away out here in what they still consider the "Wild and Woolly West," are positively deprived of most of the luxuries and conveniences of modern life and that our children must necessarily grow up without any of the higher educational facilities, and at the same time be exposed to acts of lawless bands. Maybe some of us think the same thing, and if so, it is well for us to take stock of some of the conveniences and advantages that we now consider just as "a matter of course."

As a comparison let us take a city in one of the Central States and see just how we compare. That city which I have in mind, perhaps has as many people in it as the whole of Farmer county, and there are three or four other cities of about that size, besides a number of towns larger than is Friona. It is a rich and populous county in which they are situated, yet their court house, which was recently remodeled, had no place for the accommodation of a jury during a court trial, save in the jury box, thus they must be herded out in hotels, and there is absolutely no provision for a mixed jury of men and women, not even in the hotels. Our county, small as it is, has a modern court house with ample provisions for our juries, with well furnished sleeping quarters, and in-door toilets and drinking fountains, and if necessary, their food can be served to them right in the court house, and while we do not have mixed juries here, such a condition could be easily provided for.

A few years ago, there was quite an article in that local paper extolling the first gasoline pump for a filling station. It was a wonderful innovation then, but Reube Kinsley had had one in operation for three or four years previous to that time and we, out here, were taking it as just another "matter of course."

A few years later another article appeared in that local paper extolling the wonders of a new book-keeping machine in the leading bank of that city, telling all about the wonderful invention, when, as a matter of fact, the Friona State Bank had been using one of these machines, as well as some other up-to-date equipment, for several years.

This week I read about the athletic field of the high school of that city now about to have a system of flood lights for the field to enable playing thereon at night. It is a wonderful addition for their field, but Friona has had just such a convenience for the past four years, and I could go on enumerating many other wonderful improvements, that our people have had the use of for many years, that are just now coming into vogue in those older and richer cities and counties, but why continue when it is so near mail time and I must get this into the hands of the printer?

Some of my very good friends may recognize the city which I am now using as a comparison, especially my good friend, Tom Howarth. And this is not because those people are back numbers in any respect, for they are among the finest and most cultured people in the United States. I know for I have lived among them, but they just simply have never realized the fact that they are allowing themselves to fall behind the line of progress in many things, which we of the "Wild and Woolly West," have been taking advantage of, and have become so common that we think little about them.

Then there is another thing that I might mention and that is, that each farm family in this territory can have the advantage of running water in their dwellings, with in-door toilets and bath, provided they do not already have such things, and at no extra expense save that of the installation.

Now, is it not worth while to stop for a moment and consider these many advantages that we can do so easily have and enjoy, rather than moan and complain about the things that we do not have? If you have a better or more convenient country

STATE FAIR LIST OF PREMIUMS

DALLAS, Texas—Listing more than $100,000 in premiums for live stock, agriculture, poultry and other awards, the State Fair of Texas is now ready to mail its annual premium list. This will be the 51st mailing of the premium list, and this year's book shows an increase from a few thousand dollars to more than $100,000.

In many cases premiums have been increased. Competition has again been taken from county exhibits and instead each county with a creditable exhibit will receive $125.
In addition to the regular premium list which shows every award offered by the State Fair of Texas, the fair has for distribution supplementary lists for special shows, as the poultry show, the 4-H club shows, Culinary and Textile, the school exhibits, and contests, and others.

Charlie Bennett, of Hereford, was a business visitor here, Tuesday.

WHEAT LOANS EXPLAINED

Due to the fact that there seems to be considerable confusion as to the procedure necessary in securing a wheat loan, Otho Whitefield, wheat loan supervisor of Farmer county, has issued the following information for the benefit of the wheat growers of the county who are interested in obtaining a government loan on stored wheat:

First, the producer must secure his warehouse receipts from the elevator where his wheat is stored. Second, the producer must take these receipts to the county wheat loan office for the loan application to be filled out. And, third, the producer must take or send these papers to the lending agency to get his money.

