Austin, Aug. 24—Saturday will tell the tale.

That thought is undoubtedly uppermost in the minds of gubernatorial candidates Allan Shivers and Ralph Yarborough and thousands of Texas voters who have followed the fiery campaign from infancy to its high-tempo climax.

As August 28 approached, Governor Shivers and Judge Yarborough stepped up their respective campaigns. Both made special appeals to the thousands of potential voters who shunned the polls in the first primary.

In rallies and radio broadcasts over the state, the governor told listeners that good, sound state government was the only medium through which Texas could continue its prosperity.

"This is no time to start experimenting. This is no time to throw the state government into complete turmoil," Shivers said as he pictured Texas' present financial and economic picture as bright.

Shivers said that the state is now free of depression, that industry and employment are "booming."

"Most families are now better set financially with money in the bank, and the state government has a balance of $27 million with which to work improvements," the governor explained.

He underlined the evils of government leaders trying to buy public support with public money as "leading down the road to waste, extravagance, and corruption."

Shivers also lashed out at the claim that he had broken a political pledge given at the 1952 Democratic Convention.

"My opponent has charged that I pledged to support whomever was nominated at the 1952 Democratic Convention," he said.

Shivers read from the convention record that the only pledge he made was to put the Democratic national nominees' names on the Texas ballot. That was done, he said.

Takes Dim View.

While Shivers' picture of the present administration was a bright one, Yarborough's was the opposite.

In a theme developed in the early days of the governor's campaign and followed steadily, he lashed Shivers and the state administration with curt and critical accusations.

Yarborough pitched in a new charge as he drove and flew over the state.

Large billboards over Texas urging motorists to drive safely were paid for by an oil company, Yarborough stated, a direct violation of law because Shivers' name was on the billboards.

He said it was a violation for a corporation to contribute to a political campaign.

In stump speeches Yarborough also had nothing but criticism for state government.

He re-announced charges, developed earlier in the race, that a long tenure in office had caused corruption in the capital and that Shivers was conducting an "untruthful" campaign.

Yarborough reiterated accusations that state printing contracts were let illegally.

At Gonzales he asked 150 courthouse square listeners to make sacrifices in time and effort to "protect their freedom and liberty" by voting for him.

He also declared the need for a drouth-relief program and promised if elected to draw up a "comprehensive drouth-relief plan."

Could Pose Problem.

The possible problem of having a state governor belonging to one political faction and a Texas Democratic party organization of another strain is causing loss of sleep for some party leaders.

The problem is this: Shivers, as a conservative democrat, presently heads the state's party organization which also is conservative democrat.

In addition, his followers took control of the party convention to be held September 14.

If Yarborough, as a liberal-loyalist, wins the August 28th run-off, the situation for the next two years could see the head of the state Democratic Party at odds with his party's official organization.

White, Porter Spar.

State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has charged that the Texas drouth relief plan for stockmen may prove a failure if "Republican political ambitions" are not separated from the program.

White accused Jack Porter, Republican national committeeman from Texas, and other Republican leaders with blocking the effectiveness of the program.

Porter in turn stated that White was angry "because New Dealers are being replaced with people who believe in sound principles of government."

White said that in his three years of drouth relief work it had never been necessary to clear anything through national committees of either party.

He had earlier stated that the FFA, administering the program, was being made to depend on the Republican committee for its policies in drouth relief.

Golf Tournament at Hamilton Is Set for Labor Day Week End

Last minute plans for the annual Jaycees Labor Day Golf Tournament, to be held at the Perry Country Club September 4, 5, and 6, are being completed this week and all indications are that it will be one of the biggest tournaments ever held here.

Tentative plans are being made to broadcast the final afternoon championship matches over radio station K.C.L.W.

Seventeen towns have been invited to participate in the matches and most of these have accepted and are sending their entries. Other than the championship flight, entrants may qualify anytime during the week preceding the tournament or may send in their qualifying score signed by their local pro. To qualify for the championship flight and medalist award the player must enter the match Saturday. All other entrants will be paired at the barbecue, which will be held at the Country Club Saturday night at 8 p. m. Seth Moore is chairman of the barbecue committee.

Tournament play will start at 8 a. m. Sunday. Course rules will be furnished with score cards by the Perry Country Club.

The grounds and greens committee, which includes Clyde Weatherby, Bert Schrank, Oran Knudson and Lee Colwick, report that the grounds and greens have been extensively worked over. New sands have been added to the greens and they are in perfect condition.

