

Official Draft Law and Regulations Explained By Information Officer

(Editor's note: This is the ninth of a series of 10 short articles on draft law and its rules and regulations.)

IX

The rights of men registered with a draft board are guarded by appeal regulations. Appeals from local board decisions are heard by four state appeal boards.

Both the national and state directors of Selective Service may appeal from the determination of a local board at any time. Any man registered with a board, any person who claims to be his dependent, his employer under certain circumstances, and others may appeal to the appeal board from any classification except a determination of physical or mental condition.

The registered man and others named in the above paragraph, in most cases, are allowed only 10 days from date a notice of classification is mailed to file the appeal. Regulations allow a longer period from 30 to 60 days, when the man is in certain U. S. territories, foreign countries, or on the high seas.

The local board may allow appeals beyond these time limits if it is satisfied that the failure of the person to appeal within the period was due to lack of understanding or to some cause beyond control of the person.

The person who desires to appeal must file written notice with the board. The notice need not be in any particular form but must state the registrant's name, and identity of person appealing. If a registrant is registered with a Texas board and is working or living in California, for example, he may appeal to a California appeal board if he wishes.

If the registrant is placed in a class available for military service (I-A) by the appeal board, and there is a dissenting vote, he may appeal to the President of the United States.

Texas DPS Booklet Introduces New Word Into Our Language

Austin, July 22.—The Texas Department of Public Safety today released its annual Texas Motor Vehicle Traffic Accident Summary booklet along with a tabulation of the first six months experience for 1953.

The booklet which makes an exhaustive treatment of Texas' motor vehicle accident picture covers both 1951 and 1952 since none was issued last year.

On the basis of the summary, which carries an introduction by N. K. Woerner, Chief of the Safety Department's Statistical Division, the 7.9 death rate in the State last year was the lowest in the history of recorded traffic records analysis.

Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said that he believes the book will introduce a new word into the English language—Motoricide. This term was coined by Woerner and Lewis E. Berry, Supervisor of Public Safety Education for DPS, to refer to traffic fatalities.

Briefing the reader on the definitions of suicide and homicide, the booklet goes on to define Motoricide as: "The killing of another human being or of one's self through the operation of a motor vehicle—usually the result of negligence or wanton carelessness."

The report shows that 2,498 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents in 1952—2 per cent under 1951. A continuing decrease is noted for the first six months of 1953 in a supplemental summary which indicates that there were 7 per cent fewer Motoricides through June than for the same period last year. Since this is based on incomplete reports for 1953, Woerner estimates that when all reports are in the decrease will be 2 per cent.

NUMBER 11.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association Program Explained by Agent

Texas dairy farmers have some of the best milk-producing cows in the world, but they also have some of the poorest, according to the statement of R. C. Atkins, Erath County Agent. A prepared article on this subject follows.

Any herd—large or small, good or poor—would be profitable if the lowest producers were culled from the herd and better cows put in their place.

A herd of uniformly good cows cannot be developed easily or quickly, but the average production level of any herd can be improved gradually by effective culling, proper feeding, and careful selection of breeding stock; the producing efficiency of the best herd can be maintained by following the same practices. Fortunately, no exorbitant financial investment is necessary—only careful planning and management and a persistent determination to develop a good herd.

In order to cull, feed, and breed intelligently, however, any dairyman must have records of the production and feed consumption of every cow in his herd, year after year. There is no substitute for the actual records. Guesses and estimates may serve for a time, but worth-while improvement is seldom obtained without records.

One of the most practical and economical ways for any dairyman to obtain the necessary records continuously over a period of years is through membership in a dairy-herd-improvement association.

A typical dairy-herd-improvement association is a cooperative organization of dairy farmers, usually about 25, who employ a tester or supervisor to keep feed, production, income, and breeding records on their cows.

The supervisor visits each herd in the association once a month, during two milkings he weighs the feed consumed and the milk produced and collects a small sample of milk on each cow. He then tests the milk samples to determine the percentage of butterfat. Using the weights and tests for the 24-hour period, he calculates each cow's milk and butterfat production for the month. At the end of the year he compiles the yearly record for each cow and each herd. Numerous studies have shown that yearly records based on weights and tests for one day each month are satisfactory for all practical purposes, being within 2 percent of the actual milk production and 3 percent of the butterfat production.

The supervisor enters all records in a herd-record book which the herd owner keeps and uses as a guide in his management operations. The supervisor also assists the owner in keeping a complete record of the progeny of each cow, and he certifies those animals in the herd that are not otherwise identified. He aids the dairyman in every possible way to improve his herd; and frequently the supervisor is able to suggest suitable changes in feeding or management of the herd or individual cows when the records indicate the need for a change.

Such is the organization which the dairymen of this area are attempting to set up for their own collective and individual benefits. The association is organized, operated, and maintained entirely by the members through their own board of directors. This is one method of putting the dairy industry on a more business-like basis to meet the challenge of out-of-state milk and a closer margin of milk and cream.

All dairymen interested in improving their herds are invited and urged to attend the D. H. I. A. meeting in Firemen's Hall, Hico, on Friday, July 24th at 8:00 p. m.

Election of Officers Scheduled for P-TA Meeting Next Week

Election of officers will be the main feature of a meeting of the Hico Parent-Teachers Association scheduled for next Friday, July 31. The meeting will be held at the High School Auditorium, starting at 8:15 p. m.

Attendance of as many members as possible at this meeting is urged by Sup't. O. C. Cook, so that the work of the organization may be put in motion well before time for opening of school in September.

Ice Cream Supper at Clairette Will Benefit Transportation Fund

Announcement has been made of an ice cream supper at the school house in Clairette next Thursday night, July 30, at 8:00 o'clock. Citizens of the community who arranged the event are anxious to have as many come as possible. Proceeds will be used toward building up the fund to be used for transportation of pupils from Clairette to the Hico schools.

