NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Sgt. James M. Phillips of Gatesville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Phillips has been transferred back to Camp Hood to the Automotive School from Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

George Edward Studer of Gatesville, is a member of the first Navy V-12 unit at TCU in Fort Worth. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Studer.

Here's a couple of letters brought to us from the Whisenhunt boys in the service of Uncle Sam. This one from Pfc. H. L. Whisenhunt, a V-Mailer from overseas.

I would give the world to be with you now. I miss you so much and it seems like years since we were last together.

Your letters have been coming in just fine. So glad that Lawrence is still well. I think I'll write him again tonight. We both think about our dear folks so much and we want to make you proud of us. You must't worry, and before long we'll have this old war over with.

Got a very nice letter from Ray and Gladys. He may go to work in Waco.

Mother, the surprise I had for Martha was her anniversary present. All during the campaign, I saved my money so I could buy and send her another $100.00 to buy the present. She doesn't know anything about it. Well, will write you a long letter soon.

Love, Harold.
Here's one from Lawrence; from his APO address, he's overseas, too.

"Dear Mother and Dad: Just a few lines to let you know I am well and OK. Just got two letters from you, one from Roberta and two from Rua a few days ago. That little sis of mine sure can write a sweet letter. I know she doesn't take after me, but tell her to write again soon.

I will write sometime when I have time, but right now time is short, lots of work to be done, and I am leaving in a few days for another trip, but it won't last over a week or 10 days. Wish I could tell you more about it, but you know how these things are, but I will say it is nothing for you to worry about. It's just a little work for Uncle Sam, or, may I say, the FBI. You know what that means? The Forgotten Boy of India.

Don't worry about me, and write as often as you possibly can, and lots of love to all.

Lawrence.

Hood Soldiers Still Loose After Taking Truck

Two Camp Hood soldiers, Pvts. Clark E. Smith and Vernon E. Hoskins, are being sought by military authorities after overpowering a guard and taking an army truck. The truck has been found near Eastland.

The two men had been working on a labor detail in the reservation Monday and on their way back to the cantonment, slugged their guard Pvt. Alexander Tristram, and took his gun. They forced Tristram and the truck driver out of the truck near Pidcock and fled in the truck. Both men are 24. They were doing labor detail duty as punishment for minor infractions of army discipline, Camp Hood authorities said.

Another Newsman Visits News Office, Illinois

From The Rockford Morning Star, Rockford, Illinois, come now Pvt. William Chriswell of the 1848th MP Division, North Camp Hood, Texas.

Pvt. Chriswell, was an apprentice printer in this newspaper which has a circulation of some 75,000 in the city of Rockford which is approximately 100,000 in population.

It's always a temptation to put visiting printers to work when they visit us, and we're often tempted to give them an apron in exchange for their uniform.

We'd like to persuade a number of these fellows to make Texas their home after the war, because, as short of printers as the state is now, it's liable to be worse after the conflict.

"How Are You, Boy" Says Senator Tom Connally

No higher compliment was ever paid anyone, than was paid us by Senator Tom Connally at the Hospital Dairy Farm blow-out near Temple last Friday.

As the Senator came in the gate, we, with others, went forward to introduce ourselves, and shake his hand. We said: "Mat Jones, from Gatesville".

The Senator said: "How are you, boy! Mighty glad to see you!"

Now, for an "old" man with teeth not his own, and three boys of various ages, that, ladies and gentlemen, is a compliment, and to add to it all, approaching 43 at a terrific pace.

Anyway, it was a nice affair, the anti-ulcer barbecue and Mexicanized beans, etc., etc., which we're just now getting over. And, present too, were Judges R. B. Cross, Floyd Ziegler, Pat Holt, and H. K. Jackson.

YOU MIGHT AS WELL

Confess!

Almost everyone likes a mystery — almost everyone enjoys the thrilling excitement of tracking down a criminal with an ace detective. But some are a little ashamed to admit reading mysteries. Well—you need not be.

Maybe you didn't know that many college professors, bank presidents, great scientists, captains of industry, even the President of the United States all like their mysteries. In fact millions of Americans are reading more mysteries today than ever before. Why? Mainly because these fast-paced, easy-reading stories are both relaxing and refreshing. It is for them—and for you—that we are publishing

Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine

Edited by Ellery Queen, famous detective of the radio, the movies, and best-seller books, it is devoted exclusively to the best in detective crime short-story literature. And we mean literature. The fact that a story owes its plot to crime and detection need not prevent its being well written. Short detective fiction that is well written is not too readily available. But we are finding them—in books, in magazines, in the files of famous authors—and by arrangement with other publishers as well as with authors, we reprint in the approved Reader's Digest manner the best detective fiction to be procured.