The FFA boys report that their plans are complete for handling the concessions and water stands. Prizes totaling $750.00 will be awarded during the tournament. A complete set of McGregor woods will be awarded to the winner of each flight as well as many other awards.

"Last minute information reveals that there will probably be four flights, totaling 96 players," says Alton Bullard, invitation chairman.

Mr. Bullard says there will probably be 70 or 80 out-of-town golfers registered, and arrangements are being made to house them.

Mr. Bullard also extends an invitation to any golfer to enter the matches. All entrants will be accepted.

A driving and approaching contest will be held preceding the barbecue Saturday. Awards will be given to winners.

Lions' Attendance Seems to Be in Rut—But a Good One

For the past three weeks attendance at the Lions Club's Wednesday noon luncheons at Loudermilk Cafe has been sufficient to meet the guarantee—no more, no less. But considering the usual summer slump that left the secretary holding the bag for a few meetings last month, the attendance is considered satisfactory.

This week five guests added their presence to the dozen and a half members represented. They were Joe Goddard and O. D. Spencer of Waco, Patrolman Bill Cooksey and George Williams of Hamilton, and S. H. Simpson of Abilene.

President Wayne Rutledge acknowledged a special invitation from the Clairette Home Demonstration Club for Lions to attend an ice cream supper at the Clairette school house Thursday night at 8 p. m., and urged cooperation of as many as possible.

T. A. Randalls, president of the Hico Chamber of Commerce, called attention to the regular meeting of the Hico Chamber of Commerce to be held at noon Friday (today) at the Loudermilk Cafe. He also issued a reminder of the forthcoming election Saturday, and urged all qualified persons to vote. "Unless the sentiment of the majority is registered, the minority might rule," he admonished.

The next regular meeting of the Lions Club will be held Wednesday, Sept. 1, at the usual time and place.

Hamilton County Commissioners Seek State Funds for Roads

The Hamilton County Commissioners Court voted at the current session to request the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness to credit the Federal Road account of Hamilton County with $24,790.73 to be spent for construction and improvement of lateral roads in the county.

This money comes from the state gasoline tax and is intended to liquidate road bonds in counties having a bonded indebtedness. In Hamilton County all county bonded indebtedness for roads has been paid off so the amount which would be coming for that purpose is refunded to the county to be used on lateral roads—that is the gravel roads leading to the Farm-to-Market roads and state highways. It amounts to approximately the same sum each year—$24,790.00.—Herald-News.

BRUMMETT OPEN HOUSE

Open house was held at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Woodard Brummett last Saturday night. Sixty-six guests registered and we feel sure that there were a few who failed to register.

The rooms were decorated with pots of ivy and cut flowers. A large bowl of cut flowers centered the dining table. At one end was a punch bowl serving set. Mrs. Maggie Paulson and Mrs. Elton Massengale of Fort Worth served punch, cake and cookies to the guests as they arrived. Mrs. W. G. Brawley, also of Fort Worth, had charge of the guest book.

Visitors were escorted through the home and shown the many convenient labor saving devices of the home.

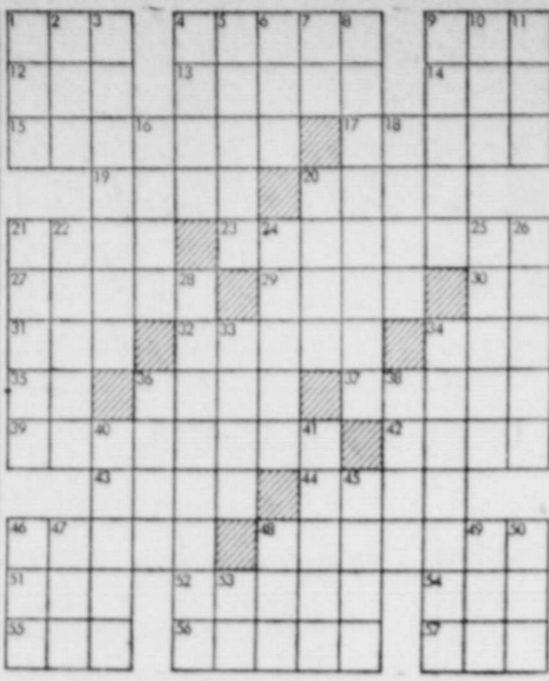

The home, which is of red brick structure, consists of two bedrooms, each having its own private bath and clothes closets equipped with sliding doors. The guest bedroom having one large closet, while in their bedroom each has their own personal clothes closet. The spacious dining room centers the home with a guest entrance, cut off at the front by a removable column of clear varnished woodwork. The kitchen with its tile laden floor has many built in features, including kitchen cabinet and cabinets on either side of the stove, all being equipped with formica tops in yellow moonglo color, with natural finish woodwork. A small kitchen table of the same finish completes the kitchen.

north is the utility room, equipped with a forty gallon electric water heater, automatic washer and deep freeze, and this floor is also tile covered. Adjoining the utility room on the north is a small hallway leading to the garage, which is just north of the living room.

