Turnersville Housing Project Funded By F.H.A

The Turnersville Community Center Corporation has received notification that final closing of the $49,000 Housing Project Loan can be completed, reports Vance Stephens of the Former Home Administration. Stephens estimated that the closing could be completed on Friday with work beginning as soon as possible.

The rural housing project will be located east of the old gymnasium on both sides of FM 182.

The housing project will consist of five individual dwellings of one-story each. Two dwellings will contain two bedrooms and three dwellings will contain three bedrooms. A typical dwelling will have a combination living room and dining area, two or three bedrooms, a kitchen, and a bathroom.

Each dwelling's entrance ways, both front and rear, will be at ground level. The dwellings will have their own individual laundry and storage facilities. Turnersville has four churches, a grocery store, post office, service station, garage, beauty shop, cotton gin, and other small businesses. The community is also serviced by a rural water system financed by the Farmers Home Administration.

The ballots may be mailed in or brought to the county office at any time within the voting period, but the Chairman emphasized that the ballot must be in the county office by the close of business on Friday, May 9, or postmarked by midnight on that date.

Murder Charges Filed In Stabbing Death

Murder with malice charges were filed late Tuesday following the stabbing death of Freddie Turner, 16, at the Mountain View School for Boys against another inmate, James Clancy Myers, age 19.

The incident occurred during a school recess period a procession of approximately 200 boys were returning to classes at about 3:00 p.m., reported Mack Morris, assistant superintendent of Mountain View. Morris noted that the inmates, marching in groups of approximately 30 boys were nearing the academic building when Turner was stabbed. Witness to the attack reported to Morris that Myers broke from his "line" and ran to Turner's line and stabbed him. Witnesses reported to Morris that Myers then attempted to escape running east toward the fences but was apprehended and disarmed about 100 yards away by Mountain View guards Ransal Meeks and Coy Jones.

Taken from Myers was a home-made knife approximately eight inches long, ground out of a piece of one-fourth inch steel and sharpened to a point.

Myers was held in the Mountain View Security Unit until Sheriff Windy Cummings arrived at about 3:30 p.m.

Turner was rushed to Coryell Memorial Hospital and was pronounced dead on arrival by Justice of the Peace, Stony Hammock.

Attending doctors reported that the blade pierced Turner's heart and he died almost instantly.

Charges were filed in Justice of the Peace Stony Hammock's court with Myers being held without bond in Coryell County Jail.

The complaint was signed by Mack Morris of the Mountain View School.

Turner and Myer had both been committed to the Gatesville Schools twice. Turner was committed from McLennan County and his parents presently live in Roswell, New Mexico. Myers is from Houston, Texas.

Myers was questioned by District Attorney Bryum McClellan at the Courthouse at about 6:00 p.m., Tuesday. McClellan reported that Myers had signed a statement pertaining to the incident. Statements were taken from guards and inmate who alleged witnessed the attack.

James Clancy Myers, 19, pictured above at right with District Attorney, Bryum McClellan was charged Tuesday with the murder with malice of Freddie Turner, 16. Myers allegedly attacked Turner stabbing him in the heart with a home-made knife.

Masons have planned to honor the law enforcement officers of Coryell County at that time.

Special guest speaker for the Respect for Law program will be J. Guy Smith, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas.

Cotton Growers Reminded Of Time To Vote

Cotton growers were reminded today that the period May 5 through May 9 is the time for voting on whether a cotton farmer may sell or lease his farm's cotton allotment for 1970 and so transfer it for use on another farm outside the county (but within the State). A "yes" vote by at least two-thirds of the county's cotton farmers who vote in the referendum will permit such transfers to be made in 1970 for a period of time agreed on by the parties involved.

To become effective for 1970, transfer requests must be filed at the county office during the period June 1 through December 31, 1969.

Robert L. Melbern, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explains that a grower is eligible to vote in the referendum if he produces upland cotton in the county. Ballots are being mailed to all known cotton producers, May 2 and any cotton producer who does not receive one by mail is urged to immediately get in touch with the ASCS county office.

The ballots may be mailed in or brought to the county office at any time within the voting period, but the Chairman emphasized that the ballot must be in the county office by the close of business on Friday, May 9, or postmarked by midnight on that date.

George N. Dento, District Deputy Grand Master of Masonic District #16 in 1953, Smith was Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1968. He is a Scottish Rite Mason, 33.

Following the 2:00 p.m. program Masons will return to the lodge building for formal dedication ceremonies. The formal dedication is closed to the public.

GSSB ESCAPEE BELIEVED DROWNED IN LEON RIVER

An escapee of the Live Oak School of the Gatesville State School for Boys was reported missing and presumed drowned Tuesday.

