

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

No Sale!

Right in front of Granny White's beautiful old house on Maple Avenue there's a brand-new sign: "Antiques. Inquire Within."

Now—don't get excited. Granny explained it all the other night—after we settled down in her parlor, me with my temperate beer, Granny with her tea.

I asked her if she was really going in the antique business. "Oh, no," says Granny. "I wouldn't sell anything. I put that sign up so folks would come in and talk—and look around. If they insist on a price, I tell them some extrageous figure! I guess I just like people," she said.

From where I sit Granny can be excused for her little ruse. She may be in her eighties, but her mind is young—and open. She's the kind of person who's made this town so wonderful. Granny not only likes people—but she respects them and their preferences and opinions. Come to think of it, "liking" and "respecting" mean much the same thing, don't they?

Fairy
By Mrs. Eunice Massengale

MRS. WILLIS OGLESBY

Funeral services for Mrs. Willis Oglesby of Hamilton were held last Tuesday, June 15, at 2 p. m. at the Bob Riley Funeral Chapel in Hamilton. Mrs. Oglesby passed away at her home about 3:45 a. m. on Monday, June 14, after only a few weeks illness, which doctors diagnosed as leakage of the heart.

R. V. Hamilton, minister of the Reagan St. Church of Christ in Hamilton, was the officiating minister. Pallbearers were Les Hamilton, Rufe Turner, H. V. Hovey, Dud Hopkins, Barney Riley and Chas. Johnson. Interment was in the new IOOF Cemetery.

Mrs. Oglesby, the former Miss Verla V. Penny, was born in the Fairy community May 17, 1896, being the daughter of the late J. H. Penny and Mrs. Minnie Penny McCarty of Hamilton. She was married to Willis Oglesby of the Lanham community on Aug. 22, 1914. They resided there until 1925, when they moved to Hamilton. Four sons were born to them. She is survived by her husband and sons, as follows: Aldrous of Abilene, J. R. of Killeen, Willis Jr. of Alpine and Calvin H. of Florence. Also nine grandchildren and her invalid mother, Mrs. Minnie McCarty, whom she had nursed in her home the past six years, after her mother suffered a stroke and later falling on a gas jet and breaking her hip. Mrs. Oglesby was her only surviving child. Another daughter, Mrs. Mattie Jordan met a tragic death at Cleburne in February of 1935. One among Mrs. Oglesby's dying requests was that her husband and children take care of her mother.

Members of the church choir had charge of the song service, singing one of her favorite songs, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder," and other numbers. The bountiful floral offering was very beautiful, bearing love and tribute to her memory by her many friends and loved ones. She was a beautiful corpse, bearing no evidence of the intense suffering she bore during her short illness. Her dear invalid mother was taken by ambulance to the funeral chapel a few hours prior to the funeral services where she was permitted to see her daughter and a portion of the floral offerings. She stated she wished she could have been able to attend the funeral service, but feared she couldn't hold out that long. Mrs. Oglesby had made many friends during her earthly abode, through her humble and courteous disposition. Her memory will live on and on in the hearts of those who were privileged to share her association.

We visited her every week during her illness and wrote her one letter, along with a get well card in an effort to bring her hope of recovery since she had expressed to us that she had no hope of recovery. She seemed very close to us and our parents' family, since our deceased father helped look after the needs of her mother when she was left a widow with these two little daughters when they were quite small. In fact we were just reared up together since they did quite a bit of farm work for our dad. Verla was a lover of flowers, always having many beautiful varieties in her yard. We never visited her before her illness that she didn't follow us to the yard when we departed and gave us a bouquet or pulled up some plants to bring home to set out, and we now have several of these in our yard which brings back sad memories and even tears. Our last bouquet was a bouquet of Iris.

Mr. Oglesby had to retire from his position only last year due to a heart ailment. May God bless and comfort the bereaved husband, dear aged mother, the grandsons and their families. May they look to God in this time of sorrow and look forward to meeting their loved one again where there will be no separation.

We believe we have failed to report the death of Mr. S. K. McGowan of Weatherford, who formerly resided here. He was about 96 years old and died about a year ago, although we only recently learned of his death.

We were sorry to learn that Roy Carson of Blue Ridge has been a patient in the Hico Hospital due to a paralytic stroke recently. But glad to report him able to return home. The Carsons formerly resided here.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison of Dublin visited in Fairy a while Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Allison, and Mrs. Allison also visited a while with the writer, her mother.

