CHUCKLE CORNER

"WILL YOU HELP ME HOLD A MAN DOWN IN HERE?"

THE MATTER OF MONEY

by Charles Ivy

What's the matter? Do you mean to tell me that you can sit there, look me straight in the eye and ask me what's the matter? Man, you must be dense. Well, I guess somebody had better inform you. It's money, old buddy. Yeah, that's right—money. I worked all summer trying to make a little spending money and guess what happened. You guessed it. It took every last cent to come back to school. Do you realize that I spent twenty-five dollars on clothes and still don't have a thing to wear? Pencils, slide rule, paper and a notebook ate up another five dollars. "Back to School Sale"—Bologna. Twenty-five plus five makes thirty, and that's before I even came to school. Oh, that's not all. There are those fees I had to pay—typing, choir and band. Then, every teacher made me buy an old workbook for two dollars, three manila folders, and me pitch in fifty cents in the pot to pay for test paper. Well, after all that, I was sure that it was over, but then it happened. In geometry class Coach Poe told me to go buy a protractor. That was the last straw. Man, I tell you, I can't take anymore. Come on. Let's go call up a couple of girls and go get something to eat. Maybe it will help me forget my problems. What's that? Did you say you didn't have any money? That's all right. I'm buying. Son, you're looking at the last of the red hot spenders. Hurry up now! I have to be home by 11:30.

OBITUARIES

BITES SATURDAY FOR MRS. BRAZZIL

Mrs. Lorain Fincher Brazzil of Flat died at 9:40 p. m. Wednesday in a Fort Gates rest home.

But they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength.—(Isa. 40:31)

We should never let ourselves be limited by the thought of age—either that we are too young or too old. We need to deny this thought of age and not let it have any power over us. Some persons think in terms of age. They are always thinking of how old they are or of how old someone else is. Sometimes they preface almost every remark with the phrase at my age.

She was 80.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Flat Methodist Church and Rev. George P. English officiated. Burial was in the Flint Creek Cemetery with Scotts in charge.

Mrs. Brazzil, a native of Bell County, was a longtime resident of the Flat community.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. B. P. Holt of Flat and Mrs. Jack Wells of Killeen; one son, Bob Brazzil of San Jose, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Essie Caldwell of Moffat; nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

COMMUNITY PUBLIC SERVICE

during Operation Cochise.

About 6:30 p. m. a bolt of lightning struck 50 meters from the squad's position, slightly shocking two Marines.

"A minute after the first one, a second bolt hit right on top of the hill," said Corporal Rollo, "I was just reaching for a can of Crations and suddenly there was a tremendous explosion. The next thing I remembered was looking up and seeing 'Tex' standing over me."

Sergeant Bobby Joe "Tex" Fisher 21, of Rt. 1 Gatesville, was bounced around a little, but not burned or anything like that.

Six of the Marines were sitting on the crest of the hill. Four of them were knocked cold by lightning. Most of them regained consciousness within a minute, but Corporal Rollo didn't come to for 10 minutes. When he did he was paralyzed.

Four men on the outpost had limbs partially paralyzed. All the Marines, including Corporal Rollo, fully recovered within an hour.

"I was really scared and I know there were nine other scared people with me," said the Corporal. "Everything that was metal seemed to get hit."

The blade of a stainless steel knife Corporal Rollo was carrying was partially melted. Chunks were knocked out of the bolts of some of the M-16 rifles the patrol was carrying.

M-79 grenade rounds and hand grenades were hit, but didn't explode. The headset of the patrol's radio was broken in two.

None of the Marines suffered any serious injury once the initial effects of the lightning wore off. Eight of them had second degree burns.

Lance Corporal Johnathan P. Kmetyk, 20, of Route 1, Niagara of the Lake Canada relieved the tension with "Boy, was that a shocking experience."

THE MODERN COWPOKE

Today's "Cowpoke" might own a horse, but more than likely, his bronco is a racing bike or small scooter to zip around with to all those unlikely "happening" places essential to his way of life.

Today's cowpoke is just that. His attire is nothing more than the good old American western-influenced fashion, reflecting the best of previous generations.

