Baptists' Complete Half Week Celebration Sunday

The First Baptist Church began its four day dedication program Wednesday evening with open house. C. E. Alvis, chairman of the general arrangements committee, presided over the general assembly which met in the auditorium at 8 o'clock. Following a song-fest directed by Rodney Couch, the pastor read the scripture and the prayer was led by Mrs. A. D. Honeycutt. Some 250, including both members of the church and visiting friends, visited through the church plant. Punch was served in the dining hall by a committee headed by Mrs. Luke Walker. Thursday morning at 10:00 o'clock the 86th annual session of the Leon River Association organized.

At the morning session Mr. Julian Pace, superintendent of Hillcrest hospital at Waco, spoke on hospitals. Rev. Lawrence Hayes, present pastor, spoke on the cooperative program and Rev. M. A. Sanderford, preached the annual sermon.

Lunch was served by the host church. At 1:30 Mrs. Evan J. Smith, associational president of the W.M.U., presided over an hours session of the women's meeting. Rev. Sanderford spoke on Brotherhood. Rev. J. T. Ayers spoke on Pastor's retirement and Rev. M. O. Cheek brought the closing message on Religious Literature.

At the evening session Rodney Couch directed the service of song and praise with M. O. Cheek, A. Loper, and Claydean Patterson making a report on district missions, home missions and foreign missions respectively. A mission sermon was reached by Dr. Charles Culpepper, Missionary to China, who came home on the Gripsholm.

The program this morning includes the Buckner Orphan Home report by Mrs. John Washburn and an hour of reminiscing, old songs, testimony and fellowship. At 11:30 Dr. R. E. Bell is to preach on "Christian Education."

The afternoon session will close the associational meeting and includes a report on Sunday School.

"WASHINGTON-MERRY-GO-ROUND" BEGINS: PAUL MALLON TUES.

Two nationally known, and in some places, too well known (some say) columnists are being hired by the News, the Coryell County News.

We refer to the internationally famous column, "Washington Merry-Go-Round" by Drew Pearson, which starts in today's News.

Tuesday, another famous columnist and commentator, Paul Mallon, who's syndicated column is regularly in The Ft. Worth Star-Telegram. Pearson's is carried in that newspaper, The Dallas Morning News.

High prices for dailies, and this will give Coryell County News subscribers two different national views from the capitol of what's it all about in Washington, in addition to that of Congressman W. R. Poage of this district.

If you can stand the gaff, there are other features being planned right now or the news, that'll just about give coverage as near as possible, as what you got before the dailies heisted so much.

Two Missing Girls Are Picked Up In Lordsburg, N. Mex.

Two young highschool girls, 13 and 14 were picked up Wednesday afternoon in or near Lordsburg, N. Mex., after they are said to have left Gatesville sometime Monday.

Details of the "runaways" are not known authentically, but only that they left Monday and were picked up there Wednesday afternoon.

Sheriff Joe White, a Mr. Honeycutt and Mr. Gatlin left early Thursday morning for Lordsburg to bring them back. They were Betsy Ann Gatlin and Addie May Honeycutt.

Every 12 Minutes Somebody Wants To Live Here

That's the statistics drawn by the Chamber of Commerce Housing of whatever the official title is, the office where you line a room, apartment or house, or don't.

Anyway, since Oct. 21, 1942 to Oct. 20, 1943, this office, operated by the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce, and with Mrs. R. Thomas, Mrs. Francis Caruth and Sgt. Alwin Wiles "doing the work" they have had 6,404 applications for dwelling units, 6,631 applicants for rooms, a total of 12,435 for the year, and in nearly every instance, this was to place at least two people.

The Statistician got busy over there, and it was figured that during the working hours, they had an applicant every 1. minutes, and placed one every 40 minutes, but many got away during the busy season without even registering, and some got places without the Chamber of Commerce's help.

