'Bells Over Texas' Is Interesting New Book

Refreshingly different, perhaps, is the descriptive phrase that could apply to the book "Bells Over Texas" by Bessie Lee Fitzhugh, which will be available at book stores Nov. 21. The book was published by Texas Western Press, drawings are by the famous El Paso artist Jose Cisneros, and the book is designed by Carl Hertzog. The book is considered unique as it is the first ever written on bells in the Southwest.

Husband of Hico Girl Killed In Accident at Stephenville

John C. Cox, husband of the former Carrie Tolliver of Hico, was fatally injured Sunday night, Nov. 6, while visiting at the home of his brother in Stephenville.

His death came as a result of a gunshot wound he received while inspecting his brother's gun. The two brothers had been discussing the repair of the telescope sight on the gun which belonged to George Cox. During the course of the conversation, John C. went to the closet and groped in the dark for the gun to see about the repair. At this point, the gun, a .22 caliber rifle, discharged, striking him in the head. This occurred at approximately 11:20 p.m. Cox died in the Stephenville Hospital at 11:50 without regaining consciousness.

John C. Cox was born July 18, 1926 in Everman, Texas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cox. He served in the Army and saw overseas service from 1944 to 1946.

He was married to Carrie Tolliver of Hico, February 20, 1947. Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Vickie Dianne and Connie Beth; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cox of Stamford; one brother, George Cox of Stephenville; three sisters, Mrs. Sue Galbreath, Girard, Mrs. Nan Melton and Mrs. Edith Sanders of Stamford.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock from the Kinney Funeral Home in Stamford. John Hill of the Joshua Church of Christ, and Vernon Mayfield, former Methodist minister, officiated. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, ten miles west of Stamford.

Cox united with the Baptist Church as a boy.

Senator Johnson Will Speak At Whitney Monday, Nov. 21

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson makes a major speech—one of the first since his midsummer heart attack—next week at a dinner honoring him in the North Central Texas community of Whitney.

The meeting is scheduled Monday, November 21, in the Whitney High School Gymnasium. It will cost $10 a plate, which will include the dinner, speechmaking, dancing and other activities.

Johnson, Democratic leader in the U. S. Senate, accepted the speaking engagement last spring prior to his heart attack. He was stricken during the last days of the Congressional session and has since been convalescing on his ranch near Stonewall in the Hill Country of Texas.

Dr. Silas Grant, of Whitney, chairman of the local Democratic Advisory Council which is sponsoring the dinner said:

"Everyone in this area, no matter what his politics, is delighted to have the opportunity to honor such a distinguished Texan as Lyndon B. Johnson.

"He has done a great deal for Texas and Texans, and we want to show our appreciation for that service. His democratic colleagues in the Senate showed theirs by giving him their highest honor—the party leadership.

"The Senator told me he is looking forward to the occasion. He said it would be a 'homecoming' speech—one of the first since he became ill."

Johnson is the only Texan ever to hold the party leadership in the Senate and the youngest floor

Supervisor of Hamilton County Public Schools and resides in Hamilton. She previously taught school for twenty years in Waco Public Schools.

In an interview by the NR, Mrs. Fitzhugh stated she has been a collector of bells for the past 16 years and has a collection of 450 bells made from glass, china, brass and various other materials from which bells could be made from, but she said the book does not pertain to her collection but to the historical bells that have played a major part in the history of Texas.

In the 16 year period she has been gathering material she has accumulated most of her data from original documents at the University of Texas, and has traveled throughout the state personally examining every bell which she has written about in her book. Being in the teaching profession she was limited in her travel and research to the summer months.

In addition to her collection and research for the book, Mrs. Fitzhugh has collected every article she has found for her many scrapbooks and hundreds of references on bells. This includes poetry, stories, legends and anything whatsoever on this interesting subject.

Mrs. Fitzhugh said everyone has been most cooperative in making records available and in the examinations of the bells and, though her book is not on her own interesting collection, she does have many historical bells which include two, willed to her by the late Miss Adina DeZavala of San Antonio, a 1690 bell from the San Francisco de los Tejas Mission, and an 1824 bell from the Alamo.