The youth, Jimmy Ochoa, 15 years old was with five other inmates who escaped at approximately 8:00 p.m. Monday reported Leland Dyess, unit superintendent.

Two Copperas Cove Men Charged With Arson

Charges of arson were filed in Copperas Cove in connection with the burning of the Bargain House at the corner of 1st Street and Rose Street in Copperas Cove.

The business operated by the Catholic Church was gutted by a fire Friday night, reported Deputy Sheriff, Charlie Walsh. The merchandise of the store Dyess explained that the six youths broke free after dark, running north up the river. The boys returned voluntarily early Tuesday telling of Ochoa's attempt to cross the river.

"The boys told of their river crossing attempt," reported Dyess explaining, "one of the escapees had successfully crossed to the other bank from a log where the boys were clinging to. Ochoa pushed off the log, relayed Dyess, and inhaled some water." "He came to the surface only one time about twelve to fifteen feet down stream gasping for air" Dyess explained.

The boys searched the banks calling to Ochoa for almost two hours before returning to the school to report the drowning.

The State School rescue crew located the site of the drowning with the help of the five boys returning to the school at 11:00 a.m. Tuesday and began dragging operations. Fort Hood Rescue Squad was called in Tuesday in an effort to locate the drowned youth.

Wednesday, river search continued with two boats working all day. Wednesday night lights were used to illuminate the river area west of the school.

Lights used in the search operation were supplied by the Gatesville Fire Department. Early Thursday three river boats made the first run up and down the swift flowing river and found nothing.

The river has dropped six inches each day (Tuesday and Wednesday). Superintendent Dyess noted early Thursday that Ochoa has been missing for 57 hours. Search operations will continue indefinitely with continued night surveillance.

Ochoa, 5'9", 160 pounder, had entered the school on February 14, 1969 and lived in Poteet, Texas 30 miles south of San Antonio.

Night Search.....

The search for Jimmy Ochoa continued through Wednesday night with search lights being set up west of the Gatesville State School. As of 2:30 p.m., Thursday no trace of the youth had been found.

lotments by sale or lease from one farm to another within the same county, and it will not affect transfers across county lines from one farm owned to another farm owned or operated by the same person. Both of these kinds of transfers are already provided by law.

If more than a third of the growers voting in the referendum vote "no" sales and leases of cotton allotments outside the county may not be made during 1970. Past referenda on allotment transfers have applied to crop years through 1969. The referendum May 3-9 affects only the 1970 crop year.

Farmers are cautioned to follow all instructions in marking their ballots. The certification on the back of the envelope sent to producers must be signed or the producer's mark witnessed as evidence that the ballot was marked by the producer personally without undue influence by any person. Ballots are kept secret, although the counting of the ballots is public.

This public counting of the ballots will take place on Wednesday, May 14, 1969 at 8:00 a.m. in the ASCS county office. Anyone who wishes may watch the counting.

Because the transfer of cotton allotments is so important to growers, it is hoped that a large percentage of the county's cotton producers will cast their ballots. Any cotton producer in the county who has not received a ballot by mail is urged to immediately get in touch with the ASCS county office.

THE COLOR CORNER BY MARTHA BRANDT

COLOR COURAGE

There's much more to color than meets the eye — and the eye meets color at every turn, particularly in men's wear nowadays.

