$133 Is Amount So Far For Texas City Disaster Relief

The labeled jars around town, and other donations have brought the Texas City Disaster Relief fund from Gatesville and Coryell County up to $133.

Whether or not the Boy Scouts have picked up all the jars or not, Mrs. John F. Post, Sr., of the Red Cross did not know, and she said she expected some more funds to be received yet, but this is probably the biggest part of the fund raised here.

The Lions Club was given a "bid" on this relief, but so far, no information has been given us as to whether they were going to work or not.

Annual Band Concert Presented in Football Stadium May 8, 1947.

The senior, junior and elementary school bands, and twirlers will present their annual concert in the football stadium, Thursday, May 8, 1947 unless the weather prevents in which event the concert will be given in the High School Gym.

The program will include, besides the senior high school band, a few short selections by the elementary and junior high school bands, soloists, student directors and twirlers. Included on the twirling program will be Curtis Morgan, who has been acclaimed as one of the best high school twirling drum majors in the state. Altogether, the Concert promises to be of much interest to everyone.

Pre-view of '47 Football Squad Presented Tonight

Tonight at Gatesville high school stadium, the Gatesville seniors of 1947 will be pitted against the prospective club for the Fall season of 1947 and it'll be under the lights.

Gatesville's "hasbeens" will put up on a good club, and the "might-be's" will really have to strut their stuff if they take them into camp.

A small admission charge, of course, will be charged, and it's to be a ball game, and you might get around there tonight.

Coryell County Gets Break In 'Santone' Express Column

Here's a quoted part of a column "Think" which was in a recent edition of the San Antonio Express.

"Soil Conservation District Law provided Texas farm people with a type of leadership which they long had sought and needed. Hamilton-Coryell Soil Conservation District — comprising those two central Texas counties, set up in 1940—is typical of the 133 units operating in the state today.

Original Board, seven years ago, found its work cut out for it. The survey showed that half the land in the district had lost its topsoil. On 4 percent of the land all top soil was gone, and all top soil was gone, steps to save and rebuild what soil was left. After organizing their district they could command the aid and counsel of the United States Soil Conservation Service's field men.

Technicians—including soil engineers, chemists and crop experts—cooperating with landowners, mapped out a line of attack. Their plans called for terraces and outlets, legumes for winter cover crop-rotation and range-improvement. Hairy vetch, Hubam clover, rye and oats sown between cotton rows at laying-by time would provide winter cover and grazing for cattle. At planting time the crop would be plowed theun ;yo fasxn shrdlu bgowdyl under for green manure. To check erosion on the ranges, and also to grazing, stockmen would sow native buffalo grass.

Records thus far shows hat farmers and stockmen in Coryell and Hamilton counties have begun well the long-time task of saving and restoring the soil and utilizing water resources. Out of a million acres to be improved, they have built terraces, strip-cropped and restored grass on somewhat more than 100,000 acres. The conservation job is about one-tenth accomplished, therefore.... The District's Future Farmers are operating a terracing rig of their own devising.

"One reason why Texas farmers last year harvested their smallest cotton crop since 1889, was that insects (mostly bollweevils) destroyed at least half a million bales, worth 100 million dollars. That was an unnecessary tax on the farmers. Dairymen and stockmen also lost heavily, for lack of protein feed which the destroyed cotton would have supplied. Must that heavy toll be paid again in 1947? It need not be if farmers will begin defensive war early upon the insects."

This was "lifted" from "Think" of The San Antonio Express, and shows recognition of a good job "started". Maybe, someday, the SCS will get the job done. Seven years is a terrible long time, and lots of Coryell County soil has washed down the creeks and rivers of Coryell county during these seven years. Looks like the job could be "speeded up" and some of the red tape cut, maybe a little done well, is better, but still, the "pay-off" soil is leaving us too, too fast.

Mr. and Mrs. Chick Crow were in Temple Sunday visiting her sister, Mrs. Ray Edmondson who is in Scott & White Hospital.

Dear Friends:
Another week has passed and we have only four more weeks left before adjournment. We have about six months work to do in these four weeks, but when the main appropriation bills are passed and the weather begins to get hot, the motion to adjourn may pass any time.
This week I have received letters from some who fear that the Basic Science law would prevent new chiropractors from coming into the field in the future.
I have studied the issue thoroly and I've failed to find in it any danger to the chiropractic profession. There is plenty of time for future chiropractors to prepare themselves in the sciences. The Basic Science test will be made up and given by teachers from any accredited college in Texas. These teachers will be appointed by the Governor.
No medical doctor will have any say about what is in the test or who will give the tests.
It is not the plrpose of the Legislature to harm any profession that proves itself worthy, and the chiropractic profession has certainly done that. If any injustice in the future is felt because of the Basic Science tests, they can be amended and repealed at any session of the Legislature.