Take the low-slung hip-tigger trousers of cowboy days, add the cowboy rawhide belt, the cowboy hat, then add the fabric picture of riverboat gambler's striped pattern, and you have the cowpoke.

There is another important ingredient which the old "cowpokes" didn't have: the durable, permanent press in synthetic blends of Avril rayon and polyester. What was once the permanent-wrinkle has now become the permanent press, with all those new Avisco fibers available.

Some have called the young fashion trend "mod," but remember, the look is not imported anything. It's good old fashioned frontier: exported, then imported again, acquiring the best features of each generation, and interpreted by JBC slacks.

Put them all together in style, color, pattern and new fabrications and today's hip young man has the best in fashion, durable good looks and wearability.

OFFICIALS REPORT VARIOUS ACCIDENTS DURING PAST WEEK END

Saturday, September 23, at 8:05 p. m., a car-trailer collision occurred on the Straws Mill Road.

JACKET'S BUMP BULLDOGS 35-7

Tailback Randy Scott scored three touchdowns and led the Llano Yellow Jackets to a 35-7 victory over the Copperas Cove Bulldogs Friday night in a non-district schoolboy game.

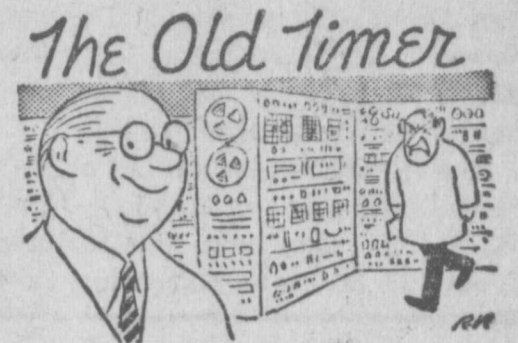

The Cove, losing its third straight game of the season, scored the first touchdown of the game with fullback Johnny Price climaxing a 70-yard, 11 play drive in the first quarter.

But Lano then came back to tie it in the quarter with quarterback Dennis Raesener going in from 13 yards and Reggie Osbourn kicking the extra.

Mike Virdel then put the Yellow Jackets ahead in the second period with a 60 yard touchdown off an interception.

Milky Ways With A Cobbler

Probably the oldest and most traditional food Americans still enjoy is corn bread, specially this buttermilk version. It's made into a cobbler crested with shredded old-fashioned Cheddar cheese and pie-sliced apples. But the making is modern, notes the Borden Kitchen. Just unwrap the cheese and it's ready for shredding; the apples come ready-to-use right from the can.

Hasty Cheese Cobbler (Makes 8 servings)

- |                                |   |
|--------------------------------|---|
| 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour | 1/4 cup soft shortening   |
| 1 cup yellow cornmeal          | 2 cups shredded (one 8-oz. pkg.) Wisconsin Old Fashioned Cheddar cheese |
| 1/4 cup sugar                  | 2-1/2 cups (1 lb. 4-oz. can) Pie-Sliced Apples, drained                 |
| 2 teaspoons baking powder      | 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar                                 |
| 3/4 teaspoon salt              |   |
| 1/2 teaspoon baking soda       |   |
| 2 eggs                         |   |
| 1 cup Borden's Buttermilk      |   |

In a medium-size bowl, sift together flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder, salt and baking soda. Add eggs, buttermilk and shortening; beat with rotary beater about 1 minute, or just until dry ingredients are well moistened. DO NOT OVERBEAT. Pour mixture into a greased 9 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. In a medium-size bowl, lightly mix cheese and apples together. Gently spread over corn bread mixture. It is important to spread mixture to sides of pan. Sprinkle brown sugar evenly over cheese mixture. Bake in a moderate (375°F.) oven, 40 minutes or until firm and golden brown.

POAGE COMMENTS ON CONGRESSIONAL FARM STUDY

by members of the House Committee on Agriculture through upper Midwest farm states, Chairman Bob Poage said today "unless our farmers begin to receive a great deal more for their products in the markets we cannot expect them to continue to provide the increased food and fiber our expanding cities soon will need."

