

Officer's Candidate School Opens Here Monday; 2100 Soon

—v—
 "One hundred fifty each week, until there are twenty-one hundred in the officer's candidate department," is the news from the local headquarters of the OCD in Gatesville, which is a party of the Tank Destroyer Command.

Starting, Monday, July 20, will be 150 men drawn entirely from the present battalions of Camp Hood. All will be non-commissioned officers on their arrival here, since, when privates are selected, they are given non-com. stripes. Therefore, privates are eligible, too.

After thirteen weeks, these young men will be sporting that coveted "golden bar" of the Second Lieutenant, and then, will be assigned to various units of the Tank Destroyer outfits throughout the world.

They're going to have their "mess" at the high school and will be quartered there, until they overflow. Then, probably, they'll use the former CCC camp, tents and other facilities.

This should have the lead-off of this story, but anyway, Major C. E. Frederick will be in command of the officer's candidate department of the TDC, under Lt. Col. Hugh T. Maybry who will remain for the most part, in Temple. Assisting Major Frederick will be Lieut. J. F. Whitney and Capt. Pool, who is a "native" by now, since he was here for the past two Officer's Orientation Courses. He's just back from a ten day leave.

After the 2100 are here and after thirteen weeks, the school will begin graduating them at the rate of 150 a week, and each week this number will be replaced.

LESTER MARX AND "JERRY IGNUTZ" TO GIVE PROGRAM

—v—
 Lester Marx, and his stooge, Jerry Ignutz, Camp Hood's and now, Coryell County's "EB and CMc" make their initial appearance at the Waco Theatre July 18, Saturday morning.

Marx, who's already demonstrated in Gatesville on different occasions, will also have his program broadcast over radio station W-A-C-O on that date.

Marx, with Jerry Ignutz has made quite a hit wherever they've appeared, and don't fail Waco and "air" audiences in this instance.

Good luck, Jerry and Lester!

FRANCIS RUTHERFORD, radio operator, U. S. Air Corps, lost when plane lost off Noca Scotia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rutherford of Gatesville.

HARTLEY FRANKS, formerly on destroyer U. S. S. Reuben James, and is Coryell county's first known casualty of World War II.

NOTE: We are sorry these are the only available pictures of these men. We'd like to have everyone of them, and if the parents or relatives could loan us a picture, we will be pleased to get a cut made of each of them, without damage to the picture. Too, there may be others either missing in action, captured, interned or killed that we do not know about. Certainly, we do not want to overlook any of these men who have already given more than any of those who survive them.

AUGUST 1 DEADLINE FOR SCHOOL KIDS TO BE TRANSFERRED

—v—
 August is the deadline for parents to transfer children from one school district to another in order to be eligible for free tuition, according to County Supt. Ollie Little.

Transfers to date are coming in slow, and parents may write in, if they can't come to the office, giving the child's name, age, grade, the district he is in and the district he wishes to transfer to.

Children are only entitled to free tuition and transportation when they are above the grades taught in their home districts.

MAN INJURED BY BRUSH AX AT 10 YESTERDAY MORNING

—v—
 Allen B. Williams, sustained a head injury yesterday about 10 o'clock, when he was hit in the head with a brush ax while clearing up a section of Mill Branch for the Malaria Control Project here under the auspices of the State Health Department.

The head injury was said not to be serious. The men are cutting mesquite and other brush to help control mosquitoes, and drain marshes.

EARL HUDDLESTON MAKES STATEMENT TO VOTERS

To the Voters of the 94th District: I am sure most of you know that I am offering again this year for Representative of the 94th District having announced the first of the year through the county papers.

I do not feel that it is necessary for me to make a lengthy statement to you at this time because practically every one in our district knows me and knows the type of service which I have endeavored to rendered since I have been your representative. I have at all times tried to render honest and faithful service while representing you in Austin and here at home between sessions.

I think we are all agreed that the most important task we have at present is to aid in defeating the Axis powers who are seeking to destroy our free way of life. I favor doing everything possible to aid and protect our boys and men in service also.

Although we must do all possible to win the war we must also carry on here at home the best we can. We must continue to care for the unfortunate, educate our youth, assist our aged, and keep our state government functioning and business going as well as possible, however, I think we are all agreed that this should be done in as sensible way as possible. It shall be my policy to counsel with the citizens of my district and county, state officials in working out said problems if elected your representative. It is my candid opinion that if we are to survive this crisis it will take a united effort on the part of all.

