WITH OUR SUBSCRIBERS

Byron Hawthorne, Route 6, a comparative newcomer to this community and a reader of this publication for the past year or more, renewed his subscription early last week and divulged the information that he had recently visited his old home in Seagoville to attend a homecoming of ex-students of the school there. From the class of 1915 which included 21 members he was the only one to return, and he joined four other members who are still residents of Seago. They had lots of food for everyone, he said, "and we just put it in the pot to pay for it."

Jim Jameson, city, who is always "hitting the ball" for Herbert Wolfe on that Magnolia truck, still finds time to pursue worthwhile pastimes which are reading the News Review and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Realizing that it was about renewal time again, he placed his order early for which he has our thanks. We know Amos Carter will appreciate this too.

Along with payment of a small account for advertising on her beauty shop, Mrs. Mollie Westlund included in her check $1.50 for another year's subscription renewal. The entire transaction was done by mail, with an accompanying efficiently worded and courteous note.

Enclosing a check for a year's subscription to her home paper, Mrs. Mary (French) Havens of 907 N. 12th St., Temple, recently sent an order with an accompanying note: "I am an old Hico girl. Roy French is my brother-in-law. I also have an aunt living in Hico, Mrs. J. H. Goad, who sent me the Oct. 5th issue of your paper telling about the Methodist Homecoming. If I had known in time I would have attended the affair. That issue also had a piece about R. W. (Dub) French who is my nephew. There are other Hico people living here and we often get together to talk about our old home and what good times we used to have. Give my regards to everyone, and best wishes to the paper and its staff."

"Do you take subscriptions?" was the query made by H. E. McCullough last press-day when he entered the office with check in hand. He was promptly informed that we do, which was rather an understatement since Hugh Knudsen has been known even to solicit them. This order was for the youngest McCullough daughter, Frances, to be sent to Scottish Rite Dormitory, State University, Austin, where it just wouldn't seem right not to have copies of the News Review lying around for the perusal of Stella Jones fans in particular. Frances' older sister, Mary Ella (now Mrs. Stanton Bundy of Roosevelt) may not have started the tradition but at least she helped keep it alive. Other members of the McCullough family receiving the Hico paper are Mrs. Conrad Stolzenbach, Mrs. Mc's sister at Toledo, Ohio, and Hugh's dad, W. P. McCullough of Goldthwaite. He may not know it, but Uncle Proc's subscription was renewed and charged to him at the same time, just to keep the record complete.

Mrs. Dwain Wolfe, Hico Route 7, the former Miss Vanetta Patton of Hico and California, entered a new subscription last Thursday for three months. She said she would take the paper for a longer period, but her husband expected to go into the army soon.

We have lost our subscriber at Potlatch, Washington. Somehow or other, the name of that town has always intrigued us, and we took a particular pride in claiming it.

THEN AND NOW

1901—Spindletop, the mightiest oil well the world had ever seen, roared into being—giving Americans a new vision of the nation's supply of oil.

1925—With 19 million motor vehicles in use, American motorists crowded the highways as never before. Gasoline prices averaged about 20 cents a gallon.

1951—The continuous search for oil by thousands of U.S. oil companies has boosted known underground supplies to almost 30 billion barrels—even though Americans are now using up 290 million gallons of oil a day.

Hico Receives 19 to 6 Setback Last Week At Whitney's Hands

FROM THE PRESS BOX

The Tigers from Hico received a 19-6 setback at the hands of Mr. Dollar and the Whitney Wildcats on Friday last. This game marked the beginning of the District 12-A flag chase for both teams and the result was about as expected.

The Tigers played good ball except for the usual miscues in the pass defense department. However the Wildcats brought to town an outstanding back in the person of Dollar. This young man runs, passes and tackles as well as any football player seen on the local field in some time. In fact he was the difference in the two clubs.

The Hico team scored on the first series of play in the first quarter, with Loden carrying over from the one-yard line. After receiving the kickoff, the Wildcats fumbled, with Hico recovering but the Tigers were unable to go all the way and when the Cats next got the ball it was all over. Brother Dollar started passing and running and at half time the score was Whitney 12, Hico 6. Whitney added the clincher in the fourth quarter with a pass from Dollar to Burleson with Rogers adding the extra point to make the 19 points.

The Tigers played their best game of the season and playing as they did for the rest of season, should win the rest of their district games. Collins, Churchill, Benny Terry, Billy Loden, and Jimmy Tooley all played well for the Tigers, but the whole Tiger line played very good football.

Hico meets Clifton in Clifton this week and it looks like a Hico victory from here.

Hico Tigers to Play Football at Clifton Friday at 8 p. m.

The Hico Tigers go to Clifton Friday for their second conference game. Last week Clifton was defeated 12-7 in the last 30 seconds by Itasca. Since both teams lost last week, this week's game is very important because the loser will be practically eliminated from the district race. Game time will be 8 p. m.

This promises to be a good game, and Hico will be out to avenge the 13-7 defeat by Clifton last year. Also this is the first game this season that Hico players will outweigh their opponents.