We wish to thank the following who have made recent donations for the benefit of the Fairy Cemetery: C. M. Broyles, $5.00; Bert Cobb, $1.00; Mrs. A. L. Newlin, Hico, $1.00; Mrs. W. M. Green, Hico, $2.50; S. N. Akin, Stephenville, $5.00, and Mrs. Mattie Kavanaugh, Hamilton, $3.00. We are glad to report the cemetery in good condition at this writing but despite the dry weather, grass and weeds keep thriving.

While at the cemetery Saturday afternoon looking after our lots, we had occasion to talk with Mr. and Mrs. Reubin Anderson and daughter, Mrs. Thelma Taylor and little daughter, Margaret Ann, all of Grand Prairie who had come down to spend the week end and Father's Day with Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brummett, and had stopped at the cemetery to look after their family plot. Mr. Anderson stated that he was very much interested in getting water piped to the cemetery from the school well and would give $25.00 or 100 feet of pipe toward the project if enough others were interested. So if there are any others interested you might let your desires be known to the cemetery committee or Audie Parks. Since water would not be needed there during the winter months, a cut-off valve could be put in at the well and the line drained during the winter months.

Mrs. Emma Ogle enjoyed a surprise visit from two of her nieces and their children on Monday of last week. They were Mrs. Grace Gispby and four children of Dallas and Mrs. Norene Reesing and two children of California. They were down for a visit with the ladies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fort of Clifton.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don returned home Monday afternoon after a visit since Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Springer, Randy and Van of Crane.

We are needing rain at this writing. Make and other row crops are holding up very well, however the corn yield is going to be very light. Reports from the southwest part of the county are that farmers are trying to utilize their corn crop by cutting as bundle feed, or making silage.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abel and Mr. and Mrs. Lorman Vance of Fort Worth visited over the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Abel, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Vance of Carlton.

We received a card from our dear friend, Mrs. Brittie Little, who is visiting her sons and families at Oklahoma City, that she thought she would get to return home around July 1st.

A report from Mrs. J. J. Leeth's birthday show of cards and letters informs us that she received 79 cards and letters and enjoyed a visit from a host of friends and relatives on this day, June 18th. Thanks to all who wrote and made her heart glad.

Mrs. C. M. Broyles, Mrs. Raymond Jones, Mrs. Wesley Jones and Mrs. Jake Kenney were joint hostesses for a miscellaneous wedding shower Thursday night of last week honoring Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gardner, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Noland. Miss Jackie Lewis had charge of the guest book and registered the guests as each arrived. Fruit punch, cake and mints were served as refreshments. They received an assortment of nice and useful gifts.

We give here a list of pupils of the Fairy School who received letter "F" awards at the closing of their school. In grammar school they are also for perfect attendance. First and second grades: Doran Williford, Dorothy Gray and Sandra Gardner; Third and Fourth grades: Marijo Gleason, Mary Jo Clark, Max Haile, Carolyn Sellers, Jerry Richardson and Charles Sowell; Fifth and Sixth grades: Gwendolyn Gray, Helen Marie Jones, Erman Jackson, and Duane McAdams; Seventh and Eighth grades: Kay and Gay Gordon and Glenn McAdams.

In high school there were 3 letter "F" awards. Those were awarded to Horace Griffiths, Robert Rachuig and Martha Helen Hanes. Robert's "F" award was for science and mathematics. Horace and Martha received their letter "F" awards on all-around school activities.

Walter Porterfield spent the week end in Waco, Waxahachie and his son, Louis and family, and at Fort Worth. In Waco he visited Waxahachie he visited in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Porterfield and returned Monday by Fort Worth on a business mission.

Miss Wilma Grace Goyno spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goyno. She has been in Fort Worth since the closing of her school term at Tarleton State College.

Mr. W. E. Goyno, our efficient postmaster and Mr. Robert Jackson, Hico postmaster were in Fort Worth Monday to attend a postmaster's meeting.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Edd Allison during the week end were the following children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patterson and family of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Texie Dell Allison of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison, Dublin and Mrs. George Stringer and children of Hico.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl King and son Lynn returned home recently from a two weeks' vacation trip to California.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON, Congressman, 17th District

Washington, D. C., June 22.—The Congress is coming near to completing legislation to use farm surplus commodities for building military strength in the non-Communist countries.