On account of war conditions I have not attempted to campaign as usual. I mean by giving out cards and so on. I like all other good citizens have tried to do all possible to aid our war efforts and attend to the duties of my office which have been much heavier since the war started, however, I am trying to take my message to the voters through the county papers so I want you to take this as a personal solicitation from me. I assure each of you that if you reelect me as your representative that I will appreciate your support and will continue to give my best in serving you.

Sincerely,
EARL HUDDLESTON,
Candidate for Rep. 94th Dist.
(Political Adv.)

SUPPLIES TO RUSSIA

The fates and the weather were good to the Russians last winter. But now another twist of fate and the weather are working against the United States and Russia.

It so happens that the polar ice cap this year has come farther south than at any other time in 100 years. This has pushed the shipping lanes by which U. S. convoys carry supplies to Murmansk, closer and closer to Norway and the powerful Nazi bases there.

Result is that only 200 miles of sea separate the polar ice packs and the coast of Norway—a very narrow gauntlet for ships to run, facing simultaneous attack from Nazi submarines, airplanes and destroyers.

This is why there have been losses on the route to Russia. It is also why the United States has not been able to deliver all the supplies promised Russia—though it has tried desperately and the Russians have tremendously appreciated the effort.

To prey on this shipping, the Nazis have developed one of their strongest bases at Trondheim, Norway. There they have not only submarines, but land-based airplanes. They also have the advantage during the summer of nearly 24 hours of daylight.

Therefore, convoys skirting the north tip of Norway have to fight a running battle for three days before they can reach Murmansk. It is continuous day and night fighting, with scarcely a wink of sleep for the crews. Merchant vessels bristle with armament. Guncrews have been giving a magnificent account of themselves, but the odds are tremendous.

FRANCE GOES ANTI-NAZI

It can be no secret to the Nazis that scores of Frenchmen are sneaking out of France to England by small boat or even airplane. Some eventually have found their way to the United States.

The story they tell is one of the most encouraging of the war pictures, but it shows our state department to be lagging months behind in its policy toward France.

The people of France, say these heroes of midnight channel-crossings, are so far ahead of the U. S. state department that it would be humorous if it were not pathetic. U. S. food shipments to French North Africa, they say, won't help win over the French people; if anything, will retard the independence movement there.

The French have been won over by much greater issues than food, and are insulted at the state department's idea that they would sell their souls for a mess of pottage.

Here are the major developments which have really influenced France:

1. The behavior of the Germans in France.

2. The fact that Britain was not only able to prevent Nazi invasion, but now is so effectively bombing the continent.

3. The resistance of the Russians.

4. American entry into the war.

Of all these, one of the most effective incidents was the British bombing of the Renault motor plant (Frenchmen had been tipped off to leave in advance), and the dropping of the French flag along the Champs Elysee by a British fighter plane last week.

So when the Big Push does come, it will find an enthusiastic French people anxious to co-operate.

Note: The French fleet, these Frenchmen say, now will not be turned over to Hitler—not because of food shipments, but because the French sailors won't permit it; and the Nazis haven't got the 35,000 naval personnel available to man them.

AXIS OILFIELDS

Behind the frequent Jap bombing raids on North Australia is a very important fact which has escaped the headlines. As long as General MacArthur's planes are based on North Australia, the Japs can't go ahead with their long-cherished plans to develop the oil fields of Java.

For long-range U. S. army bombers can carry pay loads to Java and make a shambles of oil tanks and oil wells.

That is why the Japs still want to take North Australia, though since the Coral sea battle they have cooled off on the idea of landing troops in the more populated and richer areas of southeast Australia—which, incidentally, are now strongly defended.

This same principle of long distance raids by U. S. army bombers is cutting into Hitler's oil supply in Rumania. For Rumanian oil tanks are well above ground and easy targets.

To date, Hitler's only source of gasoline, so vital to his tanks and airplanes, are (1) synthetic plants in Germany, and (2) Rumania. That's why he has to take the Russian oil fields or the war can't continue. So the most valuable help army bombers can give Russia is to blow up Rumanian oil wells.

