NUMBER 97

Governor Proclaims Proclaim No. 41-439 That Affects Coryell

"The Secretary of Agriculture of the United States thru his duly authorized agent, and the Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Texas have made it known that the pink bollworm has been found in Bexar, Fisher, Erath, Lynn, Jones, Callahan, Hamilton, Garza, Crosby, Dickens, Haskell and Coryell Counties which were not known to have been heretofore infested with this pest.

"The pink bollworm is an injurious and dangerous pest of cotton and a menace to cotton production.

"Article 72 of Chapter 3, Title 4 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, provides for the establishment of an emergency quarantine.

"The unregulated interstate movement of cotton and cotton products from the infected area would seriously jeopardize the cotton production of the State as well as obstruct the channels of trade.

"Now, Therefore, I, Beauford H. Jester, Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim the counties of Bexar, Fisher, Erath, Lynn, Jones, Callahan, Hamilton, Garza, Crosby, Dickens, Haskell and Coryell PINK BOLLWORM REGULATED AREA—and as such the growing of cotton and cotton products therein and the movement of cotton products from such area shall be subject to the provisions of Chapter 3, Title 4, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925."

And, the usual closure, signed by the Governor and Paul H. Brown, Secretary of State.

We had a story about this before, but this makes it official.

Rattlers Come In Uninvited, Says Mrs. L. E. Mensch

If you doubt that rattlesnakes will enter a house, here's one that will straighten you out, according to Mrs. L. E. Mensch.

Recently, three rattlers visited one family, and it was Mrs. E. D. Farris' home. She moved a box in her kitchen to find a five-rattle rattler under it. Her baby daughter, little Margaret Ann had been playing in the room every day but had not been bitten.

In 1933, her sister, Mrs. Willburn Thompson set a steel trap up-stairs to catch a would be rat, and caught a seven-rattle rattler.

And again, in 1936, Mrs. L. E. Mensch, mother of the little girls had a rattler with 8 rattles to crawl in the floor of her bedroom.

Three rattlers visiting, and no bites—must be some sort of a record.

Mexia-McGregor Bi-District Game Scheduled Dec. 5

McGregor will be site of the bi-district football battle with Mexia Black Cats Friday, Dec. 5, at 7:45 o'clock, officials of that school announced Monday after a meeting with Mexia officials at La Vega.

Coaches Carl Warrington of McGregor and Carroll Wood of Mexia were at the session with Superintendents T. H. Jenkins of McGregor and Hereford of Mexia.

McGregor captured the 29-A championship last week in a scoreless tie with Gatesville. The Bulldogs have lost only one game this season, a non-conference affair with Belton. Mexia, second-ranked team in Central Texas, is undefeated and untied.

School heads agreed to decide the winner on penetrations or 1st downs in case of a tie.

Officials for the game will be Johnny Morrow, referee; Billy Gillum, umpire; Booty Johnson, head linesman, and Earl Worley, field judge.

There will be no reserved seats. Tickets for adults will be one-dollar each, with student tickets selling for 30 cents until 4 p. m. the day of the game, when they will advance to 75 cents.

"Should Have Had us Stop It!" Worryin' Her Too Much!

Here's a little "success-ad" that ran too many times. Too many for the peace and comfort of Mrs. Dora Ament, and Bill:

Said should have stopped it last week, but forgot. Be sure and cut it, it's causing too much trouble now, and, well, works too well.

You, too, can be pleased like this with a "success-ad" in the NEWS, of course.

Gatesville Receives Publicity In Daily Newspaper Column

Gatesville receives publicity in "Texas Laughs", daily newspaper feature, written by Boyce House as the result of his recent visit here to lecture. He writes:

"If your section needs rain real bad, it isn't necessary to drop dry ice in a cloud. Just invite me to give a lecture. (I brought rain all the way from Big Lake to Gatesville.)"

"But you might prefer the drouth to the lecture."

Rural Schools Meet For Second Time At The Grove

Despite muddy diamonds and drizzling rains the rural schools of the county met for their second Field Day at The Grove, Friday, November 21.

The Grove proved a gracious host for the Rural League, and entertained Arnett, Mound, New Olive' Mountain, Plainview and White Hall.

Arnett was the winner for the smaller schools and White Hall topped the larger schools, with Mountain second, giving White Hall championship for the larger schools, having won on two occasions.

Superintendent Ollie Little and Perry Davidson entertained the students with a picture in the auditorium, and it was a western, the favorite with the children.