This Country has not lost any time in building airfields and military bases in the important places overseas. The United States has more airfields on foreign soil than it does on American soil. Approximately three billion dollars has been spent for this purpose since 1948.

We still have more bases to build and there is no reason why we should not be using these billions of dollars of surplus commodities which have already been purchased under the price support program or obligated, instead of appropriating new dollars.

It seems to me we have little choice but to see that Germany has the right to build up an army despite Russian moves to prevent it. France is playing into the hands of the Soviets because she is afraid of Germany. Regardless of this, a real buildup of German military power is likely to begin within a year.

During the past several weeks I have participated in several meetings with top Administration officials regarding the world situation and particularly Indochina. What is said cannot always be discussed. Each time, however, I come away with a greater feeling of uneasiness, mainly because there are seemingly no definite answers to many of the big questions.

Another threat is right at our back door in Guatemala. A dictatorship in the Red Russia style is evidently in operation. This is in addition to Indochina, and our actions will depend upon a joint agreement with other Latin American countries.

Listen as the Redbird Rambles

By Carolyn Holford

FRATERNAL association with other persons engaged in a similar type of work is good for anyone.

Among some companies it is considered virtually a requirement. In some professions, it is a get-together to have fun; in others it is an opportunity to learn what others are doing, to gain new principles and realize how they may be applied.

In the profession of newspapering, the association here in Texas has undergone varied stages during the past 75 years. Celebrating its Diamond Anniversary this year, the Texas Press Association scheduled a speaker who gave an imaginary picture of the next 25 years for newspaper business.

The speaker was Dr. De Witt Reddick, journalism professor at the University of Texas, and the Redbird would have gone to hear him, even if he were speaking to a group of marble shooters on the advantages of agates. Doubtless, if he had such a subject, he would think of an angle of expression which would be different from any his listeners had thought about.

IN 75 YEARS... the TPA's progress is reflected to some extent in the change in format of its publication, the Texas Press Messenger. In the early days, it was just that—a messenger between towns.

Twenty-eight years ago, this news bulletin was a necessity among modest publishers who refrained from printing personal news about their families in their own weeklies. Travel was so limited that often the men and their families did not see their colleagues often than once a year—at the annual convention.

When these publishers got together, they enjoyed talking over this same type of things, news of which had not been printed in the news magazine. Speakers were usually men from among their own group, but sometimes included outsiders who came to bring them a message. The meetings were free of charge, except for a person's own expenses to and from the convention site.

AS TECHNICAL changes were made, and newspapers began to utilize more electricity and machinery in their plants, these publishers, many of whom were good printers, sought advice from other fellow men for tips on using the new machinery.

ful, when you take it at face value. And yet, whether or not this will come true will also depend on how much the little towns prepare for this increase and how much they bid for industry.

Still the fellowship was predominant at conventions, and publishers planning the program allowed themselves a lot of time to get together and chat. And who can say that this method is not as educational as a series of meetings?

IN THIS COMPLEX system, and with the shortage of labor and demand by unions for more pay for printers and operators, another change came about.

Many men who had never seen a Linotype were fascinated by the business and came to realize that this business was no longer limited to a master craftsman, as it had been in the olden days. So big businessmen, politicians, ambitious salesmen began to buy their own newspapers. But they soon learned that the business was not always a profitable venture, that it was not so easy as it looked to "trick the public" and that everything that had looked profitable from the outside seemed to involve a lot of expense after one got into it.

The Texas Press Association degenerated for awhile then to a policy of seeing how much money these guys could make. Everything was discussed from a financial point of view. No longer did they utilize the items of publicity which were not paid for by the inch or by the agate line.

The thing these fellows did not realize was that if they put everything on a financial basis, the other businessmen with whom they dealt would do the same thing. If the publicity which had been printed with free will was to be looked at in the light of hard, cold cash, then the free will previously offered at conventions could be looked at in the light of hard cold cash.

NOWADAYS... they have sort of lived that atmosphere down, and are again discussing ideas—as they should at this type of meeting.

Ideas are exchanged on every subject from how much money Safeway stores made last month, to what happened in Georgia when the ruling was passed against segregation, to how to write a column. (Obviously we learned nothing from the latter!)

IN THE FUTURE... it appears that the press will have to take on a more international viewpoint. All during these above-mentioned changes, our government has also been undergoing changes—from isolationism to internationalism.

