James Cook Evans, 52, assistant vice president of the First National Bank in Dallas, is accused by the FBI of a $290,320.03 shortage. Government agents said the money disappeared over the last 2 years. Evans is specifically charged with false entry in the bank's books amounting to $3,000. He is shown leaving the Federal Building after posting bond of $2,500. (AP Photo)

Waco Production Credit Organization In Gatesville Meet

Stockholders of the Waco Production Credit Association at their Twenty-fifth Annual Meeting in Gatesville, heard W. N. Stokes, Jr., President of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discuss the present high cost of credit. He ascribed this to the extraordinary demand for credit in business and industry and to the completion of the Federal Government for short term funds, caused by the Government's inability to sell its long term bonds at the going rate.

The end of the situation, Stokes said, does not yet appear to be in sight, but somewhere down the line there should be a leveling off, when the high interest rates produce a lessening demand for credit.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank is the regional institution serving the state of Texas. Its function is to keep adequate funds always available for agricultural financing in the state, so that the Production Credit associations and other lenders may obtain loanable funds for the farm and ranch operators.

A. E. Lamar, of Heidenheimer, president of the Association called the meeting to order and introduced the other directors: Jeff Buckner of Jonesboro, W. D. Walker of Satin, Alton A. Stevens of McGregor and J. W. Shipp of Walnut Springs.

New Driver Laws Favor Ruralites

Rural and small town residents will have an advantage over their city cousins when the new auto insurance rating plan goes into effect Jan. 1.

Under the new system a driver's auto insurance premiums will be raised or lowered according to his driving record. Each accident or ticket for a moving traffic violation puts a "black mark" on the driver's record and moves his insurance premiums up a notch.

In the congested streets of the larger cities, one wrong move, even if unintentional, often brings a ticket or a crumpled fender or both. In most small towns, the local lawman is not usually too excited if one of his friends and neighbors make a U-turn on the main street.

Purpose of the plan is to put the biggest part of the burden for insurance payments on the people who bring on the most damage and expense. People who have a history of numerous traffic violations, according to the Department of Public Safety statistics, are the ones who have the most accidents.

It is also hoped, of course, that the plan will encourage careful driving with its cash incentive.

Drivers with no record of an accident or violation for the past three years will get a 20 per cent reduction in their insurance rates. Drivers with one point against them will pay current rates.

Those with from one to five points against them will pay increased rates on a sliding scale, and those with six or more points will pay through the nose—double rates.

Some activities will be very expensive, point-wise. Drunken driving, hit and run driving and negligent homicide will cost four points. An accident with damage over $25 brings two points; running a red light only one point.

In most cases, the effect of a violation on insurance premiums will hurt the pocketbook worse than the usual fines.

Railroads Say Featherbedding Tactics Costing Them Over $500,000,000

Spokesman for the nation's railroads say that "featherbedding" costs them a loss of $500,000,000 a year. On the other hand, brotherhood leaders claim that this figure is "gerrymanded" out of thin air.

Railroad management several times has urged during the past few months that President Eisenhower name an entirely impartial fact-commission to investigate the make-work situation. Brotherhood leaders have consistently refused to agree to the appointment of such a commission.

J. Handley Wright, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, has offered to show detailed featherbedding studies to any qualified group appointed to help solve this problem.

Featherbedding is a term used to describe unfair conditions which "require employers to hire unneeded workmen, or to pay for unnecessary or duplicating jobs, or limiting the amount of work to be done in a day as a means of stretching work."

The railroads give many examples of featherbedding in this state. A few of the more interesting ones follow.

Here, for example, is what the railroads are talking about:

An engineer and his fireman are in their Diesel for four hours and 15 minutes on the 250-mile run from Dallas to Houston. They receive pay for 2.52 days work.

Then, there's the locomotive engineer who sits at the throttle of his Diesel for two hours and two minutes covering 106 miles from Childress to Wichita Falls. For that he receives a full day's pay, plus six-hundredths of a day's pay.

A YARDMAN received a full day's pay because a fireman threw a switch and pulled a pin, though the yardman paid was not on or near the scene, nor was he immediately available.

