

BIG PARADE, RODEO AND FRONTIER CELEBRATION FEATURES OPENING DAY!

Khaki, colorful cowboy-girl regalia, horses, sweat, dust, visitors, reunions, fun, relaxation, good-times, and first but here last, parade featured the opening of the Gatesville Sixth Annual Rodeo and Frontier Celebration.

Nearly 10,000 citizens, strangers all to this part of the country were in and around our quiet little country town, seeing probably what they'd heard of, but never seen, a Texas Rodeo, Texas style, 1942, down her "where the heart of Texas is."

A far-flung cry from the old chuck-wagon scene on this page

where on the range the cowboys and their cayuses ranged around the wagon and camp fire after tough, tiresome, troublesome days on the range. They were not in a joyous mood. They were tired, and this was the "oasis" in a desert of tough, hard, endless work, beset by outlaws and Indians, and with their smoking six-guns, the Law of the Land where a man was a man according to his six-shooter.

Folks, the "shokus" (a la Austin Doolittle of the '6666 Ranch') is on! It's fun time. It's time to treat our "guests" those nearly 800 who live right here in Gatesville with us, and those many thousands more that are in Camp Hood, just a very few short miles south of us, and those other Central Texans who are going to grace our Rodeo and Frontier Celebration by their presence.

They, you, and all of you are WELCOME!

Right here, let us pay a little tribute to the boys who'll handle this rough stock, and who will have a part in the fast movement of the show.

First are the Judges, Shorty McCory and Buck Jones (no relation of ours, and we doubt if of Buck Jones of the movies), and the pickup men, Andy Bode and Henry Savage.

Too, there are other helpers, less conspicuous but very essential, and they are Ernie Barnett, Ralph Collier, Herbert Fizzell, Ralph Collier, Jack Tarver, Melvin Harper, C. W. Butterfield, Eugene Cavender, Tony Fenach, Ike Tacker, Charlie Pharis, Rufus Morris, Joe Vinas, Frank Griffin, and Vick Rogers, who are cowhands of the first water, and will assist in handling the ruly and unruly stock so the "shokus" may go on.

Goina see you at the Rodeo!

It Happened June 5 Here: Reader's Digest Has Story

June 5, the News carried a story in the "Camp Hood" news sub-headed "School Notes" regarding Lt. Col. Warren J. Clear, U. S. Military Observer from the Far East.

Brig. Gen. A. D. Bruce introduced Lt. Col. Clear, who then told the students of the TDS a vivid tale of war in the far reaches of the Pacific, marked by his own narrow escape from Corregidor in a submarine.

July issue of The Readers' Digest, has as its No. 1 article, headed:

"Eyewitness Epic—The Heroic Defense of the Philippines," by Lieutenant Colonel Warren J. Clear, U. S. A., which tells of his escape, and of the heroic stand on Bataan, and the heroic defense of Corregidor. Also, he relates some of the serio-comics of the defenders of these two outposts.

When Lieut. Col. Clear was here he told the OOC about his experiences in the Far East.

News does originate in Gatesville.

fourteen years experience as a teacher and director of athletics in schools of Texas.

USO Money Drive Not Breaking Any Speed Limits!

Come on, Give! Gatesville and Coryell County's USO quota is $2,220.00.

Todate (yesterday) cash donations and pledges in Gatesville were only $692.75, and from the rural communities $168.51. That makes the total about $861.26, and that leaves a matter of $1,358 to go.

Now, folks, let's loosen up a bit. You're going to see a lot more than this $2220.00 spent right here in Gatesville, and see it used by the many thousand men stationed in Camp Hood, right under your very eyes. You've given to every thing under the sun, it's true, but you've never given to something that you can "see" spent right under your very nose.

Make it your slogan: "See it, and more, spent in Gatesville" if you must.

Anyway, let's close up this deficit—you can leave it at any bank, or if they're closed, we'll take it, give you a receipt, and turn it over to the proper authorities.

Dave Culberson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Culberson, Sr., has recently been promoted from Second Lieutenant to First Lieutenant. Dave is stationed at Oakland Municipal Airport in Oakland, California.

Contract for USO Club Let Yesterday: 1st Dance Fourth

Contract for the remodeling of the Compton building on East Main Street was let yesterday, according to Dick Palmatier, USO head here.

