CAN YOU TOP THESE? By HARRY HERSHFIELD

Radio humorist and member of the "Can You Top This?" trio.

"SENATOR" ED FORD concocted a radio idea that has sent morale to a new high. Assisting him are Joe Laurie Jr., and Yours Truly. Public sends in gags it thinks will stump these supposed humor experts. The contributions are read by able Peter Donald. Laugh reaction is registered on decible system meter-experts, unrehearsed, must top the meter score, with a gag on same subject. 130 is highest poss.ble score.

TOPPERS:

Clancey died and his wife decided to have him cremated, instead of regular burial. At crematory, attendant tried to sell her an urn for his ashes. "Nothing doing," she cried, "the little loafer never worked a day in his life-I'm going to put his ashes in an hour glass and he'll be doing something from now on!"

A husband walked into the radio studio of John J. Anthony of the "Good Will Hour." He stated his case: "Mr. Anthony, I'm a very rich man. I am married to the most beautiful woman. We have yachts, polo ponies and mansions. We have five children and we're all in perfect health-what I want to know, Mr. Anthony, is this-what's my prob-

A citizen was describing a political dinner he had attended: "Soon as I got into my place, my watch was stolen. I went to the manager of the affair and complained. He told me to sit tight and all would be O. K. In ten minutes he returned with my watch. 'What did the crook say?' I asked. 'Sh-h-hhe doesn't know I got it!' came the clincher."

Cassidy was walking through the streets of London, paying little attention to the war. Fifteen minutes later he was running down the Strand, waving a door knob in his hand and yelling: "Let me get at Hitler's aviators-let me get at his bums." "What happened?" asked a bobby. "They just blew a saloon right out of me hand!" cried the furious Cassidy.

A panhandler accosted a citizen on Broadway: "Will you give me a dime for a cup of coffee, buddy?" "Listen, you," growled the grouch, 'I don't give money to people on the street!" "What should I doopen up an office?" retorted the toucher.

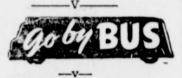

Hitler ordered a captured general to be brought to Berchesgarten-"I wish to humiliate him!" Arriving, the prisoner was told by Adolf: "I will show you that the Nazi mind is superior to your Russian intellect. We will now hold a quiz program. And we'll make bets!" "I can't compete with you financially, Herr Hitler," said the visitor. "That's where the humiliation comes in," gleefully cried Adolf. "To every question I can't answer, I'll give you fifty dollars. To every one you can't an-wer, you give me twenty-five dolars-go ahead, ask the first question!" The Russian asked this one: What goes up in the sky with 20 legs, me'es ten somersaults, whistles four I mes and then comes down with only one leg?" Adolf thought a minute and cried: "I don't knowhere's the fifty dollars!" "I don't know, either-here's twenty-five dollars back!" answered the Russ gen-

Into the patent office rushed an 'Why bring another cigarette lighter-why there are already thousands on the market." "But this one is different." insisted the inventor. With this cigarette lighter, you push a button and an arrow comes out-and points to a man with a match!"

A supposed moron was brought to a medico for examination. The doc asked this question: "If I cut off your left ear, what would happen to you?" "I wouldn't be able to hear." "Fine-now, if I then cut off your right ear, what would happen to you?" "Then I wouldn't be able to see." The physician was now puzzled and he asked: "If I cut off both your ears, why wouldn't you be able to see?" "Because then my hat would fall over my eyes."

To help morale, a store advertised that it would give away a pack of cigarettes free between the hours of 7 a. m. and 8 a. m. Long line formed. Rushing toward the head of the queue, Maxie Goldberg was hurled back by a big bruiser in front: "Get in line with the rest of us!" Maxie tried it a second timeand again was pushed back. The third time he tried it the bruiser knocked Maxie down. Up rushed a cop: "Did he smash you?" "Yes," moaned Maxie, "and if he does it again I won't open the store!"

Uncle Tobe made another trip to Chicago to attend a meetin' of the MOPOTOBUYATGOFM bureau. While he was there he tried to date up Miss Chicago. He said he wanted to get the lowdown on that cow Mrs. O'Leary's, the Chicago Fire, and the Fort Dearborn Massacre.

Well, if they take away tires and gasoline I spect we'll win this war in a walk. We won't have to watch the waist line any more, jest the coast line. It's goin' to be colder than ever this winter with all of these thing frozen. Maybe we can get acquainted with that old song, "Home, Sweet Home," again.

