COUNCIL TO WORK ON CITY BUDGET

Gatesville's city council will be concentrating on preparation of a new 1967-68 city budget when it convenes Tuesday night for its regular monthly meeting. City Manager Eiland Lovejoy said that various sections of the budget will probably be finalized at the session, then all put together later for a budget hearing.

The city's new fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

Carl McClendon, who had served as adjutant of Gatesville's Knox Curtis Post No. 42, American Legion, since 1950, retired from that office when the Legionnaires held their annual officer election last week. Pat Patterson was elected the new adjutant.

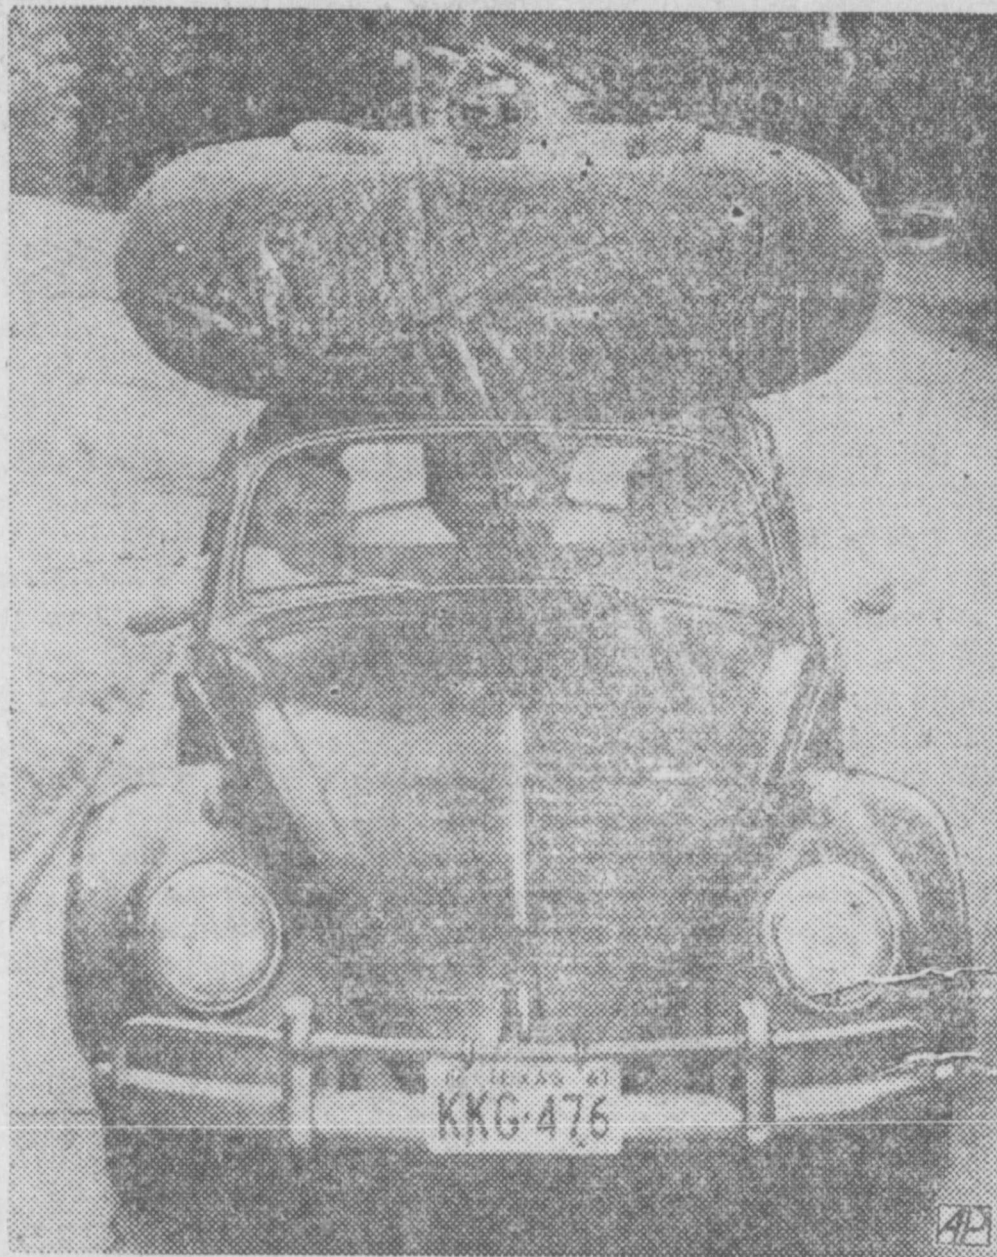

McClendon retained the post of service officer in the local Legion however.