For the year (and the good merchants of Gatesville paid the bill the total cost of this service, not counting Sgt. Wiles' pay, was 0804 and there were many, many sent to Hamilton, McGregor and other towns when the housing business was just about hopeless here—yes, even Waco was included.

The National Housing Authority, or whatever it is called has commended the local organization, and has declared this part of Chamber of Commerce activities to be Defense Work, and Mrs. R. Thomas a Defense Worker.

Merchants of Gatesville are to be congratulated on this good work in trying to help take care of our welcomed visitors, and it's another way to show that the entire little city is for making these folks feel as much at home as possible. We think it's good work and more than worth it.

Temp, Never Freeze, and No Boil.

We know nothing about anything but Bond, but we're still paying for what it did and thought you'd like to know. The War Production Board ordered these stopped being made.

Mrs. Morgan Oliver of Ft. Worth is visiting with friends and relatives here.

MAGNETIC TORPEDO:

Here is one reason why we needed the Azores so badly as an anti-submarine base. The U-boats not only have new devices but also a new strategy and may converge around the bottleneck to the Mediterranean between the Azores and Gibraltar.

DEVICES:

Latest Nazi torpedoes are superior to the former type which exploded only on contact. New torpedoes are exploded (1) on contact; (2) by magnetic attraction on coming close to the steel hull; (3) by the vibration of the engines of the ship under attack. This makes it possible for the submarine to succeed in its mission much more frequently than before. A torpedo is much less likely to miss, since missing actual contact with the target does not now mean, as previously, that it misses the target.

STRATEGY:

Convoys have now discovered that Nazi subs are hunting in packs of sufficient number to employ the same sort of naval strategy which large units of naval vessels are able to use. A group of submarines will surface on one side of the convoy, and thus decoy the escort vessels in that direction. Meantime, another group of submarines on the other side of the convoy will approach within easy firing range and discharge their torpedoes.

Observers believe, however, that the main artery of commerce from the United States to the European theater of war—the North Atlantic run—is still so well guarded that the submarine menace is licked so far as that run is concerned. It is feared, however, that the Nazis will now strike at another vulnerable point, namely, the Straits of Gibraltar. Since these straits must be passed by all Allied merchant shipping supplying the Mediterranean theater of war, including North Africa, Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica, Italy and the Adriatic—not to mention all the shipping now passing through the Mediterranean bound for the Straits of Suez and India—this area is due for a concentrated submarine attack.

A VISIT WITH STALIN

Secretary Hull might have got some interesting pointers for his Moscow trip from Cuban Ambassador Conchoso, only Latin American diplomat who has met Stalin.

Brilliant Senor Conchoso is both Cuban ambassador to the U.S.A. and Cuban minister to Soviet Russia. Recently he came back from a visit to the Soviet capital during which he presented his credentials to Foreign Minister Molotoff, and expressed the polite hope that he might also call upon Stalin. Knowing that Stalin was one of the busiest men in the world, however, Conchoso did not press the point and actually did not expect to see him.

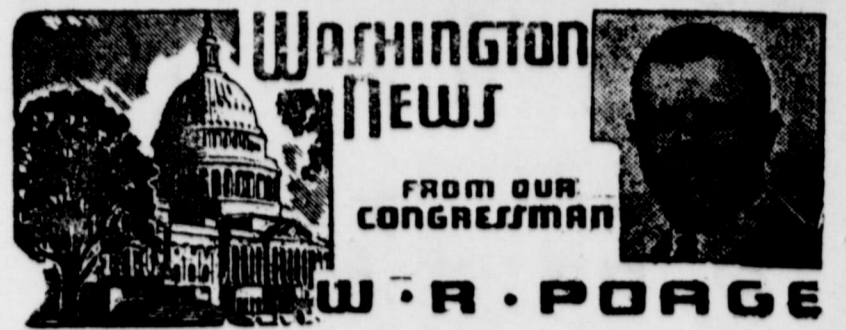

So he almost fell out of his ballet seat one night when someone tapped him on the shoulder and told him that Stalin would see him in 20 minutes. How Stalin knew the Cuban diplomat was enjoying the famous Moscow Ballet, Conchoso did not know.

