COUNTY JOINS REGIONAL PLANNING COMMISSION

Coryell County joined with Bell County to form the Central Texas Regional Planning Commission at a Wednesday organization meeting in Belton.

C of C Requests Listing of Rent Houses

"We have had a large number of inquiries as to the availability of housing in the Gatesville area, announced Chamber of Commerce secretary, Mrs. Jack Bell.

The applications are mostly from military personnel, part of a 3000 man build up. Mrs. Bell reported that Gatesville would be getting the overflow areas south of Fort Hood are filled up.

Sources report that another 3000 troops and support units are expected to be stationed at Fort Hood, January 20. Mrs. Bell has made a plea for "all available housing that people have furnished or unfurnished be listed with the Chamber of Commerce."

Mayor R. C. Adams Jr. was elected secretary-treasurer of the new organization.

Elected to the executive committee were Coryell County Commissioners, Pat Hollingsworth, Mayor George Leonhard of Copperas Cove, Mayor Dr. J. S. Sewell of Belton, Mayor Henry Taylor Jr. of Temple, Gunn Fergus of Harker Heights, and Bell County Commissioner, R. D. Chandler.

The City of Copperas Cove joined the Regional Planning Commission at the Wednesday session, also to become the first city outside of Bell County to join the organization.

The Commission members include Bell County, Belton, Temple, Killeen, Harker Heights, Water Central and Improvement District (WCID) No. 1, Temple Junior College and the Belton Independent School District.

The annual cost of membership was set at 6¢ per capita for counties and cities and a flat fee of $300 set for other political subdivisions by the vote of all member organizations, Wednesday.

The reorganization to include Coryell County and Copperas Cove prompted realignment of the board of directors to include the elected commissioners of the two counties, plus an appointed member for each 50,000 population. The board of directors are scheduled to meet once every six months.

Judge Norman Storm reported Wednesday that joining the Regional Planning Commission is a step in the right direction, because of the common interest that exists between Bell and Coryell Counties.

Storm outlined the plans of the Planning Commission which include four other counties, Milan, Hamilton, Lampasas and Mills and all the political subdivisions within the area. The Planning Commission plans to employ a full-time director in the near future.

Presently the State of Texas recognized only 21 Regional Planning districts in Texas as set up by a Governor's Committee studying the situation, Bell and Coryell and the other four counties are placed in a 12 county district with Waco. The Governor's Committee has suggested a merger between three existing planning commissions in the area, Heart of Texas Regional Planning Commission, Central Texas Office of Economic Development and the Central Texas Regional Planning Commission.

The newly elected president, Judge Clawson was quoted as saying, "We are going to protest being placed in the Heart of Texas Regional Planning District and being excluded from the crime money."

The crime money is a federal grant under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act. The fund is to be distributed to the regional planning areas as set by the Governor's Committee. Part of the purpose of the planning commission is to help provide state and federal funds to a region. Judge Storm noted that with acceptance as a regional planning district the area would immediately be eligible for planning grants from Texas, grants from the Criminal Justice Council and the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

City Council

Discusses Planning Commission

Regional Planning Commission was discussed by the City Council at the Tuesday night meeting.

Mayor Miller reported that Councilmen had no decision concerning joining the organization was reached, but the council looked favorably to the organization.

The Council approved a proposal for the private development of property east of Gatesville Country Club. Billy Pollard submitted the preliminary plat for the area for council approval. Preliminary work on streets in the new development are already under way.

Bids were opened Tuesday night from two local motor companies for a new city patrol car. Powell Chevrolet was low bidder with $2,420.55 and the 1963 Plymouth as trade-in.

The new police car may be equipped with radar. The Council has not made any decision on the radar equipment.

The City Street Department submitted preliminary plans for the curb, gutter and paving. Cleo Woodard presented the findings of a study of the needs in the Housing Projects area to the Council.

Mayor Miller explained that the committee report on the streets in the project area were very preliminary and must be considered in that light. Estimates are that paving will cost near $30,000.

Miller reported that the city will probably seek federal assistance on the street work. Plans are being made to inquire as to the availability of funds through the Regional Offices of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

LONGTIME EDUCATOR DISCUSSES COMMITTEE REPORT

The Governors Committee on Public Education has proposed some drastic changes in the state public education system. The pro and con of the committee report will be heard many times in the near future.