Chapter One

Steve Larwitt's night club was of the exclusive kind. Not that you had to be wealthy, prominent or beautiful in order to gain admittance, though any of those attributes undoubtedly helped. But the real requisite was to have the right underworld connections; to be known to the right people and to be able to mention the right person's name when you presented yourself at the sliding panel in the door.

The night club run by Steve Larwitt was only one of the enterprises on the premises. Also included in the layout was a comprehensive gambling pleasure owned by a gentleman named Crawley; a profitable little venture which Steve was planning to take over. And when Steve planned to take anything over he invariably took it.

Larwitt was idling at the bar, half listening to the music that drifted in from the floor show, when his featured singer, a large, voluptuous blonde named Babe, began her number. The chorus of soft-voiced, silken-limbed girls leaned back and forth behind her as she sang. Suddenly one of them broke into a loud sneeze. The effect of the song was immediately nullified in the ludicrous climax; a few of the patrons tittered, and one or two of the girls smiled surreptitiously.

Babe finished her number as best she could; but afterward, in the dressing room, she swooped down upon the girl who had sneezed.

"Of all the contemptible, low-down things to do!"

"I'm sorry," said Brenda Bentley sincerely. "That sneeze just slipped out."

"Slipped out nothing!" raged the blonde. "You did it on purpose."

"All right," returned Brenda resignedly. "I'm allergic to you."

The exchange developed into a furious verbal skirmish, with Babe growing more hysterical as she found herself more and more at a disadvantage.

"I knew it all the time!" she almost screamed finally. "You're so burned up — you're so jealous because Steve gave me the number to do instead of you. You couldn't get it no matter how hard you tried!"

"Now don't put ideas in my head," smiled Brenda tauntingly, because I might take him away from you.

"You? Huh! Pardon me while I go out and have you fired!"

In due course Brenda stood before Steve in answer to his pre-emptory summons. He thoughtfully surveyed the dark loveliness of her features, the seductive lines of her exquisite little figure.

"Babe tells me you're crazy about me," said Steve. "Why?"

"Do I have to give a reason?"

"Yeah, I like reasons."

"Well, it isn't because you're different."

Steve's interest was intrigued. No girl had ever spoken to him in this vein before. He suggested a drink, and pursued his quiz while she sipped her milk punch. "Let's talk about something else," suggested Brenda.

"No. I want to talk about me." "That's what I like. A dame was silly enough to come out and tell you I was going after you... and you sent for me. And that's just what fifty million other guys would do."

"Then — you're not going to try to get me?"

"Do I have to try — now?"

"Oh — you think I'm going after you?" he countered.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised."

He looked her up and down again. "I wouldn't, either."

Steve Larwitt was a man who wasted little time in making up his mind. Within a couple of nights Brenda had become the soloist in his night club, while the deposed Babe, as she herself bitterly remarked, was in the market for "a nice little torch song."

Brenda's free time after the show each night was monopolized by Steve; but he nonplussed her by taking her home each night and, with perfect behavior, bidding her a gentlemanly good night at her door.

About two weeks after their first encounter, Brenda came on the floor with a new number — a song with a Mexican motif which she sang while performing a seductive rumba, holding a tiny Chihuahua dog in her arms. Steve watched intently while she danced and sang:

*How I love to promenade the boulevard
Walking my Chihuahua;
People stop and stare most everywhere when I'm Walking the Chihuahua,
Other dogs are jealous 'cause the fellas
Keep petting my Chihuahua;
Though he isn't much protection,
That's why men show their affection for me.*

When she had finished, Steve scribbled a note and sent it to her via a waiter. The note said: "Your services are no longer required after tonight. Steve Larwitt."

Brenda dressed hurriedly and sought Steve. She found him seated in his car in front of the cafe, waiting.

"What's this all about?" She indicated the note.

"Get in," he said quietly. "I'm not getting in! What does it mean — building me up for a let-down — is that what you were doing?"

"Get in. Everybody can hear us." "What I'm about to tell you," she grated, "the whole world can hear."

"Now wait a minute," he smiled. "I got something better for you."

"If it's dressing up in a fur coat to take a Pekinese out for a walk in the afternoon, no thank you! I want to know why I'm fired!"

"Because," said Steve slowly, "I don't want my wife to be on exhibition."