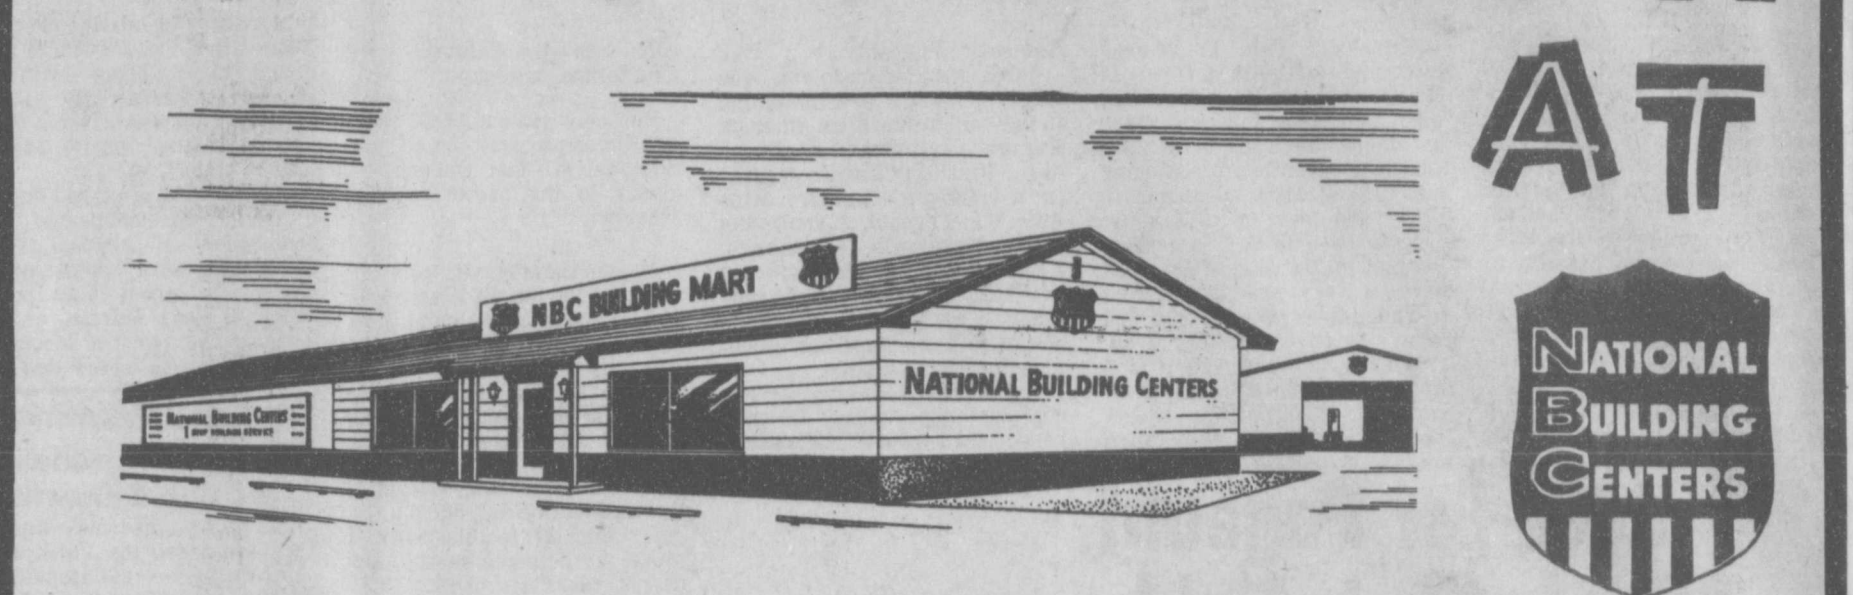

You can no longer expect to find a black and white world in men's evening fashions, any more than you would expect to find all women wearing the same color scheme. According to the Textile Dye Institute, the fact that men can and do wear blue, red, gray, pale yellow and other colors for evening wear may not shake the world. But it shakes a still-ingrown concept of the Evening Male and the Daytime Male.

This proves a theory long endorsed by those who know color. Women like the man who has color courage.

One other aspect of the color courage drive means that men and women, as couples, will have to coordinate their colors. Heaven forbid that She should wear an orange dress when He is wearing a red dinner jacket. Perhaps it has changed an age-old question: "What color are you wearing to the dance?" (so he can send flowers) to a more current question: "What color are we featuring when we go out together?"

It also means that the color industry, with the cornerstone the makers of dyes for textiles, is facing a new and changing future. It's a challenge to the industry, which makes the dyes (6 million pounds, according to the Textile Dye Institute), but it's also a challenge to the individual. You can now choose your own colors — just ask the people who make them.

EVANT NEWS by Cornelia Kreid

Rain is on the top rail so far as ranch news is concerned, as yet. Between eight tenths and one and one quarter inches fell in and around Evant Saturday and Sunday. From the looks of things, one can tell little of where they live these days, by looking out the window. It looks more like an emerald island than Texas.

SENIOR CLASS HONORED

Evant seniors are in the minds of all and in the center of the social world these days. On the night following the senior play, the class was honored at the El Rancho Cafe by hostesses, Mrs. Leslie Sheldon, Mrs. Lester Forrest, Mrs. Melvin Horton, Mrs. James Billingsly and Mrs. J. R. Slone. Chosen for special "spotlights" were Dwight Sheldon, Mary Billingsly, Sandra Slone and Douglas Forrest. Seventeen of the twenty seniors were present.

The school colors of gold and black were carried out in the table decoration, from which was served a fried chicken dinner. Mrs. Jimmie Slone honored the group by baking a fancy cake in keeping with the idea of graduates, using black and gold decorations. The total number of guests for the occasion being some thirty-eight people. It was pronounced an event of the year.

SUCCESS STORIES OF EVANT

Success stories keep coming concerning former students of Evant school. Families of these students are real proud of them. But even those who did not gain recognition in the present situations in school, friends are still following them. Take the note from the Eric Neeley family, 3708 Cherrywood Road, Austin, Texas, for instance that relates of Eric being among the eight men chosen to attend a buffet luncheon at the State School for Mental Retardation, recently, at which time Governor Preston Smith was present. Eric has been with the State School for nine years and is foreman of the yard crew.

