FBI CRIME REPORT SHOWS 17% INCREASE

AP- Crime increase in the South typified the overall increase in the United States from 1967 to 1968, the FBI has said. The crime index, released Sunday showed crime up 16 percent in the South, and 17 percent across the country. Houston remained the murder and manslaughter capital of Texas, but Dallas showed the greatest increase in that category.

Houston reported 246 murder or manslaughter cases, compared to 244 in the 1967 report. Dallas reported 192 cases, an increase of 59 from the 1967 report.

Lubbock and Waco were the only Texas cities in the index to show a decrease in that category. Lubbock went from 18 cases in 1967 to 17 in 1968. Waco reported a decrease of eight, from 15 to seven. Waco's figures also showed a decrease in the robbery from 100 to 65 and aggravated assault (from 310-277) cases, while forcible rapes increased from 18 in 1967 to 19 last year. Robberies were the skyrocketing figure across the U. S., and that statistic was clearly reflected in the Texas reports, paced by Houston. That South Texas city had 904 more cases of robbery during 1968, for a total of 4,155 compared to 1967's 3,251.

Far behind was San Antonio, up 324 from 460 to 784. Dallas went from 982 in 1967 to 1,100 in 1968.

Houston and Dallas paced a big increase in auto thefts. Houston reported 1,511 more cases than 1967's total of 7,826.

Library Receives $1,000 Grant

Texas State Library, Austin, announces a grant of $1,000 to the Gatesville Public Library under Title I of the Library Services and Construction Act for the federal fiscal year 1969 for the purchase of books, binding or microfilm. The Gatesville Public Library is one of 125 libraries in Texas participating in the statewide plan for public library development by locally meeting criteria necessary to receive such grants. Ater Community To Hold Chili Supper

It's a chili supper! Where! at the Ater Community School House, at 7:00 p.m., Friday night, March 14, 1969. You can order a chili plate consisting of a bowl of chili, pie, coffee or tea for 50¢; or a hot dog, with or without chili, pie, tea or coffee for 50¢ or just a piece of pie for 20¢. The supper is sponsored by the Ater Community. Proceeds will be used to finish the cleaning and painting of the Club House.

Everyone is invited, young and old to come eat with the Ater Community folks and come early for a good seat.

Dominoes after supper or visit with old friends or make new ones, games will be held for the younger set.

Each family in the community is supposed to bring a pie and one pound of chili meat, if there is two in your family and two pounds if more.

Remember, it was your community first. Why put it last? We have visitors each year from other parts of the county. Let's be proud of our camp area; Club House and grounds.

We need help this week, us old girls climbed high last week. We bought wood and it was hauled and piled beside the building and not a man in the community came to help put it inside, what's wrong?? Are we getting old, lazy, or just plain too tired. When we lose pride in our community we have lost a lot cause it causes our neighbors to suffer also. It is sad. What we need is more love and care for one another, it's almost lost, let's try to bring some of it back.

If there is any one who wants to give to this benefit and cannot get to the school house,

Winter or Spring? Unpredictable

With a low of 25 degrees, Sunday night, it might seem as though our winter was beginning all over again and with a forecast of snow tonight and tomorrow, north of us, who's to say, it must might really get winter.

Just after Groundhog Day, it was thought for a while maybe he slept through his day as warmer temperatures were the order for a number of days. But, just as the "six weeks of winter" should be coming to a close, it seems they might be beginning. The first nine days of March had an average low of 34 degrees, with the three day low, running below freezing. The average high the first nine days of March was between 53 and 54 with three days high over the 60 degree mark.

Some of the fruit trees beginning to bud and flowers, however, reminds us that Spring is truly around the corner.

Mr. F. F. Curry, the official weatherman, for Coryell County has reported four days of rain this month, this far, with .04 March 8; .13 March 6; .03 March 5 and .28 March 3.

MAJOR BROWN GIVES VIET BATTLE ACCOUNT

Major Billy Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Gatesville was the subject of U. P. I. News Correspondent, Robert Kaylor. The Waco Tribune Herald carried the article Sunday, March 9, giving Major Brown's account of the attack.

Brown now on his second tour of duty in Vietnam has been on duty for the past six months. Brown's wife, Connie and their five month old son, Billy Carl Jr. live in Georgia.