"Farmers cannot pay 1967 costs for the things they buy," he declared, "when today they receive less for their products than they did twenty years ago; and without the use of new but expensive techniques they simply cannot increase production."

Leaving Washington Thursday, the Chairman, accompanied by Reps. O'Neal of Georgia, de la Garza, Tex., Goodling, Penna., Mayne, Iowa, Zwach, Minn., and Kleppe, ND., traveled through Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota, meeting with farmers, business leaders in farm communities and educators.

"The primary purpose of our trip," Poage said, "was to give the Members of our Committee an opportunity to see the agriculture in this great farming region. It is my intention to try to cover the agricultural regions throughout the nation by such trips, because I firmly believe each Committee Member should know something about agriculture in areas other than his own.

"Such a knowledge of the problems facing farmers in other regions does a great deal to promote mutual understanding and cooperation among us all. I want to know more about the problems facing the farmers in the great corn and wheat producing areas of the United States — even though my farmers in Central Texas are primarily engaged in producing cotton and grain sorghum. On the other hand, I want Members of the Agriculture Committee from that region to know something about the problems facing the cotton farmers of Central Texas."

The Committee in August made a similar tour of eleven North-eastern states.

"On this last visit into the upper Midwest," Poage said, "it became increasingly clear that, although our farmers have the technical know-how to continue to advance the quality and quantity of their production, the American consumer cannot expect them to do so as long as the farmer gets less for his products than he did two decades ago. The fertilizers and complex machinery our farmers use today cost money and a lot of it.

"I do not want to see our farmers economically forced to leave the land and go to the big cities and their slums. Nor do I want to see the nation's farming activities concentrated in the hands of giant corporations. If this happens then our consumers are going to realize how good it was when less than 18 cents of their disposable income was spent for food as it is today.

"We must educate our city friends and neighbors about the tremendous stake they have in the farmers' welfare. I am sure that once this fact is understood, our friends in the urban regions will see why it is vital that our farmers be given a fair return on their investments and their work."

Poage said he hopes to visit some of the Southwestern States before Congress adjourns.

And then there was the cross-eyed teacher who couldn't control her pupils....

Here's the first bicolor impatiens ever to be offered to the gardener. Called A-Go-Go, its pretty flowers are red and white.

Spanish Brocade is a bicolor marigold of golden yellow, each petal tipped in red. Both plants should be seen close-up.

It really is necessary to look at these two new flowers close up to see their interesting patterns. Impatiens A-Go-Go is the first bicolor impatiens ever offered to gardeners. While you may call this plant impatiens or sultana, you'll find it equally useful under any name.

Particularly suited to shade, A-Go-Go will grow in sun also and brighten either type of situation with its brilliant red and white flowers. These appear all summer on foot-high, mound-like plants.

The blossom coloring changes with the weather, becoming more red than white with some wholly red flowers when the weather is hot; showing off the two colors in each flower when the weather is cool.

Spanish Brocade marigold is also bicolor, with petals of golden yellow tipped with the brightest red in marigolds. Each individual bloom varies in the amount of "tipping," adding interest to a planting of these delightful flowers.

Compact plants only a foot high and uniform, make Spanish Brocade useful for low, colorful borders. Plants can be used in window boxes or in containers to set in sunny places. The 2-inch-wide flowers last well when cut for use indoors.

Seeds of Spanish Brocade should be planted directly in the garden 1/4 inch deep, no deeper, as soon as the soil has warmed. Water well after planting and keep soil moist until seedlings are established. Thin plants to stand 12 inches apart when an inch or two high. They'll soon fill the spaces between them.

Impatiens seeds are minute and need close contact with moist soil to sprout, so press them down with the palm of the hand rather than covering them. Sow indoors or in a cold frame in April, keeping temperature as close to 60 degrees as possible. Transplant inch-high seedlings to pots and set outdoors a foot apart in June.

and also there will be ribbons given on Flower Arrangements using Pecans. Everyone is eligible to enter the Pecan Show from Coryell, Hamilton, McLennan and Lampasas Counties. Also the baking division, and the Flower Arrangement division, said Don Callahan, and Miss Grace Chandler, County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent.