This will include five showers, a lounge, laundry facilities, a 60x60 dance floor of colored asphalt tile, repainting the building, new lighting fixtures, screens, venetian blinds, and equipping the building with attractive furniture.

There are now four ping-pong tables, and a new game called "piddle-paddle". Work is expected to be completed by the second week in July, and the date of the dedication and grand opening will be announced soon.

Saturday evening, July 4, the first official USO dance will be held, with an orchestra from the various battalions furnishing the music. A committee of local women is being formed to aid in the arrangement of the dances, and wives of army men now living in Gatesville are urged to get in touch with Mr. Palmatier to discuss how they can assist in the USO work.

All girls, 17 or over, who would like to serve as USO Hostesses, helping with much of the work at the club such as handling the wrapping station, information desk, assisting the preparation of programs, parties and activities. These girls will be under guidance of the program director. The Junior hostesses will not attend the weekly dances but they will find the work interesting and will be very helpful in entertaining the soldiers.

Magazines are still wanted, and people of Gatesville have been bringing them in and are urged to continue.

Plans are being made to run programs at the camp areas once a week until the USO Club is ready. Local talent is needed and would be appreciated.

Collective nouns: Fly-paper, waste-basket, and vacuum-cleaners.

In response to requests for preserve recipes using substitutes for sugar the following have been found satisfactory:

Honey Peach Jam

¾ teaspoon allspice
3 teaspoons broken stick cinnamon
1½ teaspoons whole cloves
3 pounds peaches
2 cups honey
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup peach juice.
Put spices in chesecloth bag. cook all ingredients slowly until of desired consistency. Remove spices. Pour into parafin or seal.

Peach or Pear Pickles

3 cups honey
3 cups vinegar
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt.
Bring these ingredients to a boil. Add fruit and cook until tender. Pack in sterilized jars, cover with pickling syrup and seal. For pears and peaches stick two or three whole cloves in them and allow stick cinnamon to cook in the pickling syrup.

In substituting corn syrup for the honey, use 5 cups corn syrup and omit the water.

In general, Corn Syrup is fair in making preserves and jam when it is used with an equal amount of sugar. It is not so good for jelly for it takes longer to jell and is somewhat sticky. Corn syrup is quite good in canning fruit because it does not mast its flavor.

To make a light syrup use ½ cup corn syrup and ½ cup water. If honey is used for canning fruit, it is best diluted with ¾ cup of water to ¼ cup of honey. It is done by bringing the water to the boiling point, adding the honey, bringing to a boil, skimming off the foam before pouring over the fruit.

Honey make a jelly with a good texture but the color is dark and the flavor is strong with honey. It is best to use one-half sugar and one-half honey in making jelly. Since honey foams much when cooking, it is necessary to use a large kettle to keep it from boiling over.

In sweetening fruits, cereals, ice cream and beverages, sugar can be made to go farther by converting it into a syrup 1¾ times as sweet as sugar as follows: Mix 1 cup sugar and 14 tablespoons water. Add ¼ teaspoon tartaric acid (which is obtained at a drug store.) Cover and boil gently thirty minutes. Allow to cool. This is "invert sugar syrup." Each cup is equal in sweetening to a cup of sugar.

Strawberry Preserves

Take 3 cups corn syrup; boil until it begins to form a thread. Add 1 cup of strawberries and cook 10 minutes, add another pint of strawberries and 1 cup of sugar sprinkled over the top; keep this constantly boiling and boil about 10 minutes. Remove from fire and allow foam to come to the top to be skimmed off. Cool, pour into sterilized jars, cover with wax and seal at once.

Note: In using honey for this recipe, take 2 cups honey and boil until it thickens, then follow the remainder of the recipe as stated.

CHAIN OF TIRE TAKERS IS TAKEN AT BROWNWOOD

Sheriff J. H. Brown said yesterday thirteen men, part of them ex-state boys had been taken in around Brownwood, and had been stealing tires throuout central Texas.

Most of the men lived in Brownwood, and among the catch were tiers taken from John Burney, and there will be music, and just miles west of Lamesa.

A great advantage of silent contempt is that it often prevents a black eye.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY
By Charles O. Hucker

ONE LAST WORD OF THE CRONKS

Many are the legends concerning the Carankawa Indians which can be turned up in books about old Texas, a few of them told with a sort of awe, others with great good humor. Some have from time to time appeared in this column—the legend of Martin De Leon's ridiculous Cronk hunt, for instance, and the story of their reputed annihilation during the Texas Revolution. Possibly it's time now for one last word on the subject.