Marine Corps Still Taking Enlistments In Spite of Rumors

Dallas, Oct. 15.—Spiking current rumors, Major Edward L. Bais Jr., Officer in Charge of the Dallas Marine Recruiting Office, has announced that the Marine Corps is definitely still taking volunteers.

"The rumors which stemmed from the announcement that the Marine Corps was taking men through Selective Service, are absolutely false," the Major said.

"The rapid expansion of the Marine Corps, and its program for rapid release of reserves called at the beginning of the Korean conflict, has left a gap in the ranks of the Corps, which made it necessary that the Marines utilize the facilities of the Selective Service System to fill the vacancies," he explained.

"The number of volunteers governing largely the number of men inducted," Major Bais said. "Stating it broadly, the more men that volunteer the fewer men it will be necessary to induct," he added.

Pfc. Billie R. McLendon was married Sept. 4 to a girl in Salinas, Calif. Miss Jeanette Cox, according to information reaching the News Review, along with the information that Miss Clarice McLendon (known better by the name of Dinkey when she was serving customers in the Texan Cafe) is to be married to Edwin Sidney Groves of Fort Worth next Monday.

Miss Wanda McLendon, we are further informed, is awaiting Nov. 6th to arrive so she can take her State Board examination and begin her career as a beauty operator. She and Clarice both graduated from a Fort Worth beauty school last Wednesday. All three are children of Mrs. Pat White.

C. G. Little, ACMM stationed at the Naval Air Base at Kingsville, was in Hico the first of the week waiting to be joined by his mother, Mrs. Alyce Little, who was visiting in Ranger. They expected to go on to Tulsa, Okla., for a visit with their son and brother, F. S. Little.

Pfc. George Sawyer and Dub Harrison of Randolph AFB, San Antonio, were recent visitors in the M. H. Johnson home. Both boys were buddies of Cpl. Ray Johnson when they were all in Keesler, Mississippi. The pair will be stationed in Louisiana after their 17-day furlough.

County Tax Collector Will Visit Here Next Thursday, Oct. 25

Billy G. Wood of Hamilton, County Tax Collector and Assessor, has announced that he will make a visit to Hico next Thursday, Oct. 25, for the convenience of local taxpayers.

KEEP SODA HANDY IN CAR

It's the wise motorist who keeps a box of baking soda handy in the glove compartment of his car for putting out unexpected fires. Baking soda is an inexpensive fire extinguisher—poured on a small fire, it will quickly and effectively smother it by generating carbon dioxide which settles down over the flames and shuts off the air supply of oxygen without which a fire cannot burn.

Proposed Constitutional Amendments Explained At Lions Club Meeting

Stating that he was not attempting to make a speech or suggest how anyone might vote, Leon T. E. Roberts talked before the Lions Club Wednesday at noon on the five proposed Constitutional amendments which will confront voters on November 13. At the same time, he pointed out, they would be called upon to select a member of the Legislature to represent Hamilton and Coryell Counties for the unexpired term of Earl Huddleston, resigned. His only aim, he explained, was to give what information was at his disposal to his hearers, and he urged that some thought be put into the matter and that the people go to the polls and express their wishes.

The first amendment discussed concerned that one proposing a statewide system of retirement and disability pensions for appointive officers and employees of Texas counties under such a plan and program as the Legislature shall authorize. The speaker said the retirement system referred to was already in the Constitution and required this amendment as an enabling act, applying in most instances to counties other than ours.

The second amendment, if passed, would allow the Board of Regents of the University of Texas more latitude in investment of permanent funds. Wide discussion of the merits and demerits of this proposal has disclosed that passage of the measure would allow opportunity for greater revenue, with an accompanying increase, of course, of risk involved in buying stocks and bonds.

Authorization of fire districts, with an accompanying tax up to 50 cents on the $100.00 valuation is proposed in a third amendment. This one, the speaker thought, is not worked clearly enough to allow voters to know definitely what they are voting on. It concerns mostly, it is assumed, the forested districts of East Texas.

Setting up of a Veterans Land Board authorized to issue bonds increasing the present limits from $25 million to $100 million is proposed in a fourth amendment. Judging from experience with the present statutes which have existed for the past two years, the speaker thought the provisions set out were inadequate, although the thought behind the program might be good. As a veteran, he has found it a poor substitute for doing something for World War II veterans, even if that were expected and merited. "This was set out as veterans' legislation," he said, "but wouldn't help the great majority of them much for it affects too few of their numbers and if the course is followed it would have to be done over every few years. It seems a very unrealistic approach to a problem that concerns many."

Probably the most discussed of the amendments and one which will bring out the vote, is that one affecting pensions. Changes are proposed in methods of handling assistance to the aged, blind and needy, and the ceiling would be raised from $35 million to $42 million a year. Important wording seems to have been left out of this amendment, and there is a failure to clarify the term bona fide citizen. There are two schools of thought on the merits of the proposal, Roberts said, and he did not feel qualified to pass on them. "It is something we all ought to look into," he declared, "and decide if the aged and needy can get more for the money we pay in without increasing administrative expense which is already heavy." Again on this matter he insisted that the people enlighten themselves and that all qualified persons go out and vote. "The special session of the Legislature due to come up next year will be a tax session," he said in conclusion, "and it is most important to all of us that matters be handled in the correct manner."