Coryell County is scheduled for only one school district which will dissolve. Evant, Jonesboro, Oglesby, Copperas Cove, and Gatesville schools. The smaller schools are seen by many as the most likely to lose under the Governor's Committee Report.

Superintendent P. T. Lemmons of the Jonesboro School has provided the News with the following statement.

As a superintendent of a small high school, I have been requested to express my opinion regarding the report of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education. As the people of this area know, I have spent my professional life time working in the small schools of Texas, not of necessity but by choice, because I believe that in such schools a teacher is offered the greatest opportunity in the teaching field.

I also believe that the small school and the small community have been the very foundation of this country's greatness.

I know that no one in this area can believe that my opinions in this matter are based upon a desire to keep a school and thereby keep a job. My career as a school administrator and teacher is nearing a close; however, my interest in the education of the children of Texas shall continue.

I am sure that many of the recommendations of the committee are worthwhile and would be helpful in the educational system of the state; however there are several things that I believe should be studied seriously between now and the time this program comes under the consideration of the legislature.

First, I resent the label of "inferior education" placed upon the small schools by the advocates of the committee's plan. I feel that the small school and small community offer the best opportunity for the child to find himself and develop his own personality and leadership. The small schools has nothing to be ashamed of. Go into the cities and ask the lawyers, doctors, bankers and business leaders where they went to high school, and you will find that the small school has produced its share of leaders in every field. We have graduates from Jonesboro High School in almost every college and university in Texas, and they do not seem to be handicapped by the "inferior" education they received here.

Our seniors have averaged 18.5 on the A. C. T. college entrance tests as compared with the committee report of 13.4 for schools our size. In a survey for the past 6 years, we show that 51.4 percent of our graduating seniors go on to college. The superintendents of Evant and Oglesby say that their school show about the same figures as Jonesboro.

These are some of the reasons why families are moving out of the congested cities to the small towns and smaller schools.

The reorganization plan of the Governor's Committee calls for consolidation of all schools in Coryell County into a single district. This would destroy local control of the school systems and bring about more mass education and more drop-outs. It is my opinion that a better educational system could be established by breaking up the large unwieldy city schools into smaller, more personalized units.

To adopt the committee plan we would have longer bus rides for our children and in most rural areas the children are now being transported too far.

It seems that the larger systems are not proving that they have the answer to all of our problems. The uproar in the school system of New York City has kept the children of New York out of school for most of this first semester.

Now the final point I would like to mention is the cost under the proposed plan. It would mean doubling the assessment values of farm and ranch land for 1969-70 and almost three times as much in 1970-71 over the present valuation. The committee plan calls for a state income tax, and increase in the sales tax, an increase in the oil and gas Severance tax.

The committee report, as you know, is merely a recommendation to the legislature of Texas. That body convenes this week for this session. If you are opposed to these sweeping changes, if you wish to save the small schools, write to your representatives: Representative Bob Salter, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas; your Senator, Senator J. P. Word, Senate Chamber, Austin, Texas; your incoming Governor, Preston Smith, Capitol Building, Austin and to as many others as you can contact.

The jury ruled in favor of Judy Geye in a damage suit in 52nd District Court, Saturday afternoon.

The trial began Thursday to hear testimony concerning an auto wreck involving Miss Geye and Troy Sheffield.

The 52nd District Court is scheduled to consider two cases, Monday, January 20, at 9:00 a.m.

The second trial of Kenneth Parkinson on charges of possession of marijuana and a damage suit are scheduled.

Parkinson's first trial in October of 1968 ended in a hung jury. The jury was deadlocked at an 11 to 1 vote during the first trial.

Monday finds Evant caught in a fog; perhaps an introduction to a rain--which is the most needed item here, unless it is to be free of flu.