The final say in this case belongs to J. H. Kuykendall. It is an article—and one of the few bits of Cronk literature in existence which smacks of authenticity—which he wrote for the 1872 Texas Almanac, included in a long file preserved in the famous Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library.

Kuykendall falls under the spell of the Cronk tradition in only one respect: by conceding that, although there were eight noteworthy tribes in Texas when Stephen F. Austin first brought colonizers to the coast in 1822 (the Comanches, Wacoos, Towaccannies, Ionies, Kechis, Lipans, Tonkawas, and Carankawas,) "the last named were the most remarkable."

The Cronks As Giants

"The men were of large stature, six feet high," he wrote; "and the bow of every warrior was as long as his body, and as useless in the hands of a man of ordinary strength as was the bow of Ulysses in the hands of the suitors of Penelope; but when bent by one of these sons of Anak, it sped the 'cloth yard' arrow with deadly force two hundred yards."

Denying the romantic tradition that they were cannibals, however, Kuykendall stated that the Cronks were predominantly fish-eaters. The cannibalistic notion, he pointed out, developed from the fact—equally true of the Tonkawas, "if not all the Texas Indians"—that they occasionally ate bits of the fish of brave enemy at tribal ceremonial dances "to inspire them with courage."

Quite thoroughly, also, he demolished any "noble savage" idea his leader might have by portraying the Cronk as an incurable mischief-maker, a thief and a murderer. The Catholic Church built a mission at Refugio especially for the benefit of that one tribe, but had no success with it; and Austin's colonists found it necessary again and again to give them a good beating in the field, despite repeated promises of good behavior made by the Cronks only to be forgotten.

Their Tribal Fate

Around 1843 the survivors of these continued attacks—numbering then only fifty warriors, women and children, Kuykendall believed—at last retreated from Texas once and for all and were allowed to settle in the Mexican state of Tamaulipas. "At this time he proclaimed in the '70's, "it is probable that the Carankawa Indians are entirely extinct."

Not satisfied with that, moreover, Kuykendall projected his statement to include all the other tribes he had mentioned. "The conclusion is inevitable," he prophesied, "that in a score or two of years, all the smaller tribes and bands will become as extinct as the mammoth and the mastodon which preceded them."

"The Comanches," he concluded, "being still a large tribe with extensive hunting grounds, will last somewhat longer; but they, too, are fast approaching the termination of their tribal existence; and the child is now born who will live to say, 'The Comanches are no more.'"

100 YEARS AGO IN TEGAS

"We had quite an alarm in town on Saturday night. A report was brought that a party of Comanches had been discovered on the Brushy, and were approaching the city. It was afterwards ascertained that the party, consisting of three or four hundred warriors, had gone towards Nashville, and that a party of one hundred citizens of Robertson and Milam counties, with the Lipans and Tonkhuwas, have gone out to attack them. It is believed they will be dispersed with little difficulty."

"Correction.—The Editor of the Morning Star, says he has been informed that the annual expense of transporting the mail from Houston to Austin, is $12,000, par funds, and adduces this as an argument in favor of the removal of the seat of government. This is an error. The expense of transporting the mail from Houston to Austin, is only $3,500, par funds. His argument therefore falls at once to the ground."—The Texas Centinel (Austin,) November 4, 1841.

Women's Society of Christian Service Studied China Tuesday

On Tuesday afternoon the Woman's Society of Christian Service met in circles, the Bell Bennett Circle met at the home of Mrs. Ross Woodall, and the Mary Sue Brown Circle met at the home of Mrs. Mason Crawford.

Mrs. D. K. Porter was leader of the meeting of the Bell Bennett Circle, and the group had as its topic "China." Mrs. Percie Witt led the devotional, and Mrs. C. H. Wallace gave a discussion on China. After a round-table discussion, light refreshments were served.

The Mary Sue Brown Circle had as its topic, "West China." Mrs. M. H. Shepherd, Sr., led the devotional. Mrs. E. L. Craig, as leader, gave a discussion on "Ginglin College." Other discussions given were by Mrs. H. C. Stinnett who spoke on "The Hope of China's Rural Millions," Mrs. Francis Caruth on "The Art of Cooperation" and Mrs. Joyce Ryan on "Ginglin Makes Her Place in the West."

