(Mailed from Korea April 23, 1953). With the 3rd Infantry Div. in Korea—Pvt. Gene Eddleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Euel Eddleman, Carlton, is playing an important part in the destruction of enemy mortars in Korea.

A radar plotter, Eddleman and a buddy go into action as soon as they hear of an enemy mortar bombardment. The two first call on a radar set near the front to locate the mortar rounds in flight.

When projectiles pass through the radar beam, dots appear on the screen, indicating the distance and direction of the shells from the radar antenna.

The plotters use this information to determine the position of the enemy's mortars. The battalion then can destroy them.

Fairy

By Mrs. Eunice Massengale

We had ideal weather the past week for harvesting of the grain crops and other farm work. Grain is producing a fair yield.

We were very sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Lucy Cooper of Grand Prairie. She was reared about 8 miles east of Fairy, but attended church here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doty, until her marriage and leaving the community. We extend deepest sympathy to those bereaved in her passing. A number from here attended the funeral service.

We also regret to learn of the death of Mr. R. L. McDaniel of Carlton, which we learned by reading an account of his death in Carlton news. Mr. McDaniel had worked in this community as a carpenter and had a number of friends here.

The writer and daughter, Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don attended commencement exercises at Dublin Tuesday night of last week. We also attended a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jones of Dublin honoring the Seniors. There were 37 members of the class. Our granddaughter and niece, Miss Ruby Jean Allison was a member of the class. Delicious frosted punch and home-baked cookies were served to a large number. Others from here attending were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Whitson and Miss Zell Goynne and sister, Mrs. Thoma Ogle of Hico. Miss Wilma Grace Goynne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goynne and niece of the Whitson's, Miss Goynne and Mrs. Ogle was also a member of the senior class. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Edd Allison and Mrs. Texie Dell Allison.

Mrs. Scott Blakley was in Fort Worth last Friday to greet a little niece, who made her arrival at Harris Hospital Friday morning. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie McCoy of Dallas. She has been christened Ronda Mabelle. The McCoy's have one other child, a son, Rodney, who accompanied Mrs. Blakley home for a visit in the Blakley and J. L. McCoy homes.

Mrs. Brittle Little returned home last Wednesday after a few days visit in the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Dickerson of near Hico. Mrs. Little was released from the hospital on Monday previous, after a weeks stay there. Glad to report her doing nicely.

We have been informed that the Miller place has been sold to a young couple from Fort Worth. The place is better known as the Deaton place. They plan to build a new dwelling up near the road, a short distance south east of the P. L. Cox home. They stopped at the Cox home recently and made inquiry in regard to the Electric service and telephone system in the community. Mrs. Cox understood their name to be Faulkenberry.

Mr. Dewey Wilson has just completed the burning off of the cemetery and it all looks very nice. He also had some dirt hauled in and made fills on graves that needed attention. We appreciate those who have contributed and made this work possible and we trust those who have not helped in the past, will see fit to send in a contribution to help keep the good work going and relieve the burden of those who have been regular contributors in the past. Many who have loved ones buried here, have moved away and so far on one has been able to contact them. Yet the graves of their loved ones are looked after the same as those who make donations, so won't you help us with your donation to keep on keeping on with the most worthy and needed cause.

We received a short letter Monday from Mrs. Harvey Little of Oklahoma City containing a clipping from the Daily Oklahoman announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her brother, W. Joe Turner, of 1915 N. St. Clair, Oklahoma City, to Miss Doris Alberta Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ford of 1512 N. W. 29th St. Oklahoma City. Mr. Turner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Turner of Carlton. Vows will be solemnized at 3 p. m. June 7, in North West Baptist Church. Mr. Turner has made his home with his sister, Mrs. Little for the past several years. Mrs. Little as a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Brittle Little and Mr. Turner has visited here on several occasions. We extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family visited Sunday afternoon in Hamilton in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Sellers and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sellers, Bobby and Barbara.

The writer attended singing at Turnersville Sunday. We accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sumnerford from Jonesboro. While there we met an old school mate and friend, the former Miss Lula Basham. She is now Mrs. Lula Hoider. We had learned sometime ago that her parents and one brother, Willie had passed away, but did not know until she informed us Sunday that two other brothers, a sister had also passed away. These were Bruce Clark and Sybil Grace. Four members of the family are still living. They are Mrs. Eulalia Martin, Corpus Christi, Cleburne and Lula of Turnersville and Winnie, whose full name and address we failed to get.

Mr. Arthur Talley and sister, Miss Vivian of Fort Worth were fairy visitors last Sunday. They attended church at the Church of Christ and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover, and visited with other friends in the afternoon. Very sorry we missed seeing them and hope they decide to visit us again some time soon. Birthdays for June that we have in mind are Mrs. T. L. Betts, June

2; Mrs. D. E. Allison, Dublin, June 5; Mrs. Gladys Cox and our deceased husband, J. O. Richardson, June 9; Carolyn Sellers, June 14; Mrs. Oleta Jackson, Corpus Christi, June 7.