However, he was told that a motor would call for him at the theater in 15 minutes, and he should be ready. Conchoso consulted a British diplomat, also present at the ballet, who told him that the man who had tapped him on the shoulder was the Russian chief of protocol, so he had better be ready.

It was May, but zero weather in Moscow. However, Ambassador Conchoso did not find it cold in the Kremlin. (Churchill wore a zipper-suit when he called on Stalin, and Mrs. Hull has been worrying on behalf of her husband about the cold in the Kremlin.) Only two officers guarded Stalin. One officer met the Cuban at the entrance of the building and escorted him to Stalin's office. There he was met by another officer who took him the rest of the way. There was no pomp or ceremony.

GENIAL JOSEPH

Stalin himself was not fierce, but kindly and genial. His eyes, according to Ambassador Conchoso, are

Dear Friends:

Yesterday, October 21 the House passed a bill placing Chinese Immigration under the 'quota' system. There was much misunderstanding about this bill here in Congress, and I am sure that many of our people at home will misunderstand it. I don't think, however, that we want to be unfair to the people of any one nation particularly do we want to avoid injustice to any of our allies. As I see it, the test which America should apply is, 'Will the immigration harm this country or our own people?' We should not allow the immigration of any more people of any race than we can assimilate without harm to our economic or social welfare. To avoid this we established the 'quota' system in 1924. Since that time, immigration to this country has almost ceased. In fact, for several years before the outbreak of the war, there were actually more people leaving the United States than there were coming in to it.

The only people in the world who were prohibited from entering this country were Chinese. We do not even name Japanese in our exclusion laws. Of course, the Chinese exclusion laws were -passed- at a time when we had no laws against contract labor, when we feared that the country would be flooded with 'cheap' Chinese labor.

Naturally, the Chinese resent our action in picking them out as being the only people on earth we exclude by name. (It is true that the other provisions of our laws often make it impossible for many people who want to do so to enter the United States, and no immigrant can now become an American citizen unless he is able to read and write the English language.) We have been able to do very much for China in a material way in spite of all that has been said about helping her. Nearly two years ago the president said that we would get aid to China. Our intentions have been good. The Chinese Government has been friendly—probably more friendly than the government of any of our allies—but we simply haven't been able to get the supplies into China.

Just this week a friend of mine from Waco who has been in China for the past 12 years flew back to Washington. He is Captain Royal Leonard, of the Chinese National Air Force. He has been flying over the Himalayas for the past 18 months. He tells me that we are actually flying less gasoline into China today than the Chinese are able to buy smuggle thru the Japanese lines. As he points out, while we have advanced money to deep and penetrating, but with wrinkles of humor in the corners.

The Soviet premier seemed surprisingly well-posted on Cuban problems, knew something about its labor laws and its economic questions. However, he was not familiar with Cuban - U. S. relations and seemed to think that Cuba was still politically dependent on the U.S.A. The ambassador explained that the Platt amendment had been abrogated and Cuba now enjoyed complete freedom.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Capt. Ralph Ingersoll, drafted away from his editorship of the newspaper PM, was detailed by the army to help pilot the Five Flying Senators on part of their war-zone trip. It is reported that Ingersoll is being queried by the war department as to who leaked certain information to the senators. Gov. Matt Neeley of West Virginia, former U. S. senator, will run for the house of representatives in the First West Virginia congressional district.

