GATESVILLE RODEO TO OPEN THURSDAY

By SALLY JONES
Staff Writer

are the Gatesville Jaycees, local civic organization for young men.

Appearing in the rodeo will be star Bo Bland and his 'Buckin' Ford,' Bland will light the eyes of Gatesvillites, old and young alike when he performs his daring stunts and unexpected maneuvers at each performance.

Bland will also be clown for the 1969 Jaycee Rodeo and will pit his skills against 2,000 pounds of mean beef as he tries to protect the cowboys from the snorting bulls in the final rodeo event, Bland is known throughout the Southwest as a top knotch rodeo performer and clown.

This year's rodeo will include six events--4 timed events and 2 riding events. The first event out of the chute will be bareback bronc riding. In bareback riding, the youngest of the three riding events, the cowboy rides (hopefully) a mount rigged with a double-thick pad cinched around the horse--no reins nor stirrups. The rider grips the rigging with one hand and the other hand must remain free.

Then he must ride the animal for eight seconds plus show good form for the judges. The main point of judging is 'how they ride' not if they ride. The wild Brahma bull riding is one of the rodeo events that did not originate as a part of the cowboy's ranch work. It started as a rodeo event some 30 years ago. It is probably the most exciting and dangerous event of the entire rodeo, and it is the one event that everybody waits to see.

The rider is required to stay on the bull for eight seconds. He does not have to spur the bull like the bronc riders do, but he does get extra points if he is able to. Just staying on the bull is a monumental effort, since there are many bulls on the rodeo circuit that have never been ridden.

These bulls offer many possibilities for injury to the rider. These include the possibility of being stomped, kicked, gored, or even injured in the chute before the gate is ever opened. These bulls are extremely powerful, and it's been said that they can throw a cowboy high enough for the Jaybirds to build a nest in his hip-pocket before he hits the ground.

Among the timed events the most popular is calf roping. Calf roping originated on the ranches as one of the cowboy's daily tasks. As he rode the pastures in the days before fencer, he would have to rope and brand any calves that had been missed during the roundup.

Calf roping started as a rodeo event at the first organized rodeo in Pecos, Texas, in 1883. The cowboys from several of the big ranches decided it was time to see who was the best

PLANS FOR NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY HERE BEING DRAWN

Grand Jury Session Begins Monday

The June 1969 Grand Jury was appointed Monday morning and will consider approximately 15 complaints.

District Attorney Byron McClellan reported that a large number of the cases involve former inmates of the Gatesville and Mountain View State Schools.

Heading the list to be considered is the complaint against James Clancy Myers, allegedly he murdered Freddie Turner at the Mountain View School for Boys.

The alleged incident occurred April 29, while the Mountain View academic school was in recess, Myers is alleged to have stabbed Turner while approximately 200 youths were returning to class.

Serving on the Grand Jury are: Ray Byrom, Foreman, Dan Davidson, Kermit Lynch, Billy P. Barton, E. H. Rhodes, Darrell Gent, Lovett Ledger, Curtis Manning, Doyle Duncan, Mrs. C. G. Watson, Nelson Lee, and Mrs. Floyd Flemming.

Also, Monday's docket call was completed by 10:30 a.m., with five civil cases being set for trial for Monday, June 9, 1969. A petit jury list containing 45 names will be drawn and notices mailed this week.

A new National Guard Armory is being planned for Gatesville.

The project has been in the 'idea stage' since the mid 1950's when the Veterans Memorial Park Association donated 3 acres of land one mile east of Gatesville to the National Guard.

Correspondence with federal officials over the years has failed until now to even allocate funds for architects and engineering plans.

Monday THE NEWS contacted Derral Nichols, supervisor of construction for the National Guard Armory Board in Austin, who reported, 'We are drawing up A & E plans for a Gatesville Armory.'

Nichols noted that for several years 'Texas Matching Funds' have been available for the project, and 'Federal Matching Funds' were not available. The Federal National Guard Bureau has given the 'go ahead' for the funds needed for planning the funds needed for the planning of the Armory.

'I was in Washington a week ago today,' said Nichols, 'and Washington officials estimated the earliest possible date funds could be made available was August.' Nichols went on to say that Washington put October as a more likely date for construction funds to be made available.

Dale Y. Forest, Inc., architects were in Gatesville last week to begin preliminary planning on the project.