Mrs. D. E. Allison of Dublin visited Friday in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family. While here, her sister gave her a home permanent. Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Clark Saturday and Sunday were O. J. Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dean Barnett, and Mrs. Milton Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Garland Arrant and baby daughter spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Arrant and also visited with her parents at Hico.

VA CUTS: Many Texas ex-servicemen are writing me to protest the proposed cut in appropriations for the Veterans Administration. The President's budget calls for a reduction of over $275,000,000 in VA appropriations.

Veterans hospitals even now are having to let beds stand unused because of lack of funds. Congressman Olin Teague of College Station has compiled figures showing that the 38 VA hospitals in the country are financially unable to use 2,393 of their beds. And 24,834 veterans approved for admission to VA hospitals can't get in because no beds are available. The hospital at Houston has 292 unused beds, that at McKinney 26.

I do not see how anybody can justify neglect of our ex-servicemen.

DEFENSE: Can we get more defense for less money? Will 120 air wings give us more defense than 143 wings? Secretary of Defense Wilson says so, in defending the proposed cut of over five billion dollars in Air Force appropriations.

Some of us are going to examine the reductions very carefully.

WHAT'S AHEAD? Proposals have been made to increase rates charged REA cooperatives on Government loans.

Chances of extending excess profits tax beyond June 30, as requested by the President, look slimmer every day.

Some of Texas' surplus wheat will be shipped to Pakistan if Congress approves the President's proposal to lend that country a million bushels, payment to be made later.

Expect the doctor's draft law to be extended, with some easing up on those who have had as much as 12 months of military service. Majors Field near Greenville and Galveston Air Force Base are victims of the policy of cutting down the Air Force.

BRICKER AMENDMENT: I have as yet taken no definite stand on the Bricker Amendment. I support its aims and principles, as they are generally understood. The amendment is now being revised in Committee. It is not yet clear what the amendment's final form will be.

WATERWAYS PROJECTS: The new budget cut appropriations for Dallas Floodway from $2,900,000 to $750,000. House Appropriations Committee cut out the $750,000, leaving nothing at all for this flood control project.

The committee cut money for the Texarkana Reservoir to $5,000,000—from $7,265,000 in revised budget, $8,565,000 in original budget. Garza-Little Elm was cut to $3,250,000 from $3,635,000 in revised budget, $4,935,000 in original. Belton Reservoir was cut to $750,000 from $900,000 in revised budget, $1,100,000 in original.

NEWS BRIEFS: Have a home freezer? On request, I'll send you a Department of Agriculture bulletin on home freezing of fruits and vegetables.

Took a Sunday drive with Lady Bird through the Virginia hills for lunch at Senator Harry F. Byrd's beautiful farm home. That same evening we had the privilege of attending a gathering in honor of Congressman Homer Thornberry's mother, 82, a lady in the finest sense of that word and the mother of a great son.

D. G. Butts of San Augustine, president of McGee Bend Development Association, and W. F. Weed of Beaumont, president Lower Neches Valley Authority, were citizens of the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area here on behalf of the McGee Dam Project.

Mr. James Smith of Groesbeck, hale and hearty at age 82, flew up to Washington and came to see me while he was here. Said he figured he had waited long enough to try out flying. I hope I can be as vigorous and alert when I'm his age.

Major Gen. Carl Phinney of Dallas, CG 36th Division, was a welcome visitor to my office. So was my good friend, Chilton O'Brien of Beaumont.

Now I've been asked by a Texas radio station to support a resolution naming a National Hillbilly Music Day! Anybody want to advise me?

Advertised Claims of 'Magic' Bug Killers Sometimes Misleading

Austin, June 2.—Don't put too much stock in advertised claims for the bug-killing properties of so-called "vaporizers," State Health Officer George W. Cox cautioned Texans today.

He said "indiscriminate use" of the gadgets in homes or sleeping quarters could make the fumes more toxic to humans than to insects.

Vaporizers are familiar as small glass or metal instruments with a conical-shaped insecticide container in the top and a light bulb wired into the bottom. The insecticide is placed in the cone and vaporized by the heat generated by the bulb underneath.

Widely advertised and sold for "killing bugs the easy way," one brand comes complete with an 8-months supply of chemicals, and makes claims of being "non-toxic, odorless, guaranteed positive extermination of flies, roaches, mosquitoes, all insects . . . Meets all state and federal requirements."

Dr. Cox called these claims "completely misleading" and pointed to a March 27 statement released by the Federal Interdepartmental Committee on Pest Control to back him up, the statement said:

"Because of the health hazards inherent in the misuse of insecticide vaporizers used as fumigators, (the committee) recommends against their use in living quarters."

The committee is composed of representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Departments of Agriculture and Interior; and the army, navy, and air force.

The health officer conceded the gadgets might have some beneficial application in commercial or industrial establishments where human exposure will not be continuous and food contamination will not occur.

But he emphasized that it is "dangerous and foolhardy to install them in homes, and advertising them for such use is indefensible."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Little Headwork Saves a Lot of Footwork

"I don't ever aim to give up fishing," Pappy Hayes said one day—"but the older I get the less I like hiking over to Pike's Creek. Guess I'll have to bring the fish nearer to me."

So Pappy got his nephew to bulldoze down about three acres of bottom land. Then he dammed up the little stream there.