China, it is of little value so long as it stays in a New York bank, and we have been unable to devise any effective way of converting that money-into- bullets or bandages in Chungking. Until we are able to give China some more tangible support, the present friendly government of General Chiang Kai-shek must be able to point to some other reason for continuing the struggle. The Chinese people are weary. Many of them would like to quit on any terms. If China were to quit, it would mean the loss of hundreds of thousands of American lives.. I am told by all who know the Chinese that the passage of this Bill, which places the Chinese on the 'quota' basis and allows the admission of only 105 immigrants per year, would mean much in China just now. 'Face' means a great deal to these people. As I see it, we must help the Generalissimo to keep 'face' in order that he may keep China fighting our enemy. Thus we will be doing an act of simple justice that cannot possibly hurt this country and which may save untold numbers of American boys. I therefore, voted for the Bill.

On the same day, the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate approved by a vote of 20 to 2 the 'Connally Resolution' which is very similar to and possibly even more comprehensive than the Fulbright Resolution previously passed by the House. I think that this is important as a recognition by the Congress of the necessity of international cooperation to prevent future wars. We must be planning now if we are to win the peace and make it last.

At the same time we all realize that we still have a war, or rather two wars, to win before we can make peace. On Wednesday, the Members of the House heard a 4 hour report on the progress of the war from Secretary of War Stimson, Chief of Staff General George C. Marshall, and other top flight military officials. The meeting was confidential, and I cannot repeat what was said or tell you of the pictures that were shown us, but I can say that the men in charge of our Army fear that we will sustain terrible losses before the fight is won, all of which convinced me that we must not hesitate too sacrifice our prejudices wherever it may save American lives as in the case of the Chinese Bill.

Yours for Victory,
W. R. POAGE, CONGRESSMAN

PLAIN WARNING TO YOU!

Here is a plain warning for you . . .
"This war will last unt. 1949 or longer if the home front fails to back up our men in battle"

Buy War Bonds to the point of temporary personal sacrifice is the most direct way you can comply with Secretary Knox's appeal.

"Temporary sacrifice" is the correct phrase because you are only lending your money when you buy War Bonds. This government which never has defaulted on an obligation will pay you back $4 for every $3 invested if you hold the bonds for 10 years.

The least you can do is to back the attack with War Bonds today. Buy extra Bonds above your normal Bond buying.

MORGAN STARTS FIREWORKS WITH 90 YARD RUN! HORNETS WIN GAME 38-0

ITASCA WAKES UP THE LOCALS WITH HEADS-UP PLAY IN OPENING

There's one thing can be said for Itasca Wampus Cats—they didn't quit—they were just worn out. Another thing, too, they woke up a dormant Hornet Squad that has been resting, hibernating, or something on their 1942 laurels—woke them up enough so they pushed over a 38-0 win which, with 60 minutes of playing, might have been 83-0. It won't be that way in Taylor Friday night.

The Itascans took over shortly after the kick off and made the Hornets look sick, the local stand were sick, and it looked like we were sunk. Breaks came, and with one Hornet playing heads up he snatched us from disappointment and gloom to complete exhilaration, by snatching a pass on the Hornet's own 10 and streaked away 90 yards for a touchdown that changed the looks on everybody's faces and made the team go to work. Morgan, did the trick.

The Hornets are capable, and in previous games, they've shown that in a half hearted way. The season, like the war, has just started, and there's got to be 60 minutes of hard play, instead of 2 quarters, if we get the job done in 1943. They were back on their heels worried, and stunned, until Morgan snatched the interception.

After that, as you'll read this play by play, And right here, from now on, the rest of this season, they'd certainly better WANT TO, or they ARE NOT! Bench warming could help.

Hornets kick, Itasca defending the north goal. Powell kicks, Lengefeld holds, ball to Kimbrell on the 8 yard line and he returns to the 25 yard line.

Itasca off side on the next play, Elson carrying, and there's a penalty, off side. 1st D. and 15 to go. Kimbrell to 53 loses. He kicks, the ball bounces down field and Lenge gets it on the 43 yd. line.