Tri-County League of Vocational Nurses Has Shown Steady Growth

The Tri-County League of Vocational Nurses had the honor of holding the first meeting at the Community Room of the new Stephenville State Bank Building, in Stephenville, on July 2, 1953. Flowers were furnished for the occasion by J. H. Fleming, ranching and oil man who has his offices located on the second floor of the new building.

After a business meeting presided over by the League's president, Miss Wilma Reed, of Stephenville, refreshments of sandwiches, olives, pickles and cold drinks were served to the attending members and their guests.

The League was organized Dec. 8, 1952, and at the first meeting, held in January of this year, there was a membership of 28. Since that time there has been a steady increase in growth and there are now 41 members in the group. Meetings are held monthly with an educational lecture given after which there is a social hour with refreshments being served to those attending.

The aim of the Tri-County League of Vocational Nurses is to insure better nursing service and to enable the nurses to more fully understand the needs and wants of their patients.

Ownership of $1,000 Still Undetermined by Jury at Gatesville

Gatesville, July 15.—A 62nd district court jury Wednesday failed to determine the owner of $1,000 dug up near Evant a year ago. A day-long trial ended in a hung jury, and the case was passed over for another trial during the next term of court.

Contending parties in the three-cornered legal fight for possession of the $1,000 in greenbacks are A. M. Couch, Hamilton workman who discovered the money while doing some excavation work; Jack Schley of Evant, on whose place the money was found; and R. E. Basham, former owner of the Schley place who claims he buried the money.

At the trial's close, Judge R. B. Cross presented the jury a set of special issues to answer and they hung up on the very first one: "Do you believe from the evidence that Basham is the true owner of the money?"

Cross dismissed the jury shortly before 7 p. m.

TEXO HIRED HANDS TO BE HERE AUG. 5

TED GOULDY AND HIS TOP-FLIGHT MUSICIANS

Arrangements have been completed by the Reunion committee and J. B. Woodard Produce, Texo dealer, to sponsor a local appearance of Ted Gouldy and his Texo Hired Hands at the opening night of the Hico Reunion Wednesday, Aug. 5. They will also be at the Woodard establishment at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to entertain customers and meet the public.

TEXO Ted Gouldy has been a familiar Texo name for over ten years! Ted's showmanship has made him as popular with the Hired Hands' audiences as his knowledge of the livestock world has with farmers and ranchers.

Ted was born in Colorado City, Texas; moved to Fort Worth when a child. He began his career in the livestock world as a helper at the stockyards, where he fed and watered cattle and drove for dealers. After high school, Ted worked as an apprentice in the composing room of a Fort Worth newspaper; spent his spare time selling advertising and doing free lance writing. His first radio program was a market report.

Ted's attractive wife, Rosemary, came from Jean, a town in west Texas, with her sister and settled in Fort Worth. Rosemary is now the "right hand" of our "Voice of Texo!" Their first combined venture was with a small paper, "Cutting Horse Chatter," which Ted started and Rosemary edited. Many years ago, the largest Fort Worth radio station scheduled a Saturday morning record show emceed by Ted, which featured hillbilly and Western music. That's when Mr. Gouldy's business acumen and music got together! He found the show was one of the most popular on the station as it held the number one spot in mail draw for many years. From ideas collected during the time Ted dislocated the show, he drew up a format for a live show with a good western band and presented the idea to Barrus Feed Mills. The Mill nodded its head and Texo Ted and the Hired Hands went on the air September, 1949. The show was the first five days a week strip for a feed mill in this part of the country.

Ted's activities are unlimited. He somehow finds time for the following—a livestock column entitled "Let's Talk Livestock," which appears in 375 county papers over the state; covers the market for Radio Station WCAP and the Fort Worth Star Telegram; compiles daily reports for the Star Telegram and the Wichita Falls Record News; edits and manages the Weekly Livestock Reporter; is secretary and general manager for the Fort Worth Livestock Market Institute; edits and publishes the Fort Worth stockyards house organ; books and announces rodeos—and probably does ten other things not yet reported! All this the active Texo Ted Gouldy manages to do other than emcee the Texo Hired Hands radio show and personal appearances.

If you'd like to talk livestock with Texo Ted, he'll love it—and he will tell you about the best feed money can buy, too! If you'd like to exchange a few views about the music the Hired Hands play, just ask him! He's a mighty friendly fellow to know—with a line of chatter you could listen to all day!

Buddy Teague Writes About Proceedings at Boy Scout Jamboree

Buddy Teague, who with Jimmy Herrington is representing the Hico Boy Scout Troop at the big Jamboree in California, sent his home paper the following report in an air mail letter under date of July 19, postmarked Santa Ana, Calif.

"After arriving at our campsite Monday morning, July 13, we set up camp and cleaned up our campsite. We are situated on a hill overlooking the Pacific but we are a good way from the Jamboree headquarters.

"We went to Catalina Island Tuesday and stayed most of the day. Wednesday afternoon we went swimming in the Pacific and Thursday we went to Knott's Berry Farm.

"The Jamboree was officially opened Friday morning at 9:00 a. m.

"We have been trading stuff all week and have been getting some pretty good deals.

"Saturday we went swimming in the Pacific. The waves were pretty high. Boy, did we have fun!

"Sunday we had church services in the main arena.

"Vice-President Nixon spoke at the services Sunday night. Every scout held a candle."

HICO GOLFER GETS ACE AT TEMPLE

P. W. Hamilton's qualifying round in Temple's golf tournament brought him a thrill—and no small portion of fame—last Saturday, when he made a hole-in-one on the 115-yard No. 2 hole.

According to Temple golfers, Paul's was the first ever made there. He used a No. 8 iron from the tee, and watched the ball nearly miss, then drop in.

Others from Hico playing in the tournament were Ray Cheek, Jim Bullard and Buck Whitlock. None achieved finals in the playoff matches Sunday.

Naturally the potential member of the exclusive "Ace Club" in golf has received a lot of publicity—along with frequent telephone calls purported to be from national magazines. But they're not fooling him, for he detects familiar voices on the other end of the line usually.