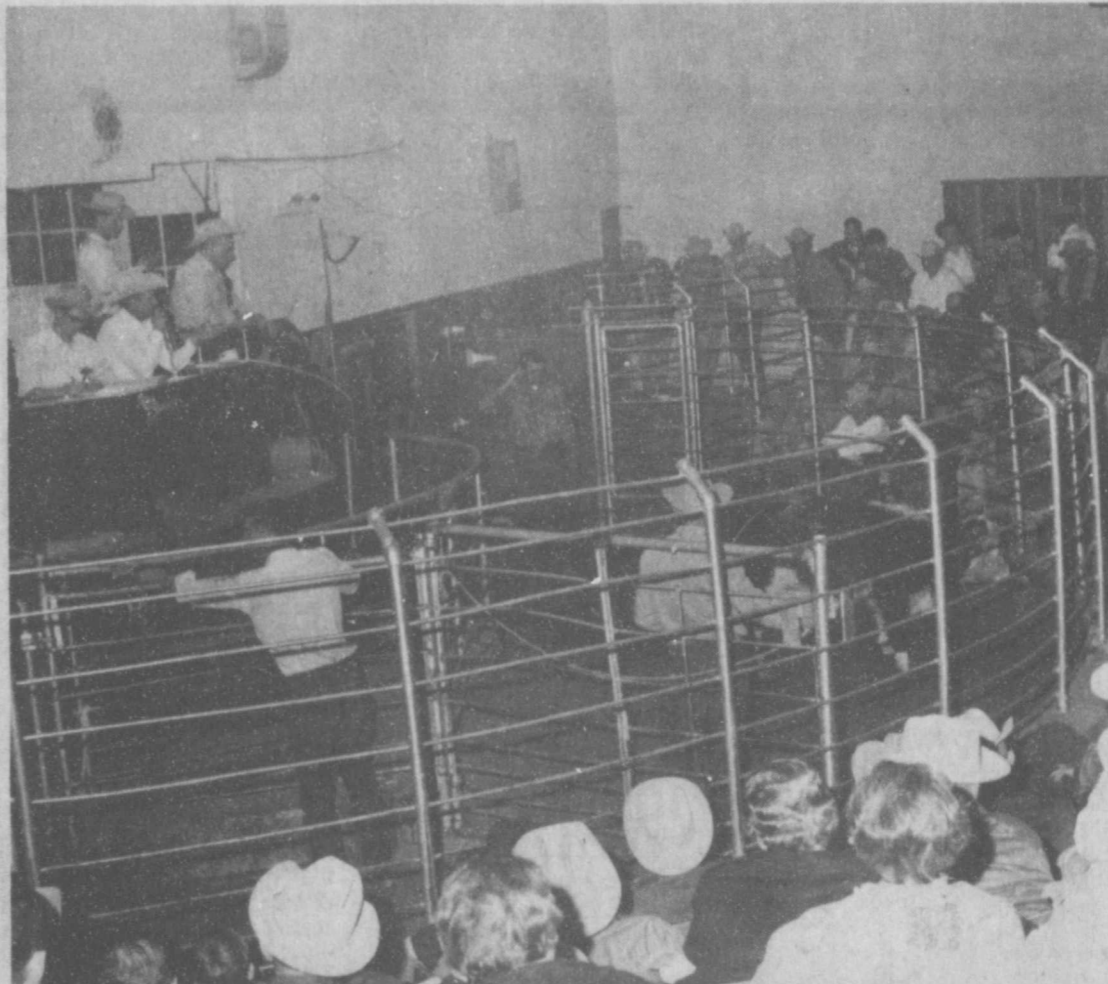

Below is Correspondent Kaylor's account of the action: LANDING ZONE GRANT, South Vietnam (UPI) -- The sun glared through a haze of dust and a tattered American flag flew firm atop a sandbagged bunker as Major Billy Brown, 30, of Fort Benning, Georgia, told about the battle.

Brown spoke calmly with the same kind of coolness in which he had taken command when things were at their worst early Saturday.

It was just after midnight when Brown ran to the heavily fortified command bunker at this 1st Air Cavalry Division base and found it demolished by a direct hit.

Inside, the battalion commander was dead. Other Americans were dead and dying around him.

As many as 500 North Vietnamese troops were trying to blast their way through the barbed wire surrounding the

Livestock Prices High

Livestock sales are reaching top prices in the Gatesville area this week.

The Gatesville Commission Company marketed 1700 head in the Saturday auction sale.

Buyers were willing and sellers were plentiful as dollar volume for the day reached $185,000.

A two month steady climb has produced an estimated $3.00 per hundred price increase.