The A & M College investigation is still struggling on. No fraud has been proven, but there have been some instances of poor judgment on the part of President Gilchrist. Your guess is as good as anybody's as to how the thing will end, but it seems to me that no official action will be taken to remove him. Too much big politics involved.
But I think we can expect Mr. Gilchrist to resign before too long—possibly to accept a job with a private company. He's a good engineer, and many of us believe he would be much happier in that profession.
Sincerely,
Sid Gregory, Jr.

Lone Star Gas Company Plans Large Expenditures This Year

Lone Star Gas Company anticipates expenditures of more than $9,500,000 for extensions and additions to physical properties this year to meet growing requirements for service, President D. A. Hulcy has announced. This amount has been budgeted for construction and equipment over the gas system comprising 321 towns and cities, one of which is Gatesville.

Anticipated expenditures for additions during 1947 will top expenditures for similar purposes during last year by about $500,000 Mr. Hulcy said. Some of the projects already are under way, while others will be started when materials are available.

Following are the principal expenditures: service lines, street mains, meters, regulators and other facilities for serving customers, $3,278,513; acquiring leases and drilling wells to insure adequate gas supply for many years, $2,560,230; pipe line construction from and in gas fields to add additional reserves and to increase additional transmission capacity, $1,732,100; dehydration, cooling and gasoline plants to treat gas and promote conservation, $1,771,650; supplementing existing facilities, such as automotive equipment and machinery and tools and building improvements, $986,105. Healthy growth of Lone Star's territory is indicated by the fact that the company added more than 23,000 customers during the past year. Total operating expenses increased by $1,132,019 in 1946 over the previous year. The tax bill was $6,486,087 and represented approximately $1.50 out of every customer bill rendered each month.

Mr. Hulcy's announcement also reflected the company's program of natural gas conservation and development of reserves to meet additional fuel requirements.

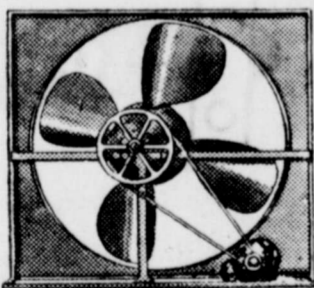

"Approximately 40 per cent of the total gas transported by the company for more than twenty years has been casinghead gas from oil wells and there is no material amount of such gas wasted in fields from which the company obtains its gas supply," Mr. Hulcy said. "If the company had not purchased this casinghead gas, large quantities would have been wasted as an incident to the production of oil and the company required to withdraw gas at a greater rate from other reserves."

"The position of the company with respect to its gas supply remains favorable. The company is constantly on the alert to provide an adequate supply over a long period of time and, consequently, it has acquired and will continue to acquire additional sources of supply. It is believed that future discoveries of gas, together with the fields already discovered but not yet connected and which will be available to the company, will more than offset the depletion of its presently connected reserves for many years."

Dear Friends:

As this is written (Friday afternoon, April 25), the House is considering the Appropriations Bill for the Department of the Interior. It had been expected that this bill would be passed tonight, but it now looks as if the debate would run throughout tomorrow. Most of the argument centers over the extent of the cuts that the Committee has made in connection with the Reclamation-Hydro-Electric projects.

Only by use of power from the Grand Coulee Dam and from T. V. A.—was this country able to produce the atomic bomb. Only by the use of this same power were we able to turn out the vast quantities of aluminum so essential to our airplane industry.—And the most surprising thing about it is the fact that since the close of the war the demand for power has continued even higher. Not even the Northwest with its great rivers can meet its power needs.—In our own Southwest the total generating capacity of all kinds, public and private; water and steam, is entirely inadequate to meet the needs of the territory. If we are to develop new industry we must develop new sources of electric power.

All over the country rural leaders are waking up to the necessity of more loans for local R. E. A. Co-ops, but the Republican Majority in Congress seems determined to deny the funds needed for next year. I think this is a short sighted view. These loans are good as is shown by the record of REA repayments. Since REA was established a little more than 10 years ago, about $107,000,000 of principal and interest has fallen due. Collections have amounted to a little over $126,000,000. In other words, about $20,000,000 has been paid before it was due and there is today only $900,000 delinquent as much as 30 days out of more than $650,000,000 actually advanced to the farmer co-ops. This is less than 1/6 of 1 %.

Since its organization, REA has been forced to foreclose only one mortgage, and that was given by a privately owned power company and not by a farmer co-op. (Incidentally, REA offers to loan money to private utilities on the same terms it loans to farmer owned co-ops.)