Other officers elected by the post for 1967-68 are Winfred Cummings, commander, Ernest Blankenship, first vice commander; C. C. Linda, second vice commander; Ray Byrom, finance officer; B. W. Lee, historian; John P. Reasing, chaplain; Aron Roberts sergeant-at-arms; and Raymond Leonard, publicity officer.

CORYELL COUNTY TAX VALUATIONS SHOW BOOST

Coryell County's total tax valuation for 1967 is up $1,095,234 over last year's figure, Tax Collector Jack Whigham said. This year's valuation is $21,443,725.

Whigham said about 60 percent of the increase can be traced to the equalization board's adjustment of low renditions this summer. The other 40 percent came from new construction and "normal growth," he said.

The commissioners court makes up the county's tax equalization board and also sets the tax rate. The commissioners will adopt the 1967 tax rate next month and expect to stick with the current rate of 95 cents per $100 valuation.

The county's tax roll lists 504,329 acres of rural property valued at $7,573,363 and city real estate valued at $8,294,214. Other major valuations are banks, $277,339; railroads, $360,520; and utilities other than railroads, $1,669,005.

There are 4,711 automobiles and other vehicles on the tax roll at a total valuation of $1,632,370.

CYCLE ACCIDENT INJURIES COVE MAN AND WIFE

BELTON — A Copperas Cove couple was injured when their motorcycle went out of control about four miles north of Belton at 4:15 p. m. Sunday on the Tennessee Valley road.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Courtner, 206 Sherman Ave., Copperas Cove, were taken to Sewell-Long hospital where they were treated and released.

Courtner told Texas Highway Patrolman Curtis Lipscomb, that he pulled to the shoulder of the road to allow a car to pass and lost control of the cycle in the loose gravel.

Bought for $5,522 from H. C. Galloway was a 1.16 acre tract at the corner of St. Louis and 14th Streets. The property is described in deed records as lot 13 and part of lots 11 and 12, Block 78, Original Town of Gatesville.

Still to be purchased are 10 other tracts in the North Gatesville residential area. Paul Dean, the authority's executive director, hopes to obtain title to these plots within the next two months. Options already have been secured on them.

The Housing Authority was apparent housing units. Dean said government loan to build 60 low-cost of them will be brick duplexes and 48 of the units will be for elderly people.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The grasping tentacles of the Cosa Nostra, also known as Mafia and Syndicate, might be likened to the sinister Octopus, able to reach out with its many arms and suck into its clutches all in sight.

This formidable power which fingers the ranks of labor, the balance sheets of business, and the ranks of the professions is unraveled in a study of the scope of gangland operations. The Criminal Division of the Justice Department recently collated 300,000 index cards detailing the activities of over 3,000 syndicate ringleaders. Especially alarming are tabulations showing an increase of 600 bosses over the last fiscal year.

Syndicated labor columnist, Victor Riesel, poses a challenging question: "The entire Criminal Division, of which the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section is but part, has asked for only $3,777,500 for the 1968 fiscal year, just an increase of $176,800 over 1967. Why so little?"

Riesel goes on to point out that only eight new attorneys are sought for the tremendous odds they must encounter. Also, the labor rackets unit, reputedly active in safeguarding small business as well as unions, presently employs only five lawyers. "It would take that many just to probe some New England locals," says Riesel.

© National Federation of Independent Business

Under the present unwieldy system, a single attorney of the Criminal Division must supervise a multiplicity of areas, when each district needs separate management.

Riesel reports of a Connecticut union official who is described as "hiring only union members with criminal records." Fraudulent manipulation of pension funds is also mentioned.

Further detailed is the Cosa Nostra scheme to force two medical groups in New York to merge into one union and assess each member a substantial "initiation fee."

