Fire Prevention Meeting Held Saturday, Sept. 24 In City Auditorium

The Fire Prevention Committee met in the City Auditorium last Saturday morning, September 24, with the following members present: R. D. Foster Sr., chairman; Sherrill Kendrick, Paul T. Hensler, John Frank Post, Oran D. Baes, Rev. J. W. Sprinkle, Mrs. Tom L. Robinson, and Bill Davis, Chamber of Commerce Manager. Mr. Davis presided at the meeting.

Tentative plans were made to ask the Volunteer Fire Department make a "Follow-up Inspection" of the town inspection held last February. They can obtain a list of hazards for the different business houses from the Chamber of Commerce and check to see which have and have not been corrected. In the event that they need assistance, it was suggested that the Boy Scouts aid them.

After much discussion concerning the Fire Prevention Posters and circulars, tentative plans were made to ask the Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls to distribute pamphlets and circulars to the homes and places of business in the down-town district. It was also suggested that a contest be held among the Boy Scouts in a waste-paper drive. This should include a clean-up campaign rather than old newspapers, magazines, etc., for re-sale as waste paper. The churches are also asked to help in this drive, that the churches of the city be furnished pamphlets to be included in the Sunday Bulletins, and that the pastors of the various churches make mention of the Campaign sometime during the Sunday morning services on October 8th.

The schools are also asked to aid in this drive, with some High School organization to present a Fire Prevention Stunt at the Football game on the night of October 13th. And that school children be urged to make posters that could be placed at vantage points down town.

The meeting was adjourned.

State Ton Litter Contest Records Have Been Released For 1948-49

Records have been released on the 1948-49 Ton Litter Contest. Coryell County had two litters in this contest. E. W. Blum, last year's state winner, again placed high in the contest. His ten pig litter weighing 3903 pounds was third high in the state for total weight, but was first average weight. Mr. Blum had the second place litter in District II. The winning litter in District II consists of 18 pigs with a total of 3995. Mr. Blum again wins a gold certificate of award.

Clovis King received a silver certificate of award. His litter of 19 pigs weighed 2581. Mr. King's litter weight was higher than the winner of District III. In this district a Kerr County litter of 12 pigs weighed only 2119. Guy Powell, former County Agent of Coryell County, supervised this demonstration.

This report shows that Coryell County with a second and third in the District and third place litter in the state made a very good record.

Rev. Asa N. Porter Is Cereus Grower In Waco: Relatives Live Here

Recently in "these newspapers" of Waco, was quite a commotion about Rev. Asa N. Porter of that city raising night-blooming cereus at his home.

He's been growing them for some time, and the one pictured grew from a single leaf of about 10-inches to about five feet now.

The "commotion" was the newspaper said it was the "only", and somebody called their hand, as they will do, and we know.

Rev. Porter is related to the Boy's here, and Mr. and Mrs. John Milner and family.

Jinx All-Star team of the Waco News-Tribune Tournament includes Newt Westerfield, Coryell City, 3rd base; Forest Fortier, Coryell City pitcher. Emhouse got 4 on, and your old friend, Cullen Ingram, Clifton pitcher made it, too.

"Red" Westerfield, as Jinx calls him, took over here Saturday evening, when Coryell City-Purmela played, and C-City had pitching troubles, and he pitched about 4 innings, striking out 7 men of the goo-hitting Purmela club. Just about all-round, that Red.

Again, we quote the "Dean": "The good shortstops of the meet were few and far between. There were only two that were outstanding. Bob Walker of Emhouse was the best, followed by Frank Broyles of West. The best third baseman by far was Red Westerfield of Coryell City. He was a sensation in the field and hit over .500 for the tournament play. I would name him the most valuable player of the meet, not including the pitchers." Them's sweet words, coming from the "The Jinx".

During the entire preliminary playoff in the Coryell County League, there was only one circuit clout that was by "Old Folks" Curtis (Commissioner) Smith Saturday evening, and was off the delivery of Hafferkamp, but not Charles. Haverkamp pitched a pretty fair ball, but got nicked for quite a few hits. Them Purmelas were slapping the pill.

