

HAD VISIT FROM IOWA RELATIVES

Mrs. A. O. Drake had the pleasure of a visit the early part of last week from her brother and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller, of Center-ville, Iowa, who arrived at her home on Monday, June 5th, and remained overnight with her.

Dr. and Mrs. Miller were enroute to San Francisco, California, where they will visit the Doctor's brother, J. P. Miller and family, and attend the San Francisco fair.

On their return trip to Iowa they will travel north through California, Oregon and Washington and into Canada, thence back to Iowa.

Mrs. Virgil Howard and small son, Josh Truman, who had been visiting in the Drake home, left the early part of last week. They were driven over by Mrs. Drake and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Drake. Mr. and Mrs. Drake are Mrs. Howard's parents.

There was a very light attendance at the adult homemakers class, on Tuesday. Miss White feels slightly discouraged.

Almar Chronister was pretty badly damaged last week when the pony he was riding stepped in a hole and turned a somersault.

SUCCESSFUL COOKING SCHOOL

Miss Madelein Klepper, who held a very successful cooking school at Blackwell's Hardware & Furniture Store last year, held another one at the same store again last week.

Much interest was shown by the ladies in this school, which is sponsored by Blackwell's for the benefit of the ladies of the community, and good crowds were in attendance each day of the school.

One of the highlights of the school was the cooking of the tough old rooster, about which we noticed so much publicity in the Star some time ago. The cooking took place Saturday and many of the ladies had the pleasure of tasting the old rooster. The ladies submitted names for him and a nice prize was given to the winner, who was Mrs. L. F. Lillard, she having submitted the name "Old Pineknut," which was the name selected by the judges.

FORMER RESIDENT HERE

George W. Taylor, a former resident of the Friona territory, arrived here from Takoha, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Taylor has been at Takoha for the past year or more where he has been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. A. M. Cade, who with her daughter, Miss Iris Dean, drove back here with her father.

Mr. Taylor is one of Friona's most highly respected pioneer citizens, and is the father of our present citizen, C. G. Taylor. Mrs. Cade was formerly Miss Fern Taylor, and is well known by most of the earlier settlers of this locality.

Figures Available on Cold Storage Plants

(From State Line Tribune)

More accurate figures on cooperative cold-storage locker plants are now available to communities or individuals in Farmer county who are interested in such projects, it was stated today by Thos. G. Moore, FSA head, who is taking an active interest in promoting the idea in this county.

Mr. Moore said that recent surveys at small storage plants over this section of the state revealed that a completely equipped plant could be constructed for an initial cost of from $2700 to $3500. This type of plant features the wooden-slat lockers, in preference to the more expensive all-steel lockers for storage, he said.

Additional information was to the effect that small plants, with approximately 300 lockers, could be established in an old building, following its insulation, which would prove perfectly satisfactory for keeping meats and vegetables indefinitely.

As to the operating cost, Mr. Moore stated that he and Agent Jason O. Gordon had visited a number of plants, where it was learned that in the majority of cases the small charges made for cutting meat, grinding sausage, etc., took care of the cost of maintaining an operator to watch the motors and generally "keep shop."

Evidence has been manifest in the Lazbuddy, Oklahoma Lane, Bovina and Friona communities, Moore added, stating that he was thoroughly convinced that eventually the use of cold storage lockers would be prevalent over the country, and urging that Farmer county residents be in the front line of this development.

Do They Go Together?

Little Molly was visiting on the farm of her grandfather. She went with him to feed the sheep. A little lamb came up to her and started wiggling its tail.

"Grandpa, why do lambs have tails?" she asked. "The flies don't bother them."

MEAT COOKERY, YESTERDAY AND TODAY

The meat roast of yesterday was often quite dry and tasteless. That of today is juicy, tasty, and has several more slices than the other roast. It is less trouble to prepare, has a superior flavor, and besides going farther, saves time and fuel in the bargain. Yes, today's roasting methods are truly revolutionary.

The roast of yesterday was salted, preferably overnight, so as to "take the salt." It was then rolled in flour, generously, and seared at a high temperature, either in a very hot oven or over flame. This process was thought to retain the meat juices. Today, we know that seasonings do not penetrate very far, and they do draw out the juices. It makes very little difference when the roast is salted, so it is generally salted at the beginning so as not to forget it. This may draw out some of the juices but they go into the gravy so this point is immaterial. This modern roast is not floured because the flour is more liable to burn and the black flecks are not very appetizing in the gravy. If a rich, brown gravy is desired, it is a simple matter to brown the flour in the fat later.