Leon O. C. Cook, program manager, thanked the speaker for his time and trouble, and announced that the club would meet at Fairy next Tuesday night. He also asked thoughts on future programs.

Elmer Horton, former Hicoan now of Angleton, was a guest, along with 24 members who enjoyed the excellent meal served by the Methodist ladies at Firemen's Hall, as follows: Lions McPherson, Walker, Rutledge, Hampton, Neel, Chandler, Russell, Green-slit, Turner, Jordan, Howard, Knox, Cheek, Hoffer, Boone, Cook, Duzan, Roberts, Hafer, Patsick, Woodward, Sherrard, Bullock and Jackson, the latter presiding.

On October 21, 72 years ago, the late Thomas A. Edison perfected the first practical incandescent lamp. A year later he built the first factory for producing lamp bulbs commercially.

Edison's first lamps were crude affairs of hand-blown glass with carbonized bamboo filaments. They produced only 16 candle power of light and cost $1.10 each to manufacture.

Today, lamp bulbs of similar wattage produce more than eight times as much light, have a longer burning life and sell for only 18 cents each.

Increased lamp efficiency plus low-cost electricity have made good lighting today's biggest bargain. Take full advantage of it by filling your empty sockets with right-sized bulbs today!

Due to the fact that this week has been six weeks tests week there hasn't been very much news to report. We are all glad that the tests are over.

We hope next time to have more news from the Hico High School.

SENIOR NEWS

Each class was given time Mon- day morning to elect their Hallo- we'en King and Queen candidates. The senior class elected Wilma Haley as their queen and Benny Terry for their king.

Well, of course everyone is hap- py that the six weeks tests are over but may not be very happy when they receive their report cards.

JUNIOR NEWS

The junior candidates for Hallo- we'en king and queen are Billy Luckie and Dorothy Randolph.

Dorothy is president of the junior class and a very active member of all high school activi- ties. She is a member of the band.

Billy Joe is a main string foot- ball player. He is liked by all.

The sophomore candidates have won the king and queen contests for the past three or four years. We hope to break their luck this year.

The junior boys that are play- ing football this season are: Steve Garrison, James Terry, Jimmy Tooley, Billy Joe Luckie, R. W. Leeth, Roy McWilliams, Sammy Collins, and Bruce Slaughter.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

Well, plans for the Hallowe'en Carnival are underway and are growing with leaps and bounds. We, the sophomore class, do here- by proclaim to all that our candi- dates are Doris Fillingim and P. H. Bruner for carnival king and queen. We are behind them one hundred per cent.

Naturally our campaign pro- gram is a secret as of yet, but the sophomores are really doing their part.

Frances Latham, our pep leader, is "pepping" the class up. We're ready to fight!

FRESHMAN NEWS

The candidates for king and queen of the Hallowe'en carnival were elected Monday. They are Mary Beth Ogle and Donald May- field. The two representatives of our class are Linda Cox and Kay Jernigan. These, with the rest of the class will be coming around wanting votes. The sophomores have won for three years straight and we would like to have it this year.

You probably all noticed that Ronald McKenzie played a good game of football Friday night. He is a freshman and we are proud of him.

Those babies come first ...but you're next in line!

SUBSCRIBERS

ing circulation from Hog Jaw to Podlatch. Fortunately it was only the address on the paper that changed, and we retain as valued subscribers the Ora J. Williams family who have moved to Grand Coulee, Washington. Oh, well, we didn't have a very big list at Grand Coulee, so maybe that will recompense us for the dubious disappointment about the Williams address.

A. L. Newlin, Hico Route 5, renewed his subscription for a short time last week. Like many others of this community, we suspect Mr. Newlin would like to see a rain. We might promise one if we thought we could make good on the promise.

Mrs. Marvin Smith, 331 Lindberg, Odessa, Texas, is credited with a year's time on subscription since receipt of an order from W. E. Goynne who dispenses drugs, philosophy and sunshine out at Fairy.

Ovis Morrison, 650 Lingleville Road, Stephenville, will receive the News Review for the coming year through the thoughtfulness of his sister, Mrs. Ella Bullard of Hico. There is another Morrison boy, Dowed by name, who has been lost from our records. He traveled around so much during World War II that we couldn't chase him down although we even tried Japan. If he'd report in, and is still interested, we might look up his card and see if we couldn't reinstate him on the list for the remainder of the time he had coming on a subscription entered for him by a buddy.

Fred B. Jones, who spends his stone house across from the Bluebonnet Country Club, a light blue bonnet Country Club, a light green Cadillac, and a pew at the Methodist Church, mailed in his renewal subscription last week end. We hope his failure to bring his check by the office instead of mailing it wasn't occasioned by a guilty conscience. On a recent deal for a large quantity (four bits' worth) of Austin stone between him and the editor, the middleman making the trade in the person of Leland Johnson passed on the word that Fred was to drop the payment in the collection box at the Methodist Church, dedicating it to the editor who was unable to be on hand for Homecoming. We don't doubt that Fred did just that, for he is considered a man of his word, but just to keep him honest we might make inquiry from some of the other stewards at the first opportunity.