The new armory will be approximately 15,000 square feet of floor space, noted Nichols. This is the maximum size for such facilities.

Concerning priority, Gatesville has been near the top of the list for several years. Supervisor Nichols remarked that Texas only has two Armory projects underway at present. One in La Marque which is funded and ready for bids in Austin this week and one in Gatesville.

The Gatesville Armory was originally scheduled for 'fiscal year '74' by the federal government until recently when it was noted that the local guard unit would be released from active duty within 12 months without an armory in its hometown. The Gatesville project was then rescheduled for 'fiscal year '70.'

Supervisor Nichols estimated construction would require between 10 and 12 months.

Gatesvillites Pause For A Little Horsing Around

... Rodeo roped off, and the question was settled. Since that time, calf roping has become a much more precise art. Horses must be better trained, ropers must practice constantly, and then the two must combine to form a well-coordinated team in order to take home any prize money. Every year faster times are required to win, with nine to twelve seconds being the time to beat. Barrel racing, another timed event is the only event that is exclusively for girls at the 1969 show, exclusively for girls at the 1969 show.

Barrel racing is the most glamorous of the girl's rodeo events. This event takes complete teamwork between horse and rider in order to circle the three barrels at top speed without knocking one down. This is a timed event in which the rider turns her horse around three barrels set in a clover-leaf pattern. She may start with either the right or the left barrel, but she must then follow a prescribed pattern. The contestant may touch a barrel, but knocking one down adds a ten-second penalty to her score for each barrel she busts a shin on. A barrel horse must be able to start at top speed, turn and leave each barrel as fast as possible, and give his utmost for the final run back across the finish line.

One of the most outstanding examples of precise teamwork in the world of sports is the steer wrestling, or Bulldogging, as it is more commonly known. The training and discipline of the horses and the skill of the riders are both of paramount importance. If either horse "jumps the gun" and breaks the barrier, the "dogger" gets a ten second penalty.

This is one of the potentially fastest events of the rodeo, with times as low as two to three seconds being possible. If you don't watch closely, it may be all over before you notice it has started.

In team roping, also known as "head'n and heal'n", two male contestants participate in the "buddy system" of roping.

The action starts just like steer wrestling, but the cowboy ropes the steer instead of dogging it.

The other team member, already in the arena, ropes one heel of the beast as the "header" as he is called, ropes the head of the animal. The header then dismounts as his horse holds the north bound part of the steer taut with the south bound part.

The cowboy runs to tie the back legs of the steer together while the opposing pulls finally pull the animal to the ground.

As in steer wrestling, there is a penalty for breaking the barrier.

HOUSING SHORTAGE WORSE SINCE WORLD WAR II NATIONAL FORESTS ANSWER

Washington, D. C.--America's current housing shortage, which has been called the worst since the end of World War II, could be greatly alleviated with more timber from the U. S. National Forests, a parade of witnesses has told a Congressional sub-committee here.

Mayor Walter Washington of Washington, D. C., expressed the general sentiment of most witnesses when he said:

"If we are to meet the housing needs of our expanding population, the supply of wood must be sufficient to meet the construction requirements."

"I urge you to do all that you can to assure that wood will be available to play its role in the building and rebuilding which is so vital to us all not only in the Nation's capital but in all great American cities."

Washington was one of some 40 witnesses--including Members of Congress--who testified May 21 through 23 before a House Agriculture Subcommittee on the proposed National Timber Supply Act of 1969.

The hearing was conducted by the House Agriculture Subcommittee because the legislation concerns the U. S. Forest Service, a division of the Department of Agriculture. It has the bipartisan support of more than 57 members of the House and 14 members of the Senate and would establish a special fund, financed from National Forest Timber sale receipts, to provide reliable and adequate financial support for the Forest Service.

The need for housing constituted the major appeal for the legislation. It was noted that Congress has established a national goal of 26 million new homes by 1978--an average of about 2.6 million a year--far above the recent annual new housing starts of 1.3 million to 1.5 million.

The result of this lag has left the large urban centers with a desperate need for housing, said Mayor Washington.

The attention was focused on the national forests when it was learned that while they contain 54 percent of the entire nation's inventory of softwood sawtimber, the commercial growing areas of the forests produce only 26 percent of the logs necessary for processing into lumber and plywood.

