Senator Watson Proposes Tax Exemption For Nonprofit Rural Water Systems

The hundreds of small rural water companies set up on a nonprofit base to provide water for rural homes all over Texas would be exempt from taxation under a pair of proposals by Senator Murray Watson, Jr. of Mart.

SJR 6 is a proposal to let the voters of Texas decide whether they want to amend the constitution to give the nonprofit water supply companies an exemption from taxes on their lines and water systems. SB54 would carry the constitutional provision into effect if it is voted.

Under a program of the Farmers Home Administration, hundreds of loans have been made for construction of water systems in rural areas. The loans are being repaid out of water sales.

Organizers used the voluntary water company system rather than creating water districts which would have been exempt from property taxes because they are governmental agencies. They found that organizing costs were simpler, and it was not necessary to have elections and issue bonds. But Watson said that in some areas county tax assessors are levying taxes on the water systems.

Lt. Governor Ben Barnes referred the proposed constitutional amendment to the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee, and the enabling bill to the State Affairs Committee.

Elmo Franks Home Entered

Mrs. Elmo Franks reported $50 in frozen foods were taken from her home, Monday night. Sheriff's Deputy Lonnie Dossie investigated the incident early, Tuesday. The Franks live on FM 116 near "Hard Bargain" Mountain.

And God said, "Let there be light" and there was light. —(Gen. 1:3).

Before we prepare to study or even open a book, we should affirm that we have God within us. Then we will feel God's presence and power in us and all around us. With assurance say "Let there be light." Know this. Then through conscientious meditation thank God for light. Pick up the book and through this light there will be understanding and wisdom. The marvel of God's wonderful light dispels all shadows.

Hornets Close 1968-69

Campaign With Win and Loss

The Gatesville Hornet cagers closed out their 1968-69 net campaign by splitting a pair of games, beating Lockhart and losing to Lampasas.

The victory over Lockhart was the Hornets' second win over the hapless Lions. The Lions had their claws sharpened for this one and game Gatesville a tough scrap all the way, never letting the Hornets relax. Gatesville found itself behind by one point, 12-13 at the end of the first quarter, but came back to take a 30-26 halftime lead and were never headed.

The Hornets increased their lead to eight points, 49-41, at the end of the third period of play and held on to that margin until the end of the game.

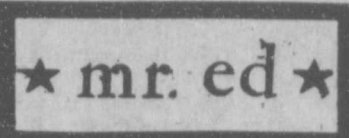

Reggie Schoenewolf and Raymond Cole were the big guns for Gatesville, Reggie scoring 21 points and Raymond putting in 20. Seven more Hornets broke into the scoring column: Bobby Stovall 10, Danny Belf 4, Buddy Wiggins 4, Doug Freeman 3, Bruce Neeley 2, Randy Schoenewolf 1, and Fred Rhea 1.

In the season's finale against Lampasas, Gatesville played a fine game and led most of the way, but could not hold off the Badgers in the final quarter.

The Hornets took a two point lead, 15-3, in the first quarter and built it into an eight point margin, 36-28 at half-time. The Badgers scored 20 points to the Hornets' 12 in the third period to tie the game at 48-48 with only one quarter left to play.

In the final period, the Hornets stormed out to a five point lead and looked as though they were heading for a victory. Trouble struck quickly however, as Raymond Cole fouled out and Doug Freeman was ejected from the game for becoming involved in a fracas which was started by an irate Lampasas player. Without the ball handling and shooting of Cole and the rebounding and close-in scoring of Freeman, Gatesville just were not able to handle the fired up Badgers. Lampasas took full advantage of the situation to pull away to a 72-66 victory.

Leading the Gatesville attack were Bobby Stovall who made

Dear Mr. Ed,
What do you think of the new "Conrad Birdie" hair style, that is sweeping the high school?
Lame Duck

Dear Duck,
I really didn't have an opinion on it. You do have to agree though, it was eliminated in a most fashionable way.
Mr. Ed

Dear Mr. Ed,
What do you think about guys who grow long sideburns?
Hound

Dear Hound,
Long sideburns are alright to a certain extent, if they're kept trimmed and cut and don't extend the length of the ear lobe, they're alright.
Mr. Ed

Mr. Ed
Is it true the people who drive bronze GTO's with black vinyl roofs are Hippies?
Signed Up Set

Dear Up Set,
As well as I remember that's the latest word, I've never seen one yet, that wasn't a Hippie.
Mr. Ed

Dear Mr. Ed
What do you think of people who wear mustaches? Also what do you think about several senior boys who have dyed their hair black.
W. T. S.