After lunch Mrs. Sam Powell, Jr. led a sing-song with Mrs. Hortense Leonard at the piano. Mound presented some interesting musical numbers, with the Thanksgiving theme a Thanksgiving Choral Reading, "Let Us Give Thanks" by seven Puritan maidens, and the songs by several pupils were with guitar accompaniment. Mrs. Daisy Jones then led the group in pledging allegiance to the flag.

Men of the community helped with the ball games. This is the last of the current season of field days, but some other entertainment will be planned for Spring.

Arnett Ladies Club Meets With Mrs. John King, Friday 21

Mrs. John King acted as hostess to the Arnett Ladies Club Friday, November 21. A cold, dreary day for those outside, but the warmth of happiness and good cheer was prevalent inside as the ladies talked a bit, laughed a bit and worked a bit.

During the evening, committees were appointed and plans were made in part.

For the Club Christmas offerings, Christmas Gifts for various ones were also mentioned. These matters will be further discussed when the Club meets at the home of Mrs. J. D. Nabors, Friday, December 5.

After the exchange of gifts, refreshments of cake and hot spiced tea were enjoyed by 13 members and Mrs. M. Wolfe as the guest.

Boom or Depression?

GOOD OMENS

- 1..Employment at all-time high. More than 60,000,000 Americans working for "pay or profit." Fully 1,000,000 women have gone back to jobs since Jan. 1—many to help husbands "make ends meet." Skilled workers still scarce.
- 2..Income payments to individuals more than double prewar in first half although purchasing power of dollar sadly shrunk.
- 3..First half retail sales (in dollars) 2 1/2 times as large as in 1939. Unit sales drag.
- 4..No signs of decline in demand for "durables" (hard goods) such as motor vehicles, refrigerators, railroad equipment and machinery, although machinery orders have been slipping.
- 5..Record-breaking agricultural income has made farmers rich. Total estimated assets of $100,000,000,000 four times prewar.
- 6..Exports zoomed to annual rate of $18,000,000,000—six times 1939—but overseas dollar supply is drying up fast and June exports fell off 15 per cent. Import controls already imposed by Mexico, Argentina, Brazil and India. Most countries awaiting U. S. loans. Exports crumbled in 1921 for lack of foreign cash.
- 7..Retail stores have started cautious rebuilding of stocks but policy of purchasing agents is mainly hand-to-mouth or 60 days.
- 8..Production per factory employe rising gradually in most industries.
- 9..Volume of necessitous repair work—residential and non-residential—has expanded substantially, calling for use of more materials.

BAD OMENS

- 1..Broadening of inflation spiral, checked temporarily, restarted by steel-coal settlement a virtual certainty of higher costs, higher prices for most consumers' goods.
- 2..Administration's program to "stop Russia" in western Europe, Asia, Africa, threatens U. S. with impoverishment if carried through.
- 3..Congress extended government controls over exports and imports. This included petroleum. Exports to Russia will continue.
- 4..Savings by individuals fell in first quarter to lowest level since 1940. Cash and deposits dropped $1,800,000,000 but holdings of U. S. bonds rose $1,900,000,000. This was caution signal.
- 5..Manufacturers' inventories of finished goods of numerous types increased somewhat alarmingly in the first half.
- 6..Residential, business and industrial construction has fallen far below expectations because of fantastic costs.
- 7..Some commodities slipping as pipelines fill. Despite sheet dearth all steel companies have surpluses of some products. Hardest hit are rubber and copper. In Akron there is considerable unemployment.
- 8..Production of non-durables, particularly textiles, dropped slowly but steadily throughout first half.
- 9..High prices, fear of future, have led many families to defer buying.

NEWS

Everybody seems to be feeling better since the rain of Sunday and Monday, then the cold snap which followed. Several were having a hog killing yesterday and today and say no more high priced meat on their tables. But, I'm wondering about that since they were fattened on this high priced feed and grain.

Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and sons of Fort Worth were week end visitors in the home of Mrs. Davis' parents, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bush Kearney and Jennie Marie.

Mr. Kearney is selling out his store and is going to move out on the farm. Joe Whigham bought the store and will take over on or about the first of December. Mr. Kearney has been in business here about 30 years.

Mrs. Bettie Robinson visited in Camp Hood with her son Billy and family and brother, Dave Brumbalow and family last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Robinson and little daughter Cinthey came home with her on Tuesday and spent the rest of the week.

Winnifred Zimmerman who has been overseas for some time was returned to the states and was hospitalized in San Antonio. He and Mrs. Zimmerman are now visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Spencer.