MEMORIALS DEDICATED AT UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday afternoon, at 2:30, many friends of all ages, relatives of near and far, and three ministers gathered to dedicate the memorials placed in United Methodist Church in memory of Charles Austin Elam. Included is the new entrance, two new doors, a beautiful piano and baptismal font. These durable items will remain for longer than the lives of most who now reside in the area of Evant, thus continuing the process of leadership, spiritual enjoyment and demonstration of what Charles Austin Elam's life represents to all who knew him. He was the first infant baptised in the new church building; he spent his entire eighteen years serving in the fellowship of United Methodist Church.

Work is underway in Evant's United Methodist Church to install natural gas and a new hot water system for the kitchen, as result of the Lord's Acre Program of last year. Men of all ages, including boys of grammar school, entered their efforts to dig the ditch Monday afternoon, for the project.

Sunday night, it was a privilege to hear Bruce Matthews, ministerial student, and son of Rev. and Mrs. George Matthews deliver a sermon in the United Methodist Church on "The Greatness of God." In college, at seventeen, he is making an excellent record, already and is showing much promise in his field of service.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Mr. William Bynum, long time Pearl resident, died in Gatesville, January 9, at 4:30 p.m. Funeral services were held, Saturday afternoon, at the Pearl Baptist Church, with Evant Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

LAMPASAS RIVER TIMBER TO EAST TEXAS

Some timber is being taken from the ranches along Lampasas river and is being trucked to East Texas for mill use. Among the trees being cut are pecan and bur oak. This is the second season such operations has taken place in this section of the state, by the Patterson workers. The owners are receiving checks immediately after it is hauled away, and no delay in collecting has been noted thus far. One more natural source of income is welcomed by rural people, especially at this low income time of year.

LCRA PLANS SUBSTATION

The LCRA (Lower Colorado River Authority) is still making plans to run a new line across to Goldthwaite, from the location purchased from the Dutton's on Highway 281, but work has not begun as to placing posts or erecting the substation. Considerable surveying has been done.

FFA BANQUET

The Evant Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its annual banquet January 9 in the school cafeteria.

At this meeting, awards were presented to members who had earned special recognition in the last year. Named as outstanding Chapter Star Farmer, was Dennis Sheldon; also he was awarded outstanding Livestock Farmer. Scotty Koether was named outstanding Poultry Farmer. Outstanding Crop Farmer was Terry Horton. Outstanding Green Hand, was Stanley Stanford.

Chapter Farmer Degrees went to Mr. W. L. Arnold and Mr. James Inabinet, in honor of outstanding assistance and guidance they had rendered to the local chapter.

The evening's program consisted of the showing of slides and featuring projects by local members and a speech by the State Vice-President, Dennis Pharris.

In addition to members, parents, school board members, and honorary members, Chapter Sweetheart, Joyce Thomas and Area 8 Vice-President, Marshall Long, were present at the banquet.

SMALL SCHOOLS OPEN FOR DISCUSSION AT ONCE

Word from Supt. L. L. Pruden, after attending the recent Small School Workshop, at Austin encourages parents more strongly than ever to write, immediately, to State Representative, Bob Salter, Austin, and J. P. Word, as Senate member, may be written in care of the Senate, Austin, or at home, in Meridian. Mr. Salter's home address is Gatesville.

For the forthcoming legislature, the school question, now on everyone's mind, will be rising. Mr. Pruden stated that each area will have representation on hand for the session and that each school will be notified when the time comes. Meanwhile, he insists that each patron keep contact with the men who will vote, officially, on the question, when it comes to the floor. Much debate is yet to be expected, and much alteration of the original plans of the Governor's Committee can be made, with the right procedure.

Concentration of large numbers, in the 2600 bracket, for instance is one point that has been and is being highly considered. This figure may be reduced. Suggestion that the center of regulations may be held in the county seats, but perhaps other school doors might be left open, is a point under discussion at present. If we patrons wish to speak personally, now is the time. Be sure to word a letter to Mr. Word and send a letter to Mr. Salter soon.

Short Course From Page 1

Mr. Litterst states that the field of beef cattle production must take a close look at efficiency of production in the future. With land prices, food, and taxes rising, the producer is meeting more and more competition for the consumer's dollar at the meat counter.

From the economic view of the beef cattle business, there is every indication that in comparing the producer of yesterday, beef must be produced to sell cheaper in order to be profit-making business.