The early part of this week I attended the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association's Convention and had part on their program. I was greatly inspired to see the fine work that is being done. I had to forego the latter part of the Convention as I was already scheduled to appear before the House Appropriations Committee in favor of a continuation of the lending authority of REA.—As I have heretofore explained, the bulk of the funds which REA loans to local co-ops does not come from appropriations but rather from the RFC which borrows the money on short time at low rates of interest and then loans it to REA on long time at a much higher rate.

I also asked the Appropriations Committee to provide adequate funds for the Soil Conservation Service and to make it possible for us to continue crop insurance on an experimental basis. I realize that crop insurance has not as yet been a success, but I believe that we should try to work out a program that will be sound. To do this, we will have to have records of operation over a period of years, just like life and fire insurance companies have records. To get these records we are going to have to continue the program, even though we do it on a smaller scale. I am on the sub-committee that is trying to work out such a program. It is difficult undertaking, but I am convinced that crop insurance is one of the essential supports of any comprehensive farm program. Of course, we must have soil conservation if we are to continue to produce at all. Then we must have the assurance of a fair price—a price that is high enough to cover all the farmers' costs including labor costs. We must then also have some kind of assurance of income when the farmer fails, through no fault of his own, to have any crop to sell. Crop insurance is only partial unemployment insurance for the farmer. We have spent billions to provide work for others and to pay them if they can't get work at a fair wage. I think we should never be satisfied until we have devised a program to give the men who produce our food similar protection, so at least to enable them to provide it for themselves.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours Sincerely,
W. R. POAGE.

Me and Jan were talking the other day, and we was wondering why folks would buy office supplies from salesmen who have to travel miles to get to Gatesville, pay hotel bills, and all the expense of travelin' when they can get anything from a bank vault to a paper clip down at our store in the News Building at 705 Main Street.

Now, that not only goes for what we sell, but for what a very many other local tax-paying merchants right here in Gatesville are wonderin'.

Of course, we wouldn't even pretend, or intimate in this free land of ours that you can't or shouldn't spend your hard earned (we hope) money anywhere you want to.

We just got to thinking about this. IF ALL the money spent for ALL the necessities and luxuries we ALL bought were spent in Gatesville, where most prices are usually in line with those elsewhere, what a grand town, and shopping center we would have, and how many other people we could employ, and how much more they would spend, and how much happier all of us would be, and you'd STILL get about the same thing you bought elsewhere and you'd still be pleased. And you could still go to Waco, and or, Temple.

So,—no, we don't say STOP buyin' anywhere, but we do urge you to SHOP Gatesville first. Is that fair?

Now, just firanstance, we just got:

Daters - Hook Files - Stick Files - Staples - Reinforcements - Bluebonnet Type Cleaner Sets - Commercial Statements - Ledger Outfits Post Binders and Indexes and already had lots and lots and lots of others, and more 'n more 'n more 'n more in catalogues, which are on demand, and 2 days out of Gatesville.

Ask and you shall receive, (re-conversion notwithstanding) what you want in office supplies from Jones boys inc ltd & sally maude 705 Main, Gatesville.

sally maude.

How many of your New Year's resolutions are unbroken? Some you made in jest. Others represent a serious effort, such as a thrift plan. You may have resolved to step up your savings bonds allotment through the Payroll Savings Plan, or you may have resolved to ask your bank to buy a savings bond for you every month out of your deposited funds. You can't afford not to keep this resolution for your own good. Even an $18.75 investment once a month in a $25 savings bond will provide you with a $2,500 nestegg in ten years.

FIGURES IN DISCUSSION

Mayor J. C. Trahan (left) of Texas City and Gerald Wesselius (right) of the Red Cross, who engaged in a discussion over Trahan's assertion that "real relief for Texas City has not come from the Red Cross", are shown at the

A New Version Of A Deck OF Cards

A battalion of soldiers had been given copies of the Bible, the New Testament and the Old Testament. They were given strict orders that each one was to use the Bible at the services Sunday.

The following Sunday while the soldiers were at services, the officer of the day made an inspection and found that one soldier had not brought his new Bible. He was searched and the only thing found was a deck of cards. He was told to report to the Commanding Officer on Monday morning.

The next day when he reported to his commanding officer he was reprimanded and then asked if he had anything to say in his own defense. This is the way he replied:

"Sir, this pack of cards means a great deal in my life, and tells me what is in the Bible, and even more, for—

The one spot tells me that there is but one God.

The two spot tells me that the Bible is divided into two parts, the Old and the New Testaments.

The three spot that there are three persons in the Holy Trinity.

The four spot that the New Testament was written by the four Evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

The five spot that the world was created in six days.