NEXT WEEK'S PAPER TO BE EARLY

Due to the fact that next Thursday, Nov. 24, is Thanksgiving Day, the News Review will be printed on Tuesday instead of the regular publication day.

There are two reasons for this; one, of course, is to allow the force to take the holiday along with the rest of the citizens, and the other is that we can better serve merchants and readers this way.

Cooperation in the way of early advertising copy and news items will be duly appreciated. It is not too early now but after Tuesday morning it might be too late. Correspondents will take notice, please, and mail their letters in by Monday.

Advertisers are invited to call on us for cut and copy suggestions for timely advertising messages.

Don't take chances on not getting full social security credits. Show your social security card to your employer, is the advice of Joe Clepp, Field Representative of the Waco District office of the Social Security Administration. If you have specific questions, see Mr. Clepp who will be in Meridian at the County Treasurer's Office between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon on Tuesday, Nov. 22. He will gladly answer your social security questions.

Bosque County 'Norwegians' Make Smorgasbord a Texas Institution

By FRANK FRIAUF
Star-Telegram Writer

Clifton, Nov. 12—The Norwegians of the Bosque County hills last week served their seventh annual smorgasbord, a church supper which has grown into a mouth-watering Central Texas institution.

The smorgasbord is held each November at the picturesque old Our Saviour's Lutheran Church at Norse, a farming community southwest of Clifton whose residents are predominantly of Norwegian descent.

The tables were loaded as heavily as ever at this year's feast, served last Thursday night, and the lines of waiting people were as long.

Tickets for the dinner, exactly 400 of them, were made available on Oct. 24 and all were sold in four days to persons living as far away as Fort Worth, Dallas, and San Angelo. Money had to be returned to many applicants who were too late.

BUILDING 71 YEARS OLD

The smorgasbord is served in the white frame dining hall behind the 71-year-old red brick sanctuary of Our Saviour's Church. At the front is the cemetery where lies buried Kleng Pearson, leader of Norwegian colonizing movements in America beginning in the 1820s. Beyond the cemetery are the wooded hills which gave Bosque County its name.

The first Norwegian settlers came to the area from Henderson and Kaufman Counties in 1854, and Our Saviour's Lutheran Church was established about 14 years later.

The smorgasbord visitors are served in four shifts of 100 each, at 5, 6, 7 and 8 p.m. While the women of the Norse Ladies Aid serve the meal in colorful costumes, their husbands man the dishpans—and they must wash with a will, for 100 plates, cups,

Local Deer Hunters Converge to Hill Country For Annual Hunt

Many local deer hunters converged on the Hill Country this week in anticipation of the opening of the season Wednesday morning.

A party composed of Jake Blair, J. W. Hastings, Orville Ogle, Louis Chaney, Grady Hooper, and Dr. O. N. Lackey of Conway, Ark., left early in the week for their lease in Gillespie County. No word had been received Thursday noon as to their luck. They were accompanied by Pete Robinson of Meridian, cook.

Fred Jones and Rev. Morgan Garrett left Tuesday morning for a lease near Marble Falls.

Another party, which left Monday morning, was composed of T. A. and Lusk Randals and Ernie Jacobs of Hico. Luskie Randals of Dublin was to join them Tuesday afternoon. Their lease is near Johnson City.

Bill Boyd and a party of six men from Fort Worth left Tuesday for their lease near Mason.

Perhaps there are many hunters from the local area which we have overlooked, and any reports will be appreciated for next week's paper.

It Happened Here or Near

By E. E. DAWSON

Some folks have suggested that this column say something about widows, having been given in a recent issue to old maids. Now I am not a very brave soul, and always avoid dangers, if I can. So it makes one wonder if it would be safe to dilate on widows so soon after discussing old maids. But I am also one who walks in where angels fear to tread. So here goes.

There are a lot of widows in the world. Two persons some time ago counted the widows in this community and arrived at the astounding number of well above a hundred. I have been told that in the Carlton community there are thirty-two. It might be a surprising figure if a census of widows was made the country over.