Mr. Litterst indicates that the beef production short course will deal with methods of producing beef at a lower cost and the ways of producing the kind of beef that the homemaker wants to buy.

He also states that the course will include such important fields as cattle reproduction and pregnancy diagnosis, selecting bulls and replacement heifers, calf crop percentages, and supplemental winter feeding.

The course can be changed to meet the wishes and interests of the farmers and ranchers enrolled. "Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the cooperative program between Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef production, farm management, farm electrification, arc welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, dairy science, pasture, and oxyacetylene welding.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fraley, Lampasas, visited in the Evant community early in the week. They still hope their Evant friends will drop by to see them at 1215 Avenue B, Lampasas.

THE GREAT SOCIETY

by Paul Stone

A great society is something we won't be. We can't call ourselves great and really be. This term will be applied to us, or for that matter to any generation by the people of the future. What is more important is that we have a decent, honest society; a society not built on wild beautiful ideals, but on sanity.

America has many domestic and foreign problems. No one person knows the solution to them. However there are certain attitudes which create problems. One of these is that socially we are better than someone else. As an idea this is false, as a fact of today it is true. However in another generation this won't have to be the case. The fact is, and should be, every man is one unit, and his social standing is a reflection of what he wants, does, and is. No small factors such as race or anything like that should be of importance. Legislation is important, but it is only a reflection of attitudes, and if the racial situation is going to change, our attitudes will have to. One of the most important things white America can do is get out of the black man's way. The black people aren't the only ones who have been victims of our society. The American Indian, along with every other minority must have justice.

Our foreign relations must reflect a sanity at home, and a just attitude toward other peoples. There is no nation that is better than another. We should not allow ourselves to be pushed around but we shouldn't do any pushing ourselves in the name of goodness. If we can be respected in world affairs it will come as a result of a just American attitude.

A humane society is a possibility and through its creation, and function, all Americans could be better off.

Ducks Edge By

Hornets 54-51

The Taylor Ducks came from behind to edge the Gatesville B-team 54-51, but they had to do it in overtime. The Hornets jumped out to a 22-16 lead at halftime, but Taylor pulled to within one point, 34-33, at the end of the third quarter. The final quarter was a tremendous struggle, ending in a 49-49 deadlock. In the three minute over time period, Taylor scored five points while the Hornets managed only two, leaving the Ducks a three point margin of victory, 54-51.

Leading Gatesville in scoring was George Wright who tallied 20 points. Other Hornet scorers were Gary Kafer 9, Steve Palmer 6, Mike Matthews 4, Victor Bird 4, William Griffin 4, and Mike Moore 3. Leading rebounders for Gatesville were Wright, Kafer, and Moore.

The B-team plays their next game tonight at Rockdale. Game time is 5:45.

Varsity Loses to Taylor 86-50

The Hornet varsity lost their fourth district game, Tuesday night as they were clubbed by the Taylor Ducks 86-50. Taylor played good, consistent basketball and controlled the backboards. The Hornets, as usual, did well in the early going, being down only 18-14 at the end of the first quarter. The Ducks began rolling in the second quarter, and at halftime, had piled up a fifteen point lead 46-31. In the second half, the Ducks continued to burn up the nets, amassing a 36-point lead at the end of the game.

Reggie Schoenewolf scored 16 points to lead the Hornets, while Raymond Cole had 10 and Bobby Stovall had 9. Buddy Wiggins added 7, Fred Rhea scored 6, and Randy Schoenewolf scored 2. Buddy Wiggins and Doug Freeman led Gatesville in rebounding.

★ mr. ed ★

Dear Mr. Ed,
I am an average, everyday, ordinary type high school student and I have a problem. Me (being a boy) and this other person (being a girl), have fights every so often. The troublemaker I am the one who gives in most of the time. Question: Could this lead to future serious mental problems.

Signed,
Bewildered

Dear Bewildered,
I'm not authorized to answer that question, really I don't know. I've always heard that by showing your emotions you benefit and in turn become a normal person.

Mr. Ed

Mr. Ed,
Is it necessary to have problems? If it is, will you tell me what kind of problems I should have.