Seventeen members and one guest were present.

Rites Unite Roy Pennington And Mrs. Thelma Woodruff

Only close friends were present when Mrs. Thelma Woodruff became the bride of Roy Pennington in Waco, Thursday, June 18, at 3:00 p. m., at the Herring Avenue Methodist Parsonage. Rev. Coleman read the single ring ceremony.

The bride, lovely in a black sheer suit, chose white and black for her accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias and lily of the Valley.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a trip to Galveston and Houston. They returned to Gatesville Sunday, where they are at home on 611 Andrews Street.

M. E. Young People Enjoy Patriotic Banquet

A delightful affair was the annual banquet the Methodist Young People held at the church on Tuesday at 8:30 o'clock. The V-shaped table was covered in a white cloth. Strips of blue and red were arranged vertically down the center of either side of the V. Vases of daisies and red, white and blue candles were placed alternately along the table, as centerpieces.

Howard Franks was toastmaster, Miss Ann Melbern sang "God Bless America," Miss Vivian McKelvey read "Be True to Your Flag," and H. D. Foster gave the address of the evening.

Students Make Honor Roll At John Tarleton College

Three Coryell County students in John Tarleton Agricultural College, Stephenville, Kathryn Green of Oglesby, Lloydene Williamson of Pearl and Lawrence Dooley of Ireland, are among the 221 students making the honor roll. To be eligible for this honor a student must make at least 80 on every subject for the semester.

Cornelia Bertrand Weds Joe Kreid

On Sunday morning, June 21, 1942, Cornelia Bertrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bertrand of Purlmela, Texas, became the bride of Joe A. Kreid, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kreid Sr. of Evant, Texas. The wedding took place on the birthday of the bride at the family residence which was also her birth place.

The lovely single ring ceremony was read by Rev. D. Farmer of Evant, before a beautiful altar of fern and Queen Ann's lace banked with an arrangement of garden flowers.

For the ceremony the bride was lovely in a pink dress of Jeronia Crepe with white accessories. Her corsage was of white gladioli and stephanotis. For something old and borrowed she chose her mother's bracelet which she and another daughter had each worn as brides. For traveling, she wore a suit of beige sharkskin.

The bride's only attendant was a close friend, Miss Willie Mae Perry of Pearl. She wore blue crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli. Eva Nell Bertrand, baby sister of the bride, carried the ring in a lily, and wore a little blue frock with a corsage of rose buds and ferns. Craig Bertrand, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Kreid as best man.

After a dinner featuring fried chicken and a white three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature basket of flowers and two white doves, they left for points in West Texas for a few days honeymoon, after which they will be at home on the Kreid ranch southwest of Evant.

Mrs. Kreid was a 1933 graduate of Purlmela High School and for the past four years has been working as a practical nurse. Mr. Kreid attended a Lampasas County school and is engaged in the ranching business.

Those who attended the wedding were close friends and relatives.

inson accompanied he and his sister, Miss Polly Parrott of Waco, to Selbring, where they were his guests. Lt. Parrott has been transferred to bombardment at Hendricks Field.

HOUSING SITUATION IS BEING HANDLED BEST POSSIBLE: MORE, MORE

It could be worse, but not much!

However, there's no one at fault. The places are just not here, but the Chamber of Commerce, and every other agency here is doing its utmost to take care of the influx of new people coming to our town. Right now, it seems, most of them are families of officers and men of our neighboring community (or are we a neighbor of them) Camp Hood.

Up until Wednesday, or between May 21 and June 21, 788 new residents have come to Gatesville, and 428 different assignments have been made (including the officers of the OCC), and yet there have been some who have not been able to get places.

The situation should break for the better when the OOC No. 2 Class has completed their work. Then, there's the rodeo crowd that's taking a number of places temporarily, and this will be over shortly.

800 guests is no small assignment for a town of a previous 3,175, even if some have gone into defense work elsewhere.

If you have ANY conveniences, rooms, etc., let the Chamber of Commerce office know, and at once.

