Dear Friends:

The past week in the house has probably been the most important of this session. All of the newspapers and radio commentators have emphasized the importance of the OPA legislation. Most of them have tried to picture the action of the House as destructive of all price control. Such was not the case. What the House did was simply to recognize the fundamentals of economics rather than to continue to try to fool ourselves.

In the first place the increase allowed in wages in most basic industries has increased costs—all statements to the contrary notwithstanding. As costs increase, prices are bound to increase if production is to continue. In a controlled economy, an increase in cost of one essential item inevitably forces increases in other costs and necessitates a retreat to an entirely new and higher level of prices. What we experienced when we approved the steel and automobile wage contracts was not a "bulge" groups simply must be given the same treatment.

In the second place, the only way you can get production in a free economy is to offer a price will make a return above his cost. No one is going to continue to produce when faced with certain loss. The only permanent way to hold prices down is to get production up. To get production up, we must give producers a chance to make a profit.

The House recognized both of these fundamentals and provided that ceiling prices should be set so as to encourage production at present costs.

The house also finally recognized the fallacy of the subsidy program and voted to abandon meat subsidies as of June 30, and all other subsidies by the first of next year. This will make the citizen pay more directly for certain food, but it will mean that when he pays his grocer he will have been leaving part of the bill for the tax collector.

The House also required the OPA to remove controls on any commodity when the supply of that commodity equals demand. OPA has long said they were going to do this, but they have never carried out their promises. This relates particularly to crops like cotton, the price of which the OPA has sought to force down although they admit that the producer of cotton simply could not earn half ton prices.

Early this week the House by an overwhelming vote refused to urged to make soil conservation machinery available to districts for public work. In order to get the measure before the House I was required by the Rules Committee to offer an amendment to include states, counties, cities and other public agencies. This undoubtedly weakened the bill, but even so, I was deeply disappointed that we were able to get only some fifty votes for the measure. I shall now go before the Senate Appropriations Committee and ask them to give the Department of Agriculture $10,000,000.00 for the purchase of surplus machinery. Earlier I had appeared before the House Committee and that body has included $1,000,000.00 for this purpose. That is not enough. The procedure of asking for an appropriation to enable our government to buy unused surplus machinery which it already owns seems silly to me, but I want this equipment to be used to ave our soil, and I am going to keep trying to get it.

Yesterday the House finally approved the conference report, containing an appropriation for $2,000,000.00 to start construction of the Whitney dam on the Brazos River. This measure will be of utmost importance in controlling the floods both in the city of Waco and all the way down the Brazos the Flood Control Committee held hearings on the authorization of the Miller Springs Dam on the Leon. I appeared in behalf of this project. I am hopeful of developing every stream in our district and of protecting all our valleys, but get everything at one time.

With best wishes, I am
Your friend,
"W. R. POAGE"
Congressman, 11th Texas Dist.

U. S. O. ACTIVITIES

Two Parties Given for 1848th SCU

The two parties given by the 1848th S. C. U., U.S.D.B. at the USO Club on Friday and Saturday nights of last week were very successful affairs. Practically every man in the unit attended one or both of the parties and military wives and junior hostesses from Waco, Hamilton and Gatesville were their guests. Hostesses assisting the USO staff were Mrs. F. J. Battle, Mrs. T. M. Davidson, Mrs. W. F. Bennett and Mrs. W. A. Melton.

Captain Raymond D. Graham, Commanding Officer of the 1848th S. C. U., and Mrs. Graham were present each evening.

Although many spent most of their time at the billiard or ping-pong tables or playing table games, the principle attraction was dancing to the music of the "Dee Bee" orchestra under the direction of Pfc. Earl Dillon. A buffet supper was served during intermission and cold drinks and ice cream were served all during the evening. Large baskets full and bouquets of pink running roses were the decorations.

During each evening, occasion was taken by master-of-ceremonies and singer, Pvt. Moose Hall, to express the appreciation of the men to Capt. Raymond D. Graham for the parties and for their association with him. Capt. Graham, who has been commanding officer of the 1848th S. C. U. for the last several months and who is returning to civilian life this week, responded to the enthusiastic applause with a few remarks expressing his pleasure with the men under his command, the two parties, and the cooperation of the USO.

