

TEX. 1st PURE BRED SHEEP SHOW OPENS 19th

Silence on the school front!

Our ex-5000 more or less acres in Bluebonnet are featured in the Acco Press along with McLennan County's in a story: "The Bombs Are Away at Bluebonnet Farm". A. M. Steyart wrote it, and Acco Press is published by Anderson-Clayton Cotton company. It's the lead story, and goes Biblical, quoting "They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks.... (Isiah II.4.)"

This edition should have had more than we could have handled of "Welcome To The Sheep Show" but we don't see any. No, didn't ask anybody, but, should that be necessary! Yes, we're seeing that each exhibitor gets a copy of the NEWS. Sincerely, we didn't have the force to get out a super edition, anyway, and there's more than one way to show them they are more'n WELCOME!

When they have the square-dance entertainment, hear by the grapevine, the Mayor, Dr. K. R. Jones, is going to welcome the visitors, as well as an official of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce and probably the head of the Coryell County Sheep & Goat Raiser's Association. And, as Jan says, "That'll be fine!"

Dublin's voted bonds of $245,000 and $100,000 goes to waterworks and sewer, and $145,000 more or less of a "blank check" affair, and it goes to waterworks and revenue bonds, whatever the latter is. Small town, but live!

Got a card from Roy Jones, dated April 17, 1948, and he's a Gallup Poll reporter and the address he gives is "Brandlehowe" Heenan Road, Old Colwyn, North Wales. Says: My job is commercial traveler, lecturer, free lance ounalist, and I would like to correspond with an American Gallup Poll interviewer living in the USA. He's 53. Signs Roy Jones, "Welsh Speaking."

Maybe Roy is one of our throw backs and if we traced our lineage far enough back, we might be relatives. As an old ship Captain once told us: "All Joneses, Evanses and Williamses, are Welsh". The Captain was from Liverpool and said he was a Scot.

We're going to be delighted to correspond with Roy, our Welsh friend, but we'll have to beg off when it comes to "Welsh Speaking". We can't do it. Maybe he'll send us a primer, and we can start, even at this late age. Another reason it's nice to be a Gallup Poll interviewer- Internationally known, and so is the NEWS as he addressed the card: "%Coryell County News", and that's better than the way we get some of them addressed to us in the states.

Bill Allen Drops Out Of District Attorney Race: In 11 Years

To The People of the 52nd Judicial District:

After eleven years of service, I intend to retire at the end of my present term, so I will not file for reelection. It is hard to decide to retire on account of my friends who ask me to continue public service, and I feel that I now have more friends than I have ever had, but I must consider other matters just as you do, and I feel you will extend to me the same privilege.

I am deeply grateful for what you have done for me, and I will not forget it. I intend to keep my friends and not lose any by asking too much of them. If I can ever serve you, I want you to call on me.

It has been my aim to do my duty and be fair, "making a citizen" whenever possible, and leaving politics out of law enforcement. My people, and many of yours, have died in battle to preserve this government and Equal Justice to all must be a principle of a government maintained by such sacrifice, and I have borne that in mind. I have no malice or ill-will toward anyone.

Thanking you for everything, and with best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
BILL ALLEN.

Railway Express Agency Says "No Change Is Contemplated"

L. O. Head, president of Railway Express Agency announces that his company has not been officially consulted about any proposed or purported change in its status as an express carrier, as recently reported in the press.

and that any studies of its package traffic, properties or other service had been made to justify such a statement.

The company in 1947, received $442,000,000 from its customers for handling 193,000,000 express shipments.

If as claimed, the handling of small package traffic by express is uneconomical to the railroads, it will likewise be uneconomical to the tax payer, who is already naying the heavy annual loss sustained in parcel post service to which it has been suggested a certain part of the traffic now being handled by Railway Express Agency be diverted.

Mr. Head says the patronage of the public is ample evidence that it will undoubtedly take more than an expression of opinion to do away with the need of the Agency.

This Week in History

May 16-22

The great society of mercy, the American Red Cross, marks the 67th anniversary of its foundation this week on May 21. Its founder and first president was Clara Barton, a selfless woman who devoted her life to helping others

Employed in the U. S. patent office when the Civil War began, Miss Barton became distressed at the plight of battle casualties. She nursed injured soldiers on the battlefield and organized various forms of relief. During the Franco-Prussian war, she carried on her mission of mercy in Europe. As a result of her determination, nations represented at the Geneva conference formed an International Red Cross, a branch of which was finally organized in the U. S. Today, the Red Cross functions in peace as well as war.