Recently revealed in this column were deals of Mafia "scam" operators, pursuing the con-game as reputable businessmen, moving innocently into an area, taking over a legit business, then requesting credit on the former firm name for all they can get. Merchandise obtained under the once-respected firm name is sold fast on a strictly cash basis or secreted away to other locations. Legal bankruptcy is declared and it is too late for creditors to recover their goods.

Prosecution of syndicate operators is difficult as they hide behind the veneer of legitimate business, and fraudulent violation of Federal bankruptcy laws must be first proven.

In its impulsive rush to assign America as world policeman, has the Administration not neglected the cancerous growth of strangling criminal prosperity within the U.S.?

B TEAM, FROSH
SWING INTO ACTION
THURSDAY

Operations on a pair of secondary Gatesville football fronts will get underway next Thursday, Sept. 14, with the Hornet B team taking on Temple's reserve troops at McKamie Stadium and the heralded Hornet frosh squad moving to Killeen to open the campaign against the Nolan eleven.

Both games start at 7:30. The offense of Coach Jack Bell's B team stuttered noticeably in a scrimmage with Troy two weeks ago, and Bell has been concentrating on perking up the attack. "Some of our running backs have been coming along," the tutor reported this week.

Expected to bear the brunt of the offense are quarterback Mike Barr and tailback Chris Vernon. Barr was the freshman team signal caller last year and Vernon is a former junior high flash who did not play football his first year in high school. The offensive unit Bell will field against Temple will find Doug Freeman at tight end, Don Gillette at tight guard, Keith Bell at center, Bubba Neel at middle guard, Dale Cooper at tackle, Mike Rogers at strong guard, Bruce Neely at split end, Barr at quarterback, Vernon at tailback, Danny Whitt at wingback and either Larry Smart or David Braziel at fullback.

Stalwarts in the defensive unit are Mike Pate, Bobby Hodge, Lynn Massingill, Larry Smith and Lynn Mohundro.

Lowell Bishop, who accompanied his undefeated 8th graders of last year into high school as freshman coach, hasn't decided on his starting lineup for the inaugural at Killeen. He has a galaxy of promising youngsters to pick from, however, including such classy runners, as Chris Bone and Ray Ortega.

Bishop commended Trey Tatum and Willie Knox for their work in the early drills.

Home-Grown Dipper

Just as in the early days of this country, Richard uses a dipper gourd to take a drink from an outdoor faucet. He grew the gourd and carved the dipper after harvesting and drying.

The first thing that Richard put next to his suitcase to take along with him to camp was his gourd dipper. Why? For one reason, because he grew it from a seed, carved it himself and is proud of it. For another, it is so light in weight that he can carry it on hikes and drink from any well or faucet.

Instead of holding just a little water like a folding drinking cup, it holds a lot and allows him a long, cool drink. Then he can pour cold water over his hands and refresh himself. If necessary, he can also use the dipper as a small wash basin.

The gourd from which Richard's dipper is made is one of many he grew from a packet of seeds of mixed gourds. Richard says that gourd seeds need to be planted in a sunny place where soil is good and vines will have support to climb. He grew his gourds next to the fence.

He watered the plants when the weather was dry and fertilized them once a month. After the first frost he cut the big gourds with 2 inches of stem left on each. Then he hung them by tying a piece of string to each stem and the stems to a piece of clothes line strung across the attic.

Since cutting into gourds before they are thoroughly dry is easier, Richard carved his while still slightly soft to touch. He scraped the seeds from inside the gourd, sanded the inner walls smooth, scrubbed the insides, and drilled a hole through the neck so he could hang his dipper. How would you like to grow a dipper like his?

DID YOU KNOW THAT:
From his perch in a fire tower, a crewleader with the Texas Forest Service can, on a clear day, scan an area of about 150,000 acres. There are 98 towers used by the Service to spot forest fires as they occur in the pine-hardwood area of East Texas. By triangulation from two towers a fire is located and a two man crew rushes to suppress it in a radio equipped truck-tractor unit. Airplanes are also used by the Service, as a supplement to towers, to locate fires.

Let's Plan a Picnic

by Betty Crocker

Your basic ingredients: a fine summer day, a patch of cool shade and a plentiful supply of good food. Not fancy necessarily, but lots of it. For instance, Poor Boy Sandwiches for the main course. Something of a banquet between slices of bread. Serve with crisp cool relishes and individual bags of potato chips. With cold beverages to drink — everybody's favorite flavor. For dessert a cake that bakes with its own marshmallow frosting then travels right in the baking pan. Don't forget the bottle opener. And be sure to pack wet washcloths in a plastic bag. They're handy for wiping sticky fingers. Now pop everything into an ice chest and away you go.