"Please renew my subscription" was the simple note accompanying a check from Mrs. O. E. Meador. Now, Mrs. Meador, we aren't trying to run your business, but there was lots of space left at the bottom of that sheet of paper and we are wondering if you didn't know some little item of news to turn in to us. However you have been so loyal in the past about this matter that we aren't going to resent it.

Mrs. Nadine Stone and daughter, Peggy, of Whitney spent Monday in Hico with Mrs. Stone's sister, Mrs. Orville Ogle, and family. While here she resubscribed for the Hico paper, on a visit to the office.

"I lived within a ten-mile radius of Hico almost all my life until three years ago, when we moved to Cowntown," says a note accompanying check from Cone Patterson, 2900 Canton Drive, Fort Worth. "We like to keep up with news from the old home town," he added, "and don't want to miss a copy."

Mrs. C. H. Boyd, who gets her mail on Iredell Route 1, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bill Boyd, who lives on the road to Fairy and has a mailing address of Hico Route 3, were pleasant office visitors Tuesday afternoon. The elder Mrs. Boyd paid a little bill for a subscription label from her Hico paper carrying expiration time of even date. While telling about the many reasons she liked to receive the Hico paper each week, it occurred to the visitors that the daughter-in-law ought to receive her own copy each week also, so they promptly fixed that up. They both showed a lively interest in the office and seeing what went on in the mechanical department, flatterer us by saying that they had been intending to look over the newspaper plant up at their former home town of Fort Worth, but would accept our invitation until such time as they could drop in on the Carters of the Star-Telegram who are personal friends of the family. Mrs. Bill Boyd, who upon seeing the molten metal used in the stereotyping department, recalled that she used to melt lead and mold tin soldiers, was presented with a linotype slug with her name, Joyce, on it. Her mother-in-law, whose given name we failed to obtain, received a similar souvenir.

Frank Stipe, who with his family has been living in Fort Worth and working at Convar, is now among those who commute between their work and their homes in this section. They have recently decided that they could do a better job of taking care of their cattle and other interests by living at home, so they moved back to the Duffau community. Mrs. Stipe was in Tuesday to renew their subscription, giving their present mailing address as Hico Route 5.

Miss Frances Angell possesses a degree in journalism from TSCW, Denton, but presently is occupied with government employment at San Antonio, where she makes her residence at 1130 West Mulberry.

She has always been a loyal friend of the home paper, but seems to feel a little closer since a period of indoctrination spent in this office last December when a big news story broke in front of our eyes.

So Frances ordered a subscription for the remainder of her residence in Denton, and while we were working out details of her moving to the Alamo City we failed to mention the fact in this column. This week we received a note from Frances which, with deletions made in the interest of public security, follows:

"I've decided that the only way I can get my name in the Hico paper is to have a change of address, so I moved. Now I'll be extremely disappointed if you fail to mention me in the subscribers column.

"I'm having a lovely time down here. I don't have to work very hard (maybe we ought to cut this out, but don't take this paper to the office with you, Frances, Ed.) and I find that there are so many interesting things to do I really don't have too much time to spare for work.

"I've been following, very interestedly, this recent battle of words between dog lovers and non-fanciers of dogs. To tell the truth, during my many years of residence in Hico I was completely unaware of the villainous aspect of Hico dogs. Their undesirability came as quite a shock to me.

"You know Dale Randalls is assistant dietitian at Santa Rosa Hospital and we're sharing an apartment. I've always thought it would be nice to live with a dietitian because logically she would know quite a bit about food. I'm beginning to get worried, though. We've only been living together a week and Dale already has that speculative gleam in her eye which adds up to only one thing for me—a diet.

"We have a very nice apartment—it's large and airy. In fact it's the greater part of an old-fashioned frame house in one of the residential sections. It comes complete with a (Ye gods, Frances, if we printed what you said you'd be better off taking the paper to work.—Ed.)

"Just for the records my phone number is Parkview 2-5014—I never pass a chance to give it to handsome men."

Thanks, Frances, for everything. And give our regards to the B. B. L. L. you mentioned.

R. E. Turner, the pleasant, accommodating gentleman who has been serving the public for some time at the Gulf Station and grocery store on Highway 6 east of the post office, inquired about renewal of his subscription and found that it was included on his regular bill which, thank him very much, includes frequent advertising in the paper.

Subscription renewals have been entered by mail for Miss Vieta McAnally of 810 N. Graham, Odessa, Texas, and for her father, A. L. McAnally, Hico Route 4. Miss McAnally is a former teacher in Hico Public Schools, who has been out in the West for several years. She makes frequent visits home, though, and likes to keep up with her relatives and former friends in and around Hico.

Along with a check for $4.00 (the four-dollar amount is explained at the end of a letter) comes a letter from a Hico-reared boy who writes on stationery of Sheriff's Garage at Houston, listing Rudy Wieser as its skipper.