Good cow and calf pairs were selling between $180 and $230. Good single springer cows sold as high as $190. Good stocker steer calves sold at .44¢ per pound. Good Heifers averaged between 29¢ and 33¢ per pound.

Fat calves, 500 pound range, sold for 26¢ per pound. Good bulls ranged from 24¢ to 27¢ per pound. Good Stocker bulls sold by the head from $250 to $350.

The sheep market reflected the same good prices, springer lambs selling for 31¢ per pound.

Inflation Could Destroy Living Standard Says Poage

Most people agree that continued inflation can utterly destroy our living standards, but they can't see that they are in any way contributing to inflation. No matter what your wages or your profits, you won't be able to buy the things that your family wants if the cost of those items continues to go up at the rates we have witnessed in recent months. (Rising costs are just an evidence that our money buys less). Of course, the question as to why our money buys less is extremely complicated and involves many factors, but I don't believe that many of us realize just how directly our own demands influence inflation.

A few days ago I received a letter with about 40 pages of attached resolutions from one of our national employees' organizations. Their 1968 convention had apparently passed more than 110 resolutions. They sent me copies of 16 resolutions. Five of them related to various phases of Civil Rights. One demanded an immediate pull-out in Vietnam. One demanded a much stronger gun control law. One asked Congress to pass laws curbing the cost of drugs and to investigate food prices. One expressed regret for the assassination of Martin Luther King. All of the rest of the resolutions asked increases in wages or other wage benefits and covered groups all the way from the Panama Canal to the occupants of public housing in Denver. Obviously, if Congress approved all of these requests, the cost of living would inevitably go still higher and our money would buy still less.

There was nothing unique about the action of this particular group. I cite it rather because it is typical. Americans are prone to over-organize. A large part of these organizations have as their prime purpose the expenditure of more public money. To the extent that they succeed they produce still more inflation. All of these organizations exercise some degree of influence. If government, local, state and federal, acceded to all of these requests, we would certainly find ourselves faced with the kind of inflation which destroyed Germany after World War I. On the other hand, most of us will agree that a great many government programs are needful to our people. The real question is: How do we balance the need for essential programs with the need for restraint in increasing costs?

We could immediately restore the buying power of our dollars by rolling back all wages to 1933 levels, but if we did we might have no more dollars than most of us had in 1933, and undoubtedly we would have many millions of people without any jobs. Most everyone realizes how foolish this would be. The trouble is that we cannot so clearly see that to go to the extreme in the other direction is equally dangerous. Everybody had money and jobs paying fantastic sums in pre-Hitler Germany, but their inflation was just as tragic as our Depression. Possibly, all of us need to ask: "Is this good for all the people?" If it is, it will very likely be good for each of us.

WATER IMPROVEMENT--

This week I sponsored House Bill No. 144 in the Senate. This bill authorizes the Brown County Improvement District No. 1 to provide for a retirement, disability, and death fund for officers and employees.

COLLEGE DISORDER BILL

The Texas Senate amended, then approved, House Bill 141 which outlaws the disruption of school activities in private or public institutions of higher education. The measure was then sent back to the House for approval, but the members rejected the Senate's amendments to the bill. A Senate-House conference committee was named to reconcile the difference in the two versions of the bill and the House has adopted the committee's compromise; the Senate will consider the report this week.

I AM VERY MUCH IN favor of this needed legislation. This bill is a necessary instrument in our society today to prevent anarchy and disruption on the college campuses in Texas. If passed, the bill would not affect free speech or demonstrations in any way but would apply in situations when a small minority of radicals occupy buildings, disrupt classes and otherwise interfere with the rights of those students who are trying to get an education.

The provisions of House Bill 141 prohibit such acts as seizing buildings, blocking passage-ways or trying to disrupt lawful meetings. It carries penalties of from 10 days to 6 months in jail and fines up to $200.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Crawford Martin

spoke to a joint session of the Legislature on March 3, Texas Independence Day. He emphasized that we cannot abandon the concept of individual responsibility for individual acts against society. His remarks defended citizens from attacks by those who accuse us of having a "sick" society.

SERVICES FOR CHILDREN--

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill that would expand public school services for exceptional children to include children with learning disabilities and would lower the minimum age of such children to be served with state support from 6 years to 3 years.