If the producer hauls his wheat from another county or state, the loan must be completed in the county in which his wheat is stored. The above-mentioned producer must have papers from his home county or state, or wherever the wheat was produced, certifying his eligibility for a wheat loan.

In no case will the storage charges be deducted from the amount of the loan. The net to the producer is sixty-one cents (61c) plus the protein premium, for number one (No. 1) wheat.

Below is a Question and Answer form which will aid you in understanding the form to be followed. In case other questions should arise, we request that you write us or call at our office at the Agriculture Building, Friona.

1. Who is eligible for wheat loans?
Any producer who has not exceeded his 1939 acreage allotment on that farm.

2. What does the eligible producer have to do to secure a loan?
Secure warehouse receipts from the elevator, then make application at loan office. For farm-stored wheat no receipts are necessary. Make application at Wheat Loan Office.

3. How much money may the producer borrow on his wheat?
No. 1 wheat is $61; No. 2 wheat is $60; No. 3 wheat is $58; plus the protein premium. See your elevator manager for protein per cent.

4. How much is the protein premium?
Any wheat with 13 to 13.9 per cent brings $0.14; to 14.9 brings $0.15; to 15.9 brings $0.17; or over brings $0.18.

5. How long does the note run?
On warehouse wheat the note is due seven months from date of the loan or not later than August 1st.

6. How soon may the producer expect his money after application for his loan?
If a local lending agency or bank handles the loan, he may secure his money on the same day of application for loan; but if other places act as lending agency, it may take four or five days.

7. Is the producer privileged to sell his wheat any time after the loan is secured?
Yes, he may notify the Commodity Credit Corporation that he is ready to pay off his loan; then he is at liberty to make cash sale of his wheat at the elevator.

8. Is it cheaper to store wheat in a terminal than in a local elevator?
No, the rate to the producer will be the same.

9. Is any elevator in this county approved to handle wheat for loan purposes?
Five of them are licensed and bonded to insure wheat within the county or they may ship to terminal elevators, and the other elevators are prepared to ship the wheat to a terminal warehouse which is approved and bonded.

10. Can any independent loader handle the producer's wheat for loan purposes?
Yes, they may ship to an approved terminal warehouse but this method of shipping is done at the producer's risk.

11. What happens in case wheat has not advanced in price when the loan matures?
The producer may turn the wheat over to the Commodity Credit Corporation and they will return your notes.

12. What rate of interest will the producer pay?
Four per cent.

13. What will the loan cost?
All loans on wheat stored in warehouse will cost one-fourth cent per bushel.

14. How many the producer secure a loan on farm stored wheat?
Make application at loan office any time.

15. How long will it take to complete this loan?
No inspection can be made by supervisor until wheat has been stored thirty days.

16. What type of granary will be desirable for farm-stored wheat?
Granary must have good foundation, good floors, tight walls and roof that will keep out water and snow, and one that is set in a well-drained place.

17. Will there be any further expense on the loan besides the cost of making the loan?

Yes, all farm-stored wheat must be insured to the extent of the loan.
18. If the producer has liens on his wheat, can he secure a wheat loan?
Yes. He will be asked to list all lienholders and these will be shown the letter of transmittal. Then the lending agency will send this amount direct to the lienholders and the balance to the producer.

LADIES AID REPORT

The Congregational Ladies Aid met in the home of Mrs. J. Harlan O'Rear with Mrs. F. W. Reeve as assistant hostess, Monday afternoon, July 3rd, with seven members and two visitors present. Roll call responses were given from the 10th Psalm.

After the business meeting, Rev. Dollar brought the lesson taken from the book of Job, which was very interesting. Following the study hour, the remainder of the afternoon was spent with needle work.

Delicious and cooling refreshments were served to: Rev. C. Carl Dollar, Miss Mary Reeve, Mmes. O. F. Lange, C. Carl Dollar, R. H. Kinsley, Bert Shackelford, Buford Hughes, F. W. Reeve and the hostess, Mrs. O'Rear.