TEEN

TALK:

DEAR JUDY:

You don't have to empty your piggy bank at Christmas time. Use a little ingenuity and some elbow grease and you should be able to make some inexpensive super gifts for your hep friends. Here are some suggestions which kids have passed along to us as being snappy doo-dads, easily made at home and, they say, more appreciated than store-bought gifts:

JEWELRY. Search through the old junk box and I'll bet you'll find some broken down old watches. Remove the little brass wheels and make them into attractive pins or earrings. Two, three, or four cemented one over the other will make an attractive pin. The pin part, made from a large brass safety pin, can be fastened to the clock works with cement. Old earrings can make attractive presents.

HOODS. Get some felt, flannel or velvet and cut out helmet-type hoods. If you don't have one to use as a pattern, buy a pattern and a stencil so that you can paint or applique pretty designs on the hoods. You can make your own stencil by making designs on drawing paper and cutting them out. Hearts, flowers, animals, skiers, sleigh riders and ice skaters are nice winter motifs.

BELTS. Make a belt of a strip of felt—a nice wide one—in a bright yellow, red, green or blue. Use door hooks as fasteners. In making this type of belt it is wise to use a piece of canvas, which can be found in any art store as a backing. You will need to work your hooks through the felt, fasten them with paper clips, and then cover them with small discs of felt glued over the hooks. Then take the canvass backing and glue it over the back. Applique felt flowers as trimming if you like.

Another cute belt is achieved by using a brass door hinge with the center pin used as a buckle. Here again you will need to use paper fasteners, the kids say, to attach the hinges. This belt is beautiful when made of leather, and inexpensive strips of leather often can be found on remnant counters.

JUMPER DRESS Buy some tubular jersey and make your best friend a jumper dress. You can applique little felt flowers around the neck and sleeves or if you enjoy more laborious sewing sew on rows of beads instead.

HAND DECORATED TILES. which can be used as hot plate mats or tacked to the wall as a pretty decoration, are fun to make. Buy some plain tiles and paint designs on them. If you give one to each of your friends make them different. One can be decorated with flowers, another with a silhouette of the sender or recipient, others with a French phrase or American jive talk. After these are painted they should be sent to the kiln for drying.

7,797 Bales of Cotton Ginned in County Prior to November 1

Seven thousand seven hundred ninety-seven bales of cotton, is the number ginned in Coryell County prior to November 1, 1947, as compared to 3,614 the same date last year, according to Mrs. Myrtle E. Lee.

And, the price is somewhat different, too, and with seed, farmers of Coryell County must certainly have a super amount of shekles and folding money. The seed was around $100 a ton, and cotton was way up there, too.

The Club enjoyed an all day meeting with Mrs. Johnnie Latham, Thursday, November 20. 22 members and 4 visitors were present, three quilts were quilted. At noon there was a nice lunch served.

It was pal day and each one received a nice and useful gift. The Club will meet next with Mrs. Lolla Hollingsworth December 4. Each member is urged to come and enjoy the day. Visitors are welcome.—Reporter.

One of Largest Real Estate Sales Is Made Recently

J. D. Brown, Jr. our Real Estate Reporter advises that one of the largest real estate transfers made in recent years was that of the sale by Carl Clawson to Dr. W. J. Wines of a ranch near Copperas Cove with the total outlay amounting to $30,386.00. Incidentally Mr. Brown prepared the abstract and other legal papers.

One larger sale of recent years was Mr. Brown's sale two years ago of a ranch property to J. H.

Agricultural Community Committeemen to be Named Soon

Election of Agricultural Conservation community committeemen and delegates to the county convention for the election of a county committee will be held in Coryell County during the next few weeks. J. Frank Blair, chairman of the County Agricultural Conservation Committee, announces.

This week ACA nominating committees were in the county ACA office from the six ACA communities to select candidates to appear on the ballot for the election of agricultural conservation committees.

Any person who is participating in the 1947 Agricultural Conservation Program or who had a contract with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, is eligible to vote. This includes owners, operators, tenants or share croppers. Lists of eligible voters are being prepared and will be used to check votes cast in the election.

Delegates to the county convention, elected in the community election, will meet with the delegates from the other communities in the county and elect a County Committee.

Reason for Necessity Of Peanut Marketing Quota Answered

Why are peanut marketing quotas necessary? That's the question we asked Frank Blair, chairman of the Coryell County ACA Committee and here's his answer: "Peanut production expanded during the war to meet demands for peanuts and peanut products. Production is still high, but the demand for edible peanuts has lessened with the results that farmers are now growing more pe-nuts than can be sold on the open market at fair prices. Normally, the market value for peanuts for oil is approximately half the market value for all peanutsshan market value of edible peanuts. Whenever peanut production exceeds the demands for edible nuts the market value for all peanuts is generally only slightly above the market value of peanuts for oil." That's a good answer and reason enough for every peanut grower to want to vote in the peanut marketing quota referendum on December 9.