While most grass fires along the highways, in pastures, and even forest fires are blamed on smokers who carelessly toss burning matches or cigarettes on the ground, it is agreed among insurance adjusters that the blame placed on the smoker has little justification. A burning match, they point out, when flipped into the air, is generally extinguished by the rush of wind. They point out that a burning match thrown from a moving automobile has practically no chance of maintaining an igniting blaze until it reaches the ground. As for cigarettes, there is seldom a blaze—only smoldering tobacco shreds, which have to fall in dense, fine, dry grass and be fanned by a stiff wind to generate a blaze.

A Texas insurance man last summer grew curious as he drove along the highways and saw fresh blazes daily in grass beside the roads. In almost every instance, there was an empty bottle lying in the area where the blaze had started. He even went so far as to experiment with tossing burning matches from his car. Not a blaze was started by the matches.

The incidents give substance to the theory that bottles are fire bugs in glass coats. But not every bottle lying in the grass is a hazard. The condition must be just right for it to start a fire. The grass must be thick and dry. The bottle must be lying at such an angle that the sun's rays will be magnified into a concentrated beam—similar to the old trick of starting a fire with a magnifying glass. Perhaps not one bottle in ten will fall at such an angle. If it does, it may lie harmless for months until the sun's orbit reaches the proper tangent.

Insurance men point out that farmers should pick up bottles by the highway and in their pastures. Around the home, they caution housewives to avoid setting liquid-filled clear glass jars or bottles in windows where the sun's rays will shine through. By taking such precautions, many mystery fires will be avoided each year.

FIRE BUGS In Glass Coats---

That bottle lying in your pasture, or in the grass beside the road, can be a malicious fire bug, just waiting for the right slant of the sun and the proper dryness of the grass to start a damaging fire. It may lie harmless for months or even years, doing no more damage than being an eyesore or a hazard to automobile tires. Then—presto! It can erupt into a conflagration that will destroy or endanger thousands of dollars worth of property.

During the hot, dry weather last summer, McLennan County farmers along Highway 6 suspected firebugs of setting grass fires that sprang up at frequent intervals. Then Smith Doshier, one of the farmers, found a spot where one of the fires had started. A bottle lay close by. The sun's rays, hitting the bottle at just the right angle, had been magnified into a concentrated beam that generated enough heat to set the grass on fire. The farmers then started a clean-up campaign to rid their pastures and the roadsides of bottles, and the fires were checked.

Almost any fire insurance man can cite a case where fires have been traced to a bottle lying in the sun. A number of specific cases where damaging fires have been started by either empty or partly filled bottles are on record. There is the case of the 50-acre hayfield in Tennessee that was completely destroyed by fire, and was traced directly to a bottle that had been thrown across the fence. A heavy rain had filled it half full of water, then when the ground and hay were dry, the sun and bottle had started the blaze.

A farmer was brought to trial in Florida a number of years ago on a charge of setting fire to a turpentine grove. The defense pointed out that the fire was started by an empty bottle lying in the dry grass. Witnesses, who arrived at the scene of the fire soon after it started, testified that the blaze had started right by the bottle. The defense testimony was so convincing that the farmer went free.

Insurance adjusters agree that perhaps more fires are started by bottles, either empty or filled with liquid, than case histories support.

RED CROSS HAS RECORD NUMBER SERVING U. S. MILITARY FORCES

With U. S. military forces at five times their prewar strength, a record number of American Red Cross workers are serving them throughout the world. More than 2,000 Red Cross representatives today are stationed at 1,300 military installations and 123 hospitals here and overseas. About 1,400 staff workers are serving troops in this country. The others are working at occupation and defense posts abroad. Only during the peak years of World War II were a larger number on duty.

The duties of these Red Cross workers are as varied as the locale in which they work, involving a wide range of welfare services that contribute to military morale. They may include tiding over a soldier's wife with grocery and rent money until her family allowance check comes through, or getting a welfare report on an Eskimo serviceman's mother via weather bureau radio. Sometimes it means getting word of a family emergency to a sailor with the fleet in the Mediterranean.

Service of the Red Cross worker in a military hospital may be helping a man through the difficult hour when he learns that he will never be well again or removing the worry that often stands in the way of his recovery.

The Red Cross man at Hickam Air Force base, Hawaii, lead a helping hand to a young marine, enroute from Kwajalein to his Maine home on emergency leave.

are that the Red Cross has a field worker on the spot or nearby who can help try to solve it.