Mrs. Neeley is not with the State School anymore, but is manager of an elementary school cafeteria in Austin. Then we got word that Mr.

and Mrs. Edward Perkins entertained Mr. Perkins' nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer DeHart, Jr., Houston, over the week-end. Mr. DeHart is vice-president of a Houston bank. His mother, the former Vallie Perkins as well as his father, have lived in and around Evant and this outstanding son is another of Evant's "appreciated sons".

WINNERS AT REGIONAL MEET

Winners in regional meet for Evant schools included Tommy Rogers, who won second in shot put, and became eligible to go to state meet. Others who won places included Jimmy Pruden, fifth in informative speaking, Phyllis Adams, eighth in poetry interpretation; Anne Adams, third in typing; and Anne Adams places in slide rule, also.

SPRING ROUND-UP

The class of Mrs. Leone Walton had another Spring Round-up on food, fun and features, at the local park last Thursday. Mrs. Walton treats her fifth grade to these student parties in which the western theme is included, each year after warm weather arrives. The boys suddenly become men who arrange for family groups to go west in covered wagons and camp along the trail. A minister is engaged for holding services, camp meeting style; everyone joins in the atmosphere of a wagon train trip all the way to the local park. The outdoor meal included sausage, county style and all the combinations of old-fashioned living one can imagine. The only modern note was when one of the couples got ready to get a "divorce" they made the mistake and approached the minister instead of going to the court—which probably did not exist, as there are only twelve students in the entire room.

IRIS TOUR AT BERTRAND'S GARDEN, PURMELA

Not that I have ever seen Chandler's Gardens, Weatherford, but if one can not go, Purmela is too close to Evant to miss one nearly as good. This iris garden is at the home of Mrs. R. A. Bertrand, one of the most famous iris people one will ever meet. There are thirty varieties of every kind, size and color of iris one can easily imagine, in and around the place. One new plant set, some as late as January 1969, that is a perfect show place. It holds some of the "pink collection" and some of all the other rare combinations of color, type and depth. One can not imagine how an angel's wing must appear, without seeing the tall white ones with dew dripping from them, some morning about sun-up.

The first view of the place jumps up to meet the eye with the family vegetable garden following the car to the end of the long drive to the house. Long rows of every conceivable kind and variety of vegetables grown there just long enough to measure Mrs. Bertrand's standard for canning or freezing. She has no family, at home, but her husband and two playful puppies, but her guests just groan under a well filled appetite after a visit the year around.

Then comes the tour around the yard. Not only iris, but many, many other flowers, both in pots, planters and beds, greets one. A huge pit just for winter protection of pot plants occupies one end of the yard. The iris garden is last to see, but one never suspects but that they are in it all the while, since so many fine specimens are tucked in the beds all along the path that pop out like children on Christmas morning.

If this is too late for iris, the trip will be worthwhile, any time, if it takes until 'mum time to go. Do not miss it; the admission is free, too. If you are a little boy, age eleven, ice cream cones as a final treat.

To bring this period to a closing, mothers told of their most embarrassing or their funniest experience with a child.

Refreshments were served from a table covered in yellow overlaid with white chiffon. White and pastel green satin ribbon formed bows and draped around the edge. From one end of the table, lime sherbert fizz was served. At the other end was dainty white cake squares decorated with yellow rose buds. Nuts and butter mints were also served. Crystal and silver appointments were used. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums. Approximately twenty guests attended.

RECITALS - It's the time of year for piano and dance recitals. What is cuter than a little child showing off a talent.

One we know about for sure is the dance recital being presented by the students of Miss Nanet Birkhead, May 10, 8:00 p.m.

WORKER'S HOME—HIS CASTLE?

EMPLOYEE'S HOME DEFENDED Is the American worker's right to privacy in danger?

It looks that way from some recent developments. For example, a federal district court recently sustained a basic ruling by the National Labor Relations Board by ordering a textile company to give the NLRB the names and addresses of employees eligible to vote in a union election. Both the NLRB and the court ignored the strenuous objection of more than 200 workers that such action would violate their right of privacy.

One possible result of this infringement of personal rights is that union organizers—who obtain such lists from the NLRB for representation elections—may harass and coerce employees in their own homes.

But when the NLRB insisted that a Boston manufacturer provide a list of employee names and addresses, which a union could use for an organizing drive, the New England firm got its Yankee dander up. It went to court to protect the employees' right to privacy—and the Court of Appeals in Boston upheld the company's challenge on the ground that the NLRB rule was improperly adopted.