LALA PALOOZA —A Practical Demonstration

By RUBE GOLDBERG

The Private Papers Of a Cub Reporter:

You probably read, in the stories about John Barrymore, how saddened he was over the loss of his interned Jap valet and the Jap's family. . . . On the other hand, some of Charles Chaplin's Jap servants turned out to be spies. . . . The most ironic situation of all, we think, concerns Eugenia Clair Flatto, Grand Hostess of the American Gold Star Mothers' annual convention. . . . Before the war, Mrs. Flatto had a loyal Jap gardener. . . . He had been here for many years—had even fought for this nation in the last big war. . . . But, because he is Japanese he had to be interned. . . . Mrs. Flatto now has a new gardener, who is acceptable to the authorities—a German, who can't even speak English!

One of President Roosevelt's closest advisers, a New Yorker, was feasting in a delicatessen. As he started to leave, the owner handed him a small package. . . . "This," he explained, "is for the President. It contains some of my best corned beef and pastrami. Please take it to him with my compliments." . . . The next day when the President opened the package, right on top of the spicy cold cuts were two dozen of the delicatessen man's cards. . . . FDR sent for Steve Early and, handing the cards to him, dryly instructed: "Here—pass these around to the various Embassies."

When FDR was assistant secretary of the navy, they say, he was visited by some ladies of the Temperance Union. They wanted him to christen the ships with soda pop instead of champagne. "The trouble with you ladies," said Mr. Roosevelt, "is that instead of opposing the christening of a vessel with champagne, you should encourage it. And get a great temperance lesson." "Why, how can we?" queried one of them. "Well," he replied, "after the first taste of wine, the ship takes to water and sticks to it ever after."

Then there's the one about the Mussolini troops, who will go down in history as men who'd rather eat and make love than fight. . . . One Italian captain decided to do something about it, and "after a pep talk—he charged: "Avanti!" ("Forward!") and so shouting—he led them into battle. When he turned, the captain found himself 50 yards ahead—alone! With all his men still seated on the ground—applauding and yelling: "Bravo! Bravo!"

Admirers of Herbert Bayard Swope were disappointed not to find an anecdote about him in our recent pillar called "Newspaperman Stuff." M. Throckmorton Cohn, who says Swope is a guy you always find in a photo finish when newspapermen are discussed, relays this one about him.

While exec editor down on the World, Swope formed a habit of depending a great deal for the exact time on the clock in the tower of the Tribune—which was directly across the way. . . . Every now and then the Trib clock would stop. This riled Swope no end. . . . So one day he got it off his chest by running this on the World's editorial page: "The Tribune tries to tell the administration how to run the government, yet cannot keep its own clock going."

For almost a year she has been trying to crash the Broadway heavens. . . . To attract attention she circulated the fable that she is an heiress to millions and that her family pays her a large sum weekly to keep out of the theater. . . . Naturally, that kind of a story got her a lot of publicity, and playwrights and producers catered to her as a potential backer. . . . The thing exploded right in her pretty face when she was threatened with eviction over a $20 hotel bill.

Most top salary players could not squander their money even if they wanted to. The greater part of their salaries goes to taxes and professional and living expenses. The rest is handled by business managers.

Hollywood stars are not the gourmets they are cracked up to be. They have to eat sparingly of simple foods in order to maintain their figures and physical condition. Most stars' dream of Paradise is to be able to eat steak and potatoes and pie whenever they feel like it—but they don't.

Don't Believe What You Hear About Hollywood:

Modern Americans believe more myth and legend about Hollywood than did the ancient Greeks about the boys from Mount Olympus, from Ajax to Zeus, inclusive.

Although there is a Hollywood Chamber of Commerce to promote this mecca which doesn't exist, there is no Hollywood City Hall or city officials. That vague territory is just the northwest section of the city of Los Angeles.

County Superintendent Ollie Little has been invited to take part in a conference on "Education and the War," to be held on June 24 at Mary Hardin-Baylor College, with Dr. D. B. Harmon, education coordinator of the State Board of Health, and Miss Edgar Ellen Wilson, director of elementary education of the State department of Education, as the principal speakers.

Superintendent Little will take part in the discussion of "The County School System and the War."

The program, which is open to the general public, should be of special interest to public school teachers and patrons, it is said, and begins at 9 a. m.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Marco Polo, famed 13th Century Venetian traveler, is sent by his father to the court of Kublai Khan in Peking to procure valuable trade agreements. After a long and perilous journey Marco and Binguccio, his servant, reach their destination and are welcomed cordially by the Emperor and his crafty minister of state, Ahmed. Marco also meets Kukachin's, the Khan's lovely daughter, and falls in love with her.