Voss carries and makes 4 yds. over RT. Voss takes again for 21 yards. Lengefeld over RE make 1 yd., and it's 4th D. coming up. Edwards kicks from 43 to 10 yard line by 53, and he's stopped for no gain. Kimbrell drops 2 yards. Kimbrell carries again for no go. Pass, Kimbrell to Elson good for about 10 yds., It isn't 1st D., Itasca refuses penalty, off side. Kimbrell makes 1 yd. Kimbrell carries for no gain. Pass to Kimbrell and he carries for 20 to 47 yard line. Hopkins passes to Dotson, incomplete. Hopkins passes to Elson for another first D. They're going down the field. Frye for Coskrey. Hopkins passes again incomplete. Hopkins passes incomplete to Waldie. Hopkins passes again, incomplete, and it's 4th, thank goodness. Hopkins kicks out on the 8 yard line. Henderson in, Weaver out.

Voss picks up 3 yards. Ball on 11. Lengefeld fails to gain around right end Deavers on a reverse, and it makes 1 yd. Henderson kicks, a nice one out on the 47 yard line.

Hold 'em Hornets. On a spin, little Elson fools them and picks up 6 yards. Others went other way. They run thru center of line and get nowhere, Kimbrell carrying. Hopkins passes and it's snagged beautifully to Dotson on the 30 yard line, but they bring the ball back. No, it's the 1st quarter.

2nd Quarter

Kimbrell cuts in nicely and picks up 6 yards. Hopkins, intending to pass, fumbles momentarily and must run, and he drops 2 or 3 yds. Hopkins takes intending to pass, but he can't and makes a RE run out of it, gaining about 2. Hopkins completes long pass to Dodson, and the ball is on the 6 yard line. Boynton for Henderson. A cross buck loses them 6 yards, Gartman doing the dropping. It's a pass Elson passes to Hopkins, incomplete. Don't like these passes, they're too good. Hopkins passes, Morgan takes and runs the length of the field barring about 10 yards for a touchdown, a 90 yard sprint, and he had help with Edwards.

Boynton holds, Whittenburg kicks, but it's no good. Gv. 6, Itasca, 0. That helps.

Lenge holds, Powell kicks, ball to Stovall on about the 15 and he bearily gets away bringing ball to the 32 yard line. On a handoff, Elson fumbles, losing about 8 yds. Hopkins fades, passes and Lengefeld intercepts pass, and the ball is on the Itasca 36. Boynton to Deavers ove recenter, takes ball to the 30 yard line. Weaver for Voss. Coskrey for Voss. Hornets refuse penalty. Boynton passes to Lengefeld, and he don't quite get to it. Deavers takes and keeps plowing making 2 yards. Lengefeld makes it a 1st D. and 2 yards. Boynton carries, is hit, fumbles and Coskrey recovers, made 3. Deavers over LG makes a 1st D. and about 7, carrying to the 8. Hoyle for Greer. Subs going in, too many. Hornets lose 5, too much time. Boynton takes around LE for 1 yard. Deavers hits RG, and maybe makes 2. Boynton passes complete to Deavers, carrying to the 6 yd. line. Deavers makes 2, but the ball goes over, and the Itascans are penalized, 5 yards off side. One 1 or 2 yard line. Deavers hits line and goes over for touchdown. And, that's better. Deavers out. Henderson in. Boynton makes extra standing up. Gv. 13, It. 0.

Greer for Hoyle for Itasca. Hornets kick, Lengefeld and Powell, ball to by Kimbrell on the 15, and he returns to the 33 yd. line. And the half ends before another play can be made. Gv. 13, Itas. 0. 3rd Quarter.

There's a little more noticeable breeze from the South, and the Hornets kick from that direction, ball going to 23 by Elison and Henderson stops him on the 20 yard line. It was one of those fly-in' kind of sticking tackles. Hopkins to Elison for 12 yards and a 1st D.