He wrote the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in Washington, and got some "blue gills" and bass to stock it—free. Pappy's idea wound up giving him (and us) just about the best fishing pond in the county . . . right in his own back yard.

From where I sit, Pappy may be older than some of us but his mind is active—and open. He's ready to listen to anybody with an idea. That's why he and I can talk on any subject—sometimes about his preference for buttermilk and mine for beer. And though we disagree, we respect each other's opinion. That's neighborliness without a "catch" to it.

HOUSE AND HOME By MARY E. DAGUE

DRAPERIES which do not need much cleaning will probably be brightened with a dry cleaning. Use a large paper bag and place in it a mixture of two parts corn meal and one part flour. Place the drapery material in this and shake vigorously. Then remove the drapery and shake out thoroughly. Washable shades are best cleaned with a soft cloth dipped in suds and wrung out very dry. Rinse with a cloth dipped in clear water, then wring dry. Hang at full length on the windows to dry. Alcohol rings from varnished surfaces can be removed by rubbing with a cloth dipped in linseed oil. Then polish with furniture wax to a fine gloss. Paint on windows will usually yield to rubbing with a cloth dipped RECIPE OF THE WEEK Kidney Bean Salad (Serves 6) 1 No. 2 can kidney beans, chilled 4 sweet pickles, cut fine 1/2 cup celery, cut fine 1 small onion, grated fine 1/2 cup chopped peanuts Boiled salad dressing Drain any liquid from the beans. in heated vinegar. Stubborn spots will often come off readily when peeled with a razor blade. Spots on linoleum can be treated with a cork dipped in gasoline. Rub the cork on the spots until they disappear. Spots on hearth tiles will frequently yield to the cork rubbing treatment. In this case, dip the cork in melted paraffin. White marble which has become stained or spotted should be bleached gently. To do this, wrap a lemon in a cloth, dip in tepid water, then into borax and rub vigorously over the stains.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLISON Congressman 17th District

Washington, June 4.—At this time and for the next several months, hundreds of thousands of people will visit Washington. There are many, many interesting places and the Capitol, of course, is the center point.

To know the history of the Capitol gives inspiration, and there is much to be learned about it. For instance, few of us realize that in the War of 1812 the British occupied the City of Washington and took possession of the Capitol. The British Admiral Cockburn stood on the rostrum of the House of Representatives and shouted, "Shall this harbor of Yankee Democracy be burned? All for it will say Aye." Since the House was occupied by British troops, they voted unanimously to destroy the structure. Chairs, tables, books, and pictures were collected to kindle the fire, and soon the Capitol was in flames. Many historical treasures were lost, even though a downpour of rain came shortly thereafter and extinguished the fire.