Observation leads me to estimate that there are at least three or four different classifications of widows. Your experience may indicate more, or maybe less.

There is the widowed soul who is content to remain unmarried. Her love for her spouse was so fervent that she is unwilling to have any other man try to take his place. His image is forever in her heart and her thoughts revolve lovingly around him. She is a wonderful woman.

There is Myrtle, widowed while

Girls Lose to Meridian; Win From Cranfills Gap

The Hico boy's basketball team will play their first game of the 1955-56 season Tuesday night, when they go to Fairy. Both boys and girls will have games with the Fairy teams.

The Hico boys team will have an all-veteran group to start the season. The locale posted a very good season record last year, when they were runnerup in district play and are expected to field a smooth, high-scoring team this season.

On Friday night of last week the Hico girls entertained their old rivals from Meridian in a thrilling basketball game at the Hico gym. The rivals put on a show equal in interest with their clashes of other years. The lead changed a number of times, with Meridian finally emerging with a 45-44 win. Smith of Meridian led the scorers with 23 points. Jerre Dunklin led Hico scoring with 19 points. This was Hico's best effort of the season, and all players turned in creditable performances.

Rhoda Peters led the Meridian "B" team to a 29-17 win over Hico. Quata Burgan scored ten points for Hico.

On Tuesday night the grade school girls and high school girls journeyed to Cranfills Gap and posted their first wins of the year. The grade school won 30-15. Jerre Dunklin led the Hico high school team with 27 points in their game. The Hico guards turned in another good performance, but the forwards had difficulty in locating the basket.

The Hico Invitation Tournament will begin November 29 at the local gym and continue through December 3.

Both boys and girls teams will participate. Teams from Meridian, Fairy, Carlton, Cranfills Gap, Valley Mills, Iredell, Tolar, and Hico will compete.

METHODISTS HEAR CHILDREN SING

Those present in the choir were Danny Reeves, Jerry Jones, James Ford Randals, Bill Rutledge, Barbara Randals, Donna Willis, Margaret Warren, Betty Lackey, Kathy Garrett, Betty Garrett, Judy Carol Jameson, and Kay Cheek.

The beauty of Jesus truly was evident in the voices and faces of those who sang.

calves on the ground are like MONEY IN THE BANK

It costs a lot of money to keep a cow. A lot of that money is lost if she fails to settle or drops small, weak calves that die or develop into "tail-enders."

BIG CROPS of husky calves are a must, if a fellow is going to make money ranching. This is especially true when the price of cattle is off.

Your range needs help. It takes more than grass alone to give your cows what they need to grow and drop the kind of calves that will bring top prices next fall.

PURINA RANGE CHECKERS have proved their worth in research tests and on thousands of ranches. This favorite range supplement has what it takes. Cattle love Checkers, do well on them. Cows stay up in good shape at calving time, have lots of milk for the calves, too.

Feed for big calf crops the Purina Way. Purina Range Checkers can help you keep your operation on the profit side of the ledger.

Hico, Texas, Friday, Nov. 18, 1955.

By VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association

Sentiment to persuade U. S. Sen. Price Daniel to run for Governor next summer is growing.

Senator Daniel has been in Austin and other cities over the state the past month holding subcommittee hearings on narcotics traffic. On the side he has talked with many local political leaders.

Reports were that some spokesmen for both liberal and conservative factions hoped that by supporting Daniel they could avoid a repetition of the 1954 gubernatorial slugfest.

Daniel has said he will not announce his intentions until after Jan. 1.

More Super Roads.

A four-lane highway connecting all population centers should be Texas' aim, says Gov. Allan Shivers.

Addressing a meeting of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association in Austin Shivers praised the farm-to-market highways. But he said, "our trunk-line system has not fared too well."

At least 3,000 more miles of heavy-trail roads are needed, Shivers stated. He added that "such construction would pay for itself with increased gasoline tax revenues. But people seem more willing to pay more expensive toll road fees than state taxes."

North-South Thoroughfare.

A super-highway from the Red River to the Rio Grande by 1960 is the target of the Texas Highway Department.