The court accused the NLRB, "to put it bluntly, [of designing] its own rule-making procedure, adopting such part of the Congressional mandate as it chose and rejecting the rest." It also said the NLRB "has chosen to disregard Congress."

The case has been appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. We hope that an early decision by that high tribunal will affirm a fundamental American right—freedom from invasion of privacy.

In addition, we believe it's high time the NLRB be required to abide by regulations for carrying out the laws of Congress.

POAGE REVIEWS EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANT PROGRAM

Most high school seniors planning to go to college are being notified of the outcome of their applications at this time. A number of federal programs provide assistance to students who need help to finance their education. I hope information I have obtained from the Office of Education concerning these programs will be helpful to young people in the Eleventh District.

National Defense Student Loan Program

The NDSL Program provides for loans up to $1,000 a year to a total of $5,000 for college or university undergraduates and up to $2,500 a year for graduate or professional study to a maximum of $10,000. Interest rate on these loans is a nominal three percent and repayment begins after a college or university student ends his study and may extend over ten year period. Loans to students who become teachers may be cancelled in whole or in part—a percentage cancellation being allowed for each year engaged in the teaching profession.

The college or university determines which students will receive a loan and sets the amount; therefore, the student financial aid officer of the college or university which a student plans to attend can furnish more specific information as to loan money available.

Work-Study Programs

The College Work-Study Program may assist by providing an opportunity for a student to work for the college or university itself or for a public or private non-profit agency such as a school, a social agency, or a hospital—cooperating with the college or university. A student may work an average of 15 hours per week while classes are in session and 40 hours per week during the summer or other vacation periods. The salary paid (the student) is generally equal to the current minimum wage though it is sometimes more for highly specialized work.

Again, the college or university selects the students to be employed and decides on suitable jobs. Thus, the college or university selects the student financial aid officer could furnish information as to openings for students in the programs.

Educational Opportunity Grants

These grants are available for students of exceptional financial need who would be unable to continue their education without them. Grants up to $1,000 a year may be made for four years of undergraduate study. If a student is elected for a grant, he or she will receive additional financial assistance at least equal to the Educational Opportunity amount.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday

Guaranteed Student Loans

Under this program students may be able to borrow money directly from a savings and loan association, credit union, bank, or other lender to attend a college, university, technical, vocational or business school. If the family's adjusted income is less than $15,000 a year, the federal government will pay the full interest charged on the loan while a student is in school. Repayment ordinarily commences 9-12 months after the student ceases to be enrolled in at least half-time status. The period for repayment is normally arranged for 5-10 years but can be deferred under certain circumstances, i.e., while in the Armed Forces, etc. A student may borrow under this program if enrolled or accepted for enrollment on at least a half-time basis as an undergraduate, graduate or professional student at an eligible college or university, hospital school of nursing, or approved vocational, technical or business school. There are no age limitations on loans for vocational school and you do not have to be a high school graduate or even an elementary school graduate—the only requirement is that one be able to benefit from the training you will receive.

Arrangements for the loan—whether a student is interested in a college or university degree, technical, vocational or business-school training—must be made directly by the applicant with the lender, not with the school.

The value of a college or university education or of technical, vocational or business school training is beneficial throughout a person's life. It makes sense to invest in a good education. These federal-aid programs spell OPPORTUNITY for young people, thus, I hope many will avail themselves of the chance which they offer for improved earnings and way of life.

PUBLIC NOTICE Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (HJR9)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows: "Section 49-d-1. (a) In addition to Texas Water Development Bonds heretofore authorized to be issued by Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III of the Constitution, the Texas Water Development Board is hereby authorized to issue $3,500,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of bonds. No part of such additional bonds shall be issued prior to approval thereof by the vote of two-thirds of the elected members of both houses of the Legislature. (b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund. (c) The bonds herein authorized and all bonds authorized by such Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III shall bear such interest and mature as the Texas Water Development Board shall prescribe subject to the limitations as may be imposed by the Legislature. (d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by and subject to the limitations in said Sections 49-c and 49-d and in addition thereto for the purposes of developing water resources and facilities for the State of Texas, both within the State and without the State of Texas. Provided, however, that financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of such Sections 49-c and 49-d subject only to the availability of funds and without regard to the provisions in Section 49-c that such financial assistance shall terminate after December 31, 1982. (e) Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe, the Texas Water Development Board may receive grants and, in addition, execute contracts with the United States or any of its agencies, other states of the United States, foreign governments and others, for the acquisition and development of such water resources and facilities for the State of Texas. Such contracts when executed may be secured by the general credit of the state, and if so secured shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas in the same manner and with the same effect as Texas Water Development Bonds. If facilities are acquired for a term of years, such contracts shall contain provisions for renewal that will protect the state's investment. The aggregate principal amount of Texas Water Development Bonds authorized herein and in said Sections 49-c and 49-d shall be reduced by the aggregate of principal payments committed under such contracts constituting general obligations of the state. The provisions hereof shall not be construed to limit the authority of the Texas

Water Development Board to execute contracts or issue revenue bonds when such contracts or bonds are not secured by the general credit of the state.