The living room has a nice fire place with adjoining book shelves. The home is equipped with a butane heating system, being admitted through ventilators to all portions of the home.

We congratulate the Brummetts in being able to have this nice home so early in life. They have worked hard and saved to make it possible and we know since securing it they are not going to just sit down and spend the rest of their years enjoying it, for they have about one thousand young pullets just coming into production. They also operate their farm and care for a herd of cattle, and she is a member of the Hico school faculty.

They received a nice assortment of nice and useful gifts for their home. Guests attended from Hamilton, Hico, Cranfills Gap, along with their many friends of this community. Mrs. Brummett is the former Lucille Anderson of near Fairy. Again we say congratulations and may they enjoy their new home together for many years.

We have had threatening weather during the past week, which has brought cooler temperatures, but up to this time (Tuesday) we have received only a slight sprinkle.

We are very glad to report little Ricky and Phillip Vaughn slowly improving from an attack of polio. The children had been given the polio serum prior to taking it and it is said that Ricky is the first to have taken the bulbar type after taking the serum and recovering. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Vaughn of Corpus Christi.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Morton Jameson of Fort Worth recently underwent major surgery at a Fort Worth hospital. The Jameson's two eldest little daughters are here visiting their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Houser during their mother's illness. She is said to be recovering nicely.

Miss Virginia Slater of Fort Worth spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Slater. We are very glad to report Mrs. Slater much improved. She can now walk some with the aid of some help, and is able to be up in a wheel chair a portion of the time. Her speech was also impaired at the time of a stroke she suffered a few months ago, but glad to report this condition improved also. Miss Bernice Sikes has been staying with them the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gonzales Rivers and little son of North Carolina came in Friday, August 6 for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abel and Billy. We received this information for last week's news, but having to write up the Lowery and Fields rites, we overlooked this item, for which we are sorry.

The writer attended singing at Hazeldell last Sunday afternoon, accompanying the A. H. Sumersford from Hamilton. We encountered heavy rain fall on our return home near the 36 highway at the intersection of the Precator and Energy crossroads. It was reported in Hamilton that Pottsville received a good rain. The Sumersfords remarked that the rain was their first to encounter with their new car, which they purchased a year or more ago. On our return to Hamilton the writer visited a short while with Mrs. Minnie McCarty at the Hurley rest home and glad to report her seemingly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Porterfield have rented the tenant house of the writer in Fairy. They plan to move there some time before September 1. He plans to again enter Abilene Christian College, where he will study for the ministry. It will be remembered that he started this course some time back but due to illness of his wife he had to discontinue his study. We wish for him much success.

She also visited with Mrs. Emma Ogle while here as the McAdams family have been visiting at intervals with his mother, Mrs. Willis McAdams of near Cranfills Gap, who recently underwent surgery at the Meridian hospital. Lone Star Gas Company

THE COMPETITOR

By Sally S. Eads

ALL through college, I planned to own a small town newspaper. My uncle Tom had left money for me to go into business, and I felt sure old Mr. Thorne of Hardinsburg would sell The Clarion. But when I went to see him, he refused to talk about selling, and I learned that his granddaughter, Lily Thorne, was the reason for his refusal. Lily loved the newspaper business, she was the power behind the Clarion, and she did a fair job. But not as good, I thought, as I could do.

Well, I decided, I wouldn't be outdone. I would start a new paper and show the Thornes what a good paper was like.

At first, the noise from my printing press and other machinery was music to my ears. There was an oil boom in the county, and people responded surprisingly well to my call for subscribers and advertising. I was doing fine. I was a newspaper man, and I would show the Thornes who was who.

The only "fly in the ointment" was the way Mr. Thorne took what I was doing to his business. I had thought he would make a fool of himself, cavorting around over my starting a second paper in a town of six thousand. But not him. He treated me like a brother.

"Hello, Son," he would say when we met, and Lily would smile and say, "Good morning, Mr. Conrad. My friends called me Burt, but I didn't want to encourage familiarity with the Thornes."