Such masters as Dashiell Hammett, Agatha Christie,

Stuart Palmer and Ellery Queen are to be found in it. But stories are selected on their merits, not on authors' names. Tough and suave, casual and swift, comic and tragic, they are mingled with refreshing variety and stimulating change of pace. Rare gems, fit for the most critical, delightful to the most naive. You will find the new magazine well printed—sharp and clear, kind to the eyes. You will find the size—same as The Reader's Digest—convenient to hold, to handle, to slip into your pocket. And you will find the contents the most satisfying quarter's worth of good entertainment you have found in many a day. On sale at all good newsstands—25c a copy.

SPECIAL 10c OFFER TO READERS OF THE CORYELL COUNTY NEWS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
George Curson's life is full of woman trouble. The women who frequent the House of Curson, leading American couturiers: Wendy Van Klettering, who fills wealthy Henry Morgan and flies to Curson for protection; Betty Mason, his advertising manager, who marries Prince Muratov, a possible competitor; Sophie Miller, his valued assistant who collapses on the eve of their big showing; and finally his wife, who deserts him because he won't indulge her stage ambitions. Disconsolate, Curson takes Wendy, who has decided to model for him, on a hectic tour of the New York night life. The following morning reveals Sophie Miller returned to the job, full of animation. She is training Wendy when the latter is called to the office to face the returned Mary, raging over the gossip about Curson and Wendy. Curson says, "Did I make what is vulgarly known as a pass at you?"

Betty gasped. "Why I couldn't do that - - - I couldn't - I've been with Curson eight years. I'd feel like a dog."
Muratov turned a look of hurt indignation on Betty. "I should like to be alone with my wife a few moments," he told Morgan who shrugged his shoulders and slipped discreetly out of the room.
When Morgan returned, Betty was dabbing at the corner of her eye with a handkerchief. "My wife," Muratov intoned, "has decided."

Curson packed a protesting Sophie off to France to scout the market. As he hugged her goodbye, he laughed at her warning about Betty Mason and Muratov. Then he raced home to Mary. She was cutting up again. Maybe he would have to break Brockton's neck after all.

In an onyx-lined Curson showroom a little drama was proving that Muratov had already made inroads on the House of Curson trade. Wendy was modeling a resplendent dress designed for the Seven Arts Ball to be worn by Mrs. Stanley Lemke. Mrs. Lemke, a superannuated debutante, snifled disdainfully at this new creation by the house that had helped her win the title of the world's most famous clothes horse. "Prince Muratov," she finally announced, "has agreed to make me a treasure in real jade for one-third the price

Chapter Three

"No," was Wendy's answer. Only Mary's feminine ear caught the note of regret in her voice.
"Any questions?" Curson said spreading his hands blandly, and preparing to leave the office. Mary smiled archly. "Now that I've seen her - none."

"Geo-orge!" Mary's voice trilled icily down the stairs.

Wendy turned to follow Curson. "Just a minute, miss," Mary called her back. "I hope you didn't take him seriously. I'm not a jealous woman. Oh, no!" Her voice was hard with threat.

Wendy stared coolly back at her for a moment, then spoke slowly and deliberately. "I wouldn't leave him again if I were you. If I were in your shoes I would stay in them."

Wendy rapidly caught on to the tricks of modeling, was ready to appear in the collection showing. The showrooms were crowded, when Henry Morgan strode pompously into Curson's office, followed by a harassed looking shyster. They had an injunction restraining Wendy from appearing in the exhibition because her appearance "was calculated to cause my client further humiliation."

Wendy and Curson displayed the shrewdest ingenuity in getting around the injunction. She paraded on his arm as a guest, displayed the garments, while the crowded showroom tittered and Henry Morgan choked aplopetically.

Everybody agreed the showing was a tremendous success. That is, everybody but Morgan.

Morgan was ready to put Muratov in business as another step in his revenge. Muratov was a tall angular Russian with a shock of black hair, comic gestures and liquid brown eyes that penetrated the fiber of certain women. His wife, Betty, was one of these women.

Morgan outlined his plans for Muratov, then he wheeled on Betty. "Will you agree to get me a complete list of Curson's customers, his staff, designers, fitters, cut-of that rag." When she departed, Wendy knew something would have to be done, packed the garment in a hurry and raced to Curson's home.

She met a considerably disgruntled Curson. She didn't know that another of those tearful little scenes had just taken place between him and his wife. "Here," she told him, "is the little number Mrs. Lemke won't wear for the starving artists."

"Was she afraid they'd put her between two hunks of bread and use her for a sandwich?" he asked. "That reminds me, am I staying for dinner?" Wendy said, "I hear Mrs. Curson has gone to Europe." "Geo-orge!" Mary's voice trilled icily down the stair well. Wendy looked up startled. "Can't you keep your business apart from your home?"