(f) Texas Water Development Bonds and such contracts secured by the general credit of the state shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

(g) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on Tuesday, August 5, 1969, at which election all ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment broadening the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and the purposes of the Texas Water Development Fund; eliminating the interest limitations on Texas Water Development Bonds; raising the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3,500,000,000; extending the maturity schedule on Texas Water Development Bonds; eliminating the procedure for curtailment and the curtailment date of financial assistance to be provided by the Texas Water Development Board." 4

NEWS & VIEWS

Coach Bob Arnold's G.H.S. golf team has already proven itself to be one of the four best 3-A teams in the state, and they could quite conceivably bring home a state championship. Senior, Butch Price, the sparkplug of the team, has been playing golf for quite a number of years and it seems to have paid off. He is backed up by four more fine golfers--Jim Thomas, Bob Thomas, Clay McClellan, and Mike Thrasher, all of whom will be around next year to give G.H.S. another great chance at the state crown. The tourney will be held this year in Austin. It will start today and the concluding round will be played Saturday.

Gatesville will have another athlete in state competition this week-end as high jumper, Gary Kafer competes in the state track meet in Austin. It would be unrealistic to expect Gary to win in this meet due to the extremely strong competition. He should, however, give a fine performance and finish highly. It must be noted that he is only a sophomore this year. If he continues to improve he should be one of the top school-boy jumpers in the state in the next year or two.

Coach Lowell Bishop has done a fine job this year with a young, inexperienced track team. He built the foundation for strong teams in the next year or two, and it is a shame that he will not be around to guide those teams. I don't know where he will be next year, but you can be sure that he will be a welcome addition to any school's coaching staff.

With the 1968-1969 school year entering its last month all the students and faculty are preparing to "wind it up for another year."

The juniors and seniors are busy working on research papers which are due in the middle of May. The seniors are also concerned with preparations for graduation. Many of the students are rushing around trying to find summer jobs. As usual, May will be a hectic month around the G.H.S. campus.

The girls track team has been training hard this week trying to get into top shape for the up-coming state meet in Abilene May 9-10. With girls entered in seven events, the Hornets should pile up enough team points to emerge as one of the top teams in the state. They won fifth place in the state meet last year, but as Coach Poe pointed out, the competition gets tougher each year.

Students Receive 1969 Crescent

The G. H. S. students were given their 1969 school annuals last week, an event that is always eagerly anticipated. The 1969 Crescent was dedicated to Mrs. Maxine Beard, senior English teacher.

This year's theme was "Reflections". The foreword, written by editors Kay Spencer and Kathy Sims, stated it well: "Reflections are golden . . . This yearbook will serve as a mirror through which reflections will pass . . . Memories of the students, the faculty and the administrators . . . those who gave significance to G. H. S. The time and effort spent on learning, the fun of sports and activities, and all the little things which make up memories that will last a lifetime are preserved forever in this book. We have attempted to capture the best and most outstanding of these memories. It is not just today that you will appreciate the Crescent. Tomorrow, when it is not so easy to think back on '69, we will treasure the reflections this book has stored for us."

Assembly Honors Outstanding Athletes

Tuesday afternoon, an assembly was held for the purpose of recognizing several G. H. S. athletes who had worked hard and met with success this year.

Gerald Poe introduced his girls track team and briefly reviewed the season. He gave special recognition to the girls who competed in the regional meet and those who qualified for the state meet which will be held in Abilene on the weekend of May 9-10.

Bob Arnold, Jr., coach of the golf team, introduced the boys and told of their successes on the links this year. He told of their up-coming state meet this week-end in which they will face the state's three other top 3-A golf teams. Arnold pointed out that he was also expecting great things of next year's team which will be the same as this year's, with the exception of graduating senior Butch Price.

Coach Lowell Bishop recognized all of the boys who participated in track this year. He praised the team for its dedication and hard work in the face of limited success. He also pointed out that it was a young team and should be strong in future years. He praised the four athletes who competed at the regional meet and indicated his pride and confidence in high-jumper, Gary Kafer, who will be competing in the state track meet this week-end in Austin.

MUSIC SCENE

This week's column will not be devoted to any particular subject but will be filled with tid-bits of information picked up here and there.