Their friendliness, under the circumstances, made me jittery. I was even unhappy in church. Lily sang in the choir, facing me as I sat in the audience, and her white and pink complexion and her pansy-blue eyes fascinated me. Her smile lifted me right off this earth. What a way to feel toward your competitor!

One day when I was in the Post Office, Lily and her handy man came in. She didn't seem to notice that I was mailing out only about a fourth as many papers as she had to send out. When she went out, one of the clerks teased me about her.

"Being a newspaper man, you could interest that girl," he teased.

"Yes?" I said, and hurried out. I made up my mind right then, that I would leave Hardinsburg. I was whipped and I knew it. But how could I leave Lily? I knew she was too loyal to her grandfather and The Clarion to marry me. I planned all week how I would get out of Hardinsburg without appearing to be a quitter. Then, just as The Leader went to press, I had a bright idea.

"Whoopi!" my helper called, and the press stopped.

"Defect in the press," I said and sat down.

In a short time, Mr. Thorne hurried in. "May I help you, Son?" he asked, and went to the press. I coaxed him away from the press more quickly than I expected. But he asked me to come and help them get out The Clarion, and said as soon as their paper was off the press, mine would go on.

I was never so humiliated in my life. I worked like a trouper to cover my embarrassment. We all hurried, and both papers went out on time.

"Son," Mr. Thorne said when the last paper was gone, "why did you gum the works this morning—deliberately stop your press?"

I knew my face paled, but I made a clean breast of it. I had been wrong in starting The Leader, and I wanted him to have my business. I would go to some other town.

"Son," he said, "The Clarion needs you, and we need your new equipment. We need The Leader. How does 'The Clarion-Leader sound to you?'"

"Oh!" I was too happy for words. I looked at Lily, and knew right then, that The Clarion-Leader would eventually become a family affair.

'Wonderful Town' Is Apt Choice for Closing State Fair Musicals

Dallas, Aug. 24.—"Wonderful Town," current State Fair Musical is proving a wonderful choice with which to close the most successful season in State Fair Musicals history.

The show which has been one of the greatest Broadway hits in recent seasons, stars the inimitable Miss Imogene Coca in her first Musicals appearance since 1949. Before reaching international fame as the number one comedienne of our times, Miss Coca made a memorable appearance in the Musicals' 1949 production of "Rose Marie." Soon after she teamed with Sid Caesar on television's "Show of Shows" and the result is theatrical history. In her "Wonderful Town" role, Miss Coca has opportunity to run the gamut from comedienne to her seldom assumed role of glamour girl.

In the all-star supporting cast are handsome John Tyers, who can be remembered from the 1952 production of "Merry Widows" and blonde Edith Adams who is portraying the role she created on Broadway. Miss Adams left the original company in Chicago to appear in the State Fair Musicals' production.

"Wonderful Town" will run through Sept. 5 when it will close the 1954 State Fair Musicals' season with a Sunday matinee.

State Fair Musicals' season ticket patrons will soon have an opportunity to exert their ticket priority rights when the priority sale for "King and I" opens. "King and I" starring Yul Brynner and the Broadway company will be the Auditorium attraction for the State Fair.

Washington

"As It
Looks
From Here"

OMAR BURESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—
The 83rd Congress is now history.
Unless the President should issue
a call for a Special Session, adjournment will extend to the opening of the 84th Congress in January.

Looking back over the activities of this Session of the Congress just closed, it is doubtful one could successfully say it has been a "do-nothing" Congress. Right or wrong it has been an extremely busy two years.

Several months ago in this column it was pointed out that legislation as finally passed seldom suits everyone exactly. Under our system of Government it is a give and take proposition and compromises must be worked out all along the line. I recall that four years ago a bill which I introduced was amended to the point that I did not want to vote for it myself on final passage.

There is one criterion I always try to follow: Is it good for America and is it good for all the people?
A "victory" for the few, at the expense of the many, is a defeat
for all.

The watershed Protection Act has been signed into law by the President. The law has been enlarged and made permanent providing for flood prevention by the construction of dams on up-stream watersheds.

Incidentally, a provision in the new Tax Bill has a feature of more than passing interest to Soil Conservation Districts.

A section of the bill permits farmers and ranchers to charge off for income-tax purposes expenditures for certain soil conservation practices up to 25 percent of the gross income derived from farming during the year.

The debate on the new Farm Bill centered around the proposition of flexible price supports versus rigid price supports at 90 percent of parity. In addition to the adoption of the flexible price support system, there is another
"catch" in the law. The original formula of determining parity has been changed.