Railroad employees, although on regular time, are paid an additional 95 cents when they couple an air hose.

Because three Diesel units were moved one unit's length, in the Big Spring yards, one man received a day's pay although he was nowhere near at the time.

IS A FIREMAN needed on Diesels? The railroads say no and cite numerous cases of traveling engineers observing firemen reading a newspaper while engineer performs the needed duties. Others were cited for sleeping.

Even when concessions are made for the comfort and benefit of crews, those same crews make claims. A yard crew had made up the train at Glidden and in doing so had left an opening over a street crossing, a public throughfare. The road crew, then ready to depart, coupled the train together. That took less than five minutes. The road crew claimed and was paid a full day's pay, in addition to a full day's pay by the regular main line run, which required only six hours' work.

The payoff is that the opening in the train was left so that members of the road crew could more easily reach a club house furnished for them by the railroad.

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

NEW YORKER HEALED OF LUNG CANCER

When a man is declared by his physicians to be dying from lung cancer and through prayer and faith the man is instantly healed of God, truly a modern-day miracle has occurred!

I know of such a man. Mr. Kirkwood is a New Yorker and is now 66 years old. He has the medical proof of his miraculous healing, which came at our Cincinnati, Ohio Crusade in 1955.

In 1953 Mr. Kirkwood underwent surgery for removal of the right center lobe of one of his lungs which X-ray photos showed to be cancerous. A year later his condition grew worse, and further X rays showed new spots on his lungs larger than the ones which had been removed previously.

"My doctors told me they had done everything humanly and medically possible," Mr. Kirkwood said.

"They said it would take a miracle if I were to recover. They advised against a further operation since the cancer had spread beyond the help of the surgeon's knife. I was sent home to die."

Mr. Kirkwood tells how he fought a personal battle and won.

"I did not want to die. Being a Christian, I had tremendous faith. I asked God to show me how to exercise my faith, and how to prepare myself for divine healing.

"I prayed earnestly for many months, asking God to heal me. But the time had not yet come."

He tells of hearing about our Cincinnati Crusade in 1955 and of his preparations to attend.

"I felt that the time had come for me to receive my healing," he said. "I began to fast and prayed earnestly as I climbed aboard the airplane which was to fly me to Cincinnati. I never touched a drop of water or a morsel of food from the time I left New York on Friday until I returned the following Monday, nor did I desire them."

"When I walked up the ramp to be prayed for, I felt the power of God. It seemed that He was guiding me. When I was prayed for, I let my faith go to God and was healed instantly."

"The nagging pain left my chest. I felt like a new man."

My friend went back to New York and had additional X rays taken. The cancer had disappeared and his doctors were amazed!

"They told me they believed in divine healing and were very happy for me," he said.

Here is a living example of what God can do for those with disease!

These are the words of a man who has been healed of lung cancer. God is able to do the same for you. Write for your free copy of "Abundant Life" today.

Holland Hornets Stop Cove Bulldogs

HOLLAND (Spl.) — Copperas Cove Bulldogs became Holland's 21st straight football victim here Friday night as the Hornets — mostly Stroud-wize — stopped the Bulldogs 32-14.

Holland's Wayne Stroud passed and ran to lead the Hornets to their seventh season win and second district win and hand Copperas Cove a defeat for its first district try.

Wayne Hummer, who was expected to be sidelined with injuries, raced 32 yards for one Bulldog touchdown while James Fritz, 'Dog fullback, passed to Elbert Tilghman for 20 yards and the second Cove tally.

Horst Paul ran over the two extra points for the Cove eleven.

The Bulldogs held an 8-6 advantage at halftime on the basis of Hummer's run and Paul's extra points, but the Hornets exploded in the last half, using a spread formation to good advantage.

First Hornet touchdown came in the first quarter on a five-yard pass from Stroud to Kenneth Balusek, and the third quarter saw the Hornets march for 65 yards in six plays to take the lead and up the score to 12-8.

Holland kicked to the Bulldogs who had the ball only one series and then Stroud went 45 yards around his right end for touchdown No. 3.

A short time later, Stroud took to the air again, hitting Howard Bartz for nine yards and another touchdown. Balusek ran the extra points.