Wendy muttered a hasty goodbye and left. George started for his room. Mary called him back.

"Can't you understand?" she resumed her pleading. "All I want is one good chance. If I don't make good you'll never hear another word about the stage from me again. I'll be a good wife, a housekeeper, a mother - anything you want."

There was a light of hope in Curson's face as he clasped her shoulders in his hands, looked straight into her eyes. In a second he had made the decision. He picked up the phone.

"Hello, Brockton? Listen, Snake-in-the-grass, this is Curson. I just wanted to tell you I'd back your blankety-blank show!"

He clicked the receiver and turned to face a Mary, radiant with delight. "George, George darling!" she squealed and ran forward to clasp him in her arms, to cover his face with grateful kisses.

A concerted effort to supply the soldiers in army hospitals with the things they want was started this week with organization of the Central Texas Camp and Hospital Council, embracing 11 counties in the Central Texas area.

Many articles, such as furniture, games, books, and magazines, are badly needed at army hospitals. The need for these particular items is in no way a reflection upon military efficiency, it was pointed out at the organization meeting here.

Objective of the Council will be to enlist the aid of the community organizations in supplying the articles for the hospital recreation centers, and later for company dayrooms at each army camp.

Officials from the National Red chapters were represented at the meeting which was also attended by army representatives from Camp Hood, McCloskey General Hospital, Waco Army Flying Field, Blackland Army Flying Field, and Bryan Army Flying Field.

Refrigeration QUIZ for Homemakers

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD PRESERVATION?

Should bananas be stored in refrigerator?

No. They keep better at room temperature.

Should eggs be washed before storing in refrigerator?

No. It removes a natural protective coating that helps retain moisture and vitamins. Eggs should be stored in covered container.

What is best way to store steaks, roasts and other kinds of fresh meat?

Wipe with clean dry cloth but do not wash until ready to use. Place in meat keeper if you have one. If not, cover loosely with waxed paper (do not wrap tightly) and place in or directly beneath defrosting tray. Meat to be kept for a relatively long period should be wrapped in waxed paper and frozen.

How should ground fresh meat be stored?

It should be wrapped loosely in waxed paper and frozen if not to be used day of purchase, as it spoils quicker than solid cuts.

When should refrigerator dishes and similar covered containers be used?

Leftovers, all liquids and all foods subject to drying out or absorbing odors from other foods should be kept in covered containers. Leaving liquids and moist foods uncovered speeds formation of frost on freezing unit.

Should wrapping paper, bags and cartons be removed from foods before storing?

Yes. Paper acts as an insulator and prevents cold from reaching food. An exception is quick-frozen foods, which should be put in freezer in original containers.

Why should fresh vegetables be placed under refrigeration quickly?

Because they lose vitamins and flavor rapidly when exposed to warm, dry air. Vegetables should be washed, drained and placed in crisper.

How can drying out of cheese be retarded?

By storing it in refrigerator in covered container. Or by spreading a thin coat of butter on cut edge.

What is best way to get full vitamin value from orange juice?

Chill oranges and then squeeze, instead of squeezing first and then chilling the juice. This conserves vitamins.

What is best temperature for main food compartment?

Forty degrees is safest. Higher than 45 degrees is not recommended.

TO THE TEACHERS OF CORYELL COUNTY

September has been designated as membership month for the Texas State Teacher's Association. Our organization is asking that every teacher become a member this year. It is realized that with the many calls on teachers during this period and the comparative low salaries of the teaching profession, that many have failed to become members in the past. Your organization needs your support. Only 50 percent of Texas teachers were members of the Association last year and yet we all receive the benefits of the efforts of the organization.

Coryell County teachers have always responded when a worthy cause has called. This call is not for charity but for your own advancement.

A few of the accomplishments of this organization are: Increased Scholastic Apportionment from the low of $3.00 per pupil to the present $25.00 per pupil has been brought about by the efforts of the organization working with the Legislature, worked diligently to increase the Equalization fund by which most of our rural schools have been able to increase the teachers salaries, have better equipment and longer terms.

The Association has constantly been working for increased salaries for all teachers and though salaries are still low compared to other present wages, there has been an increase made for 1943-44 which will amount to between ten and fifteen dollars per month to the teacher. All these advancements and many more have been sponsored by your organization. It has been largely through the Association's efforts in your behalf that the Legislature of Texas has come to realize the needs of the schools of Texas and has acted accordingly.

If your membership still has some time to go before expiring, join this month and you will receive credit for your unexpired time and the Association can count you as one who answered the September call. If it is more convenient, you may date checks in November. Let's make Coryell County 100 percent members in this year. Whether you are a teacher of long standing or a beginning teacher, your Association needs you and you need your Association.

Membership blanks may be secured at County Superintendent's office.