"What?"

"You're going to marry me. That's what."

Said suit is a suit to collect taxes, interest, penalties and costs on the following described real estate, located, at the time said taxes were assessed, with in the boundaries of said county and each political subdivision in whose behalf this suit is brought and described as follows, to-wit:

200 acres and 8 acres of land in the H. L. Marshall survey, Abst. No. 697, Coryell County, Texas.

JOE WHITE HAS A STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF COUNTY

To the Voters of Coryell County: Realizing that the foremost thought in the minds of each of you is the winning of the war and considering the rubber shortage I am using the press to ask that you consider this as a personal invitation from me for your sincere consideration of my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Coryell County.

I assure you that it is my earnest desire to be your next sheriff, and if I am I will expect to render you the kind of service you are entitled to from the man you intrust with this important office.

I am no stranger to most of you and to those who do not know me, I sincerely ask that you investigate my record.

If I am elected as your sheriff I will be on the job and at your service at all times.

With kindest regards,
JOE WHITE
Candidate for Sheriff.

said taxes in said petition, are alleged to be delinquent, justly due, owing, and unpaid for the respective years and in the respective amounts as follows, to-wit:

OLD HWY 36 IS INCHING FORWARD! GROVE TO BELL COUNTY WORK OKEHED

Well, it's only 8 1-2 miles long, now!

That's all of the State Highway 36 that isn't okehed for construction by the State Highway Department, and the last two "pieces" will and are being done by the maintenance staff of the department.

Here's a letter from D. M. Puckett, District Engineer of District No. 9 that authorizes the latest 4 1-2 mile section:

Waco, Texas.
July 9, 1942.

Highway 36
Coryell County.
Hon. Floyd Zeigler, County Judge
Gatesville, Texas.
Dear Judge Zeigler:

We have received a work order authorizing us to start construction work on Highway 36 between The Grove and the end of the improved road 10 miles west of Temple. We intended to start work on the section in Coryell County between the Bell County line and The Grove in the near future. Please arrange with the land owners along the project for removing the obstructions and fencing the right-of-way so that we may move in and start this work.

Yours very truly,
D. M. Puckett,
District Engineer
District No. 9.

That, ladies and gentlemen, only leaves 8 1-2 miles to go, and then, Temple can slip over to Gatesville just as easy as Waco slips over here, and visa-versa.

Incidentally, maintenance crews will provide maintenance on this 8 1-2 miles that are left, so it can be gotten over, too, and that will be nice.

Rumor too, the old fossil, has it that if this highway is important enough to some, the other nine miles will soon be covered with some sort of paving. If this don't mean anything, it's all we can say, just now.

OSCAR TAYLOR HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF COUNTY

To the Voters of Commissioners' Beat 4:

I take this method of saying to the voters of Commissioners' Beat 4 that I am grateful to you for the many assurances of support and other courtesies shown me in this campaign.

I am making this race strictly on my own merits and fitness for work that a County Commissioner is called upon to perform and direct. I am not running on the demerits of anyone who opposes me. I have not made any promises that I will be unable to carry out.

I believe in an economical administration of the country's business—especially through the present emergency. I have had much experience with road machinery and the construction of public roads and highways. I would appreciate an opportunity of serving you as commissioner in order to give the people a service that I believe will be useful and a service that cannot be fully rendered without experience in building and construction work.

I will deeply appreciate your careful and earnest consideration.

Respectfully,
OSCAR TAYLOR
Candidate for County Commissioner, Beat 4.

A SUMMARY OF WORLD, NATIONAL AND STATE NEWS

NAZIS DRIVE ON STALINGRAD

Moscow, July 16 (AP).—Two German columns driving in separate sectors toward the steel city of Stalingrad have forced Russian troops to evacuate the towns of Boguchar, on the Don River in the north, and Millerovo, on the Moscow Rostov railway supply line and only 175 miles from Stalingrad, the Russian high command reported Thursday.

HOUSE YIELDS TO WHEAT

Washington, July 15.—(AP).—A two-month congressional deadlock over an agriculture department program to convert government owned surplus wheat to United Nations war needs by feeding it to livestock to produce meat, eggs and milk came to an end Wednesday as the House gave way to make the program effective.

BRITS STAND FIRMLY?