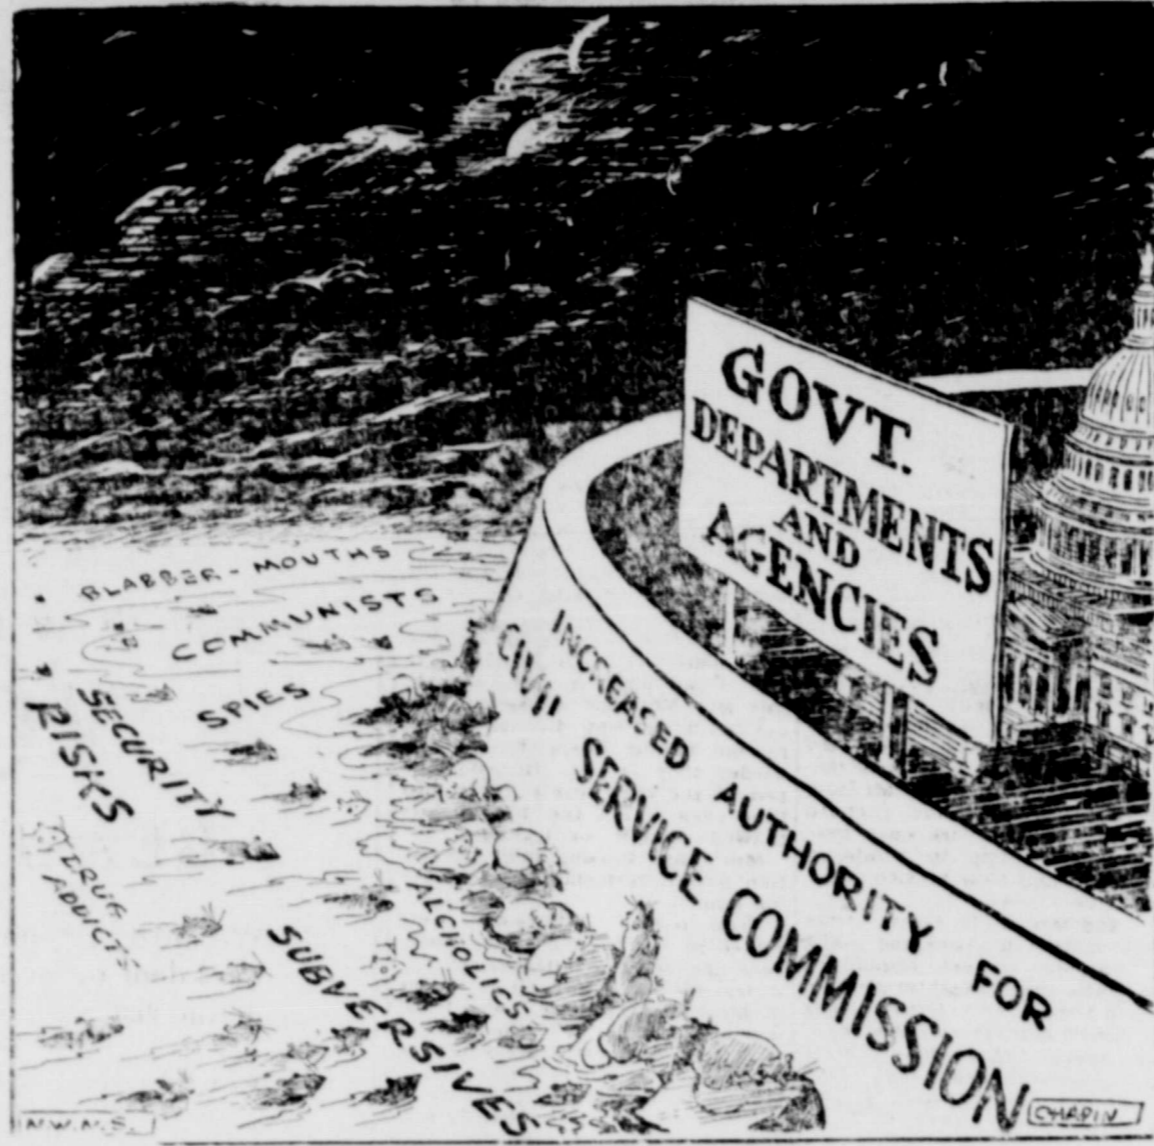

President Jackson barely escaped assassination in the Rotunda of the Capitol in 1835 as he headed a funeral procession from the House Chamber. As he stepped up to speak, a man by the name of Lawrence aimed a pistol at him from about eight feet distance, but the pistol misfired. It is said that "Old Hickory" would have knocked his assailant down with his cane, but a young Naval Lieutenant beat him to it.

On the ground floor of the Capitol is a tomb that was built for George Washington, but his family decided not to use it for his resting place. Although George Washington was not buried in the tomb, I occasionally stop by its doors and recall a prayer of the First President. I also think of it on occasions when I have stood by his grave at Mount Vernon, Virginia, and considered how appropriate is the prayer for our country today. Here is George Washington's prayer:

"Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of Government, that there may be peace and justice at home, and that through obedience to Thy Law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail, all of which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Visitors to Washington this past week who came by my office were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Middleton, and Mrs. Neil Middleton, of Abilene; Colonel and Mrs. Frank Jones, and Frank Jr. from Mineral Wells; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Fudge, their daughter Patricia, and son David, from Abilene, who are here for the graduation of David from the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Also visiting were Lt. Errol Fry, who is stationed with the Air Force here in Washington, and his brother, John, from Houston, both born and reared in my hometown of Anson, Mr. M. E. Shell and son from Gorman; and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, Eastland; Mrs. E. G. Hampton, Clyde; Mrs. L. E. Dudley, Abilene; Miss Eudora Hawkins, Abilene; and Mrs. John J. Perry, Sweetwater, who are in town for the meetings of the American Federation of Women's Clubs.

IKE'S DIKE

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Mrs. Stanley Narbert, Lumberport, W. Va.: I remember my grandmother's "spare" room. The floor was covered with straw matting, so cool and peaceful looking. Also, Grandmother's treasured "toilet set," consisting of a large water pitcher, decorated with immense red and yellow roses, and a wash bowl to match.

From Mr. Leland Rose, Columbus, O.: I remember back in 1901 when my father and mother moved from Wayne County, West Virginia, in wagons. We arrived at Branchland which was the end of the wagon trail. From there we loaded the furniture on a push boat and moved up-river to Midkiff, W. Va., which, at that time, was called the mouth of Nine-Mile Creek. The next seven miles to our home we moved by horseback.

From Mrs. N. D. Parker, Hughes Springs: I remember when women had to beat dirt from clothes when they washed. We had a "battling block" and a smooth battling stick. Children came in handy for the work. Neighbors for almost a mile around always knew when it was washday. We used home-made soap made from meat scraps.

From Mrs. Sarah DeLong, Cincinnati, O.: I remember when I was 14 years old, Sam Jones, a great evangelist of the time, held meetings near our home. Many people were converted. At one of them a lady asked to see him in private and he consented. When he walked into the room he picked up a coat and put it across her shoulders. She was amazed. Then he explained that before they started to talk he didn't want any temptations. The lady was wearing a "plunging" neckline dress. Today's styles are not so new after all.