At this point a decision must be made. What is the result to be? Is the roast to have a crusty, brown surface or the same color throughout the meat? If the crusty, brown surface is desired, the meat is seared in a pre-heated 500 degrees F. oven for about twenty minutes and then roasted in a slow (300 degrees F.) oven for the balance of the time. If same color throughout is desired, meat is cooked in a slow oven for the entire period of time. This searing process is for appearance only. The searing does not retain the juices and if the high temperatures are continued too long, the roast becomes dry and tasteless.

The change in pan styles is significant. Yesterday the pan was of the double variety and quite expensive. Today the pan is shallow and has no lid. It is inexpensive and often goes double duty, sharing the honors with biscuits. Formerly, the roast was placed in the roaster, enough water added to start the steam and often roast frequently basted until done. This method was not roasting in the true sense of the term. Today the roast is placed in the shallow roaster, fat side up. This roast is not basted as the melting fat does its own basting much more effectively.

Meat thermometers are available at household furnishing and hardware stores. They are not essential but do take the guesswork out of roasting. Insert the thermometer bulb in the center of the meat muscle, being careful not to touch bone nor fat; roast the meat until the thermometer registers the required internal temperature—rare, medium, or well-done. This is approximately thirty minutes per pound for a well-done roast.

While longer cooking time must be allowed for this low temperature of roasting, superior results are assured. Regardless of type of stove or fuel, lower oven temperatures produce tastier roasts.

EMPLOYED AT DIMMITT

Mrs. Katherine Guthrie and her sister, Miss Eva Settle, departed Sunday for Dimmitt, where they have secured employment in a cafe.

Mrs. Guthrie has, for some time, been employed at the Smiley's Cafe in this city, and has also been local representative or reporter for both the Amarillo Daily News and the Clovis Evening News-Journal. She has transferred this work to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold Settle who has taken over the local correspondence for these two good newspapers.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK. — Vincent Bendix got on famously as long as he stuck to tinkering, inventing and fussing with machinery. He did many other things, but anything which didn't have to do with wheels, cams, and pinions was just no dice. It was his Chicago real estate deals which brought against him the petition in voluntary bankruptcy filed in Chicago, say his lawyers. His holdings were more than $5,000,000, including the famous Potter Palmer Lake Shore drive residence—all down the chute in the federal district court. His machinery companies, not involved in the petition, are rolling along nicely. They seem to be one up on the "good earth" as an arcnum of security. Modern times are like that.

In the basement of a New York hospital, where he ran the elevator, he had a grand time taking an old hot-tube gas engine to pieces and putting it together again. He was 17, not long from Chicago, where he had been a telegraph messenger boy. An old one-eyed swamper around the place, who understood machinery, had instructed him in the working of the power plant and had encouraged his laboratory work. There was a close working alliance between faculty and student body.

Two years later, the lad got a job as a typist in a law office, baffled at first because he couldn't use a monkey wrench on the typewriter, but exploring it satisfactorily with a screw-driver and pliers.

But a law office hadn't any wheels, and he did better with the Lackawanna railroad, which had plenty, although he was in the traffic department. In his spare time, he worked out improvements on a bicycle chain and sprocket. That brought him in touch with bicycle manufacturers and at last he was on the main line—and it wasn't the Lackawanna. It was a wide, paved highway to millions in the invention of automobile and aviation devices whose only dead-end was real estate.

Of Swedish ancestry, son of a Moline, Ill., Methodist minister, he packed a copy of Schopenhauer in his pocket when he was a messenger boy. In those days, he wolfed Huxley, Darwin, Marx, Tyndall, Wallace and Spencer, calling himself a Socialist in his earlier years. Never still a minute, he is buoyant and resilient at 57, and his friends shrug off this bankruptcy business as just a short detour from the main highway. They say they wouldn't be surprised if he should bob up with something as exciting as perpetual motion, one of these days.

SALTY, laconic, William Allan Neilson, rounding three score years and ten, retires with this year's graduating class as president of Smith college.

The Groves of Academe Laud Retiring Prexy
Rarely does any passing prexy get such a hand from students and faculty. Somewhat in the picture of Stringfellow Barr of St. John's, and Maynard Hutchins of Chicago, he has put over education on its merits. He has been first a scholar and secondly an administrator, but has fired so much enthusiasm that administration has pretty much taken care of itself.

The University of Edinburgh and Harvard passed on to him the flame of the great Elizabethans. Merry eyes—little white beard—resonant laugh—with a surgically incisive mind—he has been to the Smith undergraduates a blend of Chaucer, Shakespeare and Erasmus—although said immortals didn't smoke big cigars. He takes a bow from all the groves of academe.

TOSCANINI was so pleased with a tie designed by Mrs. Malcolm D. Whitman, former Countess Lucilla Mara de Vescevi, that he had one like it made for each of the 93 members of his orchestra. That started her designing ties for Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Noel Coward, Count Andy Robilant, et al. One thing led to another, and now Mrs. Whitman returns from Europe as the only woman couturier for men, after a study of the latest in men's styles on the continent.