In this country 361 field directors and their assistants cover 148 base stations, 31 substations, and 923 itinerant stations. During the last year field directors at camps handled more than 672,000 cases. Health and welfare reports requested by servicemen or their families were the most common type of help asked for. More than 179,000 such cases were recorded. The next most frequent type of request was that involving leave or extension of leave. The Red Cross cannot grant leave, but military authorities depend upon the organization for reports of conditions underlying leave requests. These cases run into many thousands each year.

Abroad, Red Cross coverage is almost as complete as in this country. In Japan alone, 159 men and women are serving occupation troops at 31 military installations and 14 hospitals. Other parts of the Far East are equally well staffed.

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

In the last year Red Cross staff members handled more than 102,000 welfare cases in military hospitals. More than 500 professional Red Cross workers are stationed at 40 army hospitals, 26 navy hospitals, and 14 air force hospitals.

PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Every now and then some intellectual—usually a college professor—ridicules advertising. That is because he has confused intellect with wisdom.

But in Dallas Thursday night an Ohio State professor—Dr. Kenneth Dameron—urged businessmen to do more efficient selling. Business, he said, needs quick-acting advertising.

The easy days of selling and scarcity are gone. Business now needs to advertise. That is the real admission that advertising is an essential part of our economic system.

It is just as essential as transportation. Transportation moves products to market; advertising moves them to the consumer. Demand and time deposits have declined little in three years. A vast pent-up demand is ready to buy good merchandise at good values.

Mr. Wrigley, asked why he continued to advertise nickle chewing gum which everybody chewed, replied as he rode on a train: "Without advertising I would be like this train without an engine." Soon the coaches would stop. Soon Wrigley's chewing customers would stop.

Advertising is to increase sales and retain a field. An advertiser who leaves his resting place is likely to come back and find it filled with cobwebs.

The Council especially desires that all interested Citizens be present at this hearing that they may determine if it is the desire of the Citizenship of Gatesville to transfer the ownership of the Stadium to the School District. It being the desire of the Council to make some disposition of this matter they would like a discussion of both sides of the question and will give an opportunity of those present to be heard.

THE GRASSHOPPER AND THE ANTS

The grasshopper was a great fiddler; all summer long he fiddled, looking down on the ants who rushed hither and thither gathering food. When winter came, the grasshopper starved while the ants had plenty. Your newspaper's staff is trained to gather not to fiddle. It gathers news so that you will never suffer from a lack of information which, in this complex world, can be as deadly as starvation.

GATESVILLE NEEDS MORE Rural Industries.
I quote from a farm journal: “Why should the South not seek to get a larger part of the ultimate price paid for farm products? Why—as a ‘hedge’ against falling prices after the war—should we not attempt to lower production costs by making more of our farm supplies?”

Too many people think of Henry

Ford when the word “industry” is mentioned, and do not appreciate the many smaller industries.

Here is a list of rural industries suitable to Gatesville which we do not have: Meat Curing Plant, Creameries, Ice Cream Plant, Condensory, Cheese Plant, Powdered Milk Plant, Sweet Potato Curing houses, packing sheds, shredding mills, dehydrators, and starch plants: Pecan shelling plant, candy factory, Potteries, Legume Dehydrators, Fertilizer plants, Insecticides, Paint-Making plant, Potato Chip factories, Canneries, Broom Factory, Wholesale Meat Plant, Wool-Grading Center, Glass Factory, Pickle Making plant, Garment making plant, and Specialty products, such as jellies, jams, glazed fruit, etc.

Fortunately, most rural industries do not require highly trained management or workers, and it doesn't take a yankee to make a go of these industries. How much are you willing to invest in an industry that manufactures Coryell County's Farm products?

RED CROSS CHAPTERS MEET VARIOUS NEEDS OF SERVICEMEN

The Red Cross Home Service worker looked up from her desk to find an old man holding a telegram and twenty-five dollars.

"My boy wants to come home, but he hasn't got the money for such an expensive trip," the old gentleman said. "He has just returned from 2 years overseas service and is getting a leave before reassignment. His mother has been very sick and I think he might help her to get well. We are living on our family allowance and whatever money my son can send, but I've scraped together this $25. Can you give me enough more to bring him home?"

