Texas Governor's Conference Significant

Texas Governor John Connally will usher in a new first in efforts to industrialize Texas and Texas communities when he hosts the First Annual Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion in Austin, April 3, during Texas Industry Week.

The Governor's Conference is significant for several reasons. First, because it will recognize in dramatic fashion our existing Texas industry which accounts for an estimated 85% of the state's annual industrial growth. Second, because the conference promises to be the most comprehensive treatment of the subject of industrial expansion ever offered in our state. Over fifty distinguished industrialists, scholars and professional industrial developers are scheduled to take part in the intensive one-day meeting which is sponsored by the Texas Industrial Commission.

Governor Connally has urged Texas communities to have at least five representatives in attendance at the conference along with representation from local industries.

We hope that our community will be well represented at the conference, for through it our community can take a significant step forward in promoting the growth of our area and its industries.

Reservations and complete information may be obtained from either our local Chamber of Commerce or the Texas Industrial Commission, Box JJ, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas, 78711. (New first for Texas industrial expansion)

Greatest tourist - vacation season ever experienced in Texas is about to get under way. Austin will share in it, as will every other town in Texas.

Gov. John Connally has just opened the first of the 10 new Texas Travel Trails - Mountain Trail in Trans-Pecos - and dedicated improved Davis Mountains State Park.

Spending by out-of-state visitors in Texas last year totaled $1,200,000,000. Indications are that 1968 will top that substantially.

HemisFair opens April 6 (granted some near-miraculous feats of speed in construction and cleanup activities) and will continue through October 6.

Historic San Antonio's 250th birthday will be celebrated in connection with the grand opening.

By conservative estimate, 7,000,000 visitors will attend the fair during its six months run. Twenty-six foreign governments will exhibit on the 92-acre site.

Texas' own $10,000,000 exhibit -- the Institute of Texan Cultures, depicting the role of two dozen ethnic groups in building the state -- is expected to be the main educational attraction.

A $5,000,000 U.S. Pavilion will feature a remarkable motion picture on the confluence of western civilizations.

In addition to the educational events, plenty of top-flight entertainment is booked in San Antonio's new civic center on the fair grounds and there are rides, souvenirs and fun events for all ages.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will head a group of dignitaries including Secretary of the Interior Stegert Udall, who will preside over opening ceremonies April 6.

A great Texas attraction -- Six Flags over Texas -- will launch its eighth season (midway between Dallas and Fort Worth) April 13. Facilities have been expanded into a $2,000,000 program.

Pioneer Amphitheater's 1968 production of "TEXAS" in scenic outdoor splendor near Canyon, opens June 29.

Governor Connally named Irby N. Taylor of Dallas and Ward Westbrook of Jasper to the Texas State Board of Accountancy.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

Judicial sub-committee of the State Constitutional Revision Commission has recommended that judges of the Texas Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals be appointed rather than elected.

Recommendations call for appointment by the governor of top court judges from a panel submitted by a special nominating commission. Judges occasionally would "run against their records" on a public ballot, with voters marking their preference for continued service or judicial retirement.

Where judges are rejected, new appointments would follow.

Norman Register, director of revenue and finance for the City of Dallas, says Texas' $250 home - furnishings exemption from ad valorem taxes should be either increased or done away with. Register told the local - governments committee that in 1876 when the $250 figure was written into the constitution it was enough money to furnish a house, now, however, that's ridiculous he said.

Another witness before the committee said that Lubbock and Dallas are only two cities in the state which effectively collect their ad valorem taxes on cars.

Revision commission heard strong recommendation from former Governor Allan Shivers for four - year - terms for governors and advice from Municipal Advisory Council that cities are losing "tens of millions" of dollars in bond interest rates because of antiquated provisions in Texas law.

Party is determined to show a membership of 14,259, the number necessary to get Wallace on the Texas general election ballot. Officials also served notice that their members will get a chance to vote at conventions on liquor - by - the drink and horse race betting, just like Democrats and Republicans.

MANUAL PREPARED

Atty. Gen. Martin has mailed to county and district attorneys copies of a new manual on Texas' extradition and rendition procedures.

About 800 cases involving use of these procedures for return of fleeing legal offenders to their home states are handled by the governor's office each year.