Hopkins takes ball, runs, and is knocked out of bounds by Fry. Makes 1 yd. Hopkins takes ball passes over C, almost intercepted by Williams, but referee ruled it hit ground first. They spread Hopkins passes to Elison and they make about 17, Ball on Hornet 45. Hopkins takes ball and passes to Harper and he goes to the Hornet 20 and he really goes. It's a spread, and Hopkins passes incomplete and short. Hopkins passes too short again. He's being rushed, rather. Still they spread. Hopkins passes, over C, incomplete again. Itasca loses. Penalty, player illegally in motion. Henderson stops next Hopkins Elison pass that is completed and he picked up 10.

Another penalty and the Itascans lose 5 more but he made no sign. It's a spread. Hopkins passes and is knocked down by Williams. Hopkins punts, high and goes to Williams on the 27 and he is nailed in his tracks.

Lengefeld takes ball and goes around RE to the 47 line from the 27, 20 yds. ain't bad. Boynton carries picks up 5 yards, as Williams lays out. A reverse and they lose 2 yards. Hornets lose 5, backfield in motion. Voss carries, and he's still going, carrying the ball to the 30 yd. line in the Itasca end. Boynton carries nicely cutting over LT. takes for another 1st D. and 16 yds. Voss weaves and cuts and carries on across standing up, and 13 yards. They are looking like a team now. But, it's no soap, play called back, some kind of penalty, 5 yds. off side. Deavers goes over line for 3, after handoff, ball on the 13 yd. line. Boynton goes over RT for 4 yards. Lenge in, Voss out. RED CROSS WANTS
FINISHED CLOTHING TURNED IN NOW

Women who have finished knitted garments for the Red Cross are requested to turn them in as soon as possible, according to a statement by Mrs. J. H. McClellan, chairman of knitting for the Coryell County Red Cross Chapter. Those in charge of production are anxious to pack a box for shipment next week if possible.

This request does not apply to those who have recently checked out knitting thread, but to the women who have had the thread for several months.

Nineteen Gatesville women have completed the required lecture course given at the station hospital at South Camp Hood for work with the "Gray Ladies." The lectures were given to women from Lampasas, Killeen and Gatesville in cooperation with their local Red Cross chapters.

The work of the Gray Ladies is a recreational feature of the Red Cross and is a friendly service to boost the morale of the men during the time of their hospitalization. It is therefore not to be confused with the work of nurses aides or professional service given by doctors and trained nurses. The training given the Gatesville women was sponsored by the local Red Cross chapter, which chartered the bus used for transportation to South Camp.

Those who successfully completed the work and passed examinations given at the conclusion of the course and are now ready for the 24-hour probation work at N. Camp Hood are Mesdames B. Berry, H. Richardson, J.H. Hamilton, Francis Caruth, J. D. English, Ed Schloeman, R. B. Cross, Miller Stinnett, R. M. Hough, D.R. Boone, Wm. Wiegand, J. R. Jasper, L. A. Cheatham, C. Chapter Six

The coroner called a recess after the disturbance which followed my fainting; Maxim led me tenderly to the car, and went off to fetch me a sedative, which he insisted I must take. A moment later, I looked up into the face of Jack Favell.

"Well," he said with a sly smile, "and how does the bride find herself today? Marriage with Maxim isn't exactly a bed of roses, is it?" I was about to ask him to leave when Maxim suddenly returned, empty-handed. I could sense the rage in his voice as he said, "What do you want, Favell?"

Favell turned. "Hullo, Max," he smiled. "Things are going pretty well for you, aren't they? Better seeing justice done," he said. "That boat builder's evidence suggests suicide. Now I've a little note here, which I consider puts that possibility quite out of court." He took the note from his pocket. "Read it, Colonel Julian," he said. Favell looked at Maxim with a confident smile, as Julian began to read:

"Jack darling — I tried to ring you but could get no answer. I have just seen the doctor and I'm going down to Manderley right away. I shall be at the cottage all this evening, and shall leave the door open for you. I have something terribly important to tell you. I want to see you as soon as possible."

No one spoke, until Favell broke the silence.