The Great Fight

A great fight is in progress among turf writers, horsemen and spectators. Thousands of those who witnessed the greatest horse race of them all, the Kentucky Derby, are convinced that Native Dancer is one of the great horses of all time, even if he did lose the race that would have made him immortal to the turf world. The ironic thing about the race was that Dark Star, the winner, was beaten by Money Broker, who finished eighth in the Derby, in the Florida Derby only five weeks before the run for the roses. Money Broker defeated Dark Star by 16 lengths. The Freakness and the Belmont stakes should settle the argument for once and all, but it is hot argument while it lasts. Those who saw the race (at Louisville) contend the bumping Native Dancer received on the first turn cost the colt four lengths. Be that as it may, the fact remains it was a fast Derby, only 2 1/2 of a second off the record. It takes a lot of horse to do that.

THERE is still hope for peace in Korea many observers believe, although the Allies have not at the moment accepted the Communist eight-point compromise proposal on exchanging prisoners of war. The Allies didn't accept it, but neither did they reject it. The Red proposal suggests a five-nation neutral repatriation commission to handle the 48,500 Reds held by the Allies who do not want to go home. Why, the United Nations wants to know, should the question of the prisoners of war be referred to a political conference for solution once it has presumably been resolved by these delegations on the basis of the principle of turning the prisoners over to a neutral state for disposition? This and a number of other questions have been hurled at the Reds by the U. N. delegate in Korea.

A number of authorities who seem to know the way the Chinese mind works, believe that the five-nation commission plan is as far as China will go. If, these authorities suggest, the U. N. turns down this plan then the entire Far Eastern situation is likely to remain stalemated indefinitely. What is to become of federal lands in the west? This question has been raised by critics of the Eisenhower administration. They ask it because of the administration's efforts to turn over to the states the rich offshore oil reserves. They suggest that this action is the first step in a "give-away" of the country's public-land wealth. These critics point out that once the states gain control of the seaward reserves they will immediately turn their attention to the mountains and the forests that belong to the federal government. Many industrial interests have long eyed the tremendous reserves of timber, minerals, water and other resources of these federal lands. In the western states, the federal government owns tracts ranging from 35 per cent of the total area in Nevada to nearly 85 per cent in Washington. These lands have returned the federal government large amounts of money and, at the same time, the government has practiced a policy of conservation. If turned over to the states, critics of the administration say, these lands would become subject to immediate "grab" by industrial interests who have an eye on profit and are unconcerned about conservation. The administration has said it has no intention of letting go of the public wealth. But at the same time, there is a trend at work in Congress toward revising grazing rights on public lands as well as the harvesting of timber and production of minerals and oil. The problem is now in its initial stage, but it is one that the American public should begin to give serious consideration. A test is shaping up that will be of interest to watch. Wage talks between the nation's steel workers and the industry are scheduled to get underway soon. It will be the first test of the administration's new labor pattern. The question is: can the White House keep out of labor disputes? That is the White House policy under the new administration. Under the Truman administration that was impossible.

IF PHILIP APPROVES By DOROTHY BOYS KILIAN

IN the flickering firelight John could see the grave expression on Katherine's face; he knew what she was thinking about. He leaned forward and said earnestly, "My dear, I'm afraid of what tomorrow may do to you. And I think it's time to put up a real fight for our happiness—yours and mine." Katherine turned to him. "Darling, you know I've come to love you. I can't tell you what knowing you this last year has meant to me." "But that isn't enough, Kathie. That's only the beginning—or should be. I want to marry you, you know, or haven't you heard?" "I have heard, John," Katherine smiled and patted his arm. "And I don't mind telling you I loved hearing it; but—well, you know what is worrying me." She glanced instinctively up toward the second floor. "Yes, I know. It's Philip. But Kathie, your son is twelve years old, old enough to realize how long some you've both been these seven years since his dad died. And you know I'd do my darndest to be a good father to him." "Of course you would, John. And he doesn't dislike you. But somehow, oh it's hard to explain, you just haven't gotten next to him." John stirred uneasily. "Yes, I think I understand. And that's what worries me so about tomorrow. When you and Phil go to that dedication ceremony, and he sees the new airport being named for his own father—well, it may make you both slip back into the past where I can never find you; unless we've come to a definite decision about us beforehand." Katherine was still for a moment. Then she said, "I'm afraid you're right. Why don't you get upstairs and talk to him now?" "I'd like to, but what on earth can I say to him at such a time as this?" "Just try it, John." John stood up slowly. "Here's hoping," he said. Philip's bedroom door was half open. John stopped just outside and looked in. Phil, standing at his dresser, gave no sign that he knew anyone had come up. "Phil, may I come in?" John asked. "What?" Phil turned around. "Oh sure, sure, come in." He moved away from the dresser and John realized that the boy had been looking at his dad's photograph. A wave of frustration swept over John as he looked from the picture of the father to the living son. He knew what Katherine meant. She could not hurt this image of her first love. All the things he had thought of saying sounded hopelessly inadequate. Philip waited silently. Yes, it was impossible to say anything now. As John turned reluctantly to go out, he put his hand on Phil's shoulder. "Take care of your mother, tomorrow, Philip. It may be hard for her," he said, and started out the door. "Wait!" Philip's voice was trembling. "What would you say that?" "Why—" John hesitated. "I guess because I love your mother so much," he answered gently. Warmth was creeping into Philip's eyes as he looked up into John's face. "I have to tell you—the words rushed out—"It gave me the funniest feeling when you said that. It's exactly what Dad said to me. The day he left that last time, he stopped me in the hall just before we all went out to the car." The room was very quiet for a moment. John fairly held his breath. Then Philip came closer and laid a hand almost timidly on his arm. "You know what?" he said. "I think Dad would have liked you. I think he'd like you to help me take care of Mom." "It's all right then, about your mom and me?" John wanted to be very sure. "Yep, it's O.K. by me," Phil smiled. "Come on," John said. "Let's go down and tell her."