Uncle Tobe went to a morning tea and a morning coffee in Chicago. He said they wasn't worried about the shortage of sugar and cream at them teas, cause they ain't started to ration Scotch, rye and Bourbon yet.

SYNOPSIS

Jane Benson, a charming English girl living dully, and dismally, in Yorkshire, becomes heir to eighteen million pounds. Her fiance, young Dr. Freddie Jarvis, breaks the engagement when he realizes she is bent upon a gay, glittering life. Angry, but still loving him, she goes off with a fortune-hunting set for a madcap whirl through Eurone; the publicity gets Freddie a contract in a fashionable Swiss "clinic". In Monte Carlo, Jane meets a strange young man who warns her not to gamble for a fortune; she, in turn, knows detectives are following him, and gives him money. When he learns who she is, he reveals himself as John Bright, the richest bachelor in Europe; he asks her to marry him, arguing that money would be unable to harm them. She tells him of Freddie, and SYNOPSIS would be unable to harm them. She tells him of Freddie, and goes to Switzerland. Seeing the gay life there, she is furious from your expression that it wasn't a great success?"

"Oh, he's impossible!" Jane said.
"Then give it up. Forget him.

After dinner that night, they half-price.

By the time they came to hotel in Venice, Freddie's confusion had increased.

The reception clerk was exultantly friendly. "Camera con a letti!" he smiled, offering the one room with two beds.

Freddie was grim. 'No! Ca con — well — two camera con un letto! two rooms! D

"Con un letto?" The receition clerk was aghast. "Two rooms with one bed?"

Chapter Six

When Jane returned from Freddie's chalet, John Bright was waiting in the lobby of the "clinic"—awaiting, as he put it, "the verdict".

"You know—" he said, "the result of the vital interview between you and Dr. Jarvis. And do I gather from your expression that it wasn't with one bed?"

"No, one, no!" Freddie shoufe! angrily. "Two rooms with two beds—one each!"

"Ah! Oh! Ecco, signore." Freddie shoufe! die, led by an uncomprehendie; bell boy and followed by Jane, who wanted very much to satisfa, marched off without a word 'the reception clerk turned to his acsistant.

"Mah!" he said in profound die.

"Mah!" he said in profound di-

"Freddie - you once promised me a trip to Monte Carlo ..."

"What makes you say that?"
"It's been proved hundreds of ines. Try it and see."
"I think I will," Jane said slow"She turned to go.
"Woman...

Jane suddenly smiled, saying softly, "Viagnio de nozze!"
The man broke into a broad smile. "Viaggio de nozze!" he

"Perhaps you're thinking that when you get me alone, you can do what you like. But this trip's got to be done my way, or not at all."

"When do we start?"
"Tomorrow — if we go at all."
"Good. I'm going to pack."
"Wait a minute," he said. He took her in his arms. And then he kissed her.

On the crowded third-class coach through Italy, the rampant odors matched the weltering confusion of people. Lage, swarthy families piled over the long benches. A matronly Italian woman smiled across the car to Jane.

"Vi — aggio — di nozze?" she asked, grinning broadly. "Vi — aggio di — nozze!" she repeated, and all the faces in the coach seemed to be looking at them, gayly grinning, too.

Jane was scraping together her

"Where?"
"Why, to Italy — Italy's a country that makes you forget your thorrows. More than that — it's a country that makes you fall in we with your travelling comand."

"Where?"

"Sweather towards the Grand Canal, to find an idle gondoliere. They came upon one, portly and with face full of mustache and good humor. Freddie offered him forty francs, and he insisted upon fifty. Jane joined in energetically, which made him sullen. Such a beautiful woman.

"I think I will," Jane said slow"Where are you going?"

"For my travelling companion."
And she went.
She went to Freddie's chalet, to make up the quarrel, which was not at all hard to do. And to suggest a trip.

"Freddie," she asked brightly, "Jidn't you once promise me a hundred-pound trip to Monte Carlo."

"Yes, but it was different then, and anyway I'm not interested in Monte Carlo."

"What about Italy?"

"Tve always wanted to go there. But not to your sort of Italy—ail cocktail bars and night clubs and dressing up for the Lido. If you go with me, you must go second class."

"Oh no, Freddie!"