"Does that look like a note from a woman who has made up her mind to kill herself?" There was no reply. "Come, Colonel," Favell continued, "as an officer of the law don't you feel that there are some slight grounds for suspicion?"

"Of murder?"

"What else? You've known Max a long time, Colonel — so you know he's the old-fashioned type who'd die to defend his honor — or who'd kill for it! Step right up, Max old boy..."

"Since you have this thing worked out so carefully," Colonel Julian broke in, "perhaps you can also supply the motive?"

"Of course —" he crossed the room to the door, and turned smiling. "If you'll all excuse me a moment."

He returned almost immediately. "Here she is," he said with some gravity, "the witness who will supply the motive!"

Mrs. Danvers walked slowly into the room.

"No offense, Colonel," Favell said, "but I think it's just like to Danny she'd understand it more easily." He turned to her, "Danny than you ever expected. But you know, Max, I really feel I ought to talk things over with you..."

"Talk what things over?"

"Well, the open sea cocks, for one thing, and the holes drilled in the planking — those holes that were drilled from the inside!" He paused. "You see, Max, when I read in the papers about Rebecca's boat being found with a body in it — and heard from Danny the appalling news that it was Rebecca's body — and now this distressing evidence from the boat builder — well, I've naturally become tremendously intrigued. You know, I've a horrible feeling that somebody's going to use that very old-fashioned but expressive phrase, 'foul play.'"

"You see, Max," he continued, "I'm in rather an awkward position. He took a folded note from his pocket. "You've only to read this little note to understand. It's from Rebecca. She wrote it to me the day she died — and what's more, she had the foresight to date it. Incidentally, I was on a party that night, so I didn't get the note until the next day."

"And what makes you think the note would interest me?" Maxim asked.

"Oh, I won't bother you with the contents now. But I can assure you that it isn't the note of a woman who intends to drown herself that same night... Seriously, Max, do you think I ought to give this note to the coroner?" His voice sent a chill through me. "Or do you think perhaps it will make things too awkward...?"

His voice suddenly took another tone. "Do you know, Max old boy, I'm fed up with my job as a motor car salesman. It's very exasperating — driving about in expensive cars you don't own. I've often thought how nice it'd be to retire in the country — have a little place with a few acres for shooting, perhaps..." He grinned. "I've never really figured out what it'd cost a year, but I'd like to talk it over with you, Max..."

Max agreed to talk it over—in a private room at a nearby inn. But Favell's threat of blackmail made him cautious; he signalled to Frank, and when Max and Favell entered the room, Colonel Julian, Frank and I were waiting. Maxim told the Colonel about Favell's "proposition."

"I think you can handle this better than I, Colonel Julian," he said. "Actually he offered to withhold some vital evidence if I'd make it worth his while."

Favell spoke calmly to Colonel Julian. "I'm only interested in —who was Rebecca's doctor — in London?"

"I don't know anything about that."

"Don't give me that, Danny. You knew everything about Rebecca." She said nothing, and he went on. "You knew she was in love with me, didn't you? Surely you haven't forgotten all the good times she and I used to have down at the cottage on the beach. Come on, Danny — you can tell about it now."

Suddenly she turned on him with a fierce outburst. "She was not in love with you — or with Mr. de Winter—or anyone! She laughed at you! Love was only a game with her, only a game. It made her laugh, I tell you. She used to sit on her bed and rock with laughter at the lot of you!"

"Mrs. Danvers," Colonel Julian interrupted. "Can you think of any reason why Mrs. de Winter should have taken her own life?"

"No... No. I refuse to believe it. I won't believe it."

Favell clutched at this. "Listen to me, Danny," he said. "We know that Rebecca went to a doctor in London on the last day of her life. You think we're after the secrets of Rebecca's life. I'm trying to defend her, too — to clear her name of the suspicion of suicide. There's been deliberate murder — and you'll want to know the name of the murderer. It rolls off the tongue easily — George Fortescue Maximilian de Winter! We've got to tell the whole truth, Danny!"