It is called the "modern" parity formula and is going to lower the level of parity in addition to lowering price supports. Wheat and peas-nuts will especially be affected in 1956. I predict the wheat farmer and peanut farmer are going to be considerably worse off than it now appears on the surface.

Since the Congress is adjourning, and unless there should possibly be a Special Session, this column will be discontinued until the first of the year. I take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the newspapers which carry this report to the people. I am grateful to the many who have written me comments from time to time on various subjects discussed.

While the Congress is not in Session, I can be contacted either through my Washington office, in my home town of Anson, or at places I will be visiting over my Congressional District. Ruth and I will return home for a time and will welcome a contact with our friends, whether it be business or personal.

Listen as the Redbird
Rambles

By Carolyn Holford

Fort Worth, Texas
August 24, 1954.

BY SOME QUIRK... a strange paragraph appeared in the Redbird column last week, and we suppose that if anyone took it seriously the Redbird might be responsible for the fishermen's trade propound. Personally we don't know who ever got the idea that Roy French and Goodwyn Phillips would trade expensive fishing tackle and lures for dough bait for carp fishing.

But if you can make a trade with them or their wives, then it's just between you folks.

Anti-segregation seems to have affected fishing as well as education, as carp fishing used to be considered exclusively a Negro sport.

AT WHITNEY... last week end, however, we learned that the white folks had become quite strong for this sport. One fellow we heard of had caught an oversized carp with a rod and reel.

So maybe it will be necessary for you fishermen to give up your expensive equipment.

HERNANDO'S HIDEAWAY... we have learned, is located in a place that might be accessible to some of you who have found the song intriguing.

Some of the more clever of our associates in Fort Worth have given us directions for finding this place, and we'll pass it on to you.
It wasn't Joe who sent us, but we'll let you in on the location:
it's upstairs over a vacant lot.
Somewhere close to the "River of no Return," no doubt.

THERE ARE REALLY...
some clever people out where we work. Perhaps you have known executives who obviously believe that it increases efficiency to post signs around an office, worded so as to make a person think more seriously about what he is doing.
The government, and its affiliated organizations, as usual, have a shorter version of the older wordy mottos. In Convair, many of the offices post a sign which merely says "Think."

The Redbird thought it unusual when she saw a "Think" sign posted upside down. But the one that takes the prize is probably the homemade one posted under some smart fellow's glass on his desk, which says "THINK."

After all, maybe this sign gets more results in making a person think.

THE NEXT WEEK... we'll be thinking about you.

'Signs of Life' Are Meant for Pedestrians
As Well as Motorists

"A pedestrian who disregards signs of life often is breaking the law." Col. E. E. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation, emphasized this point today in speaking in connection with the "Signs of Life" traffic safety program being conducted this month
by the Texas Safety Association,
the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"Pedestrians killed in traffic,"
he said, "often have been crossing at intersections against the signal, crossing intersections diagonally, or crossing between intersections."

"All these actions are violation of the law," he pointed out, "and usually are covered by signs of life."

"One out of four traffic victims is a pedestrian," he said, "and more than half the people killed in city traffic are pedestrians."

"Certainly many deaths could be avoided if pedestrians crossed streets at the proper places, and obeyed traffic signs of life where they are provided."

"It's a mistake to think that signs of life are for motorists only," according to Col. Tilley. Actually, they're intended to guide and protect pedestrians as well.

"Both drivers and pedestrians," he said, "will do well to heed the slogan of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council, 'Know Your Signs of Life.'"

Public Health Programs
Are Designed to Benefit
All of the Population

Austin, Aug. 26.—Dr. Henry A.
Holle, State Health Officer in outlining the duties of the Texas State Department of Health, said in a statement today that public health programs are designed to benefit all the people.

"In an effort to prevent disease,"
Dr. Holle said, "the Texas State Health Department carries on an educational program informing the public as to how they can secure protection by vaccination against smallpox, typhoid fever, and immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus; by investigating sources of disease outbreaks; by isolating those ill with communicable disease; inspection of water supplies; advocating the production and use of safe milk to prevent the occurrence of milk borne diseases and many other services to the public."

Dr. Holle said that in spite of preventive measures, people will become ill and accidents will happen. In general, the cure of sickness in the individual and the repair of accidents fall within the scope of the duties of the private practitioner of medicine and surgery. "Of course," he said, "the private practitioner of medicine is also engaged in prevention of disease when he advises mothers to have their children and family protected against those diseases for which there is a known preventive."

