Funeral Services Held Sunday For Eugene Blanchard

Eugene (Skeeter) Blanchard, who died suddenly Saturday nite, (no inquest taken, and no coroner's verdict given) was buried in the new cemetery at the old CCC camp location, Sunday at 3 o'clock, with the Rev. J. W. Stows conducting the funeral.

Young Blanchard was 19 years of age, and had been a resident near Gatesville since birth. He was a star basketball player, and played football one season. He was one of Gatesville's best basket ball players in the history of the school.

He was born December 27, 1923. Circumstances surrounded his death are vague, and it is said he was with two other boys about 11 o'clock Saturday night, and at the northwest corner of the square swung himself around a light pole and dropped dead. Cause of his death has not been established as yet. He was carried to the local hospital where he died short. ly afterward.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Blanchard, four brothers, Bill Jack, Newland Wayne, Dan Kenneth, and Doyle Ray, all of Gatesville.

Pallbearers were Kenneth Fry, Ruben Lengefeld, Raymond Wilkinson, John Bales, Ray and Roy Wittie, Jack Fry, Bill Manning, and Ray Ward all teammates and chums of his. Flower girls were his cousins Virginia Young, Dorothy and Dean Blanchard, Wanda Lipsey, Vlva Jean Newland, Sue Lamb, Margaret Ellen Blanchard and Roselene Lipsey.

Hollywood Hits City: "Horse Opera" Made At White's

'Camera, lights, sound", were the three commands given when Hollywood hit Gatesville late Friday affernoon, and White Auto Store was the scene for this scenario. The "love angle" was missing in this "horse opera" and we don't think it'll have much box office.

nAyway, R. L. Routh, Jr., cameraman, J. W. Weaver, Jr., villan and Bennie Claude Turner, his accomplice were the "stars" of the opera.

It is entirely possible this "super collossal extravaganza" if and when they get the "love angle" will be shown at some local movie house. Buttons and pins may be the price of admission, and we don't know what Uncle Sammy's going to do about his "cut".

NEW OFFICERS ARE SWORN IN: BROWN IS SPECIAL RANGER

Coryell county now has some new officers, and they are Sheriff Joe White, Commissioners A. M. Bub) Berry, Roy Evetts and Dick Payne. They said "I do" in County Clerk A. W. Ellis' office Friday or Saturday and are on the job. Deputy Sheriff is now Claude Hilton.

"ex" has left Gatesville for Port Hood. Arthur where he will be employed as a Special Ranger for the Gulf Refining Company. Mrs. Brown will live temporarily, as least, in Gatesville.

And, Farnell Blair Construction Company of Atlanta, Ga., was low bidder on the construction of the northern camp at Camp Hood.

Bids on the construction of this project which is 4 miles south of Gatesville, were opened in the office of the district engineer of the U. S. Engineers Corps at San Antonio, Tuesday.

The Gatesville cantonment will house the Tank Destroyer Center's two new organizations, the Basic Unit Training Center and the Replacement Training Center. 34,171 Acres

It is being built on 34, 171 acres of Coryell county land south of here, which last week came into possession of the government altho settlement for all the land has not been worked out with the individual landowners.

A petition for condemnation of the 34,171 acres was filed in federal court Dec. 21 and the United States formally has possession df the land under court order Dec. 23, Col. Robert Neyland, division engineer of the corps of engineers at Dallas, advised Camp Hood authorities this week.

Actual construction will get under way immediately, and already work is well under way on utilities lines, roads, water and sewer facilities and railroad spur tracks.

Approximately 2,000 buildings will be built under the main contract. They will be of "theatre of operations" type of canstruction with heavy tarpaper exterior coyering. A separate contract will be let on the station hospital, which will be almost a duplicate of the Sheriff J. H. Brown, now an present 1,500 bed hospital at Camp

Close Highway 36

The State Highway Department agreed last week to the request of Col. Charles M. Thirlkeld, post commander at Camp Hood, to close Highway 36 thru the cantonment area. A detour on the new highway will be built around the cantonment by way of Mound.

"Come on, Vance continued, "why did you kill Chorley?" It was more than Eddie could stand. He burst out passionately. "She didn't do it! She couldn't have done it! You've only got to look at her to see that she couldn't do a thing like that." "Perhaps you did," said Vance, pointing an accusing finger. "Yes," Eddie criefcout wildly. "I did it, I killed him!" "Between you and me," Vanse said, confidentially, "the police won't shed any tears at getting rid of Chorley. He was the last of the public enemies. I think this thing can be fixed."

He handed Eddie a cigarette. "Now all you have to do to save the woman you love, is to put 150 slot machines in Dreamland Park."

"You put a quarter in and four come out."