District Manager of Telephone Company Talks Shop to Lions

Art Anderson of Stephenville, district manager for Gulf States Telephone Company, and Jack Hancock, also employed with the same company, attended the Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of Hico Lions Club. Called upon for remarks, Mr. Anderson took advantage of the opportunity to explain some of his company's plans for future development in Hico.

Harold D. Walker, who has been attending summer school at A and M College for the past six weeks, presided over the session, which was attended by 17 members besides the two guests.

Weldon Pierce called attention of Lions to the Reunion booster trip set for next Tuesday, and sought customary cooperation of merchants and individuals. He also presented a matter concerning purchase of surplus equipment from the Scout Jamboree in California for use of the local troop. This was referred to the club's troop committee.

Proposal that the Lions eat barbecue at a concession stand in City Park Wednesday, August 5, following the parade, was referred to the directors, as was a matter concerning a welfare case.

President Walker officially declared Ray Cheek's side losers in a recent attendance contest, the famous "goat case," and instructed the losers to report at the next meeting on their plans for feeding the winners.

Further announcements will be contained in the big 4-page circular to be distributed on the booster trip and in next week's issue of the paper. Anyone desiring representation in this message, who has not already been contacted, would confer a favor on the Reunion management and the printers by telephoning 132 and signifying approval.

Bob Hammond Shows again will furnish "The Finest in Carnival Attractions." A number of new items have been added to the excellent offerings in rides and shows on the Midway, Pierce said. Hico Tops B-V League, With Only Five Games Left Until Play-Off

The League is back on old schedule, with only five games left until play-off starts.

Bobbie Sawyer pitched seven innings for Hico Sunday, allowing only one hit. Believe me, that's something!

Hico holds on to first place and Iredell trails one-half game behind. The play-off games this season will be better than in any season past. Remember they begin soon—that's quicker than you think. Don't miss any of these next five games.

Am giving you complete standing of clubs. Go see these games. Next Sunday: Dublin at Hico. (Look out, and I do mean just that): Glen Rose at Iredell (it's a different Glen Rose—I mean that too); Tolar at Bluff Dale.

Dennis is past president of the Hico Future Farmers, and last year served as treasurer.

He also received the Howard trophy for showmanship this year at the annual parent-son banquet.

Pierce plans to carry along a group of entertainers, and lively acts will be staged at each stop.

The program is shaping up well, Pierce said Thursday, calling attention to the traditional parade on the first day, Wednesday, August 5, in which everyone is invited to place an entry. The line will form at the customary place two blocks north of City Hall, ready to start promptly at 10 a. m. The address of welcome will come over a loudspeaker, and the parade will wind its way through the streets on schedule.

Liberal prizes are being offered in the various divisions of the colorful parade.

The program for the Reunion, as yet incomplete, presently includes an abundance of free entertainment.

Fair's 'Agriculturama' Will Feature Display of Heart of Texas Products

An impressively display of products raised by Heart of Texas farmers will be featured in this region's colorful "Agriculturama" exhibit at the 1953 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 10-25.

The Heart of Texas is included in the Texas A and M College System Extension District 8, composed of the following counties: Bell, Bosque, Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Comanche, Coryell, Eastland, Erath, Falls, Hamilton, Hill, Hood, Lampasas, Limestone, McLennan, Milam, Mills, Somervell and Williamson.

Grain, sorghum, cotton, apples, onions, carrots, peanuts, wheat, yellow corn, pumpkins, cashaws, persimmons, pecans and pears will be used to create a night-time harvest scene. Also featured in the exhibit will be turkey production and its relation to water.

The dramatic three-dimensional "Agriculturama" will include individual exhibits for each of the A and M Extension Service districts of Texas. They will carry out the "Water for Texas" theme of the Agriculture Show, explaining the water resources problems of farmers and ranchers in different parts of the state.

A huge central exhibit will depict the hydrological cycle—what happens to water after it falls as rain and how it is returned to the air again. "Old Mother Nature" herself will turn the crank on a "weather machine" that will cause simulated rain, thunder and lightning. The rainfall belt in Texas will be illustrated to show the relation of water to agriculture on a statewide basis.

Water was chosen as the central theme for the show because it is one of the most important single factors in Texas agriculture today, fair officials explained.

Department Surveys Effects of Drought On Public Health

Austin, July 23.—A farm-to-farm, ranch-to-ranch survey of Texas water resources is now underway in an effort to gauge drought effect on public health.

The State Department of Health conducted a similar survey earlier this year on incorporated cities and towns, but it failed to show the status of privately owned water sources, such as farm and ranch tanks and private wells.

Information is being sought by questionnaires sent from the State Health Department to all county judges. When complete, Dr. George W. Cox, state health chief, says a compilation sheet will be made showing:

Towns with ample water supplies; towns with impending shortages; number of wells and tanks and the amount of water available from them; how much water is being hauled and from where; steps rural organizations are taking to relieve their shortages; to what extent is land being irrigated; and what outside help is necessary to relieve shortages in individual communities.

National attention has been directed to Texas in view of the drought-caused plight of West Texas cattlemen, but "there's more to this thing than just cattle," Dr. Cox said.

"When a drought becomes as widespread and as prolonged as this one, it affects every factor of state operation, including the public's health."

He said sanitation is the most serious threat posed by drought conditions. "There's some typhoid in Texas now," he indicated. "Did contaminated water cause it? We're in the process of finding out."

He said the bulk of the questionnaires are due in "soon," and that a copy of the compiled data would be turned over to the State Office of Defense and Disaster relief.

CLYDE WEATHERBY BRINGS TELEVISION TO CENTRAL TEXAS

Clyde Weatherby of Hamilton is five feet, seven, weight 190 pounds, sandy-haired, blue eyed. He played guard on the Goldthwaite High School team when he weighed 100 pounds wet, and has, as that fact indicates ideas beyond his physical weight and height.

By the time his 53rd birthday rolls around, Aug. 22, workmen will be installing for him in Waco the machinery that will give Central Texas its first television.