The general practitioner and the State Department of Health both advocate that it is better to remain healthy than it is to recover from an illness, but the State Health Department is engaged in the prevention and control of disease as it affects the general population of a community or state.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Albert Charles Smith died and his lawyer filed the petition of probate for his estate, entitling it: "In the Matter of the Estate of Albert Charles Smith, also known as Albert Smith, also known as Charles Smith, also known as A. Charles Smith, also known as A. C. Smith and also known as Charles Smith."

Such a simple name, what did Mr. Smith do to make the probating of his estate so complicated? When Albert Charles Smith was born, the attending physician filed a birth certificate with that name.

Mr. Smith went to college and decided that his name would look more distinguished if he wrote it "A. Charles Smith," and he was so regarded. His college diploma carried that name.

Starting out in business Mr. Smith took a job that required him to write his signature many times a day. To simplify the work, he signed his name "A. C. Smith." His bank account and telephone number were recorded that way.

Mr. Smith decided to get married and he rushed to the courthouse to get his license. Without giving the matter much thought, he told the clerk his name was "Charles Smith." The name was recorded on his marriage certificate.

Mr. Smith bought a house, and the lawyer who handled the transaction asked for his full name. The deed was registered at the courthouse under the name "Albert Charles Smith."

A life insurance agent had previously written a policy for Mr. Smith under the name, "Al C. Smith." During his middle life, Mr. Smith took out other policies from another agent, and all of them carried the name "Albert C. Smith." He took a position with a railroad and appeared on the pension roll as "A. C. Smith."

WARNING!

TEXAS FARMERS-RANCHERS WARNED OF CIO LABOR PLANS

AUSTIN, Tex., Farmers and ranchers of Texas were warned this week that the CIO plans to organize the farm workers of Texas if its candidate wins the Governor's race.

This warning came from Governor Allan Shivers who charged that the backers of his opponents "want to turn the state government over to the same bunch that is trying to wreck Port Arthur."

"One of the first things they would do is put one of their red-hot organizers from Port Arthur in as labor commissioner. Then every time a farmer or rancher wanted to hire someone he would have to go through the CIO."

Governor Shivers said there was no doubt in his mind that the aim of the CIO after the job of organizing industry in Port Arthur and along the Gulf Coast is finished is to begin organizing farm labor in all parts of Texas.

"You can imagine what will happen when the CIO starts dictating how many laborers are needed to plow ten acres of land, refusing to allow a man to work more than thirty-five hours a week during the harvesting season and telling how much a farmer can charge for his crop," he said.

The Shivers administration, the Governor said, has worked hard to help preserve and protect the rights of the working man.

"But as long as I am Governor, the professional labor bosses who have been sent to Texas from the East—specifically those in the CIO and its Political Action Committee—are not going to run our State Government," Shivers promised.

Shivers said the average working man in Texas appreciated good government and that they were not going to let CIO bosses and professional organizers from the East do their thinking—and voting—for them.

THE NEED FOR DISASTER RELIEF

Two relief programs, hay and grain, were inaugurated in the Texas drouth disaster area during August. Immediately after the programs were put into effect, the Texas Dept. of Agriculture made a survey of farmers and three points were evident:

1. Most stockmen and farmers in the drouth area need some kind of help very badly—and quickly.
2. Emergency hay and feed will not completely meet this need.
3. Farmers are bitter about the "scalper prices" of hay in some areas.

Here are some comments which came to light during the survey: Osborne Mullins, San Saba County farmer-rancher said: "Most stockmen in this country are anxious for any kind of help to keep their cattle going. I have a few head of cows and calves and a few goats and will need about 120 bales of hay for the next 60 days."

Cattle Feeding Likely To Be Heavy in Texas

Most observers on the market at Fort Worth are of the view that there is a strong probability that more cattle will be fattened in Texas during the next six to eight months than for a comparable period in several years.

Many of the cattle will be grain-fed and many others will be carried on grain pastures with probably some supplemental feeding. Already reports are coming in of the movement of sizeable numbers of "wheat pasture" type calves and yearlings into the winter wheat grazing areas of the Texas Plains and Panhandle.

Conditions have been made quite promising in some sections that have received heavy showers recently. The shower activity has been continuing and while the benefits are not general, there has been enough aid to breed some optimism. Optimism is the commodity that cattlemen thrive on.

Another factor that portends big feeding operations are the big feed crops that are going to be made in sections of the West Texas Plains. In some sections conditions are reported the best in years. Storage is at a premium and there are plenty of cattle around. This means lots of cattle will likely be fed in the Plains and Panhandle.