The top performer of 1968 awards from both "Rolling Stone" and "Billboard" magazines went to Jimi Hendrix. Who will receive it in 1969? It is certainly early to even have any indication, what with so many new stars continually rocketing up and many old, established performers turning to new things.

Certainly one of the most promising new stars is Johnny Winter, a guitarist from our own state. He was recently given a chance to perform in New York and was a tremendous hit. This 23-year old Texas has been called the greatest white blues guitarist alive, comparable to Eric Clapton and Jimi Hendrix. His style is his own, however, and he is said to recapture the fire and feeling of some of the earlier blues greats.

Other artist and groups who look promising are John Koerner, the Rhinoceros, and the Led Zeppelin.

Music is becoming broader and more mixed and the types of music are not distinct as they once were. Today we see a great deal of mingling of rock music with jazz, blues, classical and country and western.

Several groups have lately revived some of the golden oldies. Currently on the charts are Bobby Vinton's version of the Cascade's old hit "Rhythm of the Rain" and the Vogues recording of the Penguins' old song, "Earth Angel".

Pick hits of the week are "Goodbye", a Lennon and McCartney tune, recorded by Mary Hopkin and "Black Pearl" by Sonny Charles. Top song of the week is "Don't Touch Me" by Bettye Swann.

The Soul Society, a local band, asked me to convey to the readers their apologies for having to cancel last Saturday night's dance. They had trouble with their equipment and it was impossible for them to perform. They said that they hoped to have a dance in the near future.

Next Year's Cheerleaders Elected

Thursday morning, the try-outs were held to determine which girls will serve as cheerleaders next year. The G.H.S. student body witnessed the try-outs and voted on the candidates for yell leaders.

The elected cheerleaders for next year will be Debbie Day, Jeffery Neel, Debbie Hairston, Margo Veazey, and Susan Martin. Alternate cheerleader will be Lu Lee.

UNDERWATER BLUEPRINT

To fishermen the most important part of any lake is the bottom.

Well, not really. But its second only to the water. Knowing what the bottom of a lake looks like can mean the difference between an empty creel or a full stringer. Underwater ridges are often favorite feeding and spawning grounds. Knowing where the deep holes are pays off on hot summer days. Winter finds some fish feeding along shallow underwater banks. These are all hot spots for anglers, and unless you know the underwater terrain, you'll probably overlook many of them.

But how does one acquire this topographic knowledge about a lake that's full of water? There are several ways say the fishing authorities at Mercury outdoors.

One method is to look at the surrounding country and try to determine how the bottom would appear if the lake was drained. Along the shore, cliffs, slopes, hills, mud banks, protruding rocks -- all indicate something about the underwater character of a lake.

It's often possible to obtain copies of topographical maps showing elevation levels before a lake was filled. With these it's only a matter of drawing in the lake at the proper elevation line, and then reading what the bottom looks like. Some reservoirs have been mapped hydrographically--a refined version of a topographical map.

A third method is by trolling a deep-running lure. Experienced anglers can judge depth, and often character -- sand, mud or rocks--by the feel of a bottom-bumping plug. And at the same time they're doing some fishing.

Improve your fishing success the next time out. Try a combination of methods and learn to see the bottom of the lake.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By L. SANFORD

A few generations ago we gave very little thought to the possibility that in this century we might see the end of clean rivers. Now it is up to us. Pollution has increased to a point where water and wildlife will suffer and even people will perish. It is horrible to contemplate. Today, scientists are working diligently on methods of pollution prevention.

But we, the people, are doing our darndest to bring it about. We have turned river and lake banks into settlements. Literally thousands of houses are without proper sanitary facilities. We toss our empty bottles, cans and old tires into the streams. Or leave them where they will wash into the water with the first heavy rain.

We operate thousands of houseboats on our lakes . . . and nearly all of them are without proper sanitary facilities. It seems that we do just about everything possible to ruin our water.

This is the water we drink. We bathe in it. We use it for our crops and our flowers. We even baptise with this water. Yet we pollute it.

Official steps are being taken to correct this situation, but it still remains a personal obligation, too. Each of us benefits and each of us pays the price.

Some hope may be available from the Scenic Rivers bill now in Congress. This measure sets up a national policy for the protection of wild and scenic streams. Coverage by the bill includes a stream or a section of a stream or a tributary and the adjacent lands. Measure passed without opposition in the Senate, but it encountered trouble in the House. This because some of the Congressmen were more interested in building dams and providing industry than keeping any scenic beauty for the future generations.

You can give support to this bill by writing your own congressman and letting him know that you believe some of our beautiful streams should be kept for posterity. Also pledge to him your support in keeping the streams of our areas as free from pollution as possible.