Easter Observance in the Club

Sunday afternoon iced punch and home made cake was served in the Club during a musical movie program of religious music. Easter lilies were the floral decoration. G. S. O. members, Waldine Swindall, Polly Ward and Wanda Stephens poured punch. Cakes were brought in by ladies of St. John's, Coryell City, Mrs. Herbert Hennig, Mrs. Walter Huse, Mrs. Henry Niemeier, Mrs. Earl Schulz, Erwin Mueller, Mrs. Willie Renter and Mrs. Ernest Dreyer and Gatesville ladies Mrs. Earl Drake, Mrs. Price Bauman, Mrs. S. L. Hancock, Mrs. Louis Meharg,

Walter Hendrick.

Easter Cantata Well Received

On Wednesday night of last week the cantata "Easter-tide" by Daniel Protherol, was presented in the club by a group of young ladies from Hood Village, South Camp. The eighteen singers under the direction of Mrs. D. P. Cartwright and their pianist, Pvt. Perry Kinard, Jr., were highly enjoyed by the audience of soldiers and townspeople.

Massed Easter Lilies and ramblers roses formed the background for the choir in the lobby of the Club.

This group was to have sung the cantata at Killeen USO Club on Friday night and at South Camp and also at Hood Village Sunday. They will soon be working on a summer fiesta program which they have promised to also bring to us.

Bingo Saturday Night

Because everyone will wish to see the "Dee Bee" Sketchbook at the Camp Theater on Wednesday night of this week, the regular midweek bingo party will be postponed until Saturday night.

"Dee Bee" Orchestra to Play Friday Night

The regular weekly dance will be held as usual on Friday night in the USO Club. Young ladies of Gatesville and nearby communities are especially invited.

Hi-School Orchestra to Play at Club

Wednesday night, May 1st, the High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Allen, will play a concert in the USO Club beginning at 7:30 P. M. The public as well as the military is invited.

Texans In Washington

By L. T. (TEX) EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, April —(AP)—The last few days before congress started its Easter recess were hectic—The draft and the OPA had the House in a turmoil.

Texas members were in the thick of both scraps. Ordinarily when a measure comes to the floor for action it goes sailing through to passage, having been considered and endorsed by a committee. But not so with such "Hot" subjects as continuing selective service and extending price controls.

Rep. Wright Patman, staunch defender of the OPA, sweated it out at the "Majority" table on the House floor because he served on the committee which reported the extension legislation.

Patman found many of his Texas colleagues lined up against him—particularly when it came to a proposal lifting all price controls on meat.

Members of the House Military Affairs committee, Reps. Ewing Thomason of El Paso and Paul Kilday of San Antonio had similar though somewhat less arduous moments when the House passed the draft bill. One of the most forceful talks against the 5-months holiday amendment to the draft measure was that by Rep. John Lyle of Corpus Christi—Even though he spoke in vain his stature as a legislature grew.

It's a bitter pill to swallow, fellow Texans but the records here leave no shadow of a doubt but what the Florida mainland is farther south than the tip of Texas along the Rio Grande, and Miami is farther south than Brownsville.

A check with the United States coast and geodetic survey and the national geographic society officially discloses:

Miami is approximately 8 miles south of Brownsville; Cape Sable is the southernmost tip of Florida and about 66 miles below Miami. Key West is about 92 miles south of the southernmost tip of Texas.

Six Texans signed the petition which forced the enlisted men's terminal pay bill out of committee for floor action. They are Reps. Lindley Beckworth of Gilmer, Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin, Albert Thomas of Houston Ewing Thomason of El Paso, J. M. Combs of Beaumont and Wright Patman of Texarkana.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

A former Houston girl, Miss Gertha (cq) McDaniel, is an efficient secretary in the National Press Club's business office. She has much to do with handling tickets at sell-out affairs and knows how to give a sweet "no" to famed Washington News Writers who sometimes forget to take care of such matters in time.

She came here two years ago, after spending in months in the frigid northlands of Alaska and Canada. She was a secretary to the oil pipe line and road construction superintendent on the famed Canol project—used to go bear hunting on the snow capped mountain range towering above the camp headquarters.