Her ancestors were members of the council of ten of the Venetian republic. One of them married the painter Tintoretto, bequeathing a sensitiveness to fabrics and color, no doubt. She was a concert singer before her marriage to Mr. Whitman.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Drawn work for turquoise scarves.

THIS idea is the result of an experiment. A friend had a set of sadly out-of-date white linen drawn work scarves for buffet, serving and dining table. Her dining room was being done over with touches of turquoise blue in the draperies and wall paper, so she had the scarves dyed to match. They were so effective that the simplest part of the drawn work design was copied in coarse linen in various colors for mats and scarves throughout the house.

While the turquoise scarves were especially attractive, those in golden yellow and a bedroom set in soft rose were also full of charm. The sketch shows how the drawn work is done. If you are looking for something effective that is quick to make, here it is. Just pull out the threads of the linen to make an open space about an inch wide. The scarf may be hemmed at the same time the outside edge of the opening is being whipped. Just follow these sketches. No other directions are needed. Use either linen or mercerized thread in a matching color.

Different Effect

"I've altered your medicine this week, Tommy," said the doctor. "It's tablets, not pills."

"But I want pills," complained Tommy.

"Why, there's no difference."

"Have you tried blowing tablets through a pea-shooter?"

"Yes," said the massive wife of the obviously henpecked husband, "it will be a joint account. My husband will make the deposits and I'll draw the checks."

Promise Me?

A man, evidently a stranger in Chicago, stopped a youth hurrying along Michigan avenue.

"Young man," he said, "I want to go to Lincoln park."

The young man seemed lost in thought for a moment, then he replied, "Well, you may go just this once. But you must never ask me again!"

All Over the Place

He was very, very rich, and he spent most of his time trying to impress people.

One day he rushed up to the railway station and threw a $20 bill down on the counter.

"Give me a ticket," he demanded.

"Where to?" asked the clerk. "Anywhere," replied the rich man; "anywhere. I've got business all over the country."

Apparently Not!

"I'm sorry, constable, if I was speeding, but I want to see someone in the hospital."

"And you're not particular who it is?"

True to Type

Mrs. Smith was relating her grievances over the garden fence.

"My husband is such a flirt," she complained. "I just can't trust him anywhere."

"Never mind, my dear," her friend consoled her. "He's probably only reverting to type."

"That's where you're wrong," said Mrs. Smith grimly. "He's reverting to typists."

Sweet Revenge

She was having her first driving lesson, and hubby was the teacher. Suddenly finding herself faced with a very difficult traffic problem, she lost her head.

"Tell me quick!" she cried. "What do I do now?"

Hubby seized his chance. "Oh," he replied quietly, "just imagine that I'm driving and do what you'd say I should do."

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Classifying Dessert Lists.—Dessert lists kept in the cookbook are a help in menu making, especially when they are classified as "hearty," "light," "quick," "good for several days," "oven made," and "for children."

After Washing Silver.—Stand silver in a jug of very hot water to which a little ammonia has been added, and it will remain bright much longer.

How to Recondition Sponges.—Sponges that are left with soap still in them soon become slimy. They can be reconditioned by soaking for 30 minutes in a mixture of half vinegar and half water. Rinse out in warm water, then in cold, and leave in the sun to dry.

Keeping Dried Beef.—Dried beef will keep better if stored in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator rather than wrapped in parchment or waxed paper.

Home Paper Hanging.—Should you decide to do some of your own wall papering, lay the rolls of paper on the basement floor for a few days before using. The paper will absorb enough moisture to make it less brittle and more easily applied, and if you are a novice at paper hanging you will find anything that will make it more easily applied is a welcome thought.

Left-Over Velvet.—Small pieces of velvet make good alternatives for the manicuring chamois.

All-Around Man Was Worth the Money!

The customer was being shaved in a country town to which he was a visitor, when the barber cut his cheek.

The man was all apologies, and to give the cut a chance to close up, he placed a piece of tissue paper over the gash.

When the shave was finished the customer—to the great surprise of the barber—handed over a substantial tip.

"That's all right," said the victim, with a smile of forgiveness; "I don't often get shaved by a man who deals in three trades."

"Three trades?" queried the puzzled barber.

"Yes," came the sarcastic reply—"barber, butcher, and paper-hanger."