Chairman John L. McMillan of the subcommittee concluded:

"Foresters, both public and private, attributed this discrepancy in productivity and regeneration to the simple fact that the Forest Service, denied access to its timber sale receipts for modern forest management, simply cannot practice the kind of intensive management which economics dictate must be practiced on industrial lands."

The purpose of the legislation, McMillan said, "is to correct that inequity, to sponsor improved--and adequately funded--management practices on National Forest commercial timber lands, and, as a consequence, not only to relieve shortages and high costs of wood products need to meet our present national housing goals but to guarantee that this kind of crisis will not occur to plague our nation in the future."

Edward P. Cliff, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, gave his approval to plans for improved management and reforestation of public lands while recommending certain safeguards on the use of timber sale receipts.

Cliff reported that 11.4 billion board feet of timber are harvested annually from commercial areas of the National Forests and added that with "proper reforestation and improved management," this yield could be increased by another 5.8 billion board feet.

GRADUATION PARTIES ENDING—This will probably be one of the last senior parties publicized this season, but I must say, this has been a time of excitement and gaiety. Hearing about them and writing about them has been great fun, and already I'm looking forward to this time next year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bonner of 29th Street honored their daughter, Janna with a swim party in celebration of her graduation. The party was Saturday afternoon, May 24.

The pool at the Chateau Ville was reserved for the occasion. A supper of hamburgers, chips, dips, and cold drinks were served around the pool side.

Those joining in the fun were Carla Pfeiffer, Debbie Dyer, and Jeanie Boone. Invited, but unable to attend were Barbara Lynch, Brenda Kerby, and Corliss Worthy.

ANTIQUE COLLECTION—Mrs. Bill Price who lives on Royal Drive east of town has a superb collection of antiques. They are placed throughout the house where ever they will look their prettiest and they certainly do make wonderful conversation pieces.

Most of the things are glass pieces. Among the prettiest antiques was a cut glass decanter, and a pottery ice bucket, with a silver rim and handle. Then there was the ornate China powder box in a reddish wine color sprinkled with a dainty gold design. A victorian scene was painted in the center and inside, including the lid were tiny assorted flowers.

In another category are things that were once a necessity in the home, and many of you will have used these items personally or will remember them. These are a Blue Ball, ring top jar made in 1808 used for preserving much of the family food. The stoneware jars that she usually keeps bouquets of daisies in were used to can fruit. A set of cotton cards and a wooden potato masher were also displayed.

Mrs. Price is very proud of her grandfather's 'grandfather clock' that she keeps on the fire place mantle. One of her greatest treasures is the Balloon Man and Woman Balloon Seller handed down through the family.

One of the cutest things was not an antique, but an eye catcher was an old bed chamber decorated with a gold American Eagle, used for a magazine holder.

RODEO PREPARATIONS—Everybody seems to be getting ready for the rodeo that's due here June 5, 6, and 7.

The Riding Club is planning a 'trail ride' which will begin early Wednesday morning and end before the rodeo on Thursday. They will be back in Gatesville in time to participate in the parade at 5:00.

All the meals will be cooked out during the trail ride and eaten western style—in the wide open spaces.

SLATER LADIES CLUB—Good friend Barbara Williams called Wednesday and invited me to the Slater Ladies Club meeting on Thursday of last week. Much to my regret, I had to decline the invitation. The meeting was in her home. Each person brought her favorite salad, which was reason enough to want to have been there.

Two quilts were quilted by the group and the entire day was most enjoyable.

COFFEE TIME—was a good time for me recently because I was making new friends.

I was taking a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Britain's home, pictured below when she invited me to have coffee with them. The coffee alone was a treat, but that luscious cherry cake was out of this world.

This is a couple who really make their house a home. You immediately feel at home in its warm atmosphere.

Mr. Britain, now retired, says the big spacious yard is a full time job and it's easy to see he spends much time keeping it.

They're very proud of their nice home, and when it was built a couple of years back they even had a ground breaking cere-

This photo gives a view of all the things mentioned in the above article. Notice the grandfather clock on the mantle. The coal bucket is a very old one, but has been rejuvenated with a coat of paint. It's use now is to hold wool chips.

DELIGHTFUL TRIP—is what Mrs. J. E. Blankenship of this city enjoyed week-end before last.