Dear WTS,
I have nothing against mustaches. As a matter of fact, some people look very good. As long as they are kept trimmed I believe they're o.k. This dyed hair business is just for attention, we shouldn't be alarmed.
Mr. Ed

"Aw, he seems friendly enough. Mom—Lookit that big smile—"

He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.
—(Psalms 107:29 A.V.).

There is a center of stillness in the midst of us even when we are at our stormiest. We find this center as we calm down and let the storm abate, and the waves of emotion subside. We can learn to hold steady to the center of peace which is Christ within us. As we practice keeping ourselves centered and poised in the Christ Mind, we shall find it easier to keep serene and poised.

Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in the recent loss of our loved one. For the beautiful service, floral offerings, food and other kindnesses, we are deeply grateful.

PICK OF THE FIG

A lure can be decorated in many ways to make it more enticing and more effective.

Of all the "additives" that can be combined with regular offerings, observe the fishing authorities at Mercury outdoors, nothing beats a hunk of pork.

Regardless of the species being sought, this particular adornment will work miracles from the seashore, through the warm water areas, to the haunts of the arctic grayling.

The pork rind is available in shapes, sizes and colors specifically designed to arouse the feeding instincts of nearly every fish that swims. From bluegills to muskies, sails to salmon, a chunk of pork has been the downfall of many a retu-tant battler.

Strips of this artificial-natural bait may be attached to practically all lures. They are readily as eels hooked to weedless spoons or jigs. Matchstick-thin strips falling a spinner give that added strike-producing wiggle. Some pork comes in the form of "pills", apparently imitating bite-size salmon eggs that summertime trout so well. For certain occasions, mere shavings, called "flicks," impaled on a plain hook will do the trick with bluegill, yellow perch and crappie.

Versatility of pork rind is overshadowed only by durability. No bait has its staying power, the ability to remain fresh hour after hour. None matches its toughness when combating short strikes and fouling. And you can't lose it during a cast.

Pork may not always be the best bait, say the Mercury lads, but it certainly merits a reserved niche in every tackle box.

BURIED ONCE AND FOR ALL

DEFENSE CONTRACT PROFITS DROP

Many people find it easy to believe that with so much money being spent on "war contracts" profits are bound to be well in excess of those normally earned on private contracts.

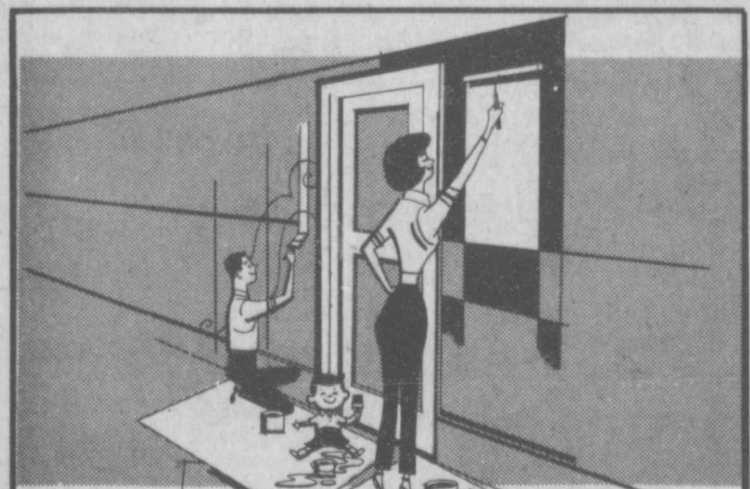

How profitable is the multi-billion-dollar defense industry—really? How about those charges in Washington of excessive profits by government contractors who supply the tools of war?

The government asked the same questions and hired the private Logistics Management Institute to find the answers. After an 18-month study, the Institute reported that the profit level of big defense contractors—far from being shockingly high—is approximately half that for their commercial sales. Also, they are only half the percentage made by some 3,500 other companies used for comparison purposes. Moreover, profits on defense contracts have been going down for the last nine years, while there has been an upturn in commercial profits.

The exact figures were that profits on defense sales since 1958 dropped from 2.7 per cent to 2.4 per cent after taxes, while the profits of wholly commercial companies were moving up from 3.6 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

How can this be? The report found a host of highly technical reasons, but some of the key factors included exceedingly tough competition, high risk, and rigid regulation under which the government won't pay many routine costs.

Again, we learn to look at the facts before we accept all the old myths about those "excessive war profits."