On account of the breezy nature of his letter, we weaken from our avowed intention of closing a recent discussion on dogs. It has been brought to our attention that dogs can't talk for themselves, so maybe they deserve this one added note:

"I have read with a great deal of interest the matter of the canine world scratching up gardens etc. in the vicinity of Hico, Texas. The writer, as you know, was born in Hico during the year 1901 and there were five boys in the family. As far back as 1901 dogs were thought of in Hico as being Man's Best Friend and I can only think that the whole controversy must have been originated by an old maid who must be jealous of anyone or anything that is a friend to a mere man, much less his Best Friend. I note that you state that there are two sides to everything—well, I have to disagree in that remark because there are three sides to everything—the Old Maid's side, the Dogs' side and, darn it, the Right Side."

Thereupon our correspondent explains in detail a situation which he visualizes as having existed giving what he presents as the first two sides, and continues:

"I have nothing against cats or any kind of pets, so the third side of this controversy—which is the right side—is that let each one own his own pet and quit worrying about the pets of others. What would our children do if they were denied their pets? Anyone that knows children knows that they would cry their little eyes out if there were no pets allowed them and thus they would never learn to be gentle with animals, which would certainly hurt their training as love of pets is the great character builder of all children.

"To show that I have nothing against your paper or all this doggy stuff, please find enclosed my check for two years' subscription.

"Sincerely yours, "R. J. (RUDY) WIESER."

Fourth Army Speeds Handling of Returned Veterans from Korea

Three hours from time of arrival at the reception station until departure for home is the schedule now in effect at the two Fourth Army reception stations set up at Fort Sam Houston and Fort Sill to process returning Korean veterans.

During this three-hour period the RCP's, as the Rotation Combat Personnel are called in Army lingo, are given a hot meal, their instructions, issued additional clothing, provided with pocket money and leave orders for their thirty-day stay at home.

According to Fourth Army headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, the veterans are being returned to the United States at the rate of approximately 30,000 per month and the new processing saves each man several days compared with the old procedure.

Heretofore, the Korean returnees were required to wait at West Coast ports—some times for three and four days, due to work backlogs—before their furlough orders could be prepared for them. This, naturally, caused delay for the veterans, who were anxious to get home for a 30-day rest after the rigors of the Korean battle-fronts.

The soldiers coming back from Korea are met at the trains or planes by Army buses. They are whisked to the reception center. A hot meal is the "first order of the day." While they are being given orientation, provided with clothing, if necessary, and "fortified" with $40 pocket money, their furlough orders are prepared. Then they are placed in buses and taken to spots in town closest to their transportation for home.

After 30 days, the Korean veterans are required to report back to the reception center for reassignment in the United States. No veteran is sent back to Korea, unless he volunteers. The new assignments are furnished by the Department of the Army and are all ready for them when they report back for duty.

How to Keep Your Telephone From Being "BUSY" . . . Doing Nothing

Always replace your receiver carefully. If your receiver is not replaced properly your telephone is just as "busy" as if you were actually using it. This is equally true on a party line and private line. Calls can't come in to you—and, if you're on a party line, your neighbors can neither make nor receive calls.

So please try to hang up carefully, and see that your telephone receiver is always properly replaced. It means better service if you do. . . .

Average Texas Farm Owner Doesn't Carry Enough Fire Insurance

West, Texas, Oct. 16.—The average Texas farm is "seriously under-insured," according to Geo. E. Kacir, West, Texas, executive secretary of the Texas Association of Mutual Fire and Storm Insurance Companies. He said a bad barn fire would cause many Texas farmers a serious financial loss.

"They would not collect enough insurance money," he explained, "to rebuild at today's high building costs."

Kacir also said there are still many farmers who do not have enough money saved to rebuild from their own funds.

Fire is a serious threat to farmers. Kacir said. Farm fire losses throughout the nation were more than $100,000,000 last year, and an estimated 3,500 persons lost their lives. Despite this he said many farmers are simply not "insurance minded."

"The average 'good barn,' he pointed out, "will cost about $2,000 to build in Texas. Some, of course, will cost considerably more. A $2,000 barn can be properly insured for about $5 a year. Other farm properties—residences, tool and machinery sheds, garages, etc.—can be protected at comparable cost. Yet most Texas farm properties are under-insured by at least 40 per cent."

Farm mutual insurance companies carry on extensive fire prevention programs. Fewer fire losses mean lower insurance costs, since savings developed by these programs are passed on by the companies to their policyholders.

Kacir said the answer to the danger of under-insurance is an immediate appraisal.

"Farmers should get an estimate of their property values from a competent source—their insurance representative, or the local banker or real estate man—and increase their insurance accordingly. In today's era of high prices, adequate insurance is of utmost importance."

NTSC Coeds Learn to Cook and Keep House In Nine Weeks Course

Denton, Oct. 15.—All phases of managing a house—from scrubbing floors to balancing menus and budgets—are included in nine weeks of hard but practical training for 14 coeds each semester in North Texas State College's Home Management House.

The 14 coeds are enrolled in the home management course which is required of all home economics majors at the college. This is one course, the girls say, which begins at 6 a. m. and does not end until almost 8 p. m.

Girls enrolled in the course reside in the Home Management house on the campus, where they receive training and experience in all phases of managing a home. For nine weeks of the semester they cook, do dishes, wash, iron, buy food, keep house and balance the budget.