Getting away from the frigid north to something really hot—those fiery little Mexican peppers called Jalapenos: A few weeks ago Ernest Hoffstein of the Brownsville Herald visited here and had lunch with the Texas congressional delegation. He saw how they tearfully ate the last of the Jalapenos which Rep. Milton West had managed to acquire and had been serving at the weekly luncheons. Last week they showed up again on the table—Hoffstein had stepped across the border to Matamoros and found some more to send up here.

A navy department public relations official on duty here is Lieut. Commander Herschel Schooley, on leave from his press and public contact with Hardin-Simon University at Abilene. He works closely with Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, and between those two Texans the Lone Star State gets recognition.

For instance in a speech Nimitz made recently at Macon, Ga., copies of which were widely distributed to the press by Schooley, the chief of naval operations said, among other things: "The Texas War of Independence provides a perfect example of the appreciation of sea power. The Texas navy X X X forced the Mexican army to make exhausting marches overland through the desert. X X X"

Beaumont editors W. W. Ward of the Journal and Bob Akers of the Enterprise, Felix Mc Knight of the Dallas News, and Allen Duckworth, Dallas News political writer, were luncheon guests of Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont in the House Restaurant. Other pre-

(For Jack Stinnet)

WASHINGTON—German scientists found that airborne radioactive materials can cause cancer of the lung, and American investigators appraise this as something which "should be of interest" to researchers in atomic energy.

The German researches were reported by a group of American scientific and technical investigators who unearthed many Nazi scientific secrets while the war was still on.

The American organization is known as the Technical Industrial Intelligence Branch (TIIB) of the joint intelligence objective agency, which operates under the supervision of the army and navy chiefs of staff.

ONE team of investigators learned from scientists of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Germany that the Germans had investigated the cause of lung cancer among certain groups of miners in the Reich.

The German investigators reached the conclusion, a TIIB report says, that the lung cancer "was caused by breathing radium emanation and other radioactive materials present in the air in some of the mine."

Information on the research was obtained from Dr. Boris Rajewsky of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute.

In the official War Department "Smyth Report" on American studies leading to the development of the atomic bomb, note is made of the health hazards associated with work on radioactive materials.

It was stated that radiations from such materials "have deadly effects akin to the effects of X-rays."

"THEY (radioactive materials) give off very penetrating radiations—gamma rays—which are much like X-rays in their physiological effects," declares the Smyth Report.

"They also give off Beta and Alpha rays which although less penetrating can still be dangerous."

The Smyth Report said that the amounts of radioactive material produced by the atomic-splitting of uranium in a relatively small chain-reacting system "may be equivalent to hundreds or thousands of grams of radium."

(The amounts of radium used in hospitals in an ordinary physical measurements usually comprise but a few milligrams. A milligram is one-thousandth of a gram.)

Among the instruments used by the health division of the atomic bomb project was one called "sneezy" which was designed to measure the concentration of radioactive dust in the air.

sent were Senator Tom Connally and Texas News correspondents stationed here. The after-luncheon talkfest was joined in by former Governor James Allred and Burriss Jackson of Hillsboro. Texas politics were thoroughly explored.

Editor E. M. Pooley of the El Paso Herald Post—another of the many Texas newspaper executives here for the meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors—and Mrs. Pooley were honor guests at a reception given by Rep. and Mrs. Ewing Thomason. Or should we say Mrs. Thomason—since a night House session on the OPA bill prevented the congressman from getting home for the party.

The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill for the payment of $6,313 to the widow and children of Chancee Lee Brisbin of Holland, who was killed near his home when a soldier tossed a 40-pound hunk of ice from a troop train kitchen car and struck him in the face. As originally introduced by Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, the bill provided a $30,000 settlement.

The Senate also passed a bill to pay $3,523 to Orvis Welch, Paris, Texas, taxicab driver who was injured in a multiple car mixup. His cab had collided with another car. He got out to survey the damage and was standing between the two vehicles when an army car skidded into the rear machine, crushing him in the impact.