RALPH YARBOROUGH'S WASHINGTON REPORT

Many people have asked why I chose to be chairman of the Health Subcommittee of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee rather than the subcommittee on education. During my nearly 12 years in the Senate, I have worked diligently to advance education in the nation. It has been my privilege to be a co-sponsor of one of the principle sponsors of every education measure in the Senate for the past 11 years, and I am the original author of the Cold War GI Bill, the Bilingual Education Bill, Professor's Emeritus Act, and several other bills. I feel we have made great strides in passing education legislation.

We are not making comparable advances in health care. While the United States leads the world in technological advances, this country is 13th among the industrialized nations in infant mortality. And Texas ranks 36th among the 50 states in infant mortality.

One of the first things which must be done, is to increase the number of doctors, nurses, and medical technicians and insure they have the best training.

There is a shortage of doctors all across the country, but the shortage is acute in Texas. The national average is one doctor for 660 people, but in Texas, the average is one doctor for 981 people.

Shocking as this is, Texas is not doing enough to overcome this shortage. Only 45 percent of the physicians who joined the Texas Medical Association since 1961 are natives of Texas. In other words, the doctors joining the Association since 1961, only 48 percent received their training in Texas.

There is little chance for a quick change in these statistics. Texas ranks 42nd among the 50 states in the number of places for first-year medical students. At the present time, Texas medical schools must turn away each year more qualified Texas applicants than are needed to fill the entering class of several new medical schools.

Governor Preston Smith, in January, recommended the establishment of two new medical schools in Texas now. I agree with the governor on the need for these two schools but I say this will not be enough. It will take two schools, plus two more within the next five years to meet the needs of Texas.

This school year, a total of 407 first year medical students entered the four medical schools in Texas. We should--no, we must have 500 students entering medical school next year, and we ought to have 800 within two years, and on up until we have 1200 a year at least entering medical schools in Texas.

As chairman of the Health Subcommittee, I want to make good health care for every citizen a major goal of the United States Government. I want to see Texans dedicated to this goal. Texans can do this. We must make our first order of business the establishment of new medical training facilities.

Maj. Leland Robinson, 37. He was in the command bunker when it was hit and was blasted outside.

"It just turned dark in there all of a sudden," Robinson recalled. "And I wound up outside in a pile of sandbags. "It's amazing. You kind of pick yourself up and it dawns on you what really happened. It must take split seconds for all this but it seemed like a long, long time."

Robinson ignored two shrapnel wounds in his foot and ran back into the bunker, helping the wounded and then joining Brown in getting things organized.

Another hero was Pfc. Monte R. Martin, 20, of Sand Springs, Oklahoma, a draftee who has only two weeks of combat under his belt.

Martin was at a listening post outside the wire when the battle started. He and four buddies started back for the base when flares lit the area.

"We could see a whole bunch of gooks lying in the grass around us," Martin recalled. "They didn't see us right away and we started working our way up a road to the base."

As they tried to get through the wire, two men were killed, Martin and the other two Americans fell back, killing three North Vietnamese with rifles and grenades on the way. They finally made it through the wire about three hours later.

GATESVILLE DRUG

713 MAIN ST.

Highlights and Sidelights

Vern Sanford

Thwarted in one effort to keep down the size of the 1970-71 tax bill by school fund diversion, Gov. Preston Smith took a new approach.

He called on Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to rush an opinion as to whether income from state-owned submerged lands (bays, river banks etc.) can be used for current school spending.

Martin earlier held unconstitutional the governor's plan to get $71.6 million in state land revenue bound for the sacrosanct permanent school fund for educational financing during the next two years. Only investment income from the permanent fund can now be spent.

Smith accepted Martin's original opinion, but noted that revenue from submerged lands was not dedicated to the school fund by constitution but by statute in 1939 and 1941. So, if the Legislature can dedicate money from those oil-rich lands, Smith feels it can "Undedicate" as well.

"If 72 and a half percent of the royalties involved were utilized it would mean approximately $52 million which the taxpayers would not have to produce to meet anticipated revenues needed to finance state government during the coming two years," Smith maintained.

He asked Martin for an early ruling in preparation for a supplemental message the governor will deliver to the Legislature, in which he will spell out alternative sources for the $71.6 million item invalidated by the attorney general's March 3 opinion.

Smith first said he has two alternatives: budget-cutting or a reinforced revenue plan. He decided he didn't have much fat left to trim in his budget and settled on alternative money raisers.

LEGISLATURE ACTS

Legislature finally reached its full complement, with the election of Rep. John H. Poerner of Hondo, a Republican, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rep. D. C. Howard of Uvalde. And the law-making process continues.