ENGLAND—
 Britons Show U. S.
 Unconscious Jealousy

LONDON, England—The English people are so harried, confused and frustrated over the economic collapse of their country under national socialism, it is little wonder an Anti-American sentiment almost equaling the Anti-Russian feeling has developed throughout England, reaching a crescendo of bitter comment in the London press. During the nine days here I have not read a single London newspaper that did not have a direct or left-hand jab at either the Washington government of the American people in general.

To understand this situation it is necessary to know what has brought about the present unhappy state of affairs in England. The basis for the Anti-American sentiment can be explained in a single phrase—"unconscious jealous", and back home. He went to Reidsville to take one of his grandchildren home, Little Miss Olivia Holden, and came by Pensacola, so he could grab a "boat" if the railroad strike hit. Brought us some match box covers.

ous". But to know why the English are jealous of us you must know a lot of things that are true about England today that never were true before.

Foremost among the factors contributing to British collapse was the drop in coal production from around 260,000,000 tons in 1945 to less than 189,000,000 tons last year. England's economy has been based on coal exports for 200 years. At the end of the war the Socialist government was voted in and immediately started to nationalize the coal mines. They naively thought that in time of England's greatest economic need it could mine coal by legislation. Instead of having 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 tons of coal for export England imported from the United States alone 40,000,000 tons last year.

That not only wrecked the economy of England, but threw a monkey wrench into the economy of Denmark, Norway and Sweden, which always had depended on British coal. It threw the three north countries onto the mercy of Soviet Russia which thru its control of Polish coal could call the signals of trade in each country. The Socialist government has not yet solved the problem of increased coal production. Although nationalization was advertised as the beginning of the mellenium for England the net result today has been strikes, confusion and less production. There is nothing wrong with the social reforms proposed for the miners, but the methods and the timing all but ruined England.

The inept handling of the American loan was the second most important factor contributing to the present crisis. Instead of facing economic realities of the post war situation the Socialistic government indulged in a lot of wistful thinking and went blithely on with their nationalization scheme. Instead of spending the bulk of their $4,000,000,000 credit on machinery, transport equipment, farm implements and mechanization for the mines practically all of the loan was used up in expenditures of consumer goods, mostly food. These purchases, incidentally, were a major cause of the sharp rise in American prices during the first six months of this year. The British were using our dollars to compete for our food and other supplies. The terms of the loan turned out to be harsh and unfortunate. It was a bad bargain for us both.

Then, too, the system of taxes under national Socialism has practically killed all incentive for individual effort. A taxi driver told me that he got along better making $35 a week than he did making $50. The tax on incomes above $16 a week is so high the average Britisher isn't interested in increasing his income. The tax system is gradually liquidating the great middle class of England which for generations has been its heart and sinew.

Another of England's weaknesses is its great horde of non-producing workers. One out of six employed persons is in some kind of government service. There were more waiters and servants in the Savoy dining rooms any time any day than there were guests. And one out of 10 persons lives on a pension of some sort and does nothing in the way of production to support the national economy.

The only happy people I saw in England were the newly appointed civil servants who have been given government jobs to implement the vast social reforms of the national Socialist regime.

Because high taxes prevent them from saving more than a few shillings a week, the great majority of the people, middle class, industrial workers, domestic servants, practically everybody has taken up gambling. They gamble on horse races, dog races, lottery pools, numbers rackets, athletic contests, anything. Gambling has become a billion-pound business.

"The British always have been gamblers in a way" a newspaperman explained, "but this yave of terrific gambling is a different thing. It is the only way the average Britisher has a chance of getting a few hundred pounds ahead. He knows he will pay 80 percent of his winnings in taxes, but if he wins, say 1,000 pounds, on a race or lottery, he can keep around 200 pounds of it for himself. That's why he gambles regularly. It's his only chance to set something aside for the rainy day. Added to all their domestic troubles the British have had a severe headache in Palestine. They were infuriated, and justly so, when President Truman, to head off Governor Dewey, made his statement criticizing the British for their policy in dealing with the Jewish refugees in Palestine.

"We never have issued official statements on our lynching of Negroes in Mississippi, so why should you butt in on our Palestine trouble when you utterly refuse to do anything about it and won't even permit any of these poor Jewish refugees to enter your own country?" a London editor almost shouted at me when we were discussing the anti-American sentiment in England.

So it is not difficult to understand why the British feel as they do. After winning a long and debilitating war the British now are in worse shape economically than when the war ended. Rationing is more severe. Prices are higher. Fuel is scarcer. There is less hope. They sincerely feel that it was our war in every sense that it was their war. They say we have not paid anything like our just share of the cost. They fail to remember that it was not the Americas who voted in a Socialist government which proceeded to kreck the British economy, and hereby brought about the hardships which Britishers now are called upon to meet. With their sense of justice and fair play they recognize the fine objectives which the Socialist government proposed and yet in their frustration and confusion they somehow blame Americans because things didn't turn out as Atlee and his politicians promised. When one sees it all at first hand and talks to so many people this unconscious jealousy toward the Americans is both understandable and forgivable.