We are told that the "nubbin" corn produced in many parts of the Eastern third of Texas, will also be fed to cattle. This corn was of too poor quality to be salable and when ground with cob, shuck and all and stepped up with some protein and some urea to increase the digestibility, it will put pounds on cattle.

Our information is that many farmlets of from half a dozen to a couple of dozen head of cattle will be fed this way and some of the larger feeders will be "in" again this year.

The bankers are loosening the purse strings on farmers in the Corn Belts and more stockers and feeders are moving into those states.

Order buyers at Fort Worth say that they have more orders for the "good kind" than they are able to find in the runs lately. Many of these are going into Illinois, Indiana and into the Western Corn Belt. However, the demand is spreading to the Eastern Corn Belt and over into the South East as some relief from heat and drouth has been reported in some sections there.

It looks like a big year for cattle feeding in the West. Fort Worth's dealers and order buyers report heavy demand continues from Arizona and the West Coast.

One order buyer said, "I'd think Arizona would be running over with cattle. Thousands have been shipped there."

The West Coast operators are filling feeding pens and are still taking lots of the "plainer" kinds of stockers and feeders off the yards at Fort Worth every week.

The feeling seems to be general that cattle prices have been pretty well established with the better fat steers and heifers due to sell around the $20 to $25 range. This more stable situation seems to be predicted on the present earning power of the consumers and the proportion of their expendable income that will be spent on meat.

On Monday's market, prices were strong, spots higher and calves were 50 cents and more higher than last week's close.

In the hog yards, the top was $23.50 and sows sold for $14 to $18.00.

Sheep and lambs found the market generally steady with choice Spring lambs up to $19 and feeder lambs at $15 down.

"But I can't depend on hay alone. Last year I had to burn the spines off prickly pears and feed them to my cattle. I'm going to be out there burning those prickly pears again this year."

E. B. Stiles, farmer-rancher of Hamilton County: "It couldn't be dryer in this country. In an ordinary year I usually make from 3,000 to 5,000 bales of hay for winter feed. All I have this year is 30 bales of Johnson Grass which was cut from along the edge of the highway near my place."

W. G. Barkley, vice president of Hamilton National Bank: "I've been in this country since 1910. It never looked this bad for farmers and ranchers before. The new hay program isn't going to help much. Our dairy and poultry men are suffering too. Farmers are worrying about the sudden increases in hay costs since the program was announced."

Cecil Brown, San Saba County rancher: "If I can't get some hay cheap, I will just have to sell out this year. I have 300 head of cattle here and no grass. The last time I had a good rain was two years ago."

State Fair to Offer Five Museums for Cultural Appetites

Tasty fare to whet the cultural appetites of visitors to the 1934 State Fair of Texas will be offered by the five museums located on the Dallas fairgrounds.

The Museum of Fine Arts will stage one of its most ambitious shows, featuring an exhibition keyed to art of "The Fabulous West." These "Symbols of a Romantic Past" include Indian arts and crafts and paintings of the Old West by some of the most famous oldtime western painters.

"The Seven Wonders of the Universe" will be featured by the museum Planetarium several times daily. A sculptor, a potter, a painter, a weaver, a silver worker and a sand painter will be at work to show "Art in Action."

The art museum will also hold its 16th annual State Fair Art Exhibition, a cross-section of work by the best Texas painters and sculptors, and the fifth annual Texas Press Photographers Show.

The Health Museum will feature four new animated exhibits on heart disease, tuberculosis, the digestive system and mental hygiene. Homer, the famous Transparent Man, again will star in the museum's exhaustive encyclopedia of medical knowledge.

The imposing Hall of State will house historical relics of pioneer Texas schoolrooms in exhibits commemorating the 100th anniversary of the state's public schools. Some of the blue-back spellers, slates, old school forms and report cards go back to 1854.

A new and realistic-appearing exhibit in the Museum of Natural History will be a black bear and two cubs displayed in a setting typical of East Texas. The bears are representative of the almost extinct bears that once roamed Texas. The museum's zoo of stuffed creatures also includes buffalo, wolves, foxes, deer, and other Texas animals.

The Aquarium, fourth largest in the nation, will add rare South American lung fish to the more than 4,000 fish and amphibians in its titanic tanks. Cold water and tropical fish of all types, electric eels, man-eating piranhas and an ancient alligator snapping turtle are other examples of the odd finny specimens at the Aquarium.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

DEBT LIMIT: The Senate reluctantly agreed to raise the ceiling on the national debt from 275 billion dollars to 281 billion dollars, after Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, fiscal expert and vigorous advocate of governmental economy, urged the increase.