Legislators have completed action on the workmen's compensation reform bill which raises benefits to injured workers from $35 a week maximum to $49. Measure went to the governor for his signature following House passage 146 to 1. (Senate acted earlier.)

One of the session's most important measures, a proposed constitutional amendment raising the water bond ceiling to $3.5 billion to finance the state's share of the $10 billion Texas water plan, passed the House 131-15 and went to the Senate.

In their liveliest action, both houses voted out a bill to provide maximum fines of $200 and jail sentences up to six months for disruptive activities on school and college campuses. Bill went to conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Another bill cleared by both houses would permit Texans to buy rifles, shotguns and ammunition in adjoining states despite the federal gun law. Similar legislation is being considered in other states.

Senate passed a variety of bills including a Texas Meat Inspection Law (which is necessary to prevent federal regulation of meat), a trailer house uniform standards act, a 45-minute daily planning break for school teachers and extension of time for homecoming Vietnam servicemen (90 days after return) to renew their drivers' licenses.

House approved bills allowing persons between 19 and 21 to be licensed as cab drivers, protecting the rights of developers of new varieties of cotton, and requiring the labeling of eggs as to their state or country of origin.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Legislators kept dropping more bills into both the House and Senate hoppers, including:

- * A bill to require telephone companies to maintain a business office in every county seat where it provides telephone service.
- * Creation of a 50-member Governor's Committee on Human Relations "to recommend programs of action designed and intended to promote and obtain a better understanding and relationship between the various groups."
- * Establishing a Texas Board of Examiners in the Fitting and Dispensing of Hearing Aids to license and regulate all persons in that business.
- * Allowing haulers of agricultural products to get a permit to operate without having to prove their service would fit the "public convenience and necessity," which other truckers must show.
- * Creating the Legislative Modernization Committee to study and improve the legislative process.
- * Closely regulating when and how and for what purpose state law-enforcement agencies can use electronic eavesdropping or "bugging."
- * Requiring all elections in Texas to be with the use of voting machines, which the state would furnish but which would be stored and maintained by the counties.
- * Allowing school districts to increase the length of their school terms from nine to 10 months.
- * Increasing the penalty for the crimes of rape, armed robbery and murder.
- * Providing state support for kindergarten programs voluntarily operated by local school districts for five-year-old children.
- * Requiring door-to-door salesmen to return a customer's money, if the customer demands it within three days after buying something which he did not solicit.

APPOINTMENTS

Former State Rep. Joe Burkett Jr. of Kerrville was named by Governor Smith to the Texas Liquor Control Board for a short term extending until November 11. He succeeds O.

R. Crawford of Jasper who resigned.

Smith named Leslie R. Neal of San Antonio to succeed William E. Berger of Hondo on the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Governor appointed Tommy V. Smith of Austin as Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Governor Smith appointed Dr. Albert B. Spires of Taylor to the State Board of Medical Examiners; James W. Thrommorton and Daniel J. Bromley Jr. of Port Arthur as branch pilots for Sabine Bar, Pass and Tributaries.

He reappointed Laurence R. Melton, Dallas, as chairman of the Committee for the Employment of Handicapped.

COURTS SPEAK

Supreme Court listened to arguments of two banks over which bank is entitled to administer $300 million estate of Sara Kenedy East pending a decision on which will of the South Texas ranch owner is valid. Will contest itself will be heard in Kenedy County district court near Kingsville.

A 19-year-old San Antonio youth, hit by a taxi while trying to help a girl hurt in a previous traffic mishap, is not entitled to damages awarded him by the trial court, says the High Court.

A merchant seaman seriously injured when he fell on an unsecured plate on a catwalk should recover $54,264 judgment, the Court found.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

To nobody's great surprise, Attorney General Martin declared unconstitutional Governor Smith's proposed diversion of money earmarked to the permanent school fund for current education spending.

Martin said legislation making air and water pollution misdemeanor offenses unconstitutional as applied to associations and firms in that the constitutional reference applied only to individuals and private corporations. A variance by state agencies would be complete defense to prosecution.

Attorney General held as not qualified an applicant for registration as a professional engineer who holds only an agricultural degree from Texas Tech College prior to 1962.

Population Rise To 235 Million Seen by 1980

The United States population is expected to exceed 205.5 million people by 1970 and 235 million by 1980, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

The insurer claims these estimates are based on a recent study which indicated that the population at mid-1968 was an estimated 201,700,000 and the labor force about 84,550,000.