Chapter Three

Marco Polo's interest in the Princess Kukachin did not escape the sharp-eyed Ahmed. It might be well, he reflected, to acquaint the Venetian with the dangers of such interest. Besides, he had plans of his own for Kukachin, and he was not the sort of man who liked to see his plans disarranged. Having been instructed by Kublai Khan to entertain the visitors, he took them first to his own apartments, connected with the palace by a drawbridge, and showed them his chamber of horrors. Here, behind a handsome tapestry curtain, ravenous vultures were chained to a perch. A trap door in the torture chamber revealed a sheer drop of fifty feet where Marco Polo could distinctly hear the growls of hungry tigers in the cavernous darkness below. Ahmed watched Marco's face as the Venetian witnessed the death of a spy from the camp of Kaidu, the rebel chieftain. He indicated with pride his trusted executioners, two enormous, ugly-looking guards named Toctai and Bayan.

"You came here to be educated, Marco Polo," said Ahmed at length, smiling with satisfaction. "And this is the first lesson."

A week had passed since Marco Polo and Binguccio had come to the court of Kublai Khan. A week that had, with the exception of Ahmed's initiation into Oriental persuasion, passed smoothly and pleasantly. On the seventh evening Marco was amusing himself playing with some of Chen Tsu's firecrackers.

"Binguccio," he said, "With enough of these one man could shake the earth."

"I don't doubt it," replied Binguccio, wincing as the cracker exploded. "But don't you think we might shake ourselves — home? I don't like the looks of this fellow Ahmed."

"You must learn the Chinese philosophy about time, Binguccio. What is a day? One 365th of a year. What is a year? Only a hundredth part of a century. We have all the time in the world."

Marco rose and strolled into the Palace gardens. Here, at the edge of the lotus pool, he found Kukachin. Her robe was of silver cloth and there were flowers in her hair. She turned with a start when she saw him.

"Strangers are not supposed to come into these gardens uninvited," she said.

"But you need some one to protect you from the powers of darkness."

"I am a Princess. Even the powers of darkness are afraid of me."

"Are there," inquired Marco, "no men in this Empire who forget you are a Princess — who want to take you in their arms and make love to you? Do princesses in this country ever marry ordinary people?"

"Sometimes."

"Good!" said Marco. "And will you love and marry the man you choose?"

"I shall marry a king," replied Kukachin haughtily. "When I was in my cradle I became engaged to be married to the King of Persia. I shall start on my journey westward at the seventh moon."

Marco looked heavenward at the moon and sighed wistfully. "If I were the King of Persia, I should be very impatient."

They had been strolling, as they spoke, through the paths, and presently Kukachin stopped at the shrine of a white stone goddess. The night air was heavy with the scent of strange flowers. Strains of music floated from the Palace.

"This is the shrine of the Moon Goddess," Kukachin explained. "To whom all maidens pray that they may find a lover who is faithful and gallant and strong."

Marco watched the moonlight play upon Kukachin's delicate face, carved as though in white alaba-

ter. "I think," he said, "that I should say goodbye now. There are warnings of danger sounding in my heart. I've heard such warnings before — though never so strongly. You see — you may be a princess — but when I look into your eyes, I see deep beauty — when I touch you, I feel warm life. And I've never been one to regard such things calmly."

His eyes looked deeply into Kukachin's. His hands closed on her arms. "Before I go — I wonder if you would grant me one small favor?"

"You want some token — my scarf, perhaps — for remembrance?" Marco smiled. "No. I should like to be allowed to kiss you goodbye."

The Western custom of kissing was unknown to Kukachin but she agreed to grant the favor. Marco kissed her once, gently, and again, passionately. Kukachin thought it a delightful custom. She asked if she might try it herself. She put her arms about his neck and her eyes closed.

"Is this right? With my arms?" she whispered tremulously.

Marco said, "Yes — I — I think you're learning!"

Kukachin looked up at the Moon Goddess, then at Marco. He kissed her again.

Meanwhile, in Ahmed's apartments, the Minister of State was in conference with Toctai. Within the closely guarded chamber they could speak freely.

"The rebellion in Kaidu's province," said Ahmed, "is getting dangerous. We must put a stop to it — before the Emperor learns the truth about the taxes we've — he paused and grinned — we've borrowed from those barbarians. Disguise yourselves as Tartar tribesmen and join Kaidu's army."

"And kill him?" supplied Toctai eagerly.