The feelings and hope of the more thoughtful Britisher was expressed by Cannon Knight in his sermon at St. Paul's Cathedral where we attended services. In closing, the Cannon said, "Surely, if God has saved this nation twice, He must have some divine use still for Great Britain and will give us back the greatness and prestige that was ours in the early 19th century."

able. We were brought down to the port this morning by bus, 37 of us, including the CS employees, Hostesses and two actresses. There is more Army dependents than anything else. Everything from grandmothers down to babies.

We were assigned to our state-rooms, six girls to each one. They are quite nice, tho. Each one has a locker with a place to hang your clothes and plenty of drawer space.

We pulled out of port about 11:15 and about 12:15 we ate lunch and to my surprise the food was really good. The accommodations on this ship are very nice. We have a lounge, two PXs, however, they don't open until you are 12 miles off the coast. We have a library you can get most anything you want to read.

Sun. 2:20 April 18.

It was pretty rough out last nite, I hear. I slept very good tho, however some of the girls had a pretty tough time. In fact about half the passengers were just plain sick this morning.

We went to church, however, we were not compelled to as I had heard we would.

Don't ever think it doesn't get cold out here. These woolen clothes are really coming in handy.

They have asked for volunteer typists, librarians etc. I told that if absolutely necessary I would do something. I'll probably wish I had something to do before two weeks have passed. I understand we are supposed to go via Alaska; hear say.

We have a movie every night. We have a ship paper that is published every day. The officer in charge asked me if I wouldn't interview some of the passengers, but I didn't do it. I really don't think I'd make a very good news reporter. I am told that in a day or two they are going to have a Japanese girl on board that is going over as an interpreter and she is supposed to teach a class. I think I will attend, and maybe I can learn to say a few words.

22 April 1948

Everything is still going swell, and thus far, I have managed to make all meals and keep all of them. It was really rough Monday and Tuesday and very foggy. Today, however is perfect. This morning it snowed, and only lasted a few minutes.

I haven't seen any whales or sharks yet, however, some of the girls saw a whale yesterday.

I have turned to a card feind, like most people where there isn't anything to do. I must say, tho it certainly helps to pass the time. We have played just about to Bridge.

Tomorrow we cross the International date line, and will have a ceremony.

We have plenty of entertainment on ship, other than card games. There is always plenty of music, and two pianos aboard and someone is always playing is just outside Tachikowa and is Headquarters for the area.

After we wen thru all this we were assigned to Billets. They don't look very home like, but with a little fixing up I think they will be alright. We were also given a maid, however, we won't see them again until Monday. I don't even remember what mine looked like I was so tired about all I was interested in was a bed. We went to bed about 7:30. First, we went and ate. The mess is about a block from our quarters. We met a fellow from Fort Worth who has been here only a short time. He's Assistant Chief Supply Division and will be our boss. We won't be assigned our jobs until Monday. We also met two more Texans today at noon.

We get train service free from here to Tokyo and Yokahoma. I haven't seen Mary McCord and Joan, the girls that came over before we did. They are at Fuchu.

Plenty Hits, Plenty Runs, and Most Plenty Errors Win for VFW Over League Leaders

It was a hectic battle all the way, and the VFW nosed out the leading hard-luck club of the circuit in a battle Sunday afternoon that had the fans in the aisles if there were any. VFW destroyed the Coryell City's lead three times, and the third hit pay dirt when Jiggs Martin slammed out a clean hit and didn't have to even run, as there were others on, and they came in putting the game on ice. Jack Barton featured in the box and with the stick for the winners, and Krempin was the losing hurler, and a heartbreaker to lose.

Aside to the VFW diamond manager: It'd be a nice idea if you'd see that the fans were kept west of the north bench, and south of the east bench, and back of lines running from the end of the benches on out in to the outfield. It makes a much nicer game for everybody concerned.

1st Inning: Richter struck out. Gholke grounded out, Long, 2b, to Henderson, 1st b. Giebler also grounded out, Davidson, 3b to 1b. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Last half: Davidson struck out; Henderson grounds to Westerfield 3b, throws out to Gholke, 1b. Dan Barton beats slow roller to 3b. Westerfield throws to Gholke, too late. Jiggs Martin lays one down between Westerfield and 3d for two bags, Barton going to 3d. Loer strikes out, retiring side. Two hits, no runs, no errors.