Her voice was even, her eyes steadily on Maxim. "His name was Dr. Baker — 627 Goldhawk Road — Shepherd's Bush..."

"There's where you'll find your motive, Colonel Julian! Dr. Baker'll tell you why Rebecca went to him — to confirm the fact that she was going to have a child. That's what she was going to tell me — that's what she told Max, who knew he wasn't the father — on the night she was killed!"

... ..

We are riding wildly through the night in search of an obscure little doctor. The road slips back beneath us, faster and faster. Each one is silent with his own thoughts, his own hopes. But whether or not we find Dr. Baker, whether or not he tells us what we want to hear, this much can never be taken from me: that at last I have really, wholly possessed Maxim; have had his love completely in the hour of agony and pain that welded our lives together as our days of happiness never could.

Wartime Lighting Suggestions

HOW TO GET MORE LIGHT FROM YOUR PRESENT EQUIPMENT

Eliminate Colored Bulbs

Amber-orange and flametint bulbs in round or flame shape give a mellow, amber lighting effect, but there is a considerable loss in light to obtain it. Replace them with inside-frosted lamps of the same wattage and you'll get a lot more light from the same amount of current. It's a good idea, too, to see that bulbs are equipped with shades to prevent glare and to direct light where it is needed. We'll gladly help you in any way we can to make the most of your lighting.

OTHER WAYS TO CONSERVE LIGHT

1. Remove and clean lamp bulbs and lamp bowls regularly. Dry thoroughly before using again.
2. Keep shade linings light. Clean or brush regularly. Repaint or reline dark-colored paper or parchment shades.
3. Sit close enough to the lamp to get all the help it can give your eyes.
4. Avoid direct glare from lamp bulbs by using shades deep enough and wide enough.
5. Arrange furniture so one lamp can serve two people. But be sure lamp is not too far away from either person.
6. Turn off lamps not in use. Lamp bulbs use critical materials. Make them last longer.

U.S.O. Activities

Members of the USO Council and the USO Staff of Gatesville were privileged to meet Mr. Chester I. Barnard, national president of the United Service Organizations, when he visited in Waco Tuesday, Oct. 26. Mr. Barnard spoke to USO Council members and workers of Central Texas at a luncheon in the Raleigh Hotel at that time, and presented a broad view of the work that these organizations are doing throughout the world in the interest of service to the service men. He laid particular stress on the need of harmony among people of different faiths and races in order to bring about the victory of peace at home and throughout the entire world. USO is doing a great deal in its work to bring about harmony and cooperation among different faiths and races and is laying the ground work for post war reconstruction in its splendid example of the type of harmony that can be obtained.

Miss Helen Poe, director of the Woman's Activities of the Gatesville USO, addressed thirteen hundred people representing the large companies of Dallas last Tuesday evening at the Crystal Ball Room in the Baker Hotel, Dallas, when the Opening Dinner of the Dallas War Chest Drive was staged. This War Chest Drive is the largest in Texas and Gatesville is indeed honored in having Miss Poe tell of its USO activities to represent all of United Service Organizations on this occasion. Presiding at the meeting was President R. H. McCord of Sears Roebuck; and the other speakers were Mrs. Andrew Condos, president of Allied War Relief in Texas, and Col. Williamson, Adjutant General of the Eighth Service Command.

Gatesville USO Council will play host to USO Councils in the Camp Hood Area next Tuesday evening at a dinner at the First Methodist Church. Sixty representatives of USO from Lampasas, Copperas Cove, Killeen, Temple, Belton and Waco will be guests at the dinner.

The purpose of the meeting is the better understanding of USO activities and cooperating of the work of the various clubs in this area. An outstanding speaker will bring a message on this occasion.

Hallowe'en is being celebrated at the USO this week. Special decorations, music, favors activities, and program will be featured at the dance in Hallowe'en costume where possible; however, hats, masks, noisemakers will be provided for all.
