman and the light of his declining years are heading for the (h)alter.

Michel Dutkovitch is fixing to do it in the very near future.

Lt. Davis, Sgt. Florke, Sgt. Swayna, Corp. Toso, and Corp. Wolcox left A Co. this week.

Oh, for the Life of an Army Mess Sargeant!

Listen well to this saga of the mess sargeant.

Every soldier has a desire to be a mess sargeant sooner or later in his Army career, especially if he isn't catered to according to his palate.

They wail if the drinks served aren't up to their expectations and your scalp is hung up to dry if they don't get that choice piece of meat.

When they are in line at chow, you can have all the good nourishing food the Army serves yet you hear, "If I was home I'd have a steak as big as a sheet." I wonder if that is true. When they come into the Army, often thin and seemingly undernourished, they soon fill out on the chow fed them. It fills out thin spots in their make-up.

When the old mess sargeant goes to bed at night, he wonders and his nightmares begin. I wonder if the cooks will oversleep? Will they turn off the alarm clock and go back to sleep? Will they burn the toast or fry the bacon to crisp? Where did those K. P.'s go? Every time I turn around they disappear. I'll have to rope them to keep them on the job. They didn't peel enough spuds. Oh my, why can't I sleep? I catch the blame if all those things happen.

But—if I do put out a good meal do I get the credit? Oh, no. The cooks do. Sure they pat me on the back and congratulate me for that meal but a little while later they are at my throat again. If the food is prepared badly I'm on the carpet and the morale is shot. A good meal and again they are ready to go down on any enemy in sight. Where did them K. P.'s go this time? *

Corporal Ira Harden is an ardent amateur photographer and has made up the necessary time to pilot an airplane. He has fond hopes of eventually piloting a plane for the Army Air Corps.

Pfc. Agrietti was once a head waiter at the famed Stork Club in New York City. In his position he personally met many famous personages in the film, political and sporting worlds. He has told many stories about them at play. Some stories, too.

What sargeant has been asking for a re-match with a certain business man in a near-by township?

Climaxing the annual inspection of the Fairmount Park Guards in this city of "Brotherly Love" a service flag was raised by the Mayor of Philadelphia, in token of the 22 men in the armed forces, one of those stars represent Corp. McClafferty.

Pvt. Rebonold has issued several statements to the effect of his attempted hook-up with a certain lassie from town.

A national magazine will soon put out articles of note about a certain fighting outfit near Gatesville.

Who is "Paul Bunyon" of "C" Co? And HIS Blue Ox?

Pvt Sheldon Harris was happily visited by his folks from Jefferson, Iowa, recently.

Pvt. Hardin says that he is a corn shucking champ. "Why," says he, "I shucked corn one time so fast that I hooked my knife in my belt, threw myself into the wagon and seventeen earch o' corn hit me. I used to wear the bang-boards into sawduse every day had to replace them while shuckin, on the side." Liars Club move over for a new member.

A song hit due soon to appear on a hit parade has just been written, entitled "Hup, Hup, Hup-Police, Hup-Police, Hup-Police, Police Hup." It is a swingly, tingly tune.

Sports Hits and Errors.

Whereas, "B" Co. won the first half and "C" Co the second half of the 893rd Softball League, a playoff of three games will be played, the winner taking two out of the three for the Battalion Championship. The games will be played on Friday 12th, Monday 15th, and Tuesday 16th.

Lieut. Hunter has been appointed the new Morale and Athletic officer.

"C" Co. Wins 2nd Half Crown.

A hard-hitting, fast fielding C company softball team defeated B company, the first half champions, to gain the right to play B in the playoffs, 12-5. The game was enlivened by the playing of the Camp Hood band, led by Warrant Officer Joseph B. Renn. Walos, C company's ace hurler, copped his seventh straight game.

C company opened their scoring barrage in the first frame, when two walks and a single by Vich-tat sent Zyki scampering across the plate with the initial counter. Pieczynski singled and drove in two more tallies.

B almost shelled Walos from the box in the first chunker when two doubles, a single and a long homer by Manula gave the B club a 4-3 lead. C regained the lead in the second inning, when two errors and a single by Walos accounted for two more markers.

B tied it up 5-5 in the fourth, but the C sluggers scored three in the sixth and added ofur more in the seventh to walk off with a lop-sided win.

PROVISIONAL CHATTER

Here comes that breeze again—you know, after a calm, then the storm. Well, this doesn't compare with the Wyoming gales, but it will do in a pinch—if you pinch hard enough—after that thorough going over by the local Electric Co. in a gruelling 7-inning softball encounter the Tent-happy-Gaffers are slowly but surely recuperating.

For the week-ed diversons Sgt. Connors tries his hand at herding pigs—he just about gets them into the pen and a stubborn, indignant individualist takes a deour—oh, I live the life of a pig.

Oh, did you know that I'm the official president of the rovisional Kennels Association? Well, almost, for we now have but three dogs.

PROVISIONAL goes to the party, yes, we did—everybody was there. Among the noted celebrates for Captain Hilton's "Coming Out" party was Major Mathewson, Captain Woods, and Captain Walther. Oh yes, I do wish you could have seen the Gaffers in that new sensational evening attire for those who know it pays to look your best by wearing the latest creation of our Uncle. All joking aside it was quite a dinner—all we needed was Ralph Gingsberg's Palmer House String Ensemble for we sure had a festival.

The growing list of those unfortunate Tent Happy jerks is mounting daily. K. Raeburn about just topped the list last week—why?—well, can he help it cause San Antonio is so far away—and to top it off that man Robert Taylor was there, too.

There is local clique called the Royal Ten—is that enough said? Well, anyway, I take my hat off

"The mail must be snowbound between here and Massachusetts" so says Bill Whelihan.

I wonder what the home town drizzles of "Stony" Dean, R. Swartz, "Hooper" LeComte, K. R. the Jones boy, the Duck, Hamilton and many others too numerous to mention will be thinking with their correspondence taking a decided drop.

This is a poor excuse for a let-

Not to change the subject, fellas, but did you notice the very decided increase of the so-called weaker sex credit the doors of high learning for they have once again closed and turned its offspring out into this cruel, cold-hearted world.

This edition is strictly off the cob, so I promise the next will be much "greener."