CONGRESSIONAL QUIZ

- 1. Q—What has been the yield of the gambling tax law enacted by Congress in 1951 and recently upheld by the Supreme Court? A—The yield from July 1, 1951, through Jan. 31, 1953, was $1,193,225.10 from the $50 tax stamps gamblers are required to buy and $10,443,531.05 from the 10 per cent excise tax on gambling, for a total of $11,636,756.15. These figures came from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. 2. Q—What is the "Buy American" Act? A—Basically, it is a 1933 law requiring the government to buy from American producers and manufacturers when purchasing supplies and equipment for public use in the U.S., unless the cost is "unreasonable." The government usually "buys American" unless the domestic goods are more than 25 per cent higher than the delivered price of foreign goods. Rep. Frank E. Smith (D., Miss.) has introduced a bill to repeal the Act. 3. Q—How long has Hawaii, which the House recently voted to grant statehood, been a territory? A—Hawaii became a territory of the U.S. in 1900 and was incorporated the same year. Alaska was given a territorial form of government in 1854, but was not incorporated until 1912. 4. Q—Can the Congressional representatives from Alaska and Hawaii cast any votes in Congress? A—No. Representatives from territories, who are called Delegates, may serve on House Committees, engage in floor debate and make motions, except the motion to reconsider a previous action. But they may not vote. Present Delegates are Joseph R. Farrington (R., Hawaii) and E. L. Bertlett (D., Alaska). A. Fernon-Isern (Pop-Dem.) Resident Commissioner from the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, has the same status. If Hawaii were statehood, she will have two Senators and one or two Representatives (depending on the final form of the bill) who will have full voting rights. ## South Hico H. D. Club Plans Family Picnic For Saturday, Aug. 15

South Hico Home Demonstration Club met June 2 with Mrs. Woody Garner, Mrs. Lenard Weaver presided, in the absence of Mrs. Jim Carmean, president, and Mrs. Odessa Hyles, vice-president.

During the business hour it was voted to have a family picnic, Saturday evening, Aug. 15. Each member may invite guests and will bring a basket lunch to Hico City Park at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Will Knox read "What I Need Daily," from the "Texas Food Standard" booklet. Our food demonstrator, Mrs. Weaver, furnished a list to each member. Several members read their menus for a 3-day period, as a means of checking with the food requirements.

There was a round-table discussion of "Cereals in the Home." One of the most important facts was brought out when Mrs. Williams told how she manages her biscuit problem for a family of five. "I make up my biscuits, cut them, place on a cookie sheet and freeze, then place the frozen biscuits in a can and place in deep freeze," said Mrs. Williams. A baking powder can is just right for her family, for one baking. When biscuits are needed they are put in pan, slipped in the oven, oven lighted, by time oven is hot the biscuits are thawed enough for baking.

Mrs. Faye Simons, club recreation leader, furnished an interesting game.

Fruit punch and cookies were served by the hostesses to six members and several children.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Jim Carmean, June 16. It will be an all-day meeting and as it is Craft Study Day, we will have basket weaving under the leadership of Mrs. Carmean.

What would you say... Yes or No? asks Gary Cooper

If you were asked, "Do you think people own more U. S. Savings Bonds today than they did during the war?" what would you say? YES or NO?

If your answer is YES, then you're right! For the holdings of U. S. Savings Bonds have increased steadily since the war. Until today you and I and millions of our friends and neighbors all over America own more than 49 billion dollars worth of our country's interest-earning Bonds. The greatest success story of its kind the world has ever known!

And WHY has the Bond Program been so successful? Because when you and I patriotically invested in Bonds during the war, we made a wonderful discovery. We learned that Bonds are a sure, safe way to save money. And save it at a good 3% interest! And we discovered something else, which is still true today. U. S. Savings Bonds not only represent an investment in our own personal futures. But in the peaceful future of our country, too! And remember, peace is for the strong. For peace and prosperity, invest in U. S. Savings Bonds.

- Great News! New money-earning features for U. S. Savings Bonds!
- FIRST—Thanks to new Treasury regulations, every Series E Bond you invest in earns 3% interest compounded semiannually when held to maturity.
  - SECOND—Every Series E Bond you own can now go on earning interest for 10 more years after it reaches the original maturity date—without your lifting a finger!
  - THIRD—All maturing E Bonds automatically earn interest at the new, higher rate (average 3% compounded semiannually) for 10 more years. Your original $18.75 can now repay you $33.67. $37.50 pays back $67.34. And so on.
  - FOURTH—If you want to be paid the interest your Bonds are earning every six months, ask at your bank about the new Series H Savings Bonds.