Cairo, July 15 (UP).—A stone-wall British stand has absorbed

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's mightiest assault, delivered with fresh shock troops flown from Crete, on the Hill of Jesus at the north end of the Egypt line, and in the central sector the imperials have launched a limited offensive, it was said Wednesday.

SECOND FRONT, SAY REDS!

London, July 15 (AP).—Advocates of a 2nd front in Europe to help a Soviet Russia pressed firmly tonight for quick action while British sources reported definite and favorably progress in the battle against the Axis submarines, which looms as an important factor in all 2nd front considerations. That's where the 2nd front is.

GAG RULE ON HOUSE

Washington, July 15.—(AP).—House debate on the record $6,144,000 tax bill will open tomorrow under a controversial "gag" rule banning amendments except those approved by the ways and means committee—a rule which blasted plans for a floor fight for a national sales tax.

C. GUARD OUTWITS SPIES

Washington, July 15. (UP).—A quick-witted coast guardsman, stumbling thru the fog, discovered the nocturnal landing of Nazi saboteurs from a submarine on the beach at Amagansett, L. I., it was disclosed officially today, and started them down the path to their life-or-death trial now under way.

"RICH COMISH" ON NAVY JOB

Washington, July 15.—(AP).—The house naval committee was informed today that three self-styled sales engineers stood to garner commissions on millions of dollars of government war work in a plant which the government itself built. We've always said, the "graft" in this one was going to make the others look like a Sunday school picnic!

OAD PAINTER HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF COM. B. 4

To the Voters of Beat No. 4:

It was not my intention to ask for re-election as your County Commissioner, but some of my friends announced me as a candidate anyway, and I certainly appreciate their interest in me.

I wish to make the following statement concerning the financial and road condition of Beat No. 4.

The roads are in extra good condition considering the excess amount of washing rains that we have had in the past few months. Of course, we have no fine roads but about 90% of them are all weather roads regardless of the amount of rains that we have. Beat No. 4 is in a better financial condition than it has ever been, we have better equipment to work with than ever before in the history of Coryell County and we do not owe a dollar.

With the above statement for your consideration, and if you see fit to re-elect me, I will be glad to serve you to the best of my ability.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to each and everyone in Coryell County for all of their past favors and for their fine cooperation in every respect shown me during the past six years while I have served as Commissioner.

Sincerely yours,
OAD PAINTER.

Candidate, Commissioner Beat 4.

J. H. BROWN HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF CO.

I take this opportunity of saying to the people of Coryell County that I appreciate you having entrusted me with the office of sheriff for the past three and a half years. I am grateful for the aid and assistance I have received from so many law-abiding citizens in upholding and enforcing the laws of our state. I have endeavored at all times to be faithful to the trust that this official position carries with it; and my aim has been to fairly and impartially aid in the enforcement of all laws.

Due to the duties of my position, and to conditions brought about by the National Emergency, it has been impossible to see all the voters and to personally solicit your support. Hence I take this method of saying to all the people that I invite your careful consideration of my record as an officer and that I will earnestly appreciate your continued support.

I believe that with my experience, my acquaintance gained among the peace officers of the states and my contact with all law enforcing agencies has better qualified me to serve you. Thanking you for your consideration, I am,

Gratefully yours,
J. H. BROWN.

Sheriff Coryell County, Texas
(Political Adv.)

FLOYD ZEIGLER HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF COUNTY

To the Voters of Coryell County: While serving you as County Judge I have given all my time and whatever ability that I possess in seeking to make Coryell County a better place in which to live.

In conducting the affairs of this office I have sought to be courteous and considerate at all times. I have tried to be fair and impartial, feeling that each citizen is entitled to equal consideration and the best service that I can render.