She was a guest of Miss Mary Vance Pickett and Mrs. Elsie Sommers, both of San Antonio.

Saturday morning all attended a tea given in honor of Mrs. P. E. Gragg, Jr., upon her retirement from public school teaching. The elegant affair was held at the Bright Shawl and was attended by many former teachers as well as by a large number of the present faculty in Harlandale. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Blankenship and Mrs. Sommers attended an art and sculpture show held at the Cappino Gardens.

MRS. WHITT

RETIRED TEACHER HONORED—Mrs. Erine Whitt ended a long time teaching career last week as school came to a close for another summer.

Mrs. Whitt has given forty-three precious years of her life time to teaching children and twenty-four of those years were spent in our school system in Gatesville. I'm sure it was not easy for her to close her desk. This dedicated teacher will be greatly missed for only words of praise have been spoken of her. No doubt she, too, will miss the students and those familiar surroundings she was so much a part of.

Thursday morning Mrs. Whitt, pictured above, at end of table was honored with a breakfast in the beautiful dining room of the Chateau Ville.

Thursday morning, May 29, the Wallace Kindergarten, 112 North 10 Street, was the scene of the kindergarten pupils' graduation exercises and a special four part program for the entertainment of the mothers.

The first part of the program was in keeping with Memorial Day, where the students began with voicing the Pledge to the Flag and followed this by singing two appropriate songs. The first was 'Our Flag' and the other, a favorite of the children, 'Our Freedom Song.'

The second part was in remembrance of Mother's Day, in which Tannan Woodson welcomed the mothers. Since this was a dedication to the mothers, each pupil recited a short reading or poem to mothers. A graduation reading was given by Brian Brown. This led to the third part of the program.

With the rodeo right around the corner, Mrs. Wallace let the children use this as the third part of entertainment. The boys were dressed in blue jeans, white shirts and sported a red and white checked bow tie. Each girl had on a white blouse and full red and white checked skirt. At this time they all joined in dancing the Virginia Reel.

Of course, the highlight of the morning was receiving the diplomas as each student's name was called.

A social hour was enjoyed by a packed house, some being mothers, others were fathers, grandmothers, sisters, brothers and friends.

Hostesses in charge of furnishing and serving refreshments were: the Mms. Chester Brown, Ruby Baker, Dee Ann Berry, Sonny Potter, James McDonald, Jimmy Caraway, Sandra Sheperd, Bill Woodson and Elnore Burns.

OEA Holds Open Installation

There will be an open installation of officers of Gatesville Chapter No. 1005, Order of the Eastern Star, at 8:00 p.m., Saturday June 7, in the Masonic Lodge building on East Main Street.

In addition to the appointed officers, these elected officials will be installed: Mrs. Grace Stovall, worthy matron; R. E. Pancake, associate patron; Mrs. Eloise Painter, secretary; Mrs. Fay Eubanks, treasurer; Mrs. Norine Shoemaker, conductress; and Mrs. Lola Hitt, associate conductress.

Mrs. Lola Hitt, past matron of Gatesville Chapter No. 1005 will be installing officer, assisted by V. A. Wright, past patron, and Mrs. Jessie Waddill, past matron, both of Gatesville Chapter No. 1005. Mrs. Hazel Gilbreath, of Valley Mills, Deputy Grand Matron of District 3 Section 7, Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star, will also take part in the installation.

TROOP 72

Scout Troop 72 had their regular meeting last Monday, May 28. The meeting opened with the group joining together in saying the 'Scout Law.' After a short business meeting, the troop was dismissed to scatter throughout the town and distribute H. E. B. circulars. This project was a means of making money which will be used to buy a tent for their own use.

TROOP 424

May 26 the Girl Scout Troop 424 had a fun meeting.

During this meeting plans for Day Camp were made. Four Girls were selected to do the grocery shopping for the group. The girls are: Jeffri Botkin, Beverly Gartman, Debbie Price and Patti Powers. The food shopped for will be taken to Day Camp which will really be almost a week.

With this taken care of, the girls made invitations to be sent to the Brownies who will be moving up next year.

Mrs. Neta Floyd was presented a pin for being a good Girl Scout Mother.

Furnishing refreshments of cookies and Kool-aid was Kim Powell who was also in charge of serving.