HOLLYWOOD —HOLLYWOOD—

HOLLYWOOD — Abraham Lincoln—excuse me, I mean Gregory Peck—mixed himself a highball and said, no, thanks, despite the resemblance he didn't think he'd like to play the role of Abraham Lincoln.

"Everybody knows so much about Lincoln, it would be hard to find a story that would say anything new."

Greg's living-room bookshelves have a section on Lincoln, including the Carl Sandburg biography, but this interest has no connection with his own resemblance to the Civil War President, he said, nor with the fact that friends began noting that resemblance about eight years ago.

Peck was late for the interview, so his 20-month-old son, Jonathan Gregory, entertained me by (1) running about the living room pointing to a floor lamp which I evidently was supposed to light in broad daylight; (2) running to the front door and furiously rattling the latch chain.

GREG, his son and his wife, the former Greta Kukkonen, Katherine Cornell's onetime hairdresser, who expects another child in August, live in a small, dark-gray plaster castle at the windswept, woody crest of the Hollywood Hills. The living room drapes and slip covers are of a bright rose pattern; the davenport is lumpy as though from a small boys pouncing, and the wall behind Greg's correspondence desk is a window that looks out on a doghouse, a hedge and a revolving clothesline.

I asked Greg how it felt to have hit stardom so fast—six pictures in three years.

"Damned good. I just hope it lasts." Peck sat on the army of his chair, jiggling the ice in his drink, his head a shaggy Lincolnesque silhouette in the gathering dusk.

WELL, I won't pretend that our interview developed anything of earth shaking consequence. We discovered we have the same home town— San Diego — and Greg said his father, Gregory Peck, Sr., is on the midnight-to-dawn prescription-filling shift at an all-night drugstore there.

Greg, Jr., demonstrated how he and fellow students would act out dramatic situations assigned them at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York City.

He introduced Perry, a white German Shepherd dog which finally coaxed Greg into hurling a stick, for Perry to chase, far down into the dusty canyon. Perry's white-furred eyes were circled in black; Greg's young half-brother, Donald, had been experimenting with the actor's old make-up kit.

NEW YORK—The recent choice of Dinah Shore as one of the year's "ten best dressed gals" reminds some of the radio row gang of Dinah's first appearance on the air in New York— She was a typical youngster in "sloppy Joe" sweater, skirt, bobby sox and loafers—Now she has Howard Greer and Adrian designing her happy rags.—Crooner Andy Russell will have quite a mob on hand when he plays the Los Angeles Orpheum Theater in May. —He has a head start on most performers in that city, since he is a native and one of ten children, plus enough relatives and in-laws to pack, or at least claque, the theater.

ed officer had ordered a luxurious meal, a first helping of K-rations. . . .

WHAT happened to Bessie Love??? She's making her first screen appearance in more than a decade in the British film, "Journey Together." . . . For the first time in Manhattan night club history, people are standing in line to see Milton Berle at the Carnival. Nicky Blair's fabulously successful Eighth Ave. Saloon . . . It makes Nicky correct in his contention that the public will go west of Broadway if the attraction is right. The consensus among the smarties in Lindy's and Reuben's was that an Eighth Avenue club would do a swift fold . . . Olsen and Johnson are sought for the next show, and the price being tossed around by these stage zanyies is a round and rather firmly-packed $18,500 a week . . . which would be for a complete show, not so stratospheric when you consider that Milton Berle currently is taking down more than $10,000 each week.

RAY BOLGER'S personal triumph seems to have turned "Three To Make Ready" into a smash hit. . . . What with "Mildred Pierce," "Because of Him" and "The Harvey Girls" all glorifying waitresses, the Murphy sisters think it would be nice to describe all three of them as "blue plate pictures."

Maestro Dave Terry of the Danny Kaye air show is helping Mrs. Jerome Kern get her late husband's memoirs together . . . Chili Williams, whose dotted bathing suit photo made her famous and gave her a supposedly lifetime job with Bill Schiller, the Polka Dot King, has had a tiff with her boss, who is suing to end their contract . . . Schiller says Chili wasn't wearing dotted things all the time as contracted for, and that furthermore she had told interviewers she was weary of polka dots, which wasn't to Bill's liking at all . . . He's a manufacturer of dotted articles, you see, and every attack on a polka dot is an attack on his greatest love, commercial, that is.