The seven spot that the seventh day of the week is the Sabbath on which I must pay my respects to my creator.

The eight spot reminds me of the eight beatitudes, the greatest sermon preached by our Lord.

The nine spot tells me of the nine lepers who did not return to the Savior to give thanks.

The ten spot reminds me of the ten commandments which I must keep to save my soul.

The Jack is the knave, the devil who goes about seeking the destruction of souls.

The Queen is the Mother of Heaven, the mother of God.

The King is the Kingdom of Heaven which will be my reward of a good life.

Even more than that the pack of cards is also an almanac for me. There are 52 cards in the deck, telling me there are 52 Sundays in the year.

Add up all the spots and you'll find 365 in all, telling me there are 365 days in the year.

There are 13 cards to the suit, which tells me there are 13 lunar months of the year.

There are four various suits, hearts, diamonds, spades and clubs, signifying the four seasons of the year—spring, summer, autumn and winter.

There are light and dark cards, telling me that each 24 hours is divided into day and night.

This is the meaning of the pack of cards to me. I have nothing more to say."

The soldier was forthwith honorably discharged.—The Moody Courier.

Humble Expects Lower Prices and Higher Production

Petroleum demands equal to those of the peak war years and adjustments of prices to compensate for higher costs were among the highlights noted by Humble Oil & Refining Company in reporting to stockholders that its production and earnings in 1946 were about one percent greater than in 1945. Net earnings for the year were $71,831,000, or $4.00 a share of stock, compared with $3.94 a share in 1945.

Investment in new facilities by the Company hit a new high of $93,339,000, more than two-thirds of which was in production facilities. "The large investment in producing operations is considered warranted by demand for crude oil and the importance of petroleum in the national economy," President H. C. Wiess said in his letter to stockholders, "even though the cost of finding and developing reserves is relatively high."

The payroll for the year amounted to $58,800,000, about 10 per cent higher than in 1945. In addition the Company contributed $7,700,000 to the liberalized Annuity & Thrift Plan for employee benefits. At the close of the year Humble had 17,375 employees, 5,500 of whom were veterans of World War II.

The Company's aggressive program of gas conservation involves expenditure of $10,000,000 for facilities to utilize casinghead gas, the report states. During the past year, Humble used or marketed 61 per cent of the casinghead gas produced with oil from its oil wells and the program now underway will result in adding substantially to the further saving of casinghead gas.

A total of $4,600,000 was spent during 1946 on research, resulting in the development of improved geophysics techniques, mechanical devices to lighten the work on drilling rigs, improved products, and other advancements.

During 1946 Humble drilled 635 wells, of which 169 were dry holes. However, the report indicates that additions to reserves were greater than in 1945. Net production of crude oil from more than 9,000 wells for the year was 112,957,800 barrels, one per cent above 1945 production. In addition, Humble purchased 135,415,000 barrels of crude oil.

Continued high demand for crude oil kept Humble Pipe Line Company's operations at near record level, the report indicates.

Trunkline deliveries amounted to 619,000 barrels a day, slightly above the average in 1945. Expenditures for new pipe line facilities exceeded $10,000,000, of which $3,500,000 was invested in an eight-inch products line from Baytown to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The transition to peacetime refinery operations, the report states was marked by improved quality in civilian products. Humble's refinery runs were slightly less than in 1945.

Investments in refinery facilities during 1946 amounted to $11,000,000, with the major portion going for the purchase from the Government of the Baytown Ordnance Works, former toluene plant. The two government owned owned synthetic rubber plants operated by Humble at Baytown increased their output of butadiene and Butyl rubber.

In 1946, Humble sales operations showed a gain through bulk and service stations of 59 per cent over the previous year.

The Four County Baseball League Is Organized

The League opened Sunday when Pottsville played Star at Star; Priddy played Indian Gap at Indian Gap; Hamilton played Aleman at Aleman; Purlmela played Evant at the new diamond just completed on the Tommie Winters place near Evant. Evant won by a score of 20-9.

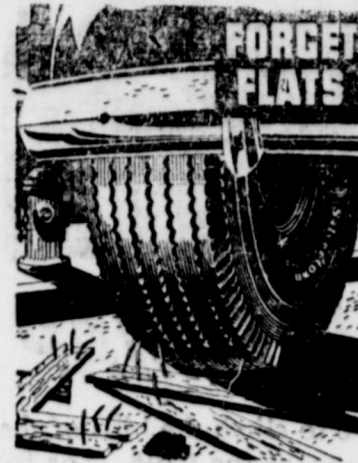

Immediately following the last scheduled game the four teams having won the highest percentage of games will compete to determine league championship.
