The Texas Poll

The Statewide Survey of Public Opinion

By JOE BELDEN,

Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, Texas, March 19.—Most Texans do not expect a depression this year.

About seven out of every ten adults questioned in a statewide cross section survey say that a depression is unlikely.

The general feeling of the public now may be described as follows:

1. Family earnings will remain stable during the next six months.
2. Cost of living has hit its peak and is on its way down.
3. There is no reason to be alarmed.

Only one out of every twenty-five adults believes that a depression this year is "very probable."

Another five out of every twenty-five say it is "fairly probable," but the great majority thinks it is "not probable."

During the past six months, the trend of public opinion on living costs has definitely shifted toward an expectation of lower prices. However, there has been no significant change during the same period in the outlook for family earnings.

This may be shown by comparing the results of two previous surveys with the latest one:

Grand Jury, July 5, 1858—S. T. Clymer, Chief Justice; Jurors, John M. Brown, Chance R. Puckett, L. Haggard, O. F. Davenport, James W. Pugh, Thomas Warren, John K. Shipman, A. T. Latham, T. T. Ragsdale, A. W. Wolters, A. Fore, Newton Parks, A. G. Gholson, John I. Lamb, N. W. Cook.

County Court, January 3, 1859—M. McCutcheon, Chief Justice; Commissioners, Wm. Moorhead and E. Pinkerton; Grand Jurors: O. T. Tyler, J. D. Ribinson, W. W. Hammack, F. L. Miller, Washington Boyd, G. W. Haley, E. P. Gibson, John Hendrickson, David Elms, L. White, Joe Powell, Lemuel Dodson.

The county as organized embraces an area of 1,085 square miles, located in Central Texas, in the western area of the great Brazos River drainage basin. It was originally a part of Milam County. When Bell County was organized in 1850 it was attached to that county for convenience in administrative purposes. The County was named for James Coryell.

In 1854 when the county was organized it had a population of approximately 300, including some slaves and Negroes. The 1940 census showed a population of about 20,286, or about 18.4 to the square mile. It also showed the wealth of the county to be approximately $30,000,000. When the United States entered the Global War and established the great army training center, Camp Hood, in the southern section of the county, and the Bluebonnet Ordnance Plant, which lies partly in the eastern section of the county, a great number of laborers were needed to develop the two projects, and thousands of laborers and their families moved in. Every village and town received their share of the influx, so that the population doubled within a few months. Housing this vast number of people was a serious problem. Hundreds of trailer houses, tents and shacks of all sorts, were located wherever a location could be found.

The county is located in that part of Texas known as the Grand Prairie. The terrain is a rolling prairie traversed by deep, broad valleys. The prairies present an undulating table land topping a rugged hill country. The prairies belong to the rich black lime lands, while the valleys present a variety of rich alluvial soils.

The Leon River traverses the county diagonally from northwest to southeast, threading its way thru wonderfully rich, wide, valleys. The tributary streams flowing into the Leon from the east are Station Creek, Peugh Creek, Coryell Creek, and other small creeks. Tributaries from the west are Owl Creek, Evans Branch, Dobbs Creek and Plum Creek, with other small streams.

In the western section of the county is crossed by Cowhouse Creek, a fine stream which takes on almost the dignity of a river. It has for tributaries, Perryman's Creek, Table Rock Creek, Bee House Creek and numerous other small streams.

Between these streams are ranges of rugged limestone hills which are topped by undulating prairies. The hills are generally covered with a fine growth of the various species of mountain oak, liveoak, and extensive forests of cedar, so that the country has an abundant supply of firewood and fencing timber. Wild grapes, wild plums, wild cherry and numerous other wild fruits and berries thrive in their proper locations. The river and creek valleys are the native habitat of the pecan.

The northern section of the county slopes to the Bosque drainage basin, and in that section are the beautiful streams, Cave Creek, Hogg Creek, and the Middle Bosque. In this section a great soil conservation project was developed by the U. S. government engineers commanding a Civilian Conservation Corps which was headquartered in Gatesville. This is the most extensively terraced section of the county.

Cotton, corn and small grain are the chief crops grown. At one time, Coryell County produced the most oats and the most mule colts of any county in the state. This is the ideal land for small ranching and individual farming, and there are many herds of highly bred Hereford cattle, sheep, goats and dairy herds. Dairying is highly developed in parts of the county. The 4-H clubs of the county have won many first prizes in the ton-litter contests sponsored by the fat stock associations thruout the state. Turkeys and chickens are raised as a foundation proposition by many farmers. Fruit and truck farming is practiced in many parts of the county. Grapes, pears, peaches, plums, black berries, persimmons and most fruits adapted to the temperate climates, are grown in merchantable quantities.

SO EASY, IT'S

CHILD'S PLAY

...to wash the AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC WAY!

Yes, even little sister can do the washing with an automatic electric washer.