City ordinances and state laws exist, but there is a lack of enforcement and few teeth in the laws. Therefore it becomes an individual problem. Every one of us must do something to save our rivers, our fish and wildlife, our recreational areas and even our lives.

Next time you are tempted to toss a beverage can or throw an old tire into the water, think twice. You are not just hurting yourself, you are robbing your children and grandchildren of their rightful heritage . . . clean, pure water!

Most Texans Favor Crackdown On Campus Militants, Poll Shows

As the wave of student disturbances spreads to more college campuses across the country, the great majority of Texans vehemently favor a crackdown on the militants. Statewide public opinion as measured by the Texas Poll in its latest survey is overwhelmingly one-sided on these two issues:

1. Eighty-one percent say students who defy college authorities should be expelled from school.

2. Eighty-two percent say colleges and universities should not give in to Negro leader's demands that more black students be admitted to these institutions whether or not they meet academic requirements.

While attitudes are not as lopsided as those above, majorities still oppose acceding to student demands on two other matters:

1. Fifty-two percent disagree that students should have more say in academic matters such as courses, exams, and teachers.

2. Fifty-two percent also disagree students should have more say on campus rules and regulation.

There is a majority agreement among Texas adults--57 percent--that professors should be allowed to speak and teach the truth as they interpret it; what may well disturb some is the fact that 36 percent in the state oppose this concept, in effect denying what has become traditional academic freedom and the American idea of freedom of speech.

In a highly-emotional controversy such as the college crisis has been, it is useful to look below the surface of public opinion and try to evaluate its intensity. The survey was conducted by asking a cross section of adults whether they agreed or disagreed with the statements quoted below. Respondents were asked to express their degree of agreement or disagreement on a six-point scale that enable replies to be classified as "strong or moderate."

These were the replies on the five propositions tested:

"Students who defy university and college authorities should be expelled from school."

Agree strongly . . . 69%

Agree moderately . . . 12%

Disagree moderately . . . 6%

Disagree strongly . . . 11%

No opinion 2%

"College students should have a greater voice concerning the academic side of colleges--that is, the courses, examinations, and teachers."

Agree strongly . . . 17%

Agree moderately . . . 26%

Disagree moderately 16%

Disagree strongly . . 36%

No opinion 5%

"Students should be given more voice in deciding campus rules and regulations."

Agree strongly . . . 15%

Agree moderately . . 29%

Disagree moderately 18%

Disagree strongly . . 34%

No opinion 4%

"Professors should be able to speak and teach the truth as they see it."

Agree strongly . . . 35%

Agree moderately . . 22%

Disagree moderately 15%

"Colleges and universities should accept more black students than they do now, whether or not they meet the regular scholastic entrance requirements."

Agree strongly . . . 8%

Agree moderately . . 6%

Disagree moderately 11%

Disagree strongly . . 71%

No opinion 4%

Younger people interviewed, those 21 to 34, tend to agree with older Texans, even to the degree of their attitudes, on expelling campus lawbreakers and not admitting Negroes to colleges if they fall below academic standards. The younger do disagree in that a majority of them would give students more voice in campus affairs, both on rules and academic matters.

People who attend college themselves are among the least inclined to allow more student participation in academic decisions, while a majority of them do favor greater student roles in deciding campus rules. Among all the groups analyzed, the college educated turned in the highest percentage against admitting unqualified blacks to the colleges--92 percent.

Negro respondents themselves were widely divided on the issue of opening up colleges to blacks regardless of qualifications. The strongly endorse the idea of expelling those who defy the authorities.

was a total loss as the "army barrack type" structure was burned.

Walsh noted that the structure received fire damage in another fire approximately a month ago.

Two Covettes were filed on Tuesday with bond being set at $1500 each. One of the men charged in the case is free on bond and the other is in Coryell County Jail.

Nursing School Applications Taken At Hospital

Mrs. Mildred Skelton is accepting applications for vocational nursing school at the local hospital. The school starts its next classes in September, but needs the applications in May and June.

The next class will be number 17. The school was started in 1953. More than 100 nurses have graduated from the school. The licensed Vocational Nurse, or the L.V.N., carries the main nursing load in our local community and many others throughout the United States. Requirements for the school are that the man or woman be from 17-50 years of age, have finished the 10th grade, at least and be of good physical and mental health. The school starts in September of each year and lasts one full year.

If you like people, if you are interested in the advances of medicine, if you want satisfaction of work well done--and sincerely appreciated, then you should choose a nursing career.

The Coryell Memorial Hospital School has been accredited by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners since 1953. Graduates are eligible to take the examination for licenses practice anywhere in the United States.

Go to the local hospital and talk with Mrs. Skelton and fill out an application.