POOR BOY SANDWICH

- 1 large loaf French bread
- Soft butter
- 2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese
- 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
- 2 cups ground cooked ham
- 3/4 cup diced cucumber
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/3 cup mayonnaise

Slice bread lengthwise into 3 layers. Spread with butter. Mix cream cheese and olives; spread on first layer. Mix ham, cucumber, salt and mayonnaise; spread on second layer. Put three layers together and wrap loaf in plastic wrap. Chill. Just before serving, cut diagonally into 1-inch slices. 6 servings.

Poor Boy Sandwiches travel well in foil. Slice at the picnic grounds; serve on paper plates. Terry fingertip towels for napkins.

MARSHMALLOW-TOPPED CAKE

- 2 cups Bisquick
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup shortening (part soft butter)
- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1/2 cup miniature marshmallows
- 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350°. Grease and flour square pan, 9x9x2 inches. Mix Bisquick, granulated sugar, shortening, egg, vanilla and 1/2 cup of the milk. Beat 1 1/2 minutes on medium speed on electric mixer. Scrape side and bottom of bowl frequently. Stir in remaining milk; beat 1/2 minute longer. Pour into prepared pan. Sprinkle with marshmallows, brown sugar and nuts. Bake 40 to 45 minutes. A perfect ending for a perfect picnic!

marketed about $1.5 million worth of its famous Deck Boats since starting production seven years ago, moved into the new plant about five weeks ago. Cost of the new building ran in excess of $60,000.

The steel structure, containing 20,000 square feet of floor space, is located on ten acres of an 88-acre Anchor Plastics owned tract that is to be developed as a new Industrial Air Park. The site is next to the new city-county airport. Reports are that 1967 has been one of Anchor Plastic's best years. "In our new plant, we hope to double production", says Dick Belf, director of marketing.

Models manufactured by Anchor Plastics are the Deck Boat, Low Decker, Little Decker and Deckette.

Mold A Contrast In Color

Play it cool when the weather's warm—make quickstep desserts that sit in the refrigerator until it's time for sweets. One idea from the Borden Kitchen is this two-tone gelatine-yogurt mold. One layer's rosy (thanks to Swiss-style strawberry yogurt); the other's a delicate orange (mandarin orange yogurt). Highlight yogurt's fresh fruit flavor with a garnish of plump strawberries and mandarin orange segments.

Two-Tone Yogurt Gelatine Dessert
(Makes 6 servings)

STRAWBERRY LAYER:

- 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatine
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup water

- 1 cup (8-oz. container) Swiss style strawberry yogurt

ORANGE LAYER:

- 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatine
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup orange juice

- 1 cup (8-oz. container) Swiss style mandarin orange yogurt

STRAWBERRY LAYER: In a medium-size saucepan, thoroughly combine gelatine and sugar. Add water. Place over low heat; stir until gelatine is dissolved. (DO NOT BOIL). Remove from heat. Stir in yogurt. Place pan over ice water. Stir gently until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Pour into well-oiled 1-quart mold. Chill in refrigerator about 20-30 minutes, or until firm.

Place pan over ice water. Stir gently until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Carefully pour mixture over firm strawberry yogurt layer. Chill in refrigerator about 3 hours, or until firm. Unmold onto serving platter. If desired, garnish with fresh fruit.

Choose The Plant For The Place

A solid planting of zinnias fills the narrow space between house and concrete path around it, blooming away in full sun.

Coleus thrives, sweet alyssum grows "leggy" and scarlet sage grows and blooms fairly well in a northeast exposure.

The kinds of flowers to grow near the house should be chosen not only because you like them but also to tolerate the exposure in which the seeds will be planted. Our illustrations show one well-chosen planting; another that isn't all it should be because the choice of plants was poor.

The top illustration shows a planting of State Fair zinnias in an otherwise useless, hard-to-plant strip between the house and a concrete walk placed too close to the building. Aren't the zinnias attractive? And how nicely they fill the strip, making upkeep unnecessary.

As you can tell from the shadow on the house, these zinnias are planted on the sunny side, just where they belong, for zinnias are sun-lovers.