She simply puts in the soiled clothes and soap, sets the controls and the washer does the rest. All by itself, it cleans the clothes thoroughly, triple rinses them in clean water and spins them damp dry. It even drains itself and shuts itself off when the clothes are ready for the line.

You'll be amazed at how easy it is to wash with an automatic electric washer. And it costs so little to operate that a few cents worth of electricity will do an entire week's washing. Ask for a demonstration today!

Dan Dove Explains Growing, Marketing: Here From Mexia

Monday evening, Dan Dove, who has, thru his work and assistance, and co-operation of growers in Limestone county, brought marginal farmers up to very successful farmers, by introducing the growing of certain crops and getting a market for them.

In Limestone, they get blocks of land planted in watermelons, peas, tomatoes, cucumbers and other products, and the buyers come there and buy them for shipment, north and east, instead of sale on the local markets.

Farmers who were making $300 a year, cash money, are now in good financial condition, even on small acreage.

Mr. Dove, in brief, said, a program of this nature can't work with highways and transportation, you also have to have the acreage, as the buyer has to know how much he'll get before he contracts the produce with his sales outlet. The farmer must work it out, as the buyer does not finance the development.

Farmers there are contacted in December. They have 300 acres of cucumbers, and this is the only contracted product with a guaranteed price.

Besides this, they have 2,000 acres of watermelons, 3,000 acres of peas, 600 of tomatoes, and a smaller amount of sweet potatoes. The buyers will not come for just a few acres.

The products are "culled", and a cannery at Bremond takes care of some, and some are sold locally. A packing shed has been put up, and plans are up for a $20,000 salting station for cucumbers. These are then shipped in tank cars when needed from the salting station.

Promotional funds and advertising were provided by the cucumber man. In watermelons, the buyer does the harvesting, or he takes care of it.

One man made $1,800 on 6 acres and half the crop was culled.

Cucumbers vary per acre to nothing to $175 an acre with an average of $200.

Four acres of watermelons made $200, and 100 acres made $30,000, and some only made $50 an acre.

First thing to do to get started is to "get the acreage", then, the buyer, prices, etc. will follow.

Present at the meeting were Troy Melton and Roe Spence of Mound; Roy Pennington, Travis Meharg, Rembert Wollridge, Pat Holt, John F. Post, W. P. Graham, J. J. Bates, Mat Jones, and Chamber of Commerce President, D. W. Cooper.

The topography of the county is such that it is ideally suited to extensive irrigation. There are hundreds of sites suitable for building impounding dams to hold irrigation water. Most of these sites, or many of them, could be so arranged that a gravity flow of water could be brought to the fields. For home use, the people generally depend upon artesian wells for a water supply. This is because the county is underlaid by a sheet of inexhaustible, highly pure, artesian water.

The beautiful scenic hills and valleys of this county present a parklike view from whatever angle they are seen, interspersed with blue cedared hills and ranges spreading and reaching into the blue distance, and wide valleys dotted with farms. Every landscape inspires beauty. The location of every farmhouse is romantic. It is a poetic land with music and harmony expressed in every line. It is no wonder at all that pioneer men sought locations in this wonderful land.

The early settlers had their trials. The first few years were marked with recurring droughts of severe intensity. Crops were short and the people suffered for breadstuffs, however, the range was good, livestock did well and game was plentiful, so that the hardy pioneers with great fortitude maintained their homes.

The Civil War came on and Coryell County sent forth her full quota of men for the Confederate Armies. The ranchmen furnished large numbers of ??? ??

Hornets Drop To Tigers 9-4 In Practice Game, Friday Night

Francis (Cotton) Davidson collected the longest hit of the afternoon, and pushed another runner in ahead of him, but this was not enough for the GHS Hornet Baseballers to win over the Waco High School Tigers. The game, a 7-inning affair, ended Waco 9, and Gatesville 4.

Both Coach Lloyd Mitchell and Johnnie Riola used four hurlers, but with a free substitution rule, some of them worked twice. Locals were F. Davidson, McCarver, Meyers and Galloway; Waco's were, Corrigan, Wetzel, Leggott and Brizzalra.

The Hornets nipped the Wacoars for 5 hits, and Waco managed to collect 9. Walks and wild throws hurt the locals, a total of 8 free tickets being allowed.

Knowles was the heavy poller for the Tigers, getting a 3-bagger. But Jim Lorimer, nice looking Waco shortstop, hit 3 out of 5 at the plate and two were doubles.

Lineup for Gatesville: Moore, McCarver, Beverly, Anderson, Baize, Collins, Kemp, F. Davidson, Haverkamp, D. Davidson, G. Davidson, Painter, Wolfe, Galloway and Meyers.

Waco: Buentro, Ballard, Merdoza, Taylor, Harrell, Lorimer, Gresham, Ryals, Knowles, Martinez, Robinett, Reyes, Todar, Corrigan, Wetzel, Leggott and Brizzalra.