The home management course is taught by Mrs. Isla Mae Maxey of the NTSC home economics department who serves as faculty advisor at the house. Another faculty member, Miss Nell Davis, lives with the girls as hostess.

The girls' jobs are divided into seven distinct duties: the cook, who buys the groceries and prepares menus and meals; the assistant cook, who helps and learns the routine of the kitchen; the kitchen supervisor, who mops the floors, keeps the refrigerator, cabinets, back porch, woodwork and disposes of the trash and garbage; the waitress-laundress, who waits on the table and does the linens; upstairs and downstairs housekeepers who vacuum the rugs, keep the woodwork, hallway and stairs; and the manager, who balances the books and keeps all the records for each period.

It's Difficult to Save Anything by Living Off the Country

Austin, Oct. 16.—Analyzing the game hunting costs, a Game and Fish Commission wildlife biologist reported the average hunter stalking deer and turkey spent $271.97 for the 1947 season.

He said the minimum expenditure per hunter that year was $2—the price of the old resident hunting license—and the maximum individual expenditure was $3,618.50.

Broken down to the price of each prize bagged, he reported the cost of harvesting one wild turkey gobbler or one buck deer on the average was $186.98.

The study was made by Henry C. Hahn, Jr., of Kerrville, veteran Game and Fish Commission staffer. He was aided by 14 biologists and six game wardens.

The $271.97 spent by the average hunter included such items as the following:

Supplies and equipment, $107.48; transportation, $51.72; hunting lease, $37.34; food, $22.61; miscellaneous (camp cook, labor, insurance, etc.), $16.84; refreshments and amusements, $12.77; hunting dogs, $10.38; mounting and tanning, $3.88; game storage and processing, $2.66; hunting lease elsewhere in addition to the one on Edwards Plateau, $2.59; lodging, $1.91; telephone and telegraph, $1.49.

Another major item was hunting clothing. Transportation also was costly since the average hunter drove his automobile approximately 500 miles during the 1947 hunting season. Some of the mileage was made prior to the season in trips to hunting leases and on general reconnaissance.

Advertising Director Appointed to Succeed Late James M. Floyd

L. C. ROBERTS

Appointment of L. C. Roberts to succeed the late J. M. Floyd as advertising director of Lone Star Gas Company has been announced by D. A. Huley, president.

Roberts has been with Lone Star for the past 18 years, all of this time being spent in various capacities in the advertising department. In 1942 he was made advertising supervisor and in that position he initiated and carried through many successful Lone Star advertising and sales promotion programs.

In commenting on Roberts' appointment, Mr. Huley said that "because of Lone Star's ever-expanding advertising and merchandising programs to promote the sale of modern automatic gas appliances through more than 1,500 dealer stores and our own offices over the system, we are fortunate in having a man whose entire business experience has been in the important field of merchandising. His special knowledge and experience will be most valuable in the development of this area's unlimited market for the various types of gas-operated air-conditioning equipment. Mr. Roberts is well known among our people for his thoroughness and planning ability. He is no stranger to the retailer and his problems for he has worked with many in developing gas appliance sales programs for them.

In placing Lone Star's advertising in 247 Texas and Oklahoma newspapers, he has become well acquainted with many southwest publishers who know him as 'Bob.' Roberts joined Lone Star in 1933 after several years' experience in large Southwest department stores where he was advertising and sales promotion manager. He was born in Brenham, Texas. He attended Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Among his civic work he has served a three-year term on the Board of Directors of the Dallas Community Chest and was co-chairman for two years of the Chest's publicity committee. He is a past president of the Dallas Advertising League and in 1945 was voted the League's most valuable member. He served as chairman of the Dallas Fire Prevention Council in which position he launched several city-wide fire safety campaigns.

Roberts is married and has one son who is now on duty with the Air Force. He lives at 8160 San Benito Way, Dallas.

Half Million People Have Seen Chrysler's State Fair Exhibit

More than half a million people visited the Chrysler Corporation's "New Worlds In Engineering" show during the first three days of its exhibition at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, according to information submitted to George Jones Motors, local Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.

The show, which presents animated evidence of the engineering behind the building of the modern passenger car, is expected to be visited by more than two million people before it closes on October 21.

Comprised of more than seventy moving models and demonstrations ranging from styling and design exhibits to such technical exhibits as one which demonstrates the use of radioactive materials in automotive research, the show demonstrates to the public what is behind the development of Chrysler Corporation vehicles.

Hundreds of thousands of people previously inspected this unusual exhibit when it was displayed in New York City, Boston and Pittsburgh during the past few months. During that time the exhibit was visited by several hundred engineering, technical school, college and university groups.

Following the Dallas exhibition the show will move to Salt Lake City where it will open a two-week-long run on November 3. During December, January and February it will be shown in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Chicago.

At the present time, 98 men are being saved out of every 100 wounded in Korea.

OIL PROGRESS WEEK OCTOBER 14-20

Oil Progress means more to Texans!

This week the United States will focus its attention on the oil industry's contributions to the high American standard of living, to the nation's industrial progress, and to the national defense. This is Oil Progress Week.