2d Inning: N. Westerfield hits safely to right field, then steals 2nd, Landfried, I. Westerfield & Krempin go out in order, but not until N. Westerfield comes in on overthrow, Hedgepeth to Davidson, too high. One run, one hit, one error.

Last half: Long hits to Westerfield, muffs, he's on. Catcher muffs, and Long takes 2nd. Burt flies out to Charles Haverkamp, rf., and Long makes 3d. Hedgecock's Texas Leaguer to lf scores Long, tying the game. Hedgecock touched out when Barton hits to second and Barton gets life. Davidson flies out to Westerfield. 3d. One hit, one run, 2 errors.

3d: Haverkamp strikes out. Mattiza hits single over Loer, Hedgecock misses, and he goes to 2d, then 3d another catcher's miss, and in home on Bartons wild pitch. Richter strikes out, Gholke grounds out to Henderson for 'd ut. One hit, one run, no hits, errors, and o wild pitch.

Last half: Henderson hits to Ira Westerfield, 2d, makes nice stab, throws him out at first. Barton hits thru first base; Martin flies out to Richter, cf, and Loer grounds out to first base to retire the side. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Fourth: Giebler gets single, then Westerfield hits roller to Loer, goes under him, and Giebler goes to third. Landfried to Barton to Henderson, he's out. N. Westerfield hits to Long at 2nd, and he's out, Giebler, scoring. Krempin hits grounder to Long, thrown out to Henderson. One hit, one run, one error.

Last half: Long hits to Landfried, ss, thrown out at first. Burt flies out at cf to Richter, Kopec strikes out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

5th: Haverkamp strikes out; Matiza flew out to Burt, who runs in for shoestring, and then Burt robs Richter of another hit in lf to retire the side. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Last: Jack Barton hits Texas Leaguer to cf and then is forced at 2d when Davidson gets life hitting over 2d. Barton flies out to Krempin, pitcher. Martin grounded out, 2d to 1st. One hit, no runs, no errors.

6th: Gholke grounds out to Henderson, 1b. Davidson makes very nice catch of Giebler's foul fly. Westerfield flies out to Jiggs Martin, cf. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Last: Turner for Loer at ss. He fails to make 1st base. Long hits high line drive, Westerfield jumps and he's out. Burt flies out to Haverkamp at right field. No hits, no runs, no errors.

7th: Landfried flies out to Davidson. Westerfield hits to Turner, ss, muffs, and bad throw to 1st and he's safe. Krempin pops up to Barton, Kopec throws to 1st and Westerfield's out at 1st. No hits, no runs, one error.

Last Kopec gets walk, steals 2d. Barton gets Texas Leaguer at rf. Kopec going to 3d. Barton to 2d. Davidson hits Texas Leaguers to rf and Barton and Kopec score. Henderson hits long fly to center safety, Davidson falls down trying to get back to 2d after running past, and is out. Barton flies out to left field. Henderson goes to third when Martin hits to short and Landfried errors, Martin going to 2d and Henderson to 3d. Turner strikes out. Three hits, two runs, one error.

8th: Haverkamp gets on when Henderson drops grounder. Haverkamp is tagged out when Mattiza grounds to Long. Mattiza is forced out when Richter grounds to Long for hit. He advances to 2nd when Gholke hits. Giebler, hit by pitched ball, gets on. Westerfield hits slow roller to Davidson, Davidson tries cutting runner at 'd, and Richter safe at 3rd. Kopec lets one thru, Richter scores and Westerfield goes to 2d, Gholke scoring too, on the miss. Landfried is thrown out at 1st, retiring the side. Two runs, 3 hits, 3 errors.

Last: Long hits Texas Leaguer over 2d. Burt singles, forcing Long at 2d. Kopec hits to 3d: the double, 3d to 2d to 1st, and the side is retired. Two hits, no runs, no errors.

9th: Westerfield grounds out, 2 to 1st. Turner muffs, and Krempin is safe, and Davidson recovers and throws, Davidson's throw is too slow. Haverkamp hits to Henderson, steps on base and he's out. Mattiza strikes out. . . . runs, no hits, one error.

Last: Barton singles to lf. Davidson hits single to rf. Barton going to 3rd, Davidson to 2d, and Henderson hits to Landfried ss, and he tries to cut Barton off at home, and don't, Henderson going to 2d, Davidson to 3d. Barton flies out to Westerfield 3rd. Mattiza misses, and Davidson runs in on passed ball at home. Martin hits safely, scoring Henderson, sewing up the old ball game. 6-5 for the V. F. W.