He owns KANG-TV, which has a permit to operate over ultra high frequency Channel 34, assigned to Waco. Weatherby expects to have it in operation by early fall.

Weatherby never has been on television, doesn't expect to be, and for that matter never has talked over a radio microphone, although he has owned a radio station, KCLW, at Hamilton, for five years. He's a Ford dealer, leaves details of operation to experts while he keeps an eye on the overall picture.

It's a sharp eye he keeps on it, though. He knows what makes the wheels go around.

Weatherby is a Central Texan by birth, and has been in business in Central Texas since he left the University of Texas. He was born in Goldthwaite, where his father, Walter Weatherby, was a merchant, automobile dealer, and rancher (raised sheep, cows, and goats out in the hills of Mills County).

Clyde Weatherby started to be a doctor, was a pre-med student at the University of Texas, says the courses were too hard, so he changed over to business administration. He started his Ford business in Hamilton in 1935, in 1948 branched out into radio with Station KCLW in Hamilton and now is hitting television with Station KANG-TV in Waco.

How he happened to go into radio, a lawyer friend told him there was a clear channel on 906, and he could get it if he tried. Hamilton wanted a radio station. Weatherby is a director of the Chamber of Commerce, so he grabbed the chance. He has a 250-watt station with a range of 125 miles.

Radio First, TV Next

His interest in radio extended to interest in television. When the TV freeze lifted he started looking around for a spot where there was a channel he could file for. UHF channel 34 was assigned to Waco, he applied for it, there was no competition (people were scrapping over VHF and weren't interested in UHF) and he got it. That was in July of last year. For months after that he was hard put to it to find a place to buy equipment, it just wasn't available, because UHF was new stuff. Finally he got it.

"I got the best," says Weatherby. "It cost me about $200,000. Who put up the money? I'm putting it up."

First plan was to build his tower on top of the Medical Arts Building and put his studio there. "I had to list some place where I was going to locate," says Weatherby. But he wanted to get out on the edge of town, and when he found he would be able to lease the northwest corner of Bosque Boulevard and Lake Air Drive from D. T. Jones, he jumped at the chance, applied to FCC for a change of location, and has ordered a 4,000-foot square building and a 472-foot tower and antenna to send TV for a radius of 50 miles.

Films and Networks. He has lined up with ABC for network programs, will also get good films, but will concentrate on local Central Texas coverage, with news, sports and features.

In addition to being a director of the Chamber of Commerce, Weatherby is a member of the Hamilton school board and a steward in the First Methodist Church. He is a member of Karem Shrine. Mrs. Weatherby is the former Miss Greta Little, another Goldthwaite product, daughter of John Little, who operates a dry goods store there. The Weatherbys have two daughters, Ann, 12, and Nan, 8.

Overeating Plagues Millions of Americans

Patient Must Cooperate With Doctor to Reduce

Three common problems facing medicine today are overweight, headaches, and hardening of the arteries.

Overweight (or obesity) plagues an estimated 15,000,000 Americans. The chief cause—regardless of all this—is that the person affected takes in more food than his body can spend in energy. Even if the "glands" are to blame, the patient usually overeats to make things worse. People should control their weight to keep from dying young and to avoid diseases of middle and later life, such as high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, or kidney disease.

To reduce, the patient must give his wholehearted cooperation to the doctor. A diet is of little help unless it is followed. However, more liberal diets are recommended now than formerly, and the medically supervised diet often allows the patient more food than one he might draw up for himself. Reducing pills to curb the appetite may be considered helpful by the doctor. Too, the physician can help the patient develop healthful attitudes toward eating and life in general so that he is not so badly tempted to overeat. The chief value of exercise is to keep the muscles in tone.

The causes of headache may be almost without number; however, one of the most common types is the "migraine" or "sick headache." Although the brain is not sensitive to pain, other structures inside or near the head are, for example, the blood vessels and nerves, the covering of the brain called the "dura," the muscles of the scalp and neck, and the eyes, nose, or teeth. In migraine headache it is believed that the blood vessels become swollen, twisted, or stretched, setting off the pain reaction.

The headache victim is able to find relief through lying in a quiet, dark room with cold applied to the head. However, if headaches are frequent, he would be wise to see a doctor. Physical examination and treatment not only may make life more bearable; they also may reveal serious trouble, such as a brain tumor, in time for the patient to be helped most.

Hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis), which usually isn't especially dangerous, may lead to trouble if deposits on the inside of blood vessels cut off the blood supply to an essential organ like the brain or heart. The danger of a blood vessel bursting is slight unless syphilis or some other serious disease weakens the wall. Patients with hardening of the arteries often have trouble with their legs and feet; the slowed down circulation may lead to pain, ulcers, or gangrene.

Arteriosclerosis is considered a natural part of aging. However, it has been found to be present in infants and children and almost absent in some aged persons. Those who develop the condition early in life are likely to pass the trait on to their children. Hardening of the arteries often is associated with diabetes and high blood pressure.

Medical science can sometimes slow down the development of arteriosclerosis. However, much remains to be learned about its cause and treatment.

Why a Telephone Tax?

Local telephone service carries a Federal tax of 15%. Long Distance calls costing over 25c are taxed 25%.

Other forms of telephone service are taxed from 8% to 25%. Your telephone company only acts as a collector for these taxes—at its own expense. These excise taxes are in addition to the Federal corporation income taxes and other taxes which this company pays to the government.

Your Congressman will appreciate your views on this excess taxation of a necessity—higher even than luxury products.

Fairy

By Mrs. Eunice Maasengale

We have had threatening weather the past several days with about one-half inch of rain since our last writing.

Stubble fields are ready for a second breaking since the recent rains have brought up volunteer grain and grasses.

We were very sorry to learn of the passing of Rev. Clarence A. Morton of Gatesville. Rev. Morton had preached here and also conducted funeral services in times past and had many friends in this and surrounding communities.