"First you will spread discontent in his army. Make him believe that he is the one who is stealing their tax money. Then — perform your specialty. With Kaidu dead, his army will split and the rebellion will be broken."

Toctai's beady eyes glittered. "And what of Kublai Khan? When can I perform my specialty on him?"

Ahmed said sharply, "I'll attend to him, Toctai. You start for the West at once. If all goes well I shall be your Emperor when you return — and the Princess Kukachin will be my wife. And you will be a nobleman."

It was one of Ahmed's proudest boasts that nothing happened within the Palace of which he was not aware. When Bayan brought him word that Kukachin and Marco Polo had met again in the garden, he hurried at once to the Emperor. Kublai Khan summoned the Venetian.

"You have an adventurous spirit, my friend, and I think I can provide exercise for it. I want you to go to Kaidu's camp in the West, enter it as an ordinary traveller, cooperate with our secret agents and help them to kill him."

Marco glanced at Ahmed, instantly aware that the scheme was of his devising.

"I have no experience in murder, Sire," he said with an impassive face.

"That is not necessary," said the Khan. "We merely wish to make use of your remarkable gifts for intrigue." As Marco was silent, he continued, "When you were twenty miles outside of Venice, Marco Polo, we knew your errand. And to put in your blunt, Western fashion, if you will do us this favor — upon your return, you will be that much nearer your trade agreements."

The audience, Marco realized, was at an end. He went immediately to Kukachin's apartments to say goodbye. She clung to him, trembling and frightened.

"Ahmed is trying to get rid of you," she said. "He'll never let you come back alive. He's afraid of you — because you're strong here —" she touched his arm, "and here —" she touched his forehead — "and here," she touched his heart.

Although he realized there was doubtless much truth in what Kukachin said, it was not in Marco to feel fear. His adventurous spirit laughed at dangers, even courted them. He kissed her again reassuringly.

"Farewell, Kukachin. Send word if you need me."

"He's afraid of me because I love you."

40 Gas Ranges
you cannot buy

It takes that metal,
to stop the enemy

So Take Good Care of Your Gas Equipment

Make it Last till We Win this War!

Since this country has to skimp on metal household goods, we urge you to keep your gas equipment in first class condition.

- I. ROOM HEATERS: To store for the summer, remove dust inside and out; wrap in newspapers and keep in a dry enclosed place.
- II. RANGES: Do not let food spill over (in top cooking, the simmer-burner heat prevents this; in oven-cooking, careful handling does it). Do not set hot vessels on the bare porcelain surface. (Use cork mats.) Do not use the oven to heat the kitchen in cold weather (prolonged heat will cut down the life of the oven walls). Do not clean up the range while the enamel is warm. When it cools, remove crumbs and spatters with a damp cloth. Do not over-cook foods. It means wear and tear on the range, as well as on the groceries.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The Government Order freezing all types of gas heating equipment has been amended. Floor Furnaces, Gasteam Radiators, Circulators and Radiant Heaters NOW may be sold and installed for use in rooms which do not already have some type of heating equipment. Likewise, under certain conditions, you are permitted to purchase and install Gas Ranges and Gas Water Heaters. Your gas company will be pleased to advise and assist you with complete information and details.

Won't be so bad if the girls do have to go without permanents during the war; the men won't be home to see them anyhow.

"Flat-foot" Fox, our snooper of "C" Company, is still evidently doing a little horizontal gymnastics, better known as bunk fatigue, and is in the hospital, we suppose, 'cause he didn't get to his "piece" this Friday either. He's of the 893rd.

Also Sgt. Wherley of the 753rd is still out—he didn't either, and these editorial, reportorial or senatorial duties, however you will, fall to our log once more.

Looks like our press agents from these outfits are "casualties," but their claims are not "writer's cramps" but miscellaneous malignant maladies that maim or malarca from the maneuvering methods of mystery mountain. We don't get it and don't expect you to.

Here, however, is an unanswerable letter from "the boys of Company C, 893rd T. D. B'n. which we are referring to a certain elective officer of the 'Free State of Coryell County.' He might answer, but we don't know the answer, personally.

The letter follows:

Dear Mat,

In your paper of Tuesday, June 23, the following article appeared:

Tank Destroyer School

"Alton Spencer Gets Hip Broken When Tractor Runs Over."

Alton Spencer was painfully injured Friday morning about 11 o'clock when a tractor followed by a maintainer rolled against his hip while he was lying in the highway near Levita.