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks, for their patriotic donation, the Advertising Council and

MORE PORK with LESS GRAIN

A Scientifically Balanced Hog Supplement
 You can raise hogs on grain alone . . . but it's mighty poor economy. Tests prove that it requires 12 bushels of corn alone to make 100 pounds of pork. Compare this with 6 bushels of corn and 50 pounds of RED CHAIN WA-MO to do the same job. It's mighty easy to figure that the RED CHAIN Way is the cheaper — more efficient way to raise hogs.

RED CHAIN WA-MO provides high levels of animal and vegetable proteins, minerals, and vitamins including B<sub>12</sub> and Antibiotic Feed Supplements. These latter aid in speeding up the growth of hogs and promote better health in the digestive tract. They supplement the nutritional factors in grain and make for greater feeding efficiency.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"As long as it's right on our way — we may as well change it to a joint account right now."

By John C. White, Commissioner

POULTRY POINTERS

Few farms are complete without at least some chickens—both fryers and layers. Even though commercial flocks may not be practical, the few extra pennies earned in egg production or the money saved in raising meat for the fryers can really add up in a year's time.

In order to successfully raise chickens for home consumption, or for the market, it is important to look after the "little things" as well as the bigger problems. It may pay dividends to spend a few minutes checking on these profit leaks:

Hang up those empty feed sacks or pile them neatly on a rack. This is the best way to keep used bags in good condition. A few pains in opening sacks so as not to tear them will pay off.

Don't allow birds to waste feed. Use feeders that prevent waste and fill them only one half to two-thirds full.

Make a practice to wipe off light bulbs and reflectors in the pens every so often. It is surprising how much light is lost simply because bulbs and reflectors are filmed over.

Check up on the favorite laying haunts of your chickens. Eggs are laid because birds don't lay them in the nests. Dark corners, under the nests and roosts, should be wired off so birds just can't lay in those hard to get at places where eggs are either broken or get dirty.

Work out a plan to cull and sell loafers if you are trying for good egg production. Non-laying birds are lost to the market because the farmer didn't get rid of them while they were in good condition.

A good poultryman is first of all a good manager. No matter how big or how small an operation he has, mass production can never substitute for good management.

The Texas Department of Agriculture publishes a poultry and egg bulletin each day in Austin. A written request will bring this service to you free of charge. The request should be addressed to: Market News Service, Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas.

Swine Included in Pan-American Livestock Exposition at Dallas

Prize porkers will compete for a total of $8,132 at the 1953 State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 10 through 25. Livestock Manager Ray W. Wilson has announced.

The eight breeds of breeding swine and barrows that will be included and the total premiums offered for each breed are: Berkshire, $84; Chester White, $924; Duroc, $1,331; Hampshire, $1,306; Ohio Improved Chester, $884; Poland China, $1,241; Spotted Poland China, $994; Yorkshire, $536.

In addition, the various breed associations will supplement the premiums with special awards and trophies.

Judges will include: Wesley Miller, Montpelier, Ohio; Durocs and Berkshires: A. W. (Art) Jordan, Columbus, Ohio; Hampshires, Ohio; Improved Chesters and Yorkshires: A. L. Anderson, Ames, Iowa; Poland Chinas, Chester Whites, Spotted Poland Chinas and Open Barrow Championship.

The swine shows, scheduled Oct. 10 thru 18, will be presented as a part of the first annual Pan-American Livestock Exposition, which is expected to attract a large international audience of livestock raisers from Mexico, Central and South America.

Dates of the State Fair of Texas, largest annual exposition in America, are Oct. 10 thru 25. The fair is in its 68th year.

The fair's 1953 Premium List is now off the press and can be obtained by writing Mr. Wilson at the State Fair.

Fort Worth, June 2.—Swine growers could enjoy a rueful smile Monday as hogs hit the highest peak since November 1948 at Fort Worth. Choice butcher hogs sold at $25.25-25.75. The joy was tempered by the fact that several years of low prices for hogs had thinned down the hog population to where while the price was good, the numbers were few.

Most hog breeders are frantically trying to re-stock since a short time ago it was announced that the hog population was smaller than the numbers of cattle on the nation's farms. The ideal relationship is generally conceded to be 20 per cent more hogs than cattle in the country.

Sows and pigs were steady, sows mostly $20 to $22 and feeder pigs from $21 down.

Cattle buyers were highly selective. The fed heaves were scarce and good and choice drylot fed cattle ruled strong. Grassers were weak to lower. Cows ruled steady to 50 cents lower. Bulls held steady.

Good and choice fat calves were steady but the common, plain and medium inbetween sorts sold weak to lower. High quality stockers were steady, but others draggy and plain stockers sold mainly for low grade killers. Demand for stocker cows was very narrow.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $18-22.50. I. S. Scott, Castro County, had a load weighing 758-lbs. at $22.50. B. T. Woodard, Hunt County, had a load of cross-bred Brahmans at $21 that averaged $10 pounds. Common, plain and medium steers and yearlings $10.00-16.00, some rannies.