Manual is a practical guide on previously largely - unwritten details, following custom and tradition rather than statutory or case law.

"AMERICAN PARTY" NAME FREE

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has ruled that the "American Party" label may be used by George Wallace - for - President supporters in Texas.

Opinion, requested by Secretary of State R. Barrera, noted that the American Party name has not been certified on a Texas general election ballot since 1920, therefore, it is not a "pre-existing" party whose name is protected from use today.

Martin also held that county clerks must accept for filing American Party required notice for its conventions and registrars must furnish the party registered voter lists for not more than $5 a set in counties where it holds conventions.

FROM THE DESK of Sen. John Tower

For the last couple of weeks the Senate's Housing and Urban Affairs Subcommittee, on which I serve, has been holding hearings on the housing needs of our citizens. We are concerned about what useful activities the federal government may take in this field.

The problems of our cities are many, but in my opinion the overriding problem needing speedy solution is that of providing decent housing for the many low-income families that live in our cities.

Late last year the Housing Subcommittee sent to the Senate, a bipartisan housing bill which set out several innovative approaches to the production of low-income housing, including emphasis on homeownership.

Unfortunately the Administration has recognized the merit of our original homeownership concept. I am concerned that the new bill fails to come to grips with the central issue of just who really needs governmental assistance and is justified in receiving it.

The goal of a decent home for every American family is, I feel, an achievable goal. But, in seeking this goal we must guard against a governmentally-induced erosion of individual initiative and responsibility. Government assistance to people who do not need government assistance destroys both initiative and responsibility-- and it wastes tax resources.

In the past, federal housing programs, originally conceived and enacted to benefit families at the low-income level, have too frequently been administered so as to accommodate families with larger incomes. In effect past programs have bypassed those low-income families truly deserving of housing assistance.

Both with respect to existing federally - assisted housing programs and the new proposals now under consideration, I feel that we should strive to do the most good where it is the most deserved. That is, we should give priority to lower income housing over so-called moderate income housing.

We should reach out to assist those who, but for such assistance, could not decently house themselves. We should resist the philosophy which urges us to reach out and subsidize higher incomes. Those funds that can be made available for federally-aided housing should be devoted to the area of greatest need.

Funds are not so earmarked now. It is my intent to work for approval of legislation that will provide meaningful progress in the area of true low-income housing.

There are some 14 million families in our country who have incomes of less than five-thousand-dollars. They constitute approximately 28 - percent of our families. These families are by any measure the families who are least able to provide for their housing needs. If there is to be direct governmental assistance, these are the families among which the greatest need exists.

Whatever the amount of money we can allocate for our government to expend in the area of housing, this is where the money should be concentrated.

The new Administration bill instead, would overshadow true low-income families with an outburst of gratuitous concern for the imagined needs of families with so-called moderate incomes. Beyond this, the Administration would even propose as eligible for government housing assistance those families earning as much as ten-thousand-dollars a year. I cannot believe there is validity in this contention.

About 70 percent of American families make up to ten-thousand dollars annually. If this proposed trend toward increased federal involvement in housing were in fact to occur, we would become a nation inordinately dependent upon Washington for housing, contrary to everything that our form of government and way of life is based upon.

We should help those who truly cannot help themselves and we should encourage those who can help themselves to participate in bettering their status.

And, we should give long overdue recognition to the fact that our nation's housing problems will not be appreciably solved until we create meaningful legislation that will make possible the maximum use of the skills and resources of our free-enterprise system and the private sector of our economy. There is simply not enough tax money for government alone to do everything that needs to be done.

Every family in every one of our cities, communities and neighborhoods, no matter what its financial means or status, certainly will respond to the fullest if offered encouragement and a helping hand by government rather than being offered only the prospect of complete reliance on the government.

Raking Carpet?

A garden rake for the carpet! Yes, its the "in" way to beauty for your new deep piled shag carpet. Experts at Evans, Black, manufacturers of several types of shag carpets, recommend the use of a garden rake - it must be bamboo - to fluff the shag before company comes, and for quick cleanups afterwards. Shag carpets do need the usual vacuuming, but the garden rake is the way to erase footprints and vacuum streaks and keep the carpet well groomed.