The cemetery was recently burned off, graves mounded and other work completed, but we have been informed that the cemetery funds are exhausted again. With the recent rains we have received the woods and grass will grow fast and it will soon need another burning. We hope all who can, will send in a donation to help with this work. You may mail your donation in care of Audie Parks, Fairy, who has been very efficient in keeping a record of all funds.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Springer and Randy spent several days last week visiting relatives at Miles and Bradshaw.

Readers will probably remember that we stated in one of our news letters some time back that neighbors of the L. Youella family of near Chalk Mountain, who lost their little 4-year old daughter, Patricia, from snake bite, had taken dogs to the home and had found and killed the snake which was a large copperhead. This information was given to us as a conformed radio report, but since talking with Mrs. Youella in person a few weeks ago we find that the report was incorrect and that the snake, thought to be a rattlesnake was never found. We have intended making this correction every week since talking with Mrs. Youella, but not having taken note of it, had slipped our mind each week.

Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don and the writer visited last Thursday afternoon at Dublin in the home of our sister and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison and family. Ruby Jean Allison, who had been visiting in the Sellers home since Sunday returned home with us. Mrs. Allison, Mrs. Sellers and the writer were shopping in Stephenville during the afternoon.

Mrs. T. R. Parks was hostess for a birthday party Monday afternoon, from 2 until 5 o'clock, honoring her little grandson, Dicky Wayne Turner of Fort Worth, who with his little brother, have been visiting in the home of their grandparents. Refreshments were served to a large group of little friends. He received many nice and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price and Ronald of Austin spent Monday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Cox. Mr. and Mrs. Price joined friends at Lampasas on Tuesday for a three-day outing. They are expected to return late Thursday for another visit with her parents and to get the children, who remained with their grandparents, while they were away.

Mrs. W. E. Goynes had the misfortune of breaking her left arm at the wrist, while in Waco last week. A recently repaired spot on the street pavement is said to have caused the accident. Both bones were broken. We are glad to report her doing nicely.

The Bible School at the Baptist Church is in progress with good attendance. Rev. and Mrs. Bill Stone and baby of Fort Worth came in last Saturday to assist in this work. An apartment at the teacherage, vacated by the Carroway family, has been neatly arranged and furnished for the convenience of Rev. Stone and family while here. The revival will begin this Saturday night. Thus far we have failed to secure the name of the minister and singer who will also have an apartment at the teacherage. We understand the church has gone to considerable expense to advertise the revival and probably the readers will receive an invitation and more complete information by the time this goes to press.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cunningham and Sherry attended the homecoming at the Baptist Church at Olin Sunday. They went by way of Hico for her mother Mrs. J. L. Tooley, who accompanied them. Mrs. Cunningham reports a very enjoyable day. She also informed us that the old Ridenhower home at Olin is being converted into a modern ranch-style dwelling. Ray Ridenhower and his sister, Mrs. Ada Jackson will reside there.

The writer attended singing at Warrens Creek Baptist Church Sunday afternoon. We were accompanied from Hamilton by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sumerford. After singing hours the writer visited a while in the Willie Oglesby home. We were very sorry to learn that Mr. Oglesby had suffered two heart attacks recently. He was able to be up and about, but was unable to resume work where he was employed. His many friends will be sorry to learn of his illness and we hope he will soon be much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oglesby and children of Killeen visited Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blakley and also visited a while Sunday afternoon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Oglesby of Hamilton. Mrs. Oglesby informed us that her brother, Joe Blakley and wife were expected in early this week for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Porterfield who have been residing in the Lanham community, have moved their household effects to the home of his father, Walter Porterfield of Fairy. They left recently for an extended visit in California and other points. His father accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Leota Jones and sons, Ramond and Wesley Jones and families, members of the Clint Crosby and Willie Oglesby families were in Fort Worth Saturday to attend funeral services for the former Miss Edna Crosby. She was a sister of Mrs. Leota Jones, Mrs. Willie Oglesby and Mr. Crosby.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cunningham spent a few days last week visiting in Fort Worth with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prinz and family, and at Venus with another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cunningham visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Kit) Carson of the Blue Ridge community near Hamilton, and also at Hamilton in the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Pitts and Eva Nell.

Misses Wilma Grace and Lynda Lou Goynes visited several days recently in the home of their aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Luckie and family of Weatherford. Mrs. Luckie is the former Miss Billie Loden.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goynes are having some of the rooms at their home sheet-rocked, and other interior redecorating.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLISON Congressman 17th District

Washington, July 23.—The Secretary of Agriculture has clarified instructions to the State PMA Director regarding livestock feed for drouth disaster areas.

The County Committees will operate under these advices, and it is left up to them to apply the rules to each individual case. To become eligible to buy feed, the purchaser must be a bona fide farmer or stockman. He must show that he does not have the finances to purchase feed at prevailing market prices, to maintain a basic foundation herd and remain in the livestock business with reasonable chances for successful operation.

The basic foundation herd is defined as consisting of cows, bulls, nursing calves, and heifers needed to replace over-age and other undesirable cattle culled from herds.

Specifically, to be eligible for feed at reduced prices, a farmer or stockman must, first, have less than a thirty-day supply of feed to supplement roughage to maintain his foundation herd. The feed, however, may be fed to cattle other than those in the foundation herd, if they are to be marketed not later than September 30, 1953, and provided they are not feeders in feed lots.

Second, farmers and stockmen must not have the financial ability to remain in business and satisfactorily maintain their herds unless they can purchase feed at prices substantially below the prevailing market price.

The Secretary of Agriculture emphasizes that the purpose of the Drouth Feed Program is to maintain basic foundation herds. The Secretary states that to avoid undue hardships, County Committees should use reasonable discretion in carrying out their instructions.

There are going to be a lot of headaches connected with these undertakings. There were a great many in the Hay Program last fall and winter, but there will be more in this. Personally, I think the County Committees should be given very broad discretion to exercise their best judgment. No one in Washington can sit in an armchair and dispense rules applicable to every case, and they should not try.