Texans know the story well: as home folks in the oil country, they share the oil industry's pride in supplying the resource that powers a major share of the country's industries, all its airplanes and automobiles, most of its ships and trains.

Texans realize, moreover, that oil's progress means even more to them than it does to many other Americans. For example, the value of the crude oil produced in *West Texas in 1950 was approximately a billion dollars. This is not "boom money." West Texas uses it to pay taxes, salaries and wages; it buys homes, groceries, light and heat; doctors collect a portion of it; landowners receive royalty and lease payments; a sizable portion of it is reinvested in the further development of the region's oil resources.

In a word, the progressive development of the petroleum resources of West Texas has enormously stimulated its thriving industrial, commercial and agricultural development, and this is the more, the plus, that oil's progress means to West Texans. Modern, efficient production practices will conserve the oil and gas resources of the region, and oil's progress will continue to mean more to West Texas for many years ahead.

*The shaded area is the region called West Texas by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"Let's Talk Live Stock"

By TED GOULDY

Fort Worth.—Serious losses threaten livestock producers of the Southwest unless steps are taken to speed the return of livestock cars to this part of the country. Wires have been sent to Interstate Commerce Commission headquarters by the Fort Worth Livestock Market Institute, the dealers and commission men and the Fort Worth Stockyards, asking that some steps be taken to get more livestock cars sent into the Southwest.

Unless the livestock can be moved, buyers will have to slow up. Regional demand for stocker or feeder animals is getting more narrow each day because of increasingly dry conditions. Wheat field grazing, which looked so good early in the season, is fading away rapidly.

So far the only reaction the Fort Worth market interests have had from the ICC is a terse wire telling them that there is a "heavy Fall movement of livestock."

Wonder how they found that out in Washington?

The way to keep rail stock cars off sidings and rolling is to install a sliding scale on the demurrage. Then if a party takes a car sit for too long, it costs plenty.

Texas congressmen and senators will be hearing next from the harassed livestock interests, maybe they can get some action and keep livestock prices from getting demoralized because of the stock car shortage.

Wool prices are looking stronger and news from Australia is that prices are up there, too. Many observers feel that a sharp rise is due this Fall and Winter on wool and that as an investment, the fleeces will bring a sure profit in a short time.

N. R. Watkins of Detroit, Texas, won that $1,000 bull the State Fair offered as a prize to the person writing the best essay on why he needed a bull. Watkins explained that he needed the bull because his bull had died. Yep, he really needed that bull!

Dates for the Fort Worth Farm and Ranch Club's annual Texas Livestock Roundup have been announced as November 1 and 2. The day-and-a-half program will be held in Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium and will offer many interesting discussions and displays for the visitors.

Everyone interested in livestock is invited to attend. Bill Pier, manager of the Fort Worth Stockyards, is president of the Farm and Ranch Club and a program covering everything from displays of meat carcasses and cuts of meat by Armour & Company and Swift & Company, to a discussion of what is new in the rain-making business, a discussion of new drugs, and just about everything that a livestock producer or one connected with the livestock business will be interested in, will be included.

Last year's program was the first of this type and it was so well received that the Livestock Roundup will be held annually. Don't forget the dates, November 1 and 2, in Fort Worth.

Southwestern Exposition & Fat Stock Show will dedicate the 1952 performance to the Golden Anniversary of the building of the big packing houses at Fort Worth.

We would like to hear from someone who was a shipper of livestock to Fort Worth in 1901 and 1902.

Know someone like that? Ask them to write to Ted Gouldy, Livestock Exchange Building, Fort Worth, Texas.

On the Fort Worth market last week, old ewes staged a strong comeback with prices nearing the high points of last month for slaughter kinds. Lot of canner ewes in the $11 to $12.50 bracket. There are fewer of the broken-mouthed ewes going back to the country the past week or two. Dry weather is blamed for that slowdown, too.

Many old cows are selling $2 to $3 under prices of a couple or three weeks ago. Reason is the slow down in demand for these cows for wheat field grazing. All market observers agree that a good rain would help livestock prices immediately.

The quarter-hour presentations each Sunday morning are offered to better acquaint people of the Southwest with the life of the more than 400 children who live at the Methodist Home, Waco, Texas, according to Hubert Johnson, home superintendent.

Each of the programs is devoted to some particular phase of activities at the Methodist home—how the children are taken from parentless, broken or poverty stricken homes; how they are clothed, fed and sheltered; the work experiences they receive and their educational and religious guidance.

The program for October 21 will tell of the vocational training, using case histories to show real life successes of children who have benefitted by vocational guidance as an added factor to their general educational opportunities, Mr. Johnson said.

The Methodist Home was founded in 1890 in Waco, Texas by the Methodist Churches of Texas and New Mexico.

Stations which are carrying the programs for the Methodist Home are: WFAA, Dallas; WOAI, San Antonio; KPRC, Houston; KRIS, Corpus Christi; KRGV, Weslaco; KGNC, Amarillo; KRDD, El Paso; KGGM, Albuquerque; KFYO, Lubbock; KFDL, Beaumont; KFRO, Longview; KVAL, Brownsville; KERB, Kermit; KTVC, Austin; and KBST, Big Spring.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Guess They Felt Pretty "Sheepish"

My wife and I went to Central City Saturday for the football game and it was a top-notch. But I began to wonder if it was worth the trouble when we got in a traffic jam coming home.