Vanity Answers

Rush-Hour Need

In most families, one of the chief causes of morning bickering and getting the day off to a wrong start is competition for the bathroom.

For those who aren't in a position to add one or more bathrooms in the immediate future, answer to morning and evening rush-hour problems can be a source of water in the bedroom, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

Instead of the china bowl and pitcher of yesteryear, today's convenience is a handsome vanity lavatory with hot and cold running water. The complete unit consists of one, or preferably two, lavatory bowls sunk into a generous counter-top, with the whole mounted on a cabinet that provides storage space.

The vanities come in all decorator styles, so they can harmonize with the rest of the bedroom furniture - early American, French provincial, modern Swedish or whatever.

Colored lavatory bowls can add a bold splash of color where desired.

The voluntary program administered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation does not guarantee farmers a profit, but it does allow those hit by natural disaster to recover their production costs and stay in business.

All-risk insurance does not cover loss due to negligence or poor farming practices. But when nature causes low yields or poor quality that drops crop values below guaranteed levels, crop insurance makes up the difference in cash.

Early attempts by private companies to insure against crop disaster generally were unsuccessful because of complexities and extreme risk in guaranteeing crop production.

As a result there was an increasing demand that the Government provide such protection.

Since the first wheat insurance was introduced to Texas in 1939, FCIC, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has expanded operations to 66 counties. Eligible crops in 1968 include wheat, grain sorghum and cotton. Plans are underway to add more counties in 1969 and to extend coverage to citrus and rice crops.

Today's farmers must worry about far more than getting his seed back. The technological revolution that increased his productivity ability to unprecedented heights increased his loss potential as well. In fact, the average farmer's margin of profit is so small and costs so great that it would take the profits from several good years to get back the investment lost in a single year of crop disaster.

Benefits of all-risk crop insurance extend far beyond the farmer. The economy of entire rural business communities is severely affected when wide-spread crop disaster strikes. Insurance indemnities paid to farmers at these times greatly relieve the financial struggle toward recovery and prevent loss by banks, equipment dealers and many other business establishments. Since the program began, FCIC has protected farmer investments totaling more than $560 million and has paid more than $95 million in crop loss claims.

In Texas, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is administered from College Station by State Director Ben A. Jordan, Jr. Additional information may be obtained from service offices maintained here and in Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock, McKinney, Taylor, Waco, Wharton and Vernon.

Cotton Farmers

Receive Spring Allotments

Cotton farmers received additional acreage of cotton last week from acreage that has been released up to March 15. The acreage requested was about 2900 to amount that could be apportioned was about 2100. This caused a cut in each farmer's request. Those receiving additional cotton will need to re-signup under the 1968 program.

Wool, mohair and unshorn lamb payments are expected to be mailed the week of April 1st, 1968 for the 1967 sales. Wheat farmers are to report on their wheat acreage by May

Livestock Need "Greener" Summer Pastures

For all livestock and especially dairy cattle production during the summer months, producers should be putting out temporary pastures, says A.C. Novosad, Extension pasture specialist at Texas A & M University.

These temporary pastures, such as a sudan, sudan-sorghum hybrids and millet are necessary for providing quality forage when perennial grasses are relatively low in yield or quality. They can also be used for hay, haylage and green-crop, the specialist said.

"In recent years, numerous sudan - sorghum hybrids have been developed and come into widespread use. These generally grow faster, produce more total dry matter and recover more rapidly following harvest than the sudan varieties," he said.

"These hybrids are more resistant to leaf diseases than the sudan varieties but are susceptible to downy mildew. The hybrids tend to have a lower leaf percentage than standard sudans and therefore the forage production on a leaf-yield basis is not as great as indicated by the total forage yield," Novosad pointed out.

In general, the sudan - sorghum hybrids have tended to produce more than the sudan varieties, johnsongrass types and Pearl millet. No one hybrid has been outstandingly superior in yield over other hybrids, he said.

He added that the quality and yield of sudan - sorghum hybrids are dependent on a good fertilization program. The best animal performance is obtained from the young, immature growth and the maximum leaf yield is reached before the plants begin to boot. Increased dry - matter yield after this stage is largely in the stem and mature stems are of little feed value compared to leaves, he said.