"But Ma Carson! She's against gambling. She says the machines are crooked." Vance smiled indulgently. "Crookhanded the gun to Joyce. "Go ahead," he said, "and lay it

Eddie was approaching the stage door as Joyce came out, the re-volver in her hand and fear and panic written plainly on her face. "It's up to you, Mr. Pink," said Mr. Vance. "If you want to sacri-fice this beautiful innocent girl in the next room ..." "No!" cried Eddie. "No!" "Then," said Vance, "I'll be glad to prove that these machines are on the level." And turning to one of his men, he said, "Bring in that machine from the car, the one we're taking over to the police headquarters for the boys' enter-tainment." The machine was brought into the room. "Now," said Vance, "put a quarter in." Eddie put in a quarter, pulled the lever and eight quarters tinkled into the pay-off cup. Another quar-ter and the jack pot came scatter-ing out of the machine. "Well, Mr. Pink," said Vance with dignity, "does that look like a crooked gambling device?" "What this country needs," said Eddie, snapping up the jack pot, "is more of these slot machines!" JONESBORO-T'VILLE MEET IN BASKET BALL THURSDAY NIGHT

Jonesboro's Eagles and Turnersville high ocheol met for the first time this year (last year) on the boards Thur day night, Dec. 31, with the Turnersville girls dropping their same 22 to 26, and Turnersville's boys taking theirs 24 to 20.

Stars of the games were, for the girls, Schwalbe and Lehman, and a new star playing her first game for Jonesboro, Dorothy Hill. For Turnersville, Humes, Davis and Clary stood out.

For Turnersville's boys, Garen and Latham, while Hayden (Snow cone) Young and J. H. Bullman did most damage for the Eagles, each scoring 8 points.

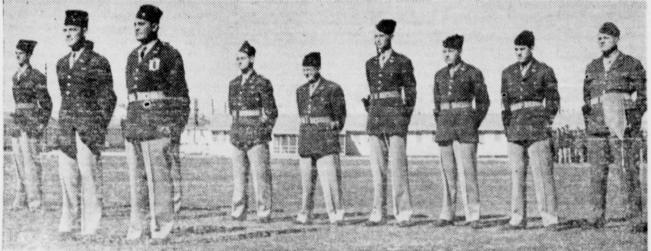

Friday night, the scene changed to Jonesboro, and again the Jonesboro girls took the Turnersville lasses 30 to 24. Schwalbe was again the star of the game, netting 21 points for the night. The liftle blond has long been recognized as one of Coryell county's best girl players, and is respected by opponents as well as teammates because of her swell sportsmanship.

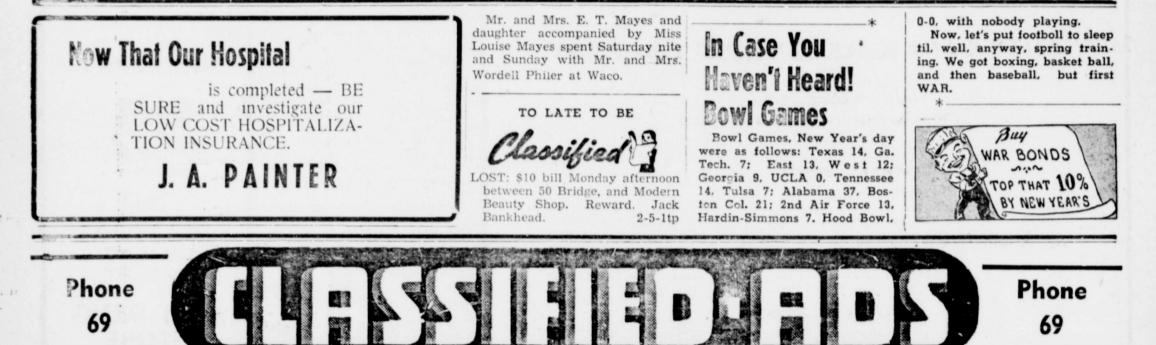

In the boys game, the Eagles really turned on the power to crush the Buffaloes 25 to 15. Bullman led the attack with 10 points, closely followed by Doug Myers with 8. The defenders work of the Eagles stood out with Young lending the way in covering his man.

Am enclosing a clipping that appeared in today's Schenectady Gazette — guess you've already read it by now. Did our hearts sisters, Mrs. Adeline Martin, of good to see Gatesville, Texas in Gatesville; Mrs. Henry Cheitz- print up here, and also Steve's name too. If you'll notice, half of the boys are Texans!! Which goes to prove I'm right when I tell these "damyankees" that Texas is fighting half of the war on land,

Place Lamps to Utilize Light Most Efficiently

The amount of useful light you get from a lamp decreases rapidly as the lamp is moved away from the working area to be lighted. Conversely, the useful light increases greatly as the light source is moved toward the working area. In the above example, merely by moving the end table lamp eight inches from the far to the near side of the table, the amount of useful light for reading or sewing was more than doubled. Remember this important point and always place chairs close to lamps. You'll not only get more light for your money, but you'll prevent needless eyestrain.

There's a Right and Wrong Way to Wire a plug

Repairing loose plugs helps con-serve vital war materials, but be sure you do it right or a "short" may develop.

WRONG WAY, left, shows wires not wound around prongs first. RIGHT WAY, right, shows wires a put around prongs. When cord is yanked or jerked, pressure is put on the prongs, not the connections.