Now examine the bottom illustration: this planting is on the northeast of the house where sun shines in the morning but not later in the day. Here coleus plants thrive, sweet alyssum is growing well but a bit "leggy" and scarlet sage, a sun-lover too, gets just enough sun to grow and bloom fairly well but is not as tall or as floriferous as it would be in full sun.

Coleus was the best selection of the 3 kinds of plants for the northeast location. Lobelias would have grown better than the alyssum and impatiens might have been chosen instead of scarlet sage for a more impressive result.

Information in seed catalogs and on seed packets usually includes a plant's light requirements for best growth and bloom. By reading and following these recommendations you'll reward both your garden and yourself with beauty.

NON-CROP WEED CONTROL CUTS ANNUAL WEED TAX

Any way you look at it, weeds cost money. Figures show weeds cost each grower in the United States an average of $500 annually by decreasing yields, lowering crop quality, and causing extra cultivations, excessive wear on machinery and added expense for seed cleaning.

While farmers are turning more and more to herbicides to beat the weed bite in croplands, many do not stop to think about the price they pay for weeds in non-crop areas.

Weeds in field borders, along roadways or near storage areas may look harmless enough, but they can be the source of all kinds of expensive problems. The seeds they produce can move right out to infest cropland. The weeds, themselves, provide cover for destructive insects and rodents. And, tinder-dry summer or fall weeds are a dangerous fire hazard anywhere around the farm.

Over the years, a common practice has been to handle these problems by mowing along roadsides and fence rows, or even hand work in hard-to-get-at areas. However, with labor at a premium, this is a time consuming and expensive practice.

Modern growers are turning to herbicides to beat the weed problem on non-crop land. Their experience has shown that now...when planting is finished and application equipment is still geared up...is the best time to go after these troublemakers with an effective weed control agent. One herbicide that is particularly effective at this time of year is Pramitol. This weed-killer comes in liquid or pellet form for application by hand, spreader or sprayer. It can be used effectively in both high and low rainfall areas. A single application will kill weeds and grasses that are up and growing, and will get future weeds as they germinate through the season. Control usually lasts for many months.

Using an effective herbicide now to clean out weeds along fence rows and roadways, and around farm buildings and storage areas is the best way to help cut down the annual bill run up by weeds.

GATESVILLE HORNETS RIP COVE BULLDOGS BY 14-0

The Gatesville Hornets stormed into Copperas Cove Friday night and handed the Bulldogs a 14-0 stinging.

The running of wingback Randy Vroman and fullback Bobby Cole supplied most of the punch for the Hornets as they walked over the Bulldogs.

The Hornets took the opening kick-off on their own 20 and Robert Brown brought it out to the 37. It took the Hornets only 11 plays to move the 63 yards to paydirt with Cole taking it over from the two-yard line. Vroman was stopped short on a two-point conversion attempt.

Cove took the ensuing kickoff and put the ball into play at the 8 Ken Taylor got two to the 20 and Johnny Price went off tackle to the 30 for the first down. Four plays later, the Bulldogs were still on the 30 and Craig Foster boot-ed to the Gatesville 35 where the Hornets started their next drive.

With Vroman and Cole again doing much of the running the Hornets moved 65 yards in 16 plays with Cole again going over from the one-foot line.

Two offside penalties inside the 15 helped Gatesville move the ball to the three-yard line and Cole punched it over in two carries.

Jerry Morgan tossed to Raymond Cole for the two-pointer that ended the scoring with only one minute, 20 seconds gone in the second quarter.

Gatesville threatened once more before the half ended but was stopped by the gun.

The two teams battled back and forth during the second half but neither was able to move the ball inside the opposition's 20-yard line.

Gatesville used most of its reserves during the final quarter.

Vroman led all ball carriers with 116 yards on 18 carries for a 6.5 average. Cole added 63 yards on 16 carries.

The Hornets picked up 283 yards total offense with 46 yards coming via the air lanes. Copperas Cove showed signs of its preseason predictions of power but each time its drives were stopped short by the aggressive Hornets.

The Bulldogs managed to pick-up only 118 yards on the ground to go with the 28 yards that quarterback David Newton garnered in the air.

Vroman and Cole were the outstanding offensive players in the game and Vroman was a stalwart