STOP EARLY-SEASON INSECTS TO INCREASE COTTON PROFITS

All cotton growers know that early planting, fast emergence, along with trouble-free early stands are major factors in reaching early fruiting and maximum yields.

Thrips, aphids, mites and fleahoppers cause young plants to become deformed. But, research has proven that cotton bolls form sooner on plants that are protected from early-season insect damage. As a result, growers are able to harvest a larger, higher quality crop at an earlier date.

Many of these growers find that Cygon 267 insecticide supplies this early-season insect protection. As soon as it is applied, Cygon kills these pests on contact. Deposited on the foliage, the Cygon residue continues to control new infestations. In addition, this pesticide is absorbed to combat insects systemically from inside the leaf in all kinds of weather. This three-way action makes Cygon an extremely economical long-lasting effective insecticide, authorities point out.

With a top cotton crop in heavy demand in 1968, producers are expected to pay attention to the importance of controlling early-season insects more than ever in the past.

This vigorous young cotton is off to a fast start toward producing a high, early yield, because of the protection afforded by Cygon 267 systemic insecticide.

Hornettes Take First at Commanche

The Gatesville Hornettes carried the banner to Commanche for the Commanche Maiden Relays last Saturday.

The Hornettes captured first place with 119 points. Twenty schools were represented at the meet, but the Hornette 'talent laden' squad won an easy victory.

Coach Gerald Poe termed the girls' performance as a "real good job", picking up five first place honors.

The 880 yard relay squad of Edna Williams, Kathy Apel, Carla Pfeffer and Corliss Worthy, took top honors in the event and picked up 20 points. Another first for the Hornettes was in the one mile relay with Margo Veazey, Carla Pfeffer, Kathy Apel and Donna Kickerson forming the winning combination.

In the 440 yard dash, Donna Dickerson finished first with a 63.6 second run and team mate, Margo Veazey took second with a 64.5 second time.

Corliss Worthy took second in the 200 yard dash with a 28.6 time and Debra Cole got sixth. June Chambers dominated the shot put and discus for the Hornettes taking first in both events. She put the shot 34' and discus sailed 95'.

Golf Team Finishes Seventh

The Gatesville High School Golf team finished 7th in a field of 15 teams at the Lampasas Lions Club High School Invitational Tourney.

The Hornets were in fourth place after Friday morning's play, but with the favorites finishing in the afternoon, the Hornets lost ground.

The First Round scores for the Hornets went as follows: Butch Price, 41-36-77; Mike Schloeman, 42-37-79; Clay McClellan, 41-39-80; Bruce Neeley, 44-38-82; Bob Thomas, 44-40-84.

The Hornets lost out to only one district foe at Lampasas, that being Seguin. The locals took Lampasas on their own course.

All eyes turn to the up-coming district championship at Leon Valley Golf Course on Wednesday, April 3 and Wednesday, April 10. Leon Valley is a true test of the game, measuring 7,000 yards.

The Hornet golfers are not strangers to the course, having played district meets at the site on several occasions and, having had other opportunities to the course.

Strongest competition to the Hornets will come from last year's State Champion, Seguin and San Marcos, having a good year.

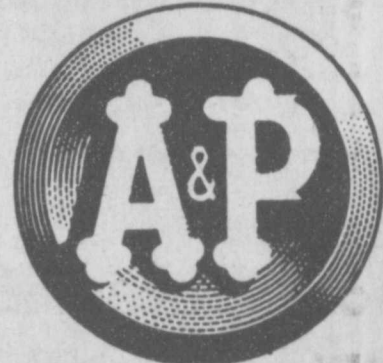

440 yard dash - Bobby Cole, Gatesville, 49.8; 5. Bunik, Belton. Bobby broke the school record and relay record with this time and was a personal achievement for him.

The President's announcement Sunday night that he would not be a candidate, leaves this nation dangling in a dangerous political vacuum. None of the self-appointed candidates are big enough to fill this job.

I am sorry to see Mr. Johnson step down, but since that is his avowed intention, I hope the American people will rally around the only other man who has shown qualities and force big enough to fill the vacuum Mr. Johnson will create when he quits. That man is Barry Goldwater. Please spread the word.