HEALTH NOTES

AUSTIN—"No elaborate equipment is needed to save a life from drowning," is the opinion of State Health Department officials. "In fact, actual harm has been done by the misuse of so-called lung motors. Modern resuscitation apparatus has been perfected so that oxygen and carbon dioxide can be used without inflicting more damage to cases of asphyxiation and drowning. It is tragic enough to have a drowning accident, but it is far more tragic if no one present at the time knows how to save a life by artificial respiration. "The prompt application of artificial respiration is of primary importance, and for this purpose the prone pressure method is the easiest, simplest, and most effective. This should begin at once and continue rhythmically until natural breathing is established—this may take four or more hours. Procedure:
 First: Kneel, and straddle the patient below the hips, placing hands on small of the back with fingers over the lowest ribs, tips of fingers just out of sight.
 Second: With arms straight, while counting one, two, swing forward bearing weight on body firmly but not violently.
 Third: Swing backward while counting one, straightening up and thus relieving pressure—this allows air to be drawn into the lungs.
 Fourth: Rest in this position for two counts.
 Fifth: Repeat these movements rhythmically, forward and backward, without interruption, about twelve to fifteen times a minute, until natural breathing is restored.
 Sixth: Meanwhile, if assistance is at hand, a physician should be sent for, the patient's tight clothing should be loosened at neck, chest, and waist, and he should be kept warm.
 The patient should not be moved until he is breathing normally and then should not be allowed to get up but should be carried in a lying position to a place where he can be kept warm and receive medical attention.

MEETING CALLED FOR SATURDAY

All women and girls who expect to attend the annual Short Course to be held in College Station during the first two weeks of July, are asked to attend a special meeting at the Bovina Methodist church on Saturday, June 17th, at 2 o'clock.
 Miss Margaret St. Clair, Parmer county home demonstrator, has announced that definite plans must be made at this time by all who are planning or hope to attend the Short Course, in order that arrangements for transportation may be made.
 The trip is being offered to the club girls at exceptionally low rates, as Lester Norton has been hired to take his busses filled with clubbers. Expense for the entire trip will be $11.50, Miss St. Clair stated.
 The 4-H club course will be held from July 4th through the 7th, with the party leaving here July 3rd, to return the 9th. The adult division will last from the night of July 11th through the 14th, with the departing date set for July 10th and the return for the 15th, it was learned.
 Miss St. Clair urged that those who plan to go let her know definitely at the meeting in Bovina, on Saturday.

DEMO NOTES

Clubs Postponed
 Miss Margaret St. Clair, home demonstration agent, stated the first of this week that due to the rush of wheat harvest season, club meetings slated for the week of June 19th through June 23rd, would be postponed until July, new dates to be announced later. Club members are asked to observe this change.

A. A. A. NEWS

On June 2, a letter was sent by the county committee to all wheat farmers in the county who had seeded barley in either seeded wheat or volunteer wheat in order to be within the acreage allotment. This letter stated that if the wheat farmers who had seeded such barley intended to harvest the barley-wheat mixture he should notify the county committee in order that the committee might make an inspection of the field to determine whether enough barley would mature in the wheat to win the sale of such wheat for milling purposes.

All the barley-wheat mixture fields must be checked by the county committee before harvest if the field is not to be classed as wheat and counted against the allotment.
 Application for such inspection must be filed with either a committeeman or in the county office not later than June 17, 1939. If any farmer who has a barley wheat mixture does not make an application for such inspection the committee will assume that he does not believe the barley will mature, and therefore, if the wheat is harvested from this field it must be classed as wheat.

(From State Line Tribune)
 A radio program contest for 4-H club boys in Parmer county has been announced by County Agent Jason O. Gordon, with broadcasts to be given each Wednesday at 8 o'clock over KICA, Clovis, as a means toward encouraging club members to deliver talks on agricultural subjects, and to explain to the citizenry the true meaning of 4-H club work.
 Starting on June 14, a 15-minute program will be presented each Wednesday by some club from the county, with the final program on August 9. Each club will prepare its own program, however, members may ask assistance from any person working with or interested in 4-H clubs.
 As to the subjects, Agent Gordon said today that any topic which has a direct relationship to 4-H club work may be discussed, with five or more clubbers necessarily participating in the broadcast.
 Points will be given as follows:
 1. If complete program reaches agent's office Saturday prior to broadcast, 500 points; on Monday, 250 points; Tuesday, 150 points; and Wednesday, day of broadcast, 100.
 2. If program is presented according to outline on file in the agent's office, 300 points will be given.
 3. 200 points if club member announces the program.
 4. 100 points for each card, and 250 points for each letter containing 125 words or more, mailed to the agent's office at Farwell, or to radio station KICA, with cards or letters postmarked not later than Friday of the week in which the program is presented.

Very little is being done in this locality by the farmers in the way of planting cotton or row crops. To-day.
 Sheridan Michell is sure doing a lot of hard work and a lot of cleaning, while repairing those big piles of combine cotypes.