After verifying the facts, the Home Service worker sent a telegram to the Red Cross field director at the boy's camp, telling of the father's request and of the offer of the twenty-five dollars he could so ill afford. The following day she received an answering wire from the field director:

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matter of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

"Return twenty-five dollars to father. Army granting emergency leave and arranging for air transportation home. We are arranging for maintenance and return transportation." It was only one item in a busy worker's day, but to two old people and a long-absent son it meant a lot.

Often the need is not for financial aid but for help with the unexpected problems that may hit any family and are more acute when the head of the family is thousands of miles away.

It was so with an Air Force sergeant who reenlisted after overseas combat service. He left his wife and children in Kentucky on a farm with his mother-in-law. He also left 25 head of cattle, through which the family income would be supplemented. He thought his family secure for the 3 years of his new enlistment. Then disaster struck. The wife's mother became ill and was compelled to sell the farm and go to live with a distant sister. This left the sergeant's family without housing, and 25 head of cattle without care.

The Red Cross helped the soldier get emergency leave, helped him find suitable living quarters for his wife, and arranged for quick sale of his livestock. The sergeant then returned to duty, content in the knowledge that his wife and two small children were provided for.

Often, the need for help extends beyond the time a man is separated from the service. If, as a veteran, the man and his family continue to need aid, the chapter is ready to help.

That is Red Cross Home Service—a friend and counselor to the perplexed, to those in need, to men and women with problems.

President—Harding College

A Dangerous Tax

There's talk in Washington of a $4 billion tax increase. If Congress permits this new siphoning of income and savings from the people into the federal treasury, the results can be dangerous for the whole nation. This is fact, regardless of whether or not the President and his administration would be cramped in spending a proposed $42 billion budget.

Of course, like our Senator McClellan told homefolks recently: Mr. Truman's program means that taxes can go only one way—up, up, up. Senator Fulbright, our other distinguished senator, tried to ease the misgivings of the economy-minded by pointing out that saving federal money and reducing taxes is a question of "what you are willing to give up." That is a problem, all right. Too many of us have the attitude of the well known politician, who said he had never voted for a tax bill nor against an appropriations bill.

Justify Spending

If we manage to fool ourselves into thinking the other fellow is going to have to pay for the handouts, we then show no enthusiasm about economy. Citizens and congressmen alike, too often see economy as a fine thing when it's not close to home, but work like mad for all the government "aid" they can get for themselves.

One thing is wrong with the question our Senator asked about what we would give up. It puts the burden of proof on the citizen who would economize! That proof belongs elsewhere. Every bureaucrat who demands funds should explain and justify the expenditure of every dollar!

Wherein lies the danger to the nation in heavier taxes at this time? It is proposed that the burden of a $4 billion tax increase be placed upon corporations and businesses. This might look to some like an easy way to shift the tax load onto somebody else. Actually, a tax that is shouldered by business is still borne by the people—because people buy the products of corporations that are owned by people.

Don't Kill Incentive

At present the nation's business corporations pay a 38 per cent tax on income. Earnings distributed to owners may get taxed up to 92 per cent. (Other taxes, also, are levied upon corporations.) Tremendous sums, therefore, are handed to Uncle Sam by industry. But right now, the nation's economists are agreed that America's industry must have huge amounts of additional capital for growth and for expansion. There's danger, if instead these billions must be poured into Washington.

Any industrial plant that is not able to spend money continually for expansion or for newer, better equipment is a corporation moving toward failure. An amount roughly equal to the President's proposed budget of $42 billion is the least we ought to put this year into our industrial plant. If America is to have the industrial strength it should have, if jobs are to remain plentiful, and if wages are to be high—then we had better have a care about penalizing our industry. America can lose out by exacting too much "take" from business.

Unless industry is allowed to expand, modernize, and meet today's needs, there'll be nothing at all to tax one of these days. When taxes take what would be invested, and when incentive to invest is killed—the country will go into reverse. Another $4 billion in taxes on corporations would be most unwise.

SUBSCRIPTION

* There is a little matter that some of our subscribers have seemingly forgotten entirely. As we have stated before the Post Office regulations require that all subscriptions must be paid in advance. To us it is a very important matter. —It is necessary in our business. We are somewhat modest on this subject and don't like to continually speak about such remittances. We must, however, take off our mailing list from time to time, those who are delinquent in their payments. We don't like to do this as we believe this matter has just been overlooked on the part of some subscribers, yet we must comply with the Post Office laws to keep our second class mailing permit. Check the date on the label on your paper to see how you stand on this matter.*