AFTER THE HONEYMOON

By Geoff Hayes

November 21, 1947.

Dear Friends:
This week was hihghed by President Truman's message to Congress. He appeared in person on the first day and proposed not only that we take steps to provide immediate aid for Europe, but also that we do all that the Government can do to hold the cost of living down.

Certainly we must all recognize that the purchasing power of our own money has sunk to such an extent that it is becoming most difficult for many people to get along even with high wages, high farm prifes, high profits, and practically full employment. The President recognized that the basic difficulty was inadequate production when he asked that he be given power to allocate scarce faterial such as steel and coal and power to prevent the exportation of goods needed at home. By controlling the use of these materials, it is hoped that our industrial production can be increased to a point more nearly in balance with our demands. It seems to me that such coptrols would be helpful, and I believe they will be granted.

On the other side of the picture he sought to reduce consumer demand by continuing the controls on credit buying which were in effect until the first of this month. Surely these credit controls have not hurt anyone, but they have prevented lots of people from buying things they could not afford, and they have tended to reduce consumer demand. Like wise, he suggested iontrols over speculative trading on commodity exchanges. This speculation may not have played the part in prife advances that some people claim, but surely it has not helped hold prices down, and I believe that we can expect Congress to give the President these powers.

His suggestions for a return of retail price control and ratoining have, of fourse, revived many unhappy memories of the OPA and its grotesque and absurd efforts to exhibit its far-reaching powers. Price control is definitely NOT a CURE for rising prices. It is merely an effort to hold back the force temporarily—it is exactly like flosing the safety valve on a steam engine. It will prevent the escape of steam UNTIL the fire goes out or until the boiler explodes—And it is certain to explode if we keep putting fuel under the boiler. During the war we could and we had to treat the symptoms—Now we fust try to remove the cause of trouble. The cause is plain. It is excess of consumer demand over supply. Many of us hoped that with the end of the war production would increase to such an extent as to effect this balance. Unfortunately, though, most prices and wages were increased, most groups in this and other countries began to work less with the return of peace. Naturally production in many lines has not kept pace with increased demands.

Only on the farm have we found a consistently increasing effort to produce. Generally speaking, farmers are working more, not less, than before the war. They are getting good prices for their products, and they are trying to produce all they can. Farm prices stay up oecause American people are eating fore and better food today than ever before and because European people are getting a far larger share of their food from America than ever before. Many industries have increased production and many workers are working full time, but all too many industrial workers are only working part time, and as a result the production of many industries is far below what it should be.

If the American people want a higher standard of living at a reasonable price, they have got to WORK for it. No government can GIVE it to them. Our Government can, and I believe should and will, take steps to reduce speculation and to channel essential articles where they will be most helpful, but basically we must remember that you can't

11 Marches 99 Yards
In 35 Seconds

MOSCOW, Idaho—(AP)—When Coach Millard F. (Dixie) Howell set out to cure a football inferiority complex at the University of Idaho he told his players never to give up.

But he never expected them to win a game with a 99-yard touch down drive in the last 35 seconds traveling 43 yards on the final play in exactly one second.

That's one the boys figured out for themselves.

The Vandals were tied 4-4 with Portland University here this season in the last minute of a game which went scoreless in the first half and suddenly blossomed into a wild passing feud.

Portland's Danny Christianson, who had been matching Idaho's Billy Williams with touchdown passes, threw one at the Idaho end zone and Williams intercepted on his one-yard line.

Williams called time out with exactly 35 seconds left to play by the official timer's watch and with the winning touchdown 99 yards away.

The little Vandal halfback, who never played football until last year when he was drafted from a campus intramural team, faded into his end zone and threw 35 yards to end Orville Barnes who plunged on to Portland's 46.

Williams dropped back again, looked in vain for a receiver and ran three yards, yelling "time out" as he hit the ground.

Officials checked the watch. 1 second remained in the game. The timer was told not to fire the gun until the ball was dead.

The Vandals shifted into formation and Williams weaved back to his own 45 while he watched Woody Delrome, fleet Idaho half-back, speed toward the goal posts. Then Billy charged forward and threw the ball with all his might. The racing Delrome caught it on the nine yard line, juggled it on the dead run, and then hugged it close as he crossed the goal with the crowd.

"couldn't bear to look," Howell said.

"I still don't believe it!"