"He angered quickly. "You must go first, I suppose!"

"No.— third. I won't let you spend more than a hundred pounds."

"Perhaps you're thinking that when you get me alone, you can thought the back window. "You wand the back window. "You have tell me before? Please this way—you tell me before? Please this way—you tell me before? Please this way—you is in gondola—thank you—thank you vera mucha...!" He mused happily: "Viaggio de nozze..."

"Jane, it's a swindle!" Freddie said when they were seated in the gondola. "You must stop this—this diversers—you want to pay less—to porters, drivers, shopkeepers—even hair-dressers—you say: 'Viaggio de nozze'."

"But I'm only saving money.

Freddie," she said meekly.

"But we're not honeymooners—we're cheating all these people!"

"No. Tell 'em the truth—that we're travelling companions."

"But they're not English!" she said, very seriously. "They wouldn't believe it."

He was furlous. "Good Lord! Don't tell them anything!"

The gondoliere smiled down the shouted. "Perche why don't you tell me before? Please this way—you itell me before? Please this way—you itell

Don't tell them anything!"

The gondoliers smiled down through the back window. "You make the quarrel, eh? That is good because — after the quarrel—the kiss taste much better, eh?" His laugh rang across the water. "Freddie," Jane said softly. "We're breaking his heart. Couldn't you pretend?"

"Pretend what?"

"Viaggio de nozze. Just this once. Couldn't you?"

"I can try."

She paused. "Aren't you sorry, darling," she said tenderly, "that you married such an ugly little wife?"

"But you're not. You're absoluted."

"But you're not. You're absolutely lovely."
"Am I, darling?" She nestled eloser.

"Perfectly adorable."
"Will you always love me?"
"Ahooys."

THE END.

Two unknown elevens battle it out this week in Gatesville in the maiden game of the 1942 football season as far as the local fans are concerned. With the dope before us, it looks like a sad opener for the locals.

The teams: Gatesville High School Hornets vs. the Waco Kit-

Ours: Ours is composed of greenies" with five exceptions, who are Davis, a back, Caruth, Edwards, Morgan, linemen and Fry, center. A little hope is shown in returning squadman who are Parnell, Copeland, Gartman, Henderson, Williams, Lengefield and promising newcomers, Weaver, Thomas Whitenburg, Tatum and Painter.

We'll and you'll both know more football in Camp Hood, it hasn't about the club when we see them rubber regardless or visa-versa. in action Friday.

The Waco Kittens, well, they are the Junior Waco High School Tiggers, which means a full assignment for the Hornets because these boys are the "cannon fodder" for the Tigers and that ain't hay.

Looking over last year's schedule for the '42 District Class A race as far as we're concerned, we've found this:

Sept. 25 Waco High Kittens here

Oct. 2 Waco State Home, here Oct. 9 West, there

Oct. 16 Clifton, here Oct. 23 Itasca, here

Oct. 30 Valley Mills, here Nov. 6 La Vega, there Nov. 11 Hamilton, there

Nov. 20 McGregor, here.

There it is folks, and it looks like a hard season. That 12th man is certainly got to be there in '42, More, anon!

after Friday night.

GOOD LIGHT MEANS BETTER GRADES NOW AND A BETTER JOB LATER

Sight is the most precious of the five senses. Eightyseven per cent of all that children learn is through their eyes and their ability to fill useful jobs and enjoy the blessings of life depends so much on good

You want your child to have every advantage, so see that he has plenty of good light for home study. Time and again it has been proved that good light helps children learn more rapidly . . . results in better grades.

Put an I.E.S. Study Lamp on the table where your child does his homework. And have good light elsewhere throughout your home-well shaded and free from glare. Light all of each room, too, not just part of it.

Good light today is so inexpensive that no one can afford the cost of poor light. Protect priceless eyesight. Enjoy better light tonight.

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

What You Buy With

Essential in the equipment of every Soldier, Sailor, Marine or Flyer is a first aid kit, consisting of bandages and antiseptics for instantaneous use. These materials are packed into a compact box and cost about $1.50 each.

We need millions of these first aid kits for emergency treatment. They are also used by Red Cross workers, in field hospitals and wherever needed until hospital treatment may be obtained. Even a child could buy one or more of these kits through purchase of War Stamps. Buy War Bonds and Stamps every pay day and invest at least ten percent of your income in these government securities.