In the fourth quarter, Fritz' touchdown pass to Tilghman was followed up by another Stroud score—this time over left tackle for five yards.

Cove meets Salado at Salado this week in its second district encounter.

2211, 300 West Vickery, Fort Worth, said the findings resulted from investigations of covered establishments in this area. His local representative who conducts investigations in the Waco area is Marvin F. Nix, First Floor, Southwestern Building, 121 South 6th Street.

Minimum wages amounting to $50,535, the supervisor said, were found due to 206 workers, and overtime compensation of $93,668 was found due for 701 workers.

He also reported finding 13 minors illegally employed in the area during the period. His figures for January through July were released today.

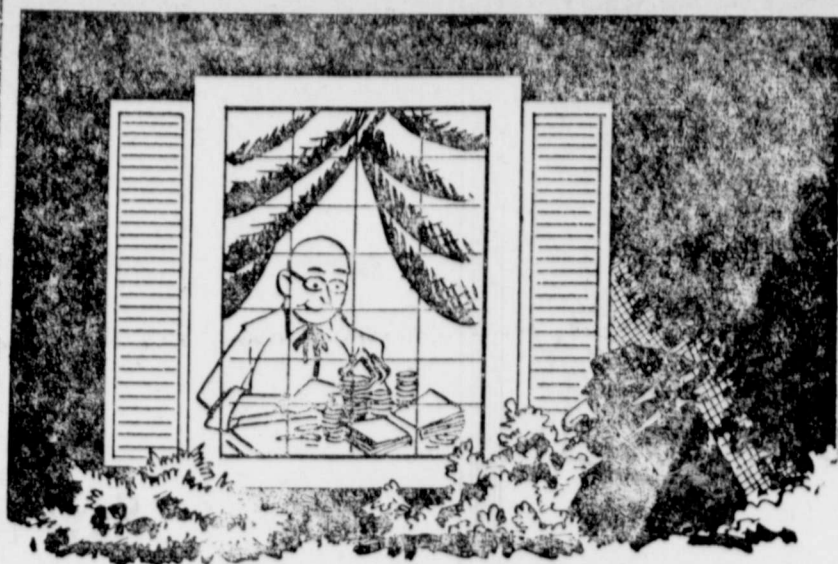

He pointed out that the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal Wage-Hour Law) requires a minimum wage of $1 an hour and at least time and a half their regular rates after 40 hours a week for all non-exempt employees engaged in interstate commerce or the production of goods for interstate or foreign commerce. It also requires accurate records of daily hours worked and wages paid for all employees.

The law provides for administrative supervision of the payment of such back wages found due. Where they remain due and unpaid, legal action may be brought either by the employee or the U.S. Secretary of Labor.

Public's Right To Know is Effort Of Newspapers

The effort to overcome the barriers raised by government against the public right to know is an effort, not just in behalf of the newspapers; it is an effort in behalf of the people in general. This effort is being made in response to a sense of duty and a feeling of obligation and an appreciation and it is a curious thing that the very people who spend the most time exhorting newspapers to be responsible, seem to have the least interest in a professional endeavor in which the press is exhibiting, in a most practical way, its responsibility.

The press of the United States, in my opinion, never has behaved more responsibly than it has during the fight of the last twenty years to preserve in this country the right of citizens to know about the conduct of their own government.

669 newspapers are purchased in the United States every second of every minute of every hour of every day, when total circulation of 58,000,000 copies is averaged out over a twenty-four hour period.

LONG DISTANCE

Quickest way to anywhere... anytime

Across the country or across the world, the long distance call is the fastest means of modern communication. Nothing can match the speed and convenience that go into action each time you lift your telephone receiver and say, "Long distance, please."

It's even more economical too, if you call after 6 P.M. or all day Sunday when rates are lower.

Whenever speed and convenience are important, use long distance.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
 By C. WILSON HARDER

Being from Massachusetts, Sen. Saltonstall took more than ordinary interest during a hearing by a special sub committee of the Senate Small Business Committee on the way chains are dominating the shopping centers, when the subject of shoes was introduced into the testimony.

The shoe business, and especially the men's shoe business, is getting into a chaotic state, and there is even a grave question being hoodwinked.