Many of my friends have been interested in H. R. 4353, which reorganizes the Farm Credit Administration. It gives more authority in policy-making to farmers, who own the Farm Credit, and takes away the direct influence of the Department of Agriculture.

The Senate Agriculture Committee reported the Bill out favorably at the same time the House passed the measure, and I hope the Senate will likewise act in the very near future.

In my column last week, I described the inexcusable action of the House of Representatives in giving a tax holiday to the big distillers who have whiskey stored in warehouses. I am glad to report action more palatable, which has just occurred.

A measure, earlier approved by my committee on House Administration, to provide a room in the Capitol Building where members of Congress may go for meditation and prayer, has just passed on the House Floor. It will now go to the Senate for its approval. The room will be equipped to accommodate every faith. In Congress, there are Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, with about every type of denomination under the Protestant religion.

There was not a dissenting vote against the measure. It indicates the feeling of need on the part of many in the Congress, for a place of refuge from the hurly-burly life one leads here at the Capitol.

Washington, July 19.—FLYING VISIT: At President Eisenhower's invitation, I accompanied his party on a one-day trip to Amarillo for the conference on assistance to cattlemen and farmers hard hit by the terrible drouth. I like to be in Texas, but this was no pleasure trip. The Presidential plane flew low as we reached the drouth-stricken area. Multiplied thousands of acres of land below us were bare of vegetation. It was a depressing sight—one that would impress anybody with the sore need for immediate and adequate assistance to the people depending on this land.

AID—NOT ENOUGH: We passed, and the President signed, the bill making emergency loans and feed and seed supplies available to the farmers and cattlemen in the drouth area. I voted for the bill, of course. In fact, I co-sponsored it. The assistance it authorizes will help—but not enough.

The drouth has made the cattlemen's situation worse. But they would be in trouble anyway, because of low cattle prices and high feed prices. Mention of price supports for cattle was vigorously applauded at the Amarillo meeting, where some 3,000 farmers and cattlemen gathered to give their ideas about what should be done.

WATER USE: Texas could bring a million more acres of land under irrigation and have an ample supply of water for our expanding industry if our potential water resources were fully used. That fact is brought out in the appraisal of the Texas water problem made by the Bureau of Reclamation at my request. This recently issued study is attracting wide attention in Texas. The report puts forth a soundly conceived Federal-State water conservation program, with both levels of government accepting definite responsibilities and with the State maintaining rights over its own water.

This appraisal, in my opinion, is of the utmost importance to everybody in Texas. The problem with which it deals affects all of us. STABILITY IN FRANCE? At the White House luncheon for the visiting foreign ministers from France and England, French Minister Georges Bidault told me the new French Premier, Joseph Laniel, is off to a good start. He said the Premier has been given unusual powers in an effort to bring stability to the French Government, which of late has been bobbing up and down like a cork on the Colorado River.

I hope M. Bidault is right. The free world has a large stake in a stable French Government. MEDICAL MEN: It's a good thing when members of the medical profession and members of Congress sit down together for an interchange of views and knowledge. So I was glad of the opportunity to visit with the president and board chairman of the American Medical Association.

Accompanying the two gentlemen to my office were my good Texas friends, Dr. A. C. Scott, Jr. of Temple and Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame of Wharton. I have the privilege of being on the Board of the Scott and White Clinic, headed by Dr. Scott, one of Texas' great men of medicine.

I suggested to the doctors that members of the AMA all over the country meet with members of the Senate and the House of Representatives while Congress is out of session. If the doctors and the congressmen sit down together for some question-and-answer sessions, I know the results will be well worthwhile.

TEXAS PERSONALITIES: Hastings Harrison of Dallas, whose wonderful work with the National Conference of Christians and Jews is well known in Texas, was a welcome visitor. Gavel From White House Wood: Was glad to be able to get for Mrs. J. F. Boren of Abilene, President, Sixth District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, a gavel made of wood taken directly from the White House. Jerry Jernson, Special Assistant to the President, told me it was the very last one available.

A visitor to the office was Miss La'Jon Walker of Denton, charming daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Walker. La'Jon, whose father is pastor of the First Methodist Church in Denton, is here for the summer, doing social work as a member of the American Friends Service Committee. She is a student at NTSC. Mr. Smith Goes to Washington: State Representative Vernon "Gene" Smith of Fort Worth was in Washington last week and came by the office for a visit.

R. D. Collins of Mineral Wells and John D. McCall of Dallas were here on business for the Brazos River Authority. Oxygen plants, capable of making Navy aircraft carriers self-sufficient in providing oxygen for jet planes, have been developed under a bureau of ships program. In the past, carriers have been dependent upon shore bases or refueling ships for oxygen.

Scanning the News

THE Western powers are waiting, as they have since 1946, for the next Soviet move in the struggle of Communism vs. freedom. This time, however, the Russians appear to be on the defensive since all is not well behind the Iron Curtain.

This watchfulness and waiting is due to the fact that virtually all top military and civilian aides of the former Soviet control commission of East Germany and the ambassadors to the Western powers were summoned to the Kremlin for a conference on the heels of the East European revolts.

The West would like to know what they talked about and what was planned behind the walls of the Kremlin.

Presumably, they were recalled to explain what happened when 2,000,000 un-armed East Germans suddenly arose and nearly overthrew their Communist rulers. Also to explain why there is so much unrest in other areas of the worker's paradise that is supposed to exist behind the Iron curtain.

No doubt new policies will emerge from Moscow shortly. Perhaps they will ease East-West tension. But it would be folly to expect good from evil or kindness from brutality.

It appears, after the Treasury Department's announcement of the largest deficit in the nation's peacetime history that those within the Republican administration who have been screaming for tax reductions have been howling in the wilderness. The deficit amounted to $9,389,000,000, a billion dollars more than was anticipated.

At the same time, the Treasury reported it would borrow $5,500,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 for eight months. Later another $3 to $6 billion will be borrowed.

With such a deficit and the need to borrow to meet government expenses, it is a sure bet that the administration will fight to the limit any effort to reduce taxes before January 1. And, in the opinion of many government observers, it is doubtful if any appreciable reduction will come even then.