Population growth in recent years reflects the high level of births during the 1950's and earlier 1960's.

The labor force is expected to increase by 14.6 per cent compared with 13.9 per cent rise in the period between 1967 and 1975. The pattern is expected to continue; in 1980 the number of people employed or seeking work may reach 101 million, or three of every five persons at age 16 and over.

Population growth is likely to contribute all but 7.5 per cent in this future expansion of the labor force, with increased participation rates for women accounting for the remainder.

Population growth in recent years reflects the high level of births during the 1950's and earlier 1960's.

TAXPAYERS, HOW LONG?

THE FAMILY TAX BURDEN

The estimate of all taxes to be collected in fiscal 1969 by federal, state and local governments averages out to about $3,927 per American family.

That's up $370 from fiscal 1968, says the Tax Foundation, Inc. Thirteen years ago, taxes collected by all government were equivalent to $1,897 per family.

This estimate is based on anticipated tax receipts of $247 billion in fiscal 1969 and will be $147 billion higher than fiscal 1956. Tax receipts by the federal government alone will have more than doubled since 1956, while state-local tax receipts will be close to tripling during the same period of time.

This ever-increasing tax burden on the American taxpayer points up the immediate need for careful screening of expenditures, elimination of overlapping projects, and the setting of priorities at all levels of government.

Food For Thought

Mrs. B. A. Snoddy

"For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: And the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called wonderful, counselor, The Mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

Let us continue our study this week, about the reign of Christ on this earth. We often say, after listening to the daily news, that it seems we never hear any good news, and is only news of war, how many are killed, and how many are wounded, murder, riots on college and school campuses, wreckage and destruction, and no progress made in the peace talks in Paris, then our thoughts turn to the time, as recorded in God's written word; of the coming of the Lord Jesus, to set up his glorious reign, when all the works of Satan will be bound, and there will be an abundance of Peace.

In Isaiah's prophesy, made hundreds of years before Christ was born, prophesying about this very thing, that the government shall be upon his shoulder--this is part of which was in the plan, when this child was born, and the son was given.

To break down the verse, you will note the colon, (:) after the statement that the government shall be upon his shoulder:

and the following statement explains what shall be while the government is on his shoulder: a. His name shall be called wonderful; b. counselor; c. The mighty God; d. The everlasting Father; e. The Prince of Peace.

The Lord said (Isaiah 66: 18-19) that he would gather all nations and tongues, and they shall come and see his glory, and those that escape of the battle of Armageddon would be sent afar off, that have not heard of his fame, neither have seen his glory, and they shall declare his glory among the Gentile nations.

(Verse 20 and 23) "And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the Lord out of all nations, upon horses, and in chariots, and in litters, and upon mules, and upon swift beasts, to my holy mountain Jerusalem, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel bring an offering in a clean vessel into the house of the Lord.

And it shall come to pass that from one new moon to another, and from one sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

As I have already brought out in my earlier writings, that when the Lord comes back, the people will look upon him whom they have pierced. (Zech. 12:10) especially the Jewish people who rejected their messiah, and cried out, crucify him!

And when they realized what they had done, they will mourn for him, as one that mourneth for his only son, and "In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for uncleanness," Zech. 13:1

And the Lord shall do well unto Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah, instead of punishing them. Zech. 8:14 and 15

Israel shall blossom and bud and fill the face of the world with fruit. Isaiah 27:6

"Thus saith the Lord of Hosts; it shall yet come to pass that there shall come people and the inhabitants of many cities: and the inhabitants of on

by AUSTIN NICHOLS
Lo, the winter is past; the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; and the time of the singing of birds is come.

And with this time comes the 70th anniversary of the annual state competitions of the American Trapshooting Association that brings men, women, and children out into the great outdoors to be one with nature and fellow men.

As in years past, the makers of Wild Turkey Bourbon again will be part of the great confluence of man and nature by contributing Wild Turkey Trophies to each winner of every registered state shoot in the United States and provinces of Canada.

This year's Wild Turkey Trophies were selected to make happy winners of both the staff and distaff members of trapshooting family enthusiasts.

Christian Dior, the internationally famous designer, designed fashionable pure silk ties embroidered with the wild turkey painted by America's eminent artist, Ken Davies.

The original wild turkey painting of Ken Davies also provided the inspiration for the design of a superb set of dinner mats in off-white, framed in burnt orange, and featuring in-depth perspective of three David wild turkeys in brilliant plumage.