Signed,
Unworried Student

Dear Unworried,
I don't suppose it's necessary to have problems. Every person I know has problems, big and little. I'm glad to hear you have none. I don't know if a person is considered normal if he is not aware of problems he may have. Look around, observe, you may find that you do have a problem. You may be happier if you do.

Mr. Ed

Dear Mr. Ed,
Why do some Juniors and Sophomores park in the Senior Parking lot?

Questioned Senior

Dear Senior,
Being a senior, you know that younger people, especially this aged person likes to follow his superior and tries very much to be like the older people. Don't let it upset you.

Mr. Ed

Mr. Ed,
I have this problem, and you're gonna hear about it. I am a Junior and I am going with a sophomore and she's real great but I also want to date a couple of other girls too. She true and if I quit her the next may not be. The only thing is she isn't a real great date. What can I do, Mister F

Dear F,
You didn't state whether you're going steady or not. Of course you know that in this day, and time if you're not, you have a little more freedom. Think about what you said, no one can make that decision for you.

Mr. Ed

New books out this week are: a novel by Beth Jacobs-Look to The Mountains; Africa is People, firsthand accounts from contemporary Africa; The Bridge of Love, the story of a marriage that inspired a country by Grace Nies Fletcher; How to Dress for Success by Edith Head; Jazz, the transition years, 1940-1960 by John Wilson.

Stomp It Out!
NEW YORK—Among building fires whose origin can be traced, almost two out of five are attributed to smoking, matches or electrical causes, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

I have been trying to catch up on a few of my small garden chores lately. Last summer some seedling peach trees came up in my flower bed, where of course, I don't want them. But I couldn't quite give up the vision of all those lovely pink blossoms. So I've been digging holes at the end of the garden and filling them with water. As soon as the water drains away I transplant the little trees using rich garden soil to fill the holes.

Another day I filled an old pan with screened garden soil and planted some cabbage seeds, so they will be ready to set out in the garden about the first of March. This is only the beginning of the seed planting and my main trouble will be to find sunny window space for all my various pans and boxes.

I also got a few of my trees and shrubs trimmed up while they are still dormant. It is almost more than I can bear to trim limbs off the fruit trees but they do better in the long run. Planted some daffodils and tulip bulbs, Christmas gifts, in the shrub border then scattered the whole area with cottonseed meal. It's nice to have plenty of time to clear up these little jobs before the heavy spring work starts. I would probably get more done if I didn't stop so often to watch the new calves frisking in the field across the fence. But gardening is to be enjoyed, not worked at.

Wasted Time

by Roland Magill
Could I recall my happy youth, that swiftly passed me by I'd make each day a better one at least, I'm sure I'd try. I think of help I didn't give when the chance was mine. An act of kindness left undone seems now as "wasted time."

Looking back across the years, I see a happy, barefoot boy whistling blithely on his way, all the world was filled with joy. He sees life's beckoning hand, on the trail he long to tread. Nor stops that "easy" trail has many troubles up ahead.

Oh, could I be a boy again, to live life over day to day I'd surely lend a helping hand, to those along life's way. Many troubled hearts I've found along this weary road. A ready smile, a word of cheer, will lighten someone's load.

Home Economic Entrants Invited For Coryell County Fair

The Coryell County Fair will be held on February 7 and 8. Home Economics Entry Forms are available at the County Extension office. The entry forms are due back in the office on February 3. A 10¢ entry fee for each item will be due at the gate on Friday, February 7 at 10:00 a.m. Small cash prizes will be awarded to junior and senior entries, while juniors, seniors and adults will pay an entry fee. Ribbons will be awarded in each class in each division. Any person who is a resident of the county is eligible to enter. The number of entries in 1968 was one-half of the number entered in 1967. The fair is a county event and should be participated in by women and youth of the county. FHA, 4-H and other youth should be encouraged to participate, and help to make the fair something to be proud of.

Rules are available at the County Extension office. Persons interested in entering should make the effort to get a copy of the rules to make sure that a class will include their items. If there is no class, the item will be exhibited. Exhibits are welcome and those wishing to exhibit should contact Mrs. Albert Rosser, Home Demonstration Council Chairman, or Mrs. Frank Courtney, Council Secretary, or Mrs. Joe Walters, Fair Superintendent.