The duties of the County Judge's office are of a dual nature. The first phase of his work consists in dealing with the administrative and business affairs of the county. The other consists of not only acting as legal advisor to the Commissioners' Court upon all legal questions arising in connection with their work, but as judge in the trial of all criminal and civil matters coming within the jurisdiction of the County Court and as judge of the Probate Court in the handling of all estates, guardianships and the protection of minors rights. I trust that the legal training that I have had, plus the experience that I have received in dealing with matters of this nature places me in a position to handle these matters in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

I have always tried to keep the financial affairs of the county on a sound basis and I am very thankful that we can enter the trying period ahead with a very small county debt, which will cause us to feel the loss of taxes from the camp area less severely. I have since the day I entered this office worked for good roads and I believe with reasonable success when you take into consideration that there was not a foot of pavement in the county and only a small amount of dirt work completed at the time I became County Judge. During the past several weeks I have made every effort to secure a road from Gatesville to Copperas Cove and can now report that funds in the amount of $425,000.00 are now available through an appropriation from the Federal Government to construct this road and construction will start within this month. On Highway No. 36 we have one job now under construction, another will start within a few days and plans are now being worked out to insure the construction of the remaining 9 miles which when completed will open this road for traffic.

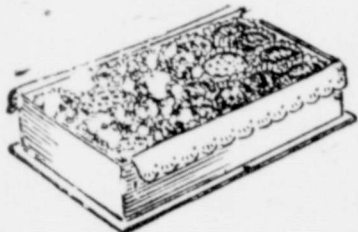

The increased duties and responsibilities of this office under present conditions coupled with the many duties I have assumed as coordinator of all defense work in the county has made it impossible for me to personally see many of you and at the same time carry on this essential work, therefore, I desire that you consider this a personal solicitation of your vote and influence.

Upon the above basis I ask your support and extend to you in advance my appreciation for your vote and a kind word in my behalf.

Sincerely yours,
FLOYD ZEIGLER.

HOMEMAKERS URGED TO BUY VICTORY FOOD

Starting today and continuing until July 25, local merchants will feature broilers and fryers as a Victory Food Special. This is the fourth Victory Food Special to be featured in this area.

Speaking of the success of the precious "Specials", Lewis Thomson, chairman of the Food Industry Committee, said: "Local homemakers and storekeepers are to be congratulated for the splendid cooperation they have given the government in the promotion of Victory Food Specials. When we increase the consumption of farm products that are in abundance, we are not only making America strong but we also are assisting farmers by buying their products that are in temporary abundance."

"Victory Food Special on broilers and fryers will give clever housewives the opportunity to serve one of America's favorite foods without stretching the family budget" Thomson continued. "Here are some table tips on broilers and fryers which come from the Bureau of Home Economics, USDA:

Ordinarily, you'll buy chickens to broil by their dressed weight. That is the weight of the chicken picked but not drawn and including head and feet. The weight of a drawn chicken is about three-fourths that of a dressed chicken. Best chickens for table use are well-rounded—short and stocky rather than rangy. All bones are well covered with flesh so that the chicken has a meaty look.

Because chicken is a perishable food—keep it cold when it is raw.

Eat it quickly after it is cooked. Chill it right away if you don't intend to eat it at once. When you bring chicken home from the store, wash it thoroughly inside and out, pat it dry, store it in your coldest storage place until you cook it. If you have no very cold storage place, do not attempt to keep chicken long—either before or after you cook it."

Betty Jane Rutherford left last Tuesday to visit in Plainview with friends and relatives.

A-C Dick Lobell of Coleman Army Flying School was a week end guest of Miss Louise Mayes.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY
By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

FIRST TEXAS SETTLERS WERE CATTLEMEN

The cattle industry in Texas evidently got an early start, since a traveler of the 1870's described the Spanish colony of San Antonio—the first group of actual settlers—to be made up of cattlemen. Monsieur De Pages, French scholar and seaman, described a lengthy trip across Texas in his two-volume "Travels Around the World," a copy of which is contained in the University of Texas Library's collection of Texana. The tour was made in 1767-1771.

In San Antonio, De Pages wrote, he found that the principal employment of the settlers was the raising of horses, mules, cows and sheep. The cattle were allowed to run wild, being herded together once every few months, and kept in a corral in an effort to tame them. This discipline, the Frenchman commented, was seldom very effective.

The fore-runner of the famous Texas cowboy was described by De Pages, too, who said that the San Antonions were excellent horsemen and particularly fond of hunting or chasing their animals.

"Having entered the field and started an animal they mean to take alive, they give him chase at full speed till his fatigue enables them to come within a certain distance of him. Here the hunter, holding the running noose of a strong thongcoiled around his arm throws it with such dexterity that he seldom fails to catch him around the neck or horns.