Dave Cheavens

If you are planning to drive down to the Big Bend National Park this summer—in that new car you hope to get or on those new tires you might find—take a tent and your own grub box, extra gasoline, and water.

This is advice straight from young Dr. Ross A. Maxwell, park superintendent.

Dr. Maxwell's office address is Marathon, Texas. Marathon is on the edge of the Big Bend Park, 327 miles from San Antonio on U. S. 90 or 280 miles from El Paso, coming at it from the opposite direction.

From Dr. Maxwell's house to Marathon, on the gravel road that runs generally south to temporary par headquarters, it is 80 miles. He and his wife and two children drive in once a week for mail and supplies. They do not have a telephone. When one of the children is sick, they effect a cure themselves, or take the child to the doctor. Mrs. Maxwell is the school teacher.

"But in the Big Bend", says Maxwell, who is a doctor of philosophy and NOT a doctor of medicine. "You live out of doors most of the time, and the children don't get sick very often." They have tor just once in two years.

Maxwell is just as enthusiastic about the opportunity Texans have of growing up with the park, as he is about its ultimate development into one of the nation's major national recreation areas. He believes Texans should come and see for themselves, load up their tents, rig their bedrolls, pack their

"There is plenty of room for NOT have any kind of housing or 60 families at one time this year," he says.

Maxwell isn't fooling when he says there is plenty of room for camping. The total area of the park is 707,895 acres, and even excluding that which is principally up-and-down, you can find room ber of good camping sites near the Rio Grande, and Maxwell hints that fishing is getting better.

It used to be they caught catfish weighing from 80 to 100 pounds. Then there was some dynamiting and the fish supply fell vice took over, the blasting has stopped and fishing is on the upgrade.

Maxwell says the Service's first big job in improving the park was to remove the livestock. Its second big job is to give the hundreds of native plants—flowers, grasses and shrubs—a chance to re-seed themselves.

Park Service Officials say the area lost much of its natural beauty so far as plant and animal life was concerned because ranchers over-grazed it. Many species of plants and animals disappeared, cover, springs went dry.

They believe there is enough seed stock left that in time there will be virtually a complete restoration.

Ultimately, they hope to emphasize the Big Bend Park with all its rugged beauty, its contrast between mountain and desert, as a place to take pack trips into the back country and as a hiker's paradise. Automobile roads will be constructed—starting next fall—to key points and as soon as money, materials and labor are made available, only those who itch to will have to camp out.

Geologists say coal has been in the making for perhaps 300,000,000 years.

CIGARETTES

From the day that sweeter, brighter tobacco, adaptable to cigarettes, was discovered in Caswell County in 1852 and Washington Duke installed a Bonsack machine in his Winston-Salem, N. C., plant for making them, the cigarette business has expanded tremendously. A half billion dollar industry when World War II opened, it will continue to enrich the Nation and add resources to guarantee Savings Bonds.

In one sequence called the "Turnaroo" you just put the feet forward a few times, it seems, then the beau spirals back onto his best foot and then both wind up with quick jumps, three fast hand claps and a slow snaking away.

The "lambsey livev" is another sequence with forward and backward leg flings. This has six whirls, three right and three left goes on for two choruses and ends with something called the "crisscross" which sithree fast passes One in front of the other.

In case you have been wondering how the Vassar girls feel about the school going co-ed, take it from Jo Anne Lewis they aren't fazed a bit. She says the girl have decided they won't give up wearing dungarees and ballet slippers for the big event. Of course, they may change their minds when the boys get to school. Do you suppose that means they might have a football team at Vassar? Sound: funny, doesn't it? Jo Anne also reports that the Vassar gals have gone in for pig-tails in a big way.

Now that the war is over and there isn't much to do at the local canteens it seems the big sisters have become bored serving on the committees—and that's where we come in. Yep, the teenagers have taken over the hostess role all around town. You can imagine the girls are having a whale of a good time.

Have you heard the "Old MacDonald Had A Farm" recording of Spike Jones? There is plenty of hayseed harmony in it with dog, cow, pig, horse, and parrot sound effects. You'll really get a bang out of it.