The following statement from the American Book Publishers Council and the American Library Association is drawing the applause of serious, thinking Americans:

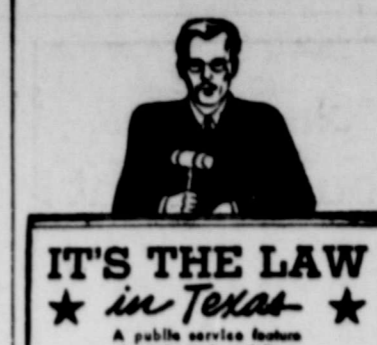

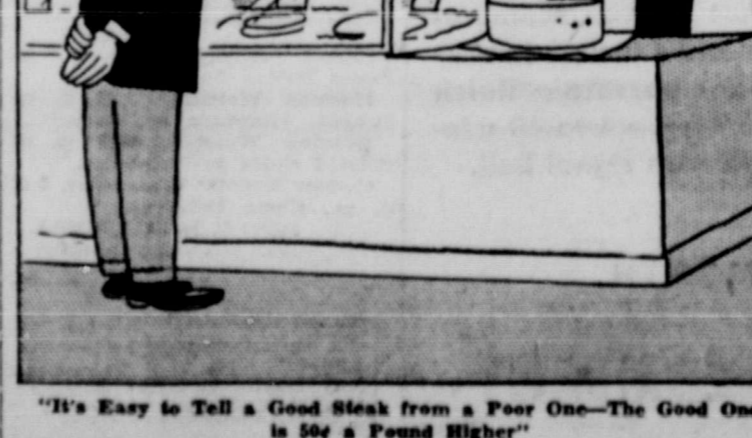

"The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove books from sale, to censor textbooks, to label controversial books, to distribute lists of objectionable books or authors and to purge libraries."

The actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals...

"We trust Americans to recognize propaganda and to reject obscenity. We do not believe they need the help of censors to assist them in this task..."

"It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to determine the acceptability of a book solely on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author. A book should be judged as a book. No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free men can flourish which draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say."

There is a dangerous trend developing in the United States toward telling the general public what books they can read and which are not acceptable. The question arises: would this trend develop, if not stopped now, into telling the average American what weekly newspaper he can read and which are not acceptable.

CHECK TITLE WHEN PURCHASING HOME

A real estate title is a claim of ownership, or your right to land you have purchased. Most of us have little or no idea of the possible pitfalls in acquiring a good title when we buy a home. Many prospective home buyers' title difficulties result from commonly held misconceptions of the significance of certain kinds of real estate papers.

If you can prove your title against all the world, it is a good title. If, in addition, the evidence of your claim of ownership is contained in proper public records, it is a good record title. Ordinarily only a good record title is salable.

How do you know if you are receiving a good title to property you plan to purchase? The safest method is to have a title examination—that is, a careful study of the abstract and other title evidence.

Here are a few of the common sources of trouble in real estate transactions to show why the minor expense of a title examination is justified.

Many persons sign "earnest money contracts" believing that they are mere receipts with no serious implications. In reality they may specify, among other things, the kind of title you must accept.

A "warranty deed" from a responsible seller is comforting to have but it is a poor substitute for a careful examination. A warranty deed does not guarantee a marketable title.

Moreover, serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller on a warranty deed is dead, has moved to an unknown address, or is bankrupt. Even if he is available a good title is much better than a law suit.

The fact that the seller has possession of an "abstract" does not mean that he owns the property. An abstract is only a history of a title. Possession of an abstract no more indicates ownership of land than possession of the history of Texas means that you own the state.

Some purchasers of land feel safe because the title is being examined at the time of purchase by an attorney for the mortgage lenders. This seems logical but is a dangerous theory. Mortgage lenders are sometimes willing to accept less than good record title as security. This is sound business for them because, among other reasons, the chances are that the mortgage will be paid off so that no expense in perfecting the title would ever need be incurred. It is risky business for you when you are putting your life savings into the purchase.

These are a few of the reasons why a title examination is an important safeguard to you. When it is completed, the attorney gives you a written opinion stating his conclusions as to who owns the land, the defects in or charges against such ownership, and the requirements to be met if any, to make good record title.

Of hand this may seem a simple operation. In fact it is not. It requires the interpretation of numerous deeds, mortgages, wills, court decrees and other instruments; the consideration of the order in which transactions and events affecting the title occurred; and the application of statutes and court decisions to the various situations disclosed in the abstract.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on legal and other problems involved in buying a home has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Austin 15, Texas.

Stephenville Production Credit Annual Meeting Set For August 4th

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Stephenville Production Credit Association will be held at the City Recreation Hall in Stephenville the morning of August 4 at 9:30 a. m. This will be the twentieth meeting of the association which was chartered in February of 1933.

The program committee with Jack English as chairman, M. D. Stewart of Hannibal and Cotta Whitehead of Granbury have worked up an interesting and different type of program for the current meeting. One outstanding attraction this year will be a Gene Autrey movie at a local theater for all the children of the association stockholders. Prizes will be given to the wives in a special drawing during the morning hour of the meeting.

Cautions Noted On Insecticide Labels Should Be Observed

Austin, June 20.—With spring house-cleaning and the anti-moth battle under way, housewives all over Texas have been using insecticide sprays. Because most of these are poisonous and some are inflammable, special precautions noted on the labels should be observed, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Common sense safety rules include protection of food, dishes, silverware and cooking utensils from moth, mosquito or fly sprays. If you spill concentrated insecticide solutions on yourself, wash off immediately with soap and water.

Don't expose yourself or members of your family unnecessarily to insecticide dust or spray mist. Provide extra ventilation by opening doors and windows when extensive jobs are being done.

Care should be taken not to spray liquid insecticides into electrical outlets or on exposed electrical connections because of danger of short circuits. Don't apply oil-base sprays near fire, flame or sparks and don't smoke while applying them.