Senator Byrd led the fight last year against the Administration's proposal to increase the debt limit by 15 billion dollars, and I supported his stand. In agreeing to a temporary increase for only one year—the Virginia Senator made it clear that he did so because it was unavoidable to keep the Treasury from breaking through the 275-billion-dollar ceiling between December and March.

ECONOMY NEEDED: Senator Byrd urged the Administration to return to its quest for a balanced budget despite the troubled international situation. "This period of international crisis may continue for years," he said. "We must live with it, and we must adapt our financial affairs to it."

The Senator also pointed out that his opposition to a larger and permanent increase in the debt limit was not motivated by any desire to embarrass the Administration. "To the contrary," he said, "the effort to hold the lid on the debt is to strengthen the Administration's hand for economy, leading to the balanced budget which the President sacredly pledged."

Senator Byrd made good hard sense. He usually does.

BIGGER DEBT: Facts released by the Commissioner of the Public Debt show that the national debt is now 18 billion dollars more than it was when the present Administration took over.

In fact, figuring the public debt on the same basis that has been used in the past, it now stands at the highest point in our history.

The present Administration adopted a different method of figuring interest on saving bonds, entering on the books only the current value of the bonds. In the past the debt was figured on the basis of the bonds' maturity value. This is a legitimate book-keeping method, no doubt, but it may have caused people to believe mistakenly that the national debt has been reduced in the last two years. It hasn't.

Incidentally, the only year in which the United States had no public debt was 1836.

ATOMIC ENERGY BILL: Along with other Senate Democrats, I felt two vital principles were involved in our refusal to accept the conference committee report on the Atomic Energy Commission bill.

First, this conference report would have seriously impaired the preference rights of REA cooperatives, municipalities and other public bodies to buy public power. Second, it would have nullified the provision for compulsory sharing of patents, which we wanted in order to prevent a few large firms from getting a stranglehold on this important source of energy.

So I voted with 47 other Senators to reject the conference report and return it to the Committee. The Senate amendments finally were accepted by the conference committee and included in the bill as enacted.

SOCIAL SECURITY: One of the most important measures acted on in the Senate as this session of Congress neared its end was a bill revising the Social Security system.

Social security coverage was extended to some six million additional persons. The President proposed to bring in ten and a half million more, but the Senate excluded some 3,600,000 farm workers and about 400,000 self-employed professional persons.

The bill increases benefits at least $5 a month for single retired persons and as much as $31.25 for some families. Benefits at present range from $25 to $168.75.

Social Security taxes will be increased $12 a year for employees and the same amount for employers. Taxes on self-employed persons coming under the law will increase $18 a year.

Provisions governing the earnings of retired persons were liberalized.

PERSONAL: Barring unforeseen developments, this session of Congress will have ended by the time you read this.

It has been a privilege to bring you these reports during the last eight months. I appreciate the letters so many of you have written me about them. I am grateful to the several hundred newspaper editors who have published the reports regularly in their papers.

Thank you—and I hope to see you soon.

Internal parasites of livestock waste feed and cut down on America's meat supply. Hog growers are estimated to use 20,000 tons of feed annually in feeding stomach worms in their pigs. Cattlemen are said to spend $20,000,000 a year to feed the intestinal worms in their herds.

Tuna weighing over 200 pounds have been caught at a depth of 90 fathoms off the coast of American Samoa by long-line fishermen.

Hicoan Who Promoted 7-Eleven Food Stores Died in Dallas Aug. 18

John Jefferson Green, 82, who lived in Hico until about 30 years ago, died in Dallas Wednesday of last week after a stroke.

He is survived by a son, R. W. Green, Dallas; a daughter, Mrs. Doris Francis, Dallas; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, some of whom live here.

Chapel services were held in Dallas Thursday at 4 p. m. with Rev. F. E. Jarrett officiating. Interment was in Laurel Land Cemetery, with Hillcrest Lodge AF&AM conducting graveside services.

On the 27th anniversary of 7-Eleven Food Stores in Dallas last month "Uncle Johnny" was honored as the originator of the drive-in system. In 1927 he expanded a small retail ice station into grocery lines and soon the idea spread to 20 other ice stations in Oak Cliff. By 1930 he was invited to Fort Worth to help establish several stores and the system, now numbering 140, is still growing, with new stores having been added at the rate of two a month for the past year.