If you only have one tree in your yard and want to enter the pecans for the show you are urged to do so. We must have 160 entries of Natives, Variety seedlings and improved varieties to be eligible to participate in the Regional Show a Ft. Worth which will be held in December. There are no entry fees to enter in any of the divisions of the Pecan Show, Bake Show and Arrangements.

10 WAYS TO SAVE YOUR LIFE BLOOD

Here are 10 easy ways to save your lifeblood—the soil.

Fertilize at or before planting: spread a high analysis, water soluble plant food—like Ammo-Phos by Olin, or you can top dress with Olin's urea fertilizer, depending on your needs—on steep spots to help keep the soil where it is, increase water intake, hike yield.

Thicken stand with fertilizer: yields can be doubled while you're reducing erosion by top-dressing 300 to 500 pounds of high analysis fertilizer on your old pastures and second-year yields. One such fertilizer, called Ammo-Phos — used extensively on corn, cotton and wheat crops — has revolutionize the fertilizer industry, according to scientists at Olin Mathieson. You will find that pelletized Ammo-Phos stores well, distributes easily and uniformly, and functions both as superior starter and source of plant food all season long.

Furrow around gully: takes very little time. Leads water around gully sides until you have time to seed eroded area.

Turn soil uphill: a two-way plow can move 12 tons of soil uphill per acre. Rougher furrows can save up to 15 per cent more soil in fall plowing. Two-way leaves no dead furrows to start erosion, good for maintaining some terraces.

Rough edge on waterway: no extra work—just pull up plow at different places, leaving fingers of sod to pull runaway water, soil into waterway.

Field strips: lay them out with your eye; they work best on broad, regular slopes. Set up when field is in hay. Then put corn, hay in one field; grain, hay in other; rotate.

Furrow openers: a planter attachment, when planting corn on the contour, makes each row a water trap. In a dry year, this can be worth 10 extra bushels to you.

Plow on contour: leave furrows rough and each becomes a dam. Operating on level saves gas, too.

Cut up stalks: shredded cornstalks cover more soil than whole ones. When they're spread evenly on soil, stalks prevent up to half the usual soil loss over winter. Cover crop of rye is sometimes used.

Buffer strips: doesn't take you a minute to skip 20-foot strip of sod on contour when you plow. Water's slowed and soil's trapped in strip of close-growing crop. Relocate strips each time you plow.

FREEDOMS COUNCIL SPEAKS OUT

Citizenship
by Freddie Schloeman

When men begin to live together some form or type of government is necessary if peace and harmony are desired. Thus, government may be defined as a unit regulating relationships between groups and individuals. There is a measure of control over the people in an effort to bring justice and order to a nation.

Our belief in a government "of the people, by the people, and for the people" is based upon our belief in the dignity and the worth of every individual. In our government the good of a group or of a person is not overlooked. Moreover, our government believes in the existence of God, a belief that encourages belief in the value of every life. This does not mean that our country is perfect and that all the others are wrong. Instead, it means that a democracy is the best means of government that we know for letting us develop as free men.

As citizens of the United States of our nation and its leaders as long as they stand for what is right. We should not feel that we are committing treason or being disloyal to our country when we speak out against any undesirable condition in our government. One of the strong points of America is the freedom of individuals to express their convictions without fear of punishment.

As citizens we should use—not abuse—the rights granted to us through the Constitution.

As citizens we should never break the law, nor should we tolerate its violation by others. If we break the laws, we are not true to the cause of democracy that so many gallant people have fought and die for in the last 191 years.

As citizens we should be proud of our country's heritage. Let us pledge our lives and honor to keep America strong and free.

These are the qualities that make us good citizens. So, fellow Americans, I challenge you and myself to become better citizens.

The bride of a few days noticed that her husband was depressed. "Dearest," she said, "something is troubling you and I want you to tell me what it is. You know, your worries are now my worries."

"Oh, very well," he said. "We just got a letter from a girl who is suing us for breach of promise."