Fat cows mostly $9.00-12.00, just a few higher. Scaling V Ranch, Clay County, had 17 cows at 1,047 lbs. at $13.75, and 20 cows at 1,108 lbs. at $12.50. Odds reached $14. Cannors and cutters $6.00-9.00. Bulls $8.00-14.00. Larkin Renick, Llano County, had two top bulls at 1,530 lbs. at $14.

Good and choice fat calves drew $17 to $20, with common and medium butchers at $10.00-15.00. Culls $8.00-10.00. Good and choice stocker steer calves $16.00-20.00; good and choice stocker steer yearlings $15.00-19.00; heifer calves and yearlings $2 under comparable steers. Few stocker cows $10.00-14.00.

Good and choice fat Spring lambs $24.00-26.50; medium to good $18.00-24.00; cull and common $12.00-16.00. Stocker and feeder Spring lambs, shorn lambs and yearlings $12.00-18.00. Cull old crop lambs $8.00-12.00. Two-year-olds $10.00-14.00. Old wethers $8.00-10.50. Fat shorn old crop lambs and yearlings $17.00-22.50. Ewes $4.00-6.00. Old bucks around $4.00.

Tribute to Pioneer Paid Upon Passing of Finis Ewing Warren

Finis Ewing Warren, who was born in nearby Coryell County on Oct. 15, 1856 and came to Erath County, about half way between Hico and Stephenville, before he was one year old, died at this home in Hico May 26, 1953. He was the father of the late J. E. (Shorty) Warren; also he was a half-brother of the late B. N. Derrick of Hico.

Funeral services were at Chalk Mountain on May 27, conducted by Rev. D. R. McCauley. He was laid to rest there by the side of his wife who died many years ago. Some of his host of granddaughters were flower girls, and the pallbearers, including grandsons, were Lester McCleery, Robert McCleery, Grady McCleery, Arthur McCleery, Mack Riley and Emmett Warren. Barrow-Rutledge Funeral Home of Hico had charge of arrangements.

Surviving are five daughters: Mrs. Rosa May Sumrall of Hico, Mrs. Nora Irene McCleery of San Angelo, Mrs. Edna Patrick of Iredell, Mrs. Lola McCleery of Stephenville, and Mrs. Ola Smiley of Wichita Falls; a half-sister, Mrs. Ada Powell of Los Angeles, Calif., and a half-brother, B. E. Hunt of Stephenville; also a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Maud Warren of Hico, survives him.

TRIBUTE PAID PIONEER ON EVENTFUL LIFE

Roy Derrick of Hico Route 7, relative and long-time close friend of Mr. Warren, submitted the following biographical sketch in tribute to his memory:

Uncle Finis, as he has been affectionately known and called by his many friends and relatives for many years, was brought to Erath County in 1857 by his mother, his father having died when he was only a few weeks old. Here he experienced a frontier life such as we of today can scarcely imagine. There were no roads, no schools, no houses as we know them, and no communication with the outside world except by overland ox wagon or horseback. Mail came once each month—if it was not blocked by Indians, or outlaws, or something else.

The Civil War was fought during his early childhood and, as you must guess, a fatherless boy in a hostile world such as this didn't have many opportunities.

Despite adversities of which we can't even dream, this pioneer of our country's past did grow up to be a peaceful, law-abiding citizen. He was never listed among Wall Street's or the Pentagon's "Who's Who"—we mean that he was never a bank president or a congressman—but he was a man among men in a country and at a time when my future and your future depended on that one trait and almost nothing else. He helped to guard the frontier against Indians and outlaws; he went up the old cattle trails at a time when it was hazardous business and the well-being of your future and my future depended on it. And yet we never once heard him mention these episodes of his past. His motto seemed to be to do—not to talk. He did it and it worked for you and me. If we (you and I) emulate his career we will be working for persons yet unborn.

Farewell, Uncle. You are gone to a ranch house in the Beyond, but your past stand for good still lives here on the old range where paved roads, airplanes, telephones, radios, television sets, penicillin and other modern installations have taken over, but we regret war is still an institution.

Maybe we, as your successors in the field, can change as you and your compatriots changed the face of things in other fields. So we hope. ROY DERRICK.

Official Draft Law and Regulations Explained By Information Officer

(Editor's note: This is the second of a series of 10 short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

It is a local draft board's responsibility, under law and regulations, to decide, subject to appeal, the class in which each man registered with it shall be placed.

Each registrant is considered as available for military service until his eligibility for deferment or exemption from military service is clearly established to the satisfaction of the local board.

The board is obligated to receive all pertinent information on classification presented to it, says Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director.

Mailing by the local board of a classification questionnaire to the latest address furnished by a registrant is notice to the registrant that he will be classified in I-A, unless information is presented to the local board, within the time specified for return of the questionnaire, which will justify his deferment or exemption.

Unless the local board gives him added time, the registrant must return the questionnaire filled out within 10 days from date it was mailed.

The state draft director points to this paragraph in the Selective Service Regulations which the board must always keep in mind:

"In classifying a registrant there shall be no discrimination for or against him because of his race, creed, or color, or because of his membership or activity in any labor, political, religious, or other organization. Each such registrant shall receive equal justice."