Traffic makes me mighty impatient. When I came to a side road that seemed to point towards the main highway, I turned onto it. This road bumps along for maybe a mile, then fetches up short by the railroad—a dead end.

So, I turned around and darned if there weren't twenty cars behind me! One driver had followed —figuring I knew a short cut—then a whole string of them swung after him, like sheep.

From where I sit, there's no sense in just "following along." Whether it's choosing a road, a movie star, or what beverage to drink at meal time, it's always better to make your own decisions. Personally, I often like a glass of beer with my dinner, but most of all, I like the freedom of making up my own mind about it!

the doctor can wait

How often have you heard it said, "I've paid all my bills except the doctor's. He can wait!"

When we have recovered, the fearful urgency of that night call is easily forgotten. In answer to our frantic call, what if the doctor had said, "Oh, it's nothing serious. Wait until morning and come down to the office." The chances are we would agree to pay double if he would come at once.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE ARMY . . . Army personnel are likely to change into a new deep-greenish-gray winter uniform in a couple of years. Should this design be discarded, the Army will soon wear a lighter weight OD-shade winter uniform. (According to late information, the Army may also, sport a Sunday suit of snappy gray).

BLUE PATCH ADDED TO INFANTRY CAP . . . Infantrymen who have completed 16 weeks of the basic training course will be awarded a blue patch for wear on the garrison (overseas) cap. The other markings are the "good old blue braid" and a blue scarf. A blue cord will be worn on the shoulder of men assigned to "combat ready" units.

TRYING TO CORNER THE PURPLE HEART MARKET . . . (With the Second Infantry Division in Korea)—As his men of Company F, 9th Infantry, were about to move into the front lines, Captain Martin J. Larkin issued an order: "Wrap Carter in cotton, if you have to," he said, "but don't let him get hurt!" Sergeant Harold E. Carter arrived in Korea with the 2nd more than a year ago. Sgt. Carter, since that time, has been awarded seven purple hearts.

AN APPEAL FOR BLOOD DONATIONS is the order of the day for all Americans. The shortage of blood plasma is at its lowest ebb since the blood banks were first started. Go to the nearest American Red Cross, U. S. Army or U. S. Air Force installation, and give today. The blood you donate may save the life of some one dear to you.

REGULAR ARMY PERSONNEL CLASSIFIED AS LIGHT WEAPONS INFANTRY LEADERS, who have at least a year remaining on their present enlistment, and are otherwise qualified are needed by Headquarters, 4th Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for duty as instructors in National Guard and ROTC units. Personnel on active duty should apply through their commanding officers. Korean rotation personnel on 30 days' leave and not yet assigned, should contact Headquarters Fourth Army through their nearest Military District.

FIRST 45 OF A GROUP OF ALEINS, 2,500 IN ALL, WHO ENLISTED IN THE REGULAR ARMY IN EUROPE will arrive in October in the United States for training. Following this first group, it is anticipated that about 50 a month will arrive for training with Army units. After completing their five-year enlistment period they may, if they wish, reenlist in the Regular Army under regulations applicable at that time.

State Fair of Texas To Close This Week In Blaze of Glory

The 1951 State Fair of Texas will wind up this week end in a blaze of glory as impressive and spectacular as anything that happened the first part of the nation's greatest state fair.

Last chance to see the exposition that has been hailed as the greatest state fair of all time will be Sunday, Oct. 21. That's the last day of the 16-day run.

Friday, Oct. 19, will be High School Day at the fair, and there'll be two football games in the Cotton Bowl—a junior high school game starting at 6 p. m. and a high school game between North Dallas and Forest of Dallas at 8 p. m.

Friday also will be Rotary Day at the fair and Rotarians from all over the state are expected to attend. Grove Patterson, editor-in-chief of the Toledo, Ohio, Blade and a nationally known speaker, will address the Rotarians.

Saturday will be one of the fair's biggest days, with something doing to interest everybody.

Southern Methodist's Mustangs and Rice Institute's Owls clash in the Cotton Bowl at 8 p. m. Saturday in an important Southwest Conference football game. Plenty of tickets are still available for this game.

There'll be a big free show in the fair's new livestock pavilion at 8 p. m. Saturday night—a rollicking Cowboy Carnival with enough horses and Wild West atmosphere to please the most avid cowboy fan. The big free show will be preceded by a parade around the grounds at 6 p. m. Because it will be Western Day at the fair, visitors are encouraged to come dressed in Western attire.

After 6 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 21, final day of the 1951 fair, admission to the fairgrounds will be free for the first time in the fair's history. The occasion will be a mammoth statewide religious festival, absolutely free in the Cotton Bowl.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, nationally known speaker and writer on inspirational subjects and pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York City, will speak. A 640-voice robed choir will sing. On this spiritual note the 1951 fair will end.

And by the time the gates close Sunday night, it is expected that about 2,300,000 visitors will have attended the fair—a new national record.