 They report business and farming conditions there as about normal. They were accompanied home by a nephew of Mr. Guyer.
 H. G. Jr., small son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Glenin, of Tulsa, is here visiting his grandmother and aunts Mrs. Minnie Woodwine and the Misses Lola and Floy Goodwine, this week.

According to reports, a man by the name of Crow, whose home is in Oklahoma, while on his way to the elevator with a large load of wheat, one day last week, allowed his truck to go into the barpit, where it upset, spilling most of the wheat. The report stated the neither the driver nor the truck were seriously injured.

HEALTH NOTES
 AUSTIN—As the thermometer shows signs of climbing higher and higher some of the ways by which babies may be kept well and comfortable during the hot weather and may be safeguarded against "summer complaint" are outlined by the Texas State Department of Health.
 "The best way to keep your baby well," advises the department, "is to take your well baby to your doctor regularly for advice and supervision and to follow the doctor's instructions carefully and very faithfully. If your baby develops any digestive trouble, call your family doctor at once. He'll tell you what to do."
 "Summer complaint, or cholera infantum as it is sometimes called, and other digestive diseases that are dangerous for babies, are germ diseases. The germs that cause the disease get into the baby's food or in the water given the baby to drink. Babies who are nursed by their mothers and who are given cooled, boiled water to drink are protected from these sources of danger. Care should be taken not to wean a baby in hot weather except under a doctor's orders.
 "If mother's milk is not available the best substitute for it is fresh cow's milk or unsweetened evaporated milk mixed with an equal quantity of water. If sugar or additional water is needed, it should be mixed with the milk according to your doctor's directions. All milk or milk mixtures given to children up to two years of age should be boiled. The feedings should be kept in individual bottles and kept on ice until used. Each feeding should be warmed as needed.
 "Always wash the hands thoroughly before preparing the baby's food, and before handling the baby's bottle. All dishes, pots, pans, bottles and nipples should be sterilized by boiling.
 "Throw out any milk left in the bottle after feeding. Don't leave the bottle in the baby's crib or carriage. It will attract dirt and flies. Rinse out the bottle; put the nipple aside, and see that both are sterilized by boiling before using again.
 "Be very careful to protect the baby and the baby's food against flies. Flies are potent disease carriers. Keep a supply of clean mosquito netting on hand to throw over the baby's crib or carriage while the baby sleeps.
 "Some of the diarrheal diseases that grown-ups have are catching. Keep the baby away from people—both children and grown-ups—who are suffering from such diseases.
 "If your baby develops diarrheal trouble, don't let it run on. Call your family physician at once.

MAKING THE MOST OF PASTURES
 The mower is conceded to be the best pasture-growing implement, and this applies sometimes to planted summer pastures (Sudan grass, etc.) as well as to permanent pasture where the mower keeps down weed competition with the grass. Both on permanent and temporary pastures the use of the mower cannot be dated by the calendar, but must depend upon the conditions to be met. In most of the Southwest the spring growth of weeds has already begun mowed before now, or has been permitted to seed. Certain other weeds, however, come along later in the season and should be mowed about the time they begin blooming.
 Brans and sprouts of various kinds and seedlings of certain trees, also yield to the mower's persistent use. It is generally conceded that July and August are the best months in which to cut sprouts, robbing the roots of the sustaining foliage before the storing of food in the roots is completed for the season. This operation is hard on the mower but worth it, and an old mower which is past its usefulness for cutting grass will still cut weeds and sprouts in the Sudan or other hay and pasture grasses begin to get "stummy"—that is when they shoot up the coarse seed stems and start making seed they are less palatable to livestock and also less nutritious. We have all seen such a pasture where the following has been eaten off and the bare grass left standing.
 If the pasture gets ahead of the animal which grazes it—that is when