Special precautions should be taken to store insecticides where children will not be able to reach them. Never put into a kitchen cupboard where they might be mistaken for food.

Most of the orders are for cotton seed meal and pellets. The total to date is 2,440,070 pounds—applications filed for 398,790 pounds cottonseed meal, 1,123,830 pounds cottonseed pellets, 462,250 pounds corn, 439,240 pounds oats and 15,960 pounds wheat.

The processing committee includes Gilbreath, secretary; Ralph Lawrence, county farm agent; W. G. Barkley, banker; Benn A. Gleason, county PMA chairman; and Glenn Riley, farmer.

Riley shipments are expected within a week or 10 days, Gilbreath said.

One of the most effective techniques used to improve efficiency and cut costs in the U. S. Navy's shore establishment is the industrial survey. Under this program, every major naval industrial installation is inspected every two years by a group of management experts, military and civilian.

ONE STAR Agriculture

Released by The Texas Department of Agriculture By John C. White, Commissioner

The Dwindling Rains

Texas' below-average rainfall has had this result? Feed crops and pastures are deteriorating over most of the state as moisture reserves run out. Dry conditions are now general over Texas. Temperatures of 100 degrees and above have fired maturing feed and wilted late crops. In the west and northwest, dryland feed and cotton are barely holding on. Early corn in the north and east has suffered. Late corn desperately needs rain. Plains area sorghums have been burned by hot dry winds and much of the acreage has been lost to blowing sand. Continued drought has hurt commercial vegetable crops in all areas. Scattered showers have brought only temporary relief. Both surface and subsoil moisture is depleted in a great many areas. What has been our rainfall this year which has caused such a dismal picture? The state's average rainfall is 45.37 inches. The last "good year" was in 1950 when the average was 40.22 of rain evenly distributed. In 1951, the first onset of the present drought, only 27.23 inches of rain fell. The following year, 37.06 inches were received but it was poorly placed—most of it soaked East Texas and left other areas dry. The most recent 1963 report revealed that we had received some 10.21 inches of poorly distributed rain. At the same time last year an average of 10.32 had fallen. The normal at this period of the year is 12.03 inches. With the exception of one month, the Upper South High Plains area has gone some 33 months without receiving the normal amount of moisture. Some South Texas and Western Plains states have been below average for 24 months. Weather experts estimate it would take two months of "very wet weather" to restore some of these counties to normal crop and pasture conditions. There is little, if anything, that we can do to remedy the situation. The farmer and rancher can only keep his eye on weather developments and make his plans accordingly.

THINGS RARE AND UNUSUAL

OUR CHILDHOOD HOME. It seems to me there is one vision that never fades from the memory of man... the home of his childhood. Ask the lone wanderer as he plods his weary way along life's pathway. He will tell you it was once a glorious reality. Ask the man who has succeeded—he will tell you home is a place of rest, a haven of content where loved ones relieve him of the burdens of everyday life. Let prosperity reward his every exertion, and wealth bring all the luxury of the earth or let misfortune overtake him; failure and disgrace be his lot still his memories will revert to the home of his childhood. The old home may be rickety now, the windows may be broken long ago, but it was through these old windows that let in the light for our first ambitions aspirations in the days of our childhood. Yes sir the home of my childhood brings up pleasant memories. I feel sorry for any body it doesn't.

Port Worth, July 21—Strong points of the market Monday at Fort Worth. Both stocker and feeder buyers and the packer buyers were competing strongly for the supply and the result was a strong to $1 higher market. Both replacement and fat calves topped at $20 to $21 on Monday and were considered quotable over that in load lots of the proper kinds. Cows were uneven, selling on steady to easier basis, with prices about in line with last week's close. Bulls were off $1 per hundred. Very small number of fat steers and yearlings arrived, and grain-fed were very scarce. Some brooding inquiry is noted for suitable feeders and indications are that sizeable numbers of these fleshy grassers and supplementally fed steers and yearlings will wind up in feedlots. Sheep and lambs were fully steady. Fat lambs topped at $22 to $23.50, and feeders drew $12 to $16.50, and were quotable to $17 or better in loads and of suitable quality and weights. Hogs moved at strong to 50 cents higher prices and again topped at $27, the year's best levels, and equalling the best price in five years here. Sows were steady at $23 down. Pigs sold at $22 down. Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold at $18 to $22.50, and are quotable at $23.50 and above. Common to medium sorts sold from $12 to $17, with some rannihan yearlings $9 to $12. Fat cows drew $10.50 to $14, while canners and cutters drew $6.50 to $10.50. Bulls sold for $8 to $14. Good and choice fat calves sold from $17 to $21, and common and medium butcher calves drew $12 to $16. Cull sorts sold from $8 to $12. Good and choice stocker calves sold from $16 to $21, and plain to medium sorts sold at $12 to $16. Good and choice stocker steer yearlings sold from $15 to $18.50, and heifer calves drew $19 down, and heifer yearlings sold from $16.50 down. Stocker cows cashed at $10 to $16. Older replacement steers cashed at $12 to $17.50. Good and choice fat lambs sold at $20 to $23.50, while cull, and medium offerings sold for $8 to $18. Stockers and feeders drew $10 to $16.50.

DOES THIS OLD HEN BELONG TO YOU?

WHY DON'T YOU Side-Dress Your Peanuts and Any Other Growing Crop

Since we have had a good rain, IT WILL PAY

THIS OLD HEN SAID: "Well, this makes me mad! I worked mighty hard to lay that egg. Took me about two days here in this July heat, but there it is. Guess my Boss will do like he did last time I laid—just let my egg lay out there in the heat all day while some of these other old birds set on it and kick it around. Wonder is that it's not broken anyway. It was pretty dirty, too, by night, but my Boss won't care. "He'll just fuss at the produce man because he called it a No. 2. "Wouldn't it be nice if my boss would gather the eggs two or three times a day, clean them and put them in a cool place, then case them after they are cool and during the hot weather sell two or three times a week to—"