"He had been throwing rocks out of the road. An X-ray picture showed the hip was fractured. He was taken to his home where he is reported resting nicely."

Now the question begins to arise. Why was he lying in the highway. Is it customary to throw rocks from a prone position? Was he resting from the heat? If so, why did he choose the highway as a place for a siesta?

Let us hope that these and the many questions which have naturally arisen will be answered on Friday in the News.

Thanks a lot for learing up these little items for us as quickly as you have always taken care of Brother Fix's items.

Yours very truly,
The Boys of Company C, 893rd T. D. Battalion.

Our note: We only record 'em, we don't make 'em.

J. M. WITCHER HAS STATEMENT FOR CORYELL CO. VOTERS

To the Voters of Coryell County: I have been among you for two weeks as a candidate for County Superintendent. I have by choice been engaged in educational work for many years. More than thirty years of that time I have spent in this county. I still enjoy the privilege of being active as a teacher.

After meeting and renewing acquaintances with many old time friends and forming some very pleasant new friendships. I believe it better to withdraw from this race and continue to work with and for my fellowmen in such capacity as presented in the usual routine of life.

I hope to still enjoy the friendship and good-will of all who desire the best and most abundant life for all of the people of Coryell County.

I also desire to renew my appreciation for the privilege of serving the people of this county for one term as County Superintendent.

WHAT'S COOKIN'

Jones

Thirty carloads of electric refrigerators go to the new Multimax Village, Beaumont, for war workers. What do YOU think about that? What, with their tremendous salaries and wages. No, let's use that other word, "momentous."

Whether the workers buy them themselves was not stated, but at least, they did NOT buy Multimax Village—you did, at a cost of $1,500,000. They'll pay $22 to $27 a month for these.

'Nother headline says "Recklessness in Spending on War Contracts is Hit." Well, we say, why lucre" don't grow on trees, even if same "swivel chair" artist think it does. Wouldn't it be nice for some of them to get out and try to "earn" some of it in this war period!

Using their own words: "nearly every conceivable type of extravagant waste." The funny part is they're just now finding this out, when (there goes that "0" key again) probably $200,000,000,000 (billions) have already been allocated to the war. The graft in the last one is going to look like a Sunday School picnic, if you ask us.

All of which we, personally, can do nothing whatsoever about it, but just don't like it. "WE" could—all of us.

So we don't want to win the war. Don't be like that, you can bet your last shilling we do, we'd like to have a little left "after" to get started on again, and at this rate, there won't be any.

Births

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poole, Jr., formerly of Gatesville, but now living in Dallas, was a daughter, Silvia Ann, on Friday, June 19. She weighed in at 6 lbs., 11½ ounces, and is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barlow of Fort Worth, and a great-granddaughter of A. Kelley of Gatesville. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poole, Sr. of Dallas are grand parents.

Moving Cemeteries Begns: Families May Be Present

Moving cemeteries in the Camp Hood area is underway. The government has purchased three acres of land immediately east of Killeen, and most of the graves will be moved. The others will be moved to near Copperas Cove where another plot has been purchased.

Slowness of the work has been caused by scarcity of help, and "dame rumor." Men working on this will not be required to take any shots, or be required to live any place or be quarantined afterward.

Graves are all 4½ feet deep and when the bodies are exhumed they will be put into new boxes immediately and taken in a covered van to the cemetery for reinterment.

Those who have relatives buried in the Sugar Loaf cemetery are asked to notify Jim Phipps Memorial Co., located at the Tank Destroyer Command office, 716 East Main, Gatesville, at once. They can then be present when the graves are moved. This is not necessary, but if the relatives wish, they may. Passes will be mailed, or issued, and must be presented to the guards at the military reservation.

All graves will be moved to the new cemetery at Killeen unless the Phipps company is notified that relatives prefer the Gatesville or Copperas Cove cemeteries.

$500,000 In Road Appropriations Are Made for Camp Hood

Approximately $500,000 in road money has been allotted for road construction in and around Camp Hood, according to authorization by Col. S. L. Scott of Dallas, Southwestern District Engineer.

This construction, comes of as a part of the defense highways, and will be immediately earmarked by the State Highway Department which is not constructing any but but highways for military purposes.

The proposed construction is already in the planning stage, and no doubt immediate construction will start just as soon as is physically possible.