De Paes reveals that another writer had previously described a similar process, and declared it to be peculiar to the people of Patagonia.

A Frenchman's First Sight Of Texas Longhorns

As his party traveled into central Texas and out of the forests onto the plains, De Pages got his first view of the famous Texas longhorn. The cattle, he related were originally tame, but had long since become wild and roamed in large herds over the plains. The hunting of these cattle, De Pages wrote, began with festivity and ended with a celebration.

"As soon as a herd of cattle was seen on the plain, the most fleet and active of our cavalry prepared to attack them, and descending in the form of a crescent, hunted them in all directions," the traveler explained.

The cattle were stampeded and kept running till exhausted, whereupon as many as the hunters could reach were slaughtered. What the pursuers need for food, they took, and abandoned the rest to the wolves.

Hostile Indians Prove Able Opponents

De Pages found, upon arrival at San Antonio, that the Indians of West and South Texas were more savage than the ones he had met before. The main cause of their hostility he ascribed to a Spanish regulation forbidding them to trade with the French.

In two forays against Fort Sam Antonio, the Indians were completely successful, first capturing some 400 horses and other booty by an attack against the fort itself, and later more horses in an ambush of an avenging Spanish expedition.

As an experienced fighter himself, De Pages found much to praise in the Indian method of surprise attack and their use of cavalry to cover the onslaught of their infantry. He concluded, however, that like "all other raw militia, the vivacity of their first attack soon evaporated, and they must in general give way to the more obstinate and preserving bravery of European regulars."

Texas Rivers Big Obstacle to Travelers

Though the French tourist found much to admire in Texas scenes he constantly complained of the frequent rivers with their treacherous beds and currents.

De Pages declared it to be difficult to imagine the fatigues and hardships experienced in passing across the rivers of Texas. In order to approach them, the travelers were in constant difficulty, as the deep channel usually lay between borders of swamps and morass.

hardships experienced in passing across the rivers of Texas. In order to approach them, the travelers were in constant difficulty, as the deep channel usually lay between borders of swamps and morass.

The method used to get across was to build a path across the swamp with earth and faggots, then ford the river or build a raft to float across. The operation was so lengthy that De Pages wrote in disgust "that I have seen us spend several days in extracting ourselves from the embarrassment of one miserable little brook."

THIS 'N THAT: This battalion sure has the "development" situation well under control. Every day something new develops. Last week a Cat, name and ASN unknown, came from parts unknown, no previous service record nor qualification card to go by; pussy-footed itself in to the battalion headquarter file room and presented this battalion with quint-kittens. Not so long ago this battalion had a nest of wrens to take care of, now we got kittens, what next? * * * 1st Lt. Fred A. Smith of the S-3 section was promoted Captain. Congratulations and a bouquet of wishes * * * Master Sergeant Leon C. Ray succeeds Master Sergeant Maurice L. Nathanson as Sergeant Major. M-Sgt Nathanson is leaving our battalion to attend the first class in officers candidate tank destroyer course. Lots of luck to you Nat from all of us * * * Cpl. Michael J. McClory doesn't go much for social activities. He much rather would like to sit all dances out and read Life magazine * * * Cpl. Gene Welston went along with T-4 Paul Takehara as a chaperon this week end, so that Paul would not make the same mistake he did sometime ago snatching the cradles * * * T-4 Henry Barrett has a terrific crush for a gal bearing the front handle of Ordell. Can this be the reason why the headquarters chow is never on time * * * Pvt. Houston H. Ashworth has similar trouble because of a certain Hazel Jones * * * Pfc. Frank DeCenso celebrated his birthday last Sunday.

One of the boys asked me about my heart interest. Well, my heart definitely belongs to a pretty gal back home in New York City. Her name is Lillian Koch. Anything else YOU want to know just write to me * * * Cpl. Ernest C. Perkins is always introducing somebody. He must like radio broadcasting, because all you can hear is Perkins introducing the Quiz Kids, some big radio band, and personalities * * * Sgt. Neville R. Spencer got lost over the week end * * * Pvt. Marshall F. LaFey, is still lost * * * I sure would like to know where Pvt. Wallace Clough spends his week ends * * * Pfc. John J. Donohue is a happy man these days. Finally he knows where and how he stands with Winnie Brennan. This is your truly signing off, until next week for more news.