Finger Tips

Elbow grease has now gone out of style thanks to the increase in the number of aerosol housecleaning products sold last year. Latest surveys show that more than 183 million household products in spray form found their way into your cleaning closet and mine. Here are some hints on using sprays from the Aerosol Division, Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association:

1. Cleaning Your Cleaning Closet: Empty containers take up time and space. So taking inventory is as good at home as it is in a store — it will show you what you have and what needs replacing.

2. Mobilize: Sounds like a troop movement, but it's really just basic organizing of cleaning products — from sprays to sponges. Put the sprays and other products used every day on the shelf easiest to reach. Others can go higher, or toward the back of the closet. (If you don't have a cleaning closet at all, try using shoe bags or empty soft drink containers with compartments in them.)

3. Do Your Homework: No, were not joking about housework. We mean, learn about those products you use, including aerosols. Read the label on the sprays you are about to use — and, if it's a product you don't use often, re-read the label. Find out if it's to be shaken, tilted, and about how far it should be held away from the surface to be cleaned.

4. Make One Product Do the Work of More: For instance, you can often clean metal with a glass cleaner, or a painted wall with some of the new all-purpose bathroom cleaners.

5. Make Lists: A "permanent" list of which spray cleaners you keep on hand is a handy reminder. Tack it to the inside of the door where these products are kept. It all sounds quite executive — but then who ever said that a housewife isn't an executive — at least in her own home!

Seguin Matadors Crush Gatesville

Seguin's speed-rich Matadors ran off and left Gatesville to post a 38-6 victory in their District 13-AAA opener at McKamie Stadium Friday night.

Smartly driven by veteran quarterback Bunny Jubela, the Matador machine rolled up 402 yards in a relentless performance. Seguin was held scoreless in the first quarter but notched two touchdowns in each of the last three periods for their third straight win over the season.

Gatesville, losing for the second time in three starts, showed only a brief offensive spark midway in the last half.

A four yard spurt through right tackle by fullback Tommy Sanchez early in the second quarter capped an 80 yard Seguin drive. The Matadors covered the distance in 15 plays.

Later in the same period Seguin linebacker Grady Hoermann knocked Hornet halfback Robert Brown loose from the ball on Gatesville eight and guard Louis Eizel recovered on the three for the Matadors.

Sanches slanted through right tackle for the touchdown on the next play.

Let's Go Boating!

GET ACCESSORIES SHIP-SHAPE FOR SUMMER

Getting ready for the boating season should be a family affair, says the Evinrude News Service. While Dad is tuning up the outboard, there are plenty of small projects to keep Mom and kids busy.

All canvas — convertible top, mooring cover and side and aft curtains — should be washed with a mild detergent and allowed to dry thoroughly. Check for tears. A stitch in time saves nine.

Seat cushions and life preservers should also be washed and thoroughly dried. Repair or replace any damaged cushions. Just to be on the safe side, make sure the life preservers are approved by the U. S. Coast Guard. A tag on the cushion will carry this information. If not, replace them immediately.

Mooring and anchor line should also be inspected. If it's frayed, replace it. Loose ends should be "whipped" to prevent unraveling.

Organize a small tool kit so you know where everything is. The kit should contain your owner's manual, spare spark plugs and plug wrench, adjustable wrench, pliers, screwdriver, spare propeller, shear and cotter pins and electrician's tape.

Re-stock your first aid kit. If you don't have one, most marine stores carry special kits you can purchase for about two dollars.

If you carry a fire extinguisher aboard (and you should), make sure it's in working order. It should be secured in a mounting bracket within easy reach from the driver's seat.

If your family is especially ambitious, the entire interior of your boat should be scrubbed down. Once again, use a mild detergent and rinse it out thoroughly. For easy draining, remove the drain plug and tilt the boat back on the trailer.

By performing routine maintenance, you'll add measurably to the life of your equipment. It's a good way to protect your investment in family fun.

A FOOTBALL FIRST? — Texas A&M lineman Mark Weaver displays the two jerseys he will be called upon to wear this fall. Due to a new rule designed to foil the tackle-eligible play, the Aggie senior will have to wear No. 79 when playing in the interior line, then change to No. 82 when he plays end. (AP Wire-photo).