Although many of Uncle Sam's citizens have not yet accepted this international outlook, the government has become more and more broad. For example, the Marshall Plan.

Our Congressman from this district, Omar Burleson, has evolved a plan whereby the government can take these surplus commodities that are so often wasted and pay salaries with them in Europe or Indochina, where they are asking for our military help.

To us, it seems like a good idea. Think how much this would raise the level of morale. Although there is no international language, the two countries exchanging food would be like two neighbors on the back fence: "Oh, Mrs. Jones, I just adore your black-eyed peas."

THINGS TO COME... will not take us unaware if we begin now to prepare for them. Dr. Reddick told the newspapermen and women assembled in Fort Worth. He cited statistics which included a prediction that almost every city and town in Texas would be doubled in size within the next 25 years. He based this estimate on the prediction that Texas would have a total population of some 15 million by the year 1979.

associate with them say that the foreign students get a big thrill out of watching our reaction to football games and other such unknown activities there.

BUT THE MAN... who has been reputed to have done the most toward fostering good will, is a Texan who greets every foreign delegation with a gift copy of Montgomery Ward catalogue. When the person returns to his home country, this fellow sends him another catalogue to his home address.

The impression is tremendous. The foreigners have endless pleasure in looking through the magazine and seeing all the fabulous things that can be purchased in the United States. The remarkable thing to them is that ANYONE can buy this merchandise!

FOURSCORE (forgiving five) years ago, our fathers brought forth on this Texas crinoline a

LOOKING AHEAD... Dr. Reddick commented that a great deal of our trouble with other countries had been the fact that we haven't understood their peoples. Having been to Europe in the 1930's, Dr. Reddick is qualified to know how one's viewpoint can be changed by going over there and being with the people.

As a help toward further understanding, he suggested that the press association could each year appoint one of its members to go to a foreign country and could pay his expenses for a period of two months or so. This would not be a free vacation trip for the traveler, but would be a job during which he would be expected to write articles from each of these countries and send them back for publication in member newspapers.

IT IS SAID... that the foreign exchange student plan in our colleges does more good than anything yet devised to foster better foreign relations. People who as-new organization. The founders of the TPA and its early day workers were ambitious and far-sighted men who could do a lot with a little.

It is well for the present day publishers to pause and pay tribute to all these men who have contributed so much to make journalism an honorable profession. May the contemporary writers do as well.

This Redbird is grateful, for one, for the heritage passed on by her grandparents and parents.

BIG BUSINESS

THE ENTIRE MONTH OF JUNE IS SET ASIDE TO PAY NATIONAL TRIBUTE TO THIS INDUSTRY

We can show our appreciation to the farmer and the dairy herd by: Drinking more milk; eating more butter; and using more dairy products in our daily menu.

HERE ARE SOME INTERESTING DAIRY FACTS TO KNOW:

- Dairying is one of the largest sources of revenue in Hamilton County and throughout the United States.
Dairying brings over 3/4 of a million dollars a day to American farmers.
More than 45,000,000 quarts of milk are consumed daily in the United States.
Milk and its products are produced and distributed under the strictest sanitary health regulations.
Dairy products supply our most vital needs: calcium and phosphorus for the teeth and bones; proteins for tissue; sugar and fats for energy; vitamins for health and well being.

At today's prices milk is the biggest bargain in food, and refreshment, too! Even if milk cost you twice as much, it would still be more in food, more in refreshment, more in health-provider, than you get for your money any other way.

ENJOY DAIRY PRODUCTS IN SOME WAY DAILY

YOU'LL FEEL BETTER — AND YOU'LL LOOK BETTER.

Shields and children, Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Payne, Clasco; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Woolvorton, Stephenville; Mrs. J. A. Tucker and boys, Albany.

The family decided before returning home that they would meet again next year at the Cisco Lake, the reunion set for the third Sunday in June of 1965.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

I wish to use this method to express my deep appreciation to Dr. W. F. Hafer and Dr. H. V. Hedges of the Hico Clinic, the nurses, and personnel of the Clinic, for their wonderful care and treatment accorded me during my hospitalization for surgery and medical treatment. Every one was so thoughtful and nice to me. Many thanks to every one for their cards, letters and the beautiful flowers I have received during my illness, and may God bless each and every one of you in my prayer.