Testimony at hearing stated in past ten years some 500 independent shoe manufacturers have gone out of business.

Three big operators, International, General, and Brown, now have a big share of the business, gained largely through buying out well known brands of shoes, and by opening their own retail outlets in competition with the independent merchant.

But where the public is perhaps being misled is the fact many of the best known names in quality, handmade shoes have become the property of the big mass production outfits.

Now there has long been a considerable segment of the male population believing the best shoe investment is a medium or high priced shoe from the standpoint of long wear, shape holding qualities, and comfort and foot health.

In today's market, this means shoes priced around the $25 per pair mark, and this price level is supposed to represent the best

Weekly Stock Market Round-Up

Prepared by The Investment Research Department of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., 15 Broad Street, New York 5, N. Y. Members of the New York Stock Exchange

CONVERTIBLE DEBENTURES

While it is difficult to pinpoint when a specific class of securities becomes attractive, the present outlook for convertibles is more encouraging than it has been for some time. Conditions in the financial markets in recent weeks have helped bring many of these issues down to levels where reasonable values can be found. Many convertibles now afford yields close to comparable debentures with no conversion features and the substantial premiums at which many sold recently over the conversion privilege no longer exist.

Recent market action of some of the more interesting convertible issues has been poor. This has not only been caused by the overall weakness in the stock and bond markets, but also due to technical factors within the issues involved. The most important is that until recently some lending agencies have loaned investors up to 80% or 90% of the face value of a bond. This has allowed them to increase their purchasing power substantially and, in effect, given them substantial leverage in purchasing growth equities. Due to tight money recently and the decline in the bond market, many lending agencies are now requiring additional collateral and have forced some of these operators to liquidate their position when they do not have the additional required capital.

This forced liquidation, plus the general decline in the stock market earlier this month and the continued weakness in the bond market, has brought many issues down to a point where they offer one of the more attractive investment mediums today. A final factor which tends to favor this group is that while bond prices have yet to stabilize, there is more and more a feeling among bond specialists that the bottom may be close at hand.

CAROTHERS - SALTOW PASS WINS GAME FROM BILLIES 16-14; LIKE TO LOSE

Gatesville High School Hornets got over the skins of their teeth here Friday evening, downing the Fredericksburg Hillbillies 16-14, in one too close for comfort.

A third quarter 2-points-after-touchdown was the difference when Quarterback Joe Carothers passed to left end Billy Soltow.

The Hillbillies liked to have scored just before the half ended, and only their eagerness and a 5-yard penalty prevented it, when they put the ball over.

Bob Edwards, Hornet Fullback, opened the scoring in the first period, and this conversion was made, Carothers to halfback Jackie Dixon.

Shortly before the 2nd, Billie QB Hank Nettle passed 16 yards to RE Morse Schaefer for a TD, and halfback Harvey Heiner was stopped short for the extra.

In the 2nd half, Nettle passed to Schaefer, who went 56 yards for the second TD for the Hillbillies, and Nettles kicked the extra.

The Hornets took the following kickoff and drove 61 yards in 8 plays and Dixon scored from the 11 on a run straight up the middle, and the Carother-Saltow pass gave the Hornets the needed edge.

Statistics: 1st downs Gv. 12, Fredericksburg 9; net yards rushing, 158-119, net yards passing 19-131; passes attempted 6-17, passes completed 2-5, passes intercepted 1-0, penalties 5 for 55, 8 for 86, punts 6 for 208, 5 for 156, fumbles last 2-0.

X Charles Odom and Pattie of Houston visited X Guy Griffith over the week end.

A Few Decades Past . . .

A NEWSPAPER WAS A RARITY. IN MANY AMERICAN COMMUNITIES!

Then—a newspaper was a thing to be marveled at—for memories of the Press' fight for freedom were fresh in mind. Although newspapers are common in our country today, their existence should not be taken for granted. It is a wonderful fact that almost all of our modern communities have their own hometown newspapers, freely edited by members of their own communities—spreading the news, stimulating the business of the community, and keeping their readers informed of important events elsewhere. It is well to keep in mind that a free press and a free people are an unbeatable team.