Originally completion of the 512-mile project was scheduled for 1975. However, faster acquisition of right-of-way than was expected has made the advanced date possible, reports State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer.

Following the route of the present U. S. Highway 81, the new giant road will cost an estimated $275,000,000.

Where to Put Pupils.

Despite mammoth construction outlays, Texas' public schools are still fighting a losing battle with enrollment figures, says the Texas Education Agency.

If buildings and pupils continue to be added at the present pace, the state will be short 24,000 classrooms by 1960, TEA estimates. This, despite the fact that during the past six years Texas spent $432,000,000 on school buildings—or far more than any other southern state.

Population shifts, both within and to the state, as well as the rising birth rate, cause the dilemma, says TEA.

Building Advisors Named.

Five men have been appointed to help plan a new State Courts Building.

Named to the Supreme Court Building Advisory Board by Governor Shivers, are former Supreme Court Judge A. J. Folley of Amarillo; former congressman Ed Gossett of Dallas; former Governor Dan Moody; J. Neils Thompson of Austin; and Virgil T. Scarborough of Eastland.

Duval Decision Stands.

Hope is apparently ended for any change in the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals nullifying 104 Duval County indictments. The court refused to reverse its ruling that the grand jury which returned the indictments was improperly constituted.

Meanwhile a new Duval grand jury completed its term after returning 198 indictments, 88 of them citing persons involved in the original group. Ten were against South Texas Political Boss George Parr.

Parr Case Before Court.

The Texas State Supreme Court will review a case to decide if and when George Parr is to be tried on a civil recovery suit. State action seeks to regain $500,000 in county funds Parr allegedly used to buy a ranch.

A conflicting suit by pro-Parr forces contends the money was a loan and seeks trial in Laredo. Trial in Cotulla or Alice is sought by the state.

Acreeage Cut Protested.

Disgruntled West Texas farmers took a verbal swipe at the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

In making 1956 cotton acreage allotments the committee allowed a slight gain for Central and East Texas counties, but left West Texas seven per cent short.

At the Texas Farm Bureau convention the losers pushed through a resolution calling for reduction in the committee's distribution powers.

Farmers were united in other resolutions refusing to endorse flexible price supports, asking for high price supports on basic commodities and urging efforts to find outlets for surpluses.

Hearing on Hood Promised.

A small ray of hope has developed for the "save Fort Hood" forces in Texas.

Citizens in a 12-county Central Texas area have been stirred up ever since the Army announced plans to move half of Hood's personnel to Louisiana.

Governor Shivers, Senator Daniel, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, and several congressmen have spearheaded their efforts. They called attention to the enormous public and private expenditures made in the area to serve Hood personnel.

Senator Daniel received a telegram from the Secretary of Army promising Texans a hearing on the subject.

Army dissatisfaction was thought to stem from the refusal of local property owners to permit use of their land for maneuvers without payment.

Perspiration weakens foam rubber. Foam rubber mattresses should be protected with a good mattress pad, which is laundered frequently. Use pillow protectors underneath pillow slips on foam pillows. Mattresses and pillows can be aired but should not be placed in the sun. Heat damages rubber.

Limp, over-cooked, drab-looking vegetables have little appetite appeal, and little food value. Color and food value can be saved by proper cooking. Serve three vegetables each day—a green or yellow vegetable, sweet or Irish potatoes, and one other vegetable. Here are some pointers to remember in cooking vegetables: Use fresh, crisp vegetables. Cook in as little water as possible. Cook vegetables in their skins whenever possible. Cook only until tender. Cook most green and all yellow vegetables in a covered pan. Never use soda in cooking vegetables—it destroys part of the food value. Serve vegetables as soon as possible after cooking. The longer they are exposed to heat and air the more vitamin C they will lose.

Pork, in one of its many forms, is eaten the year round but the heaviest consumption is usually in the late fall and winter months. Lean pork, like other lean meats, provides high quality protein as well as iron and niacin. Pork is especially important for its vitamin B₆ or thiamine content.

Many pork cuts are high in food energy because of the high fat content. Pork fat, like some other common fats, is essential for normal growth and normal skin. More food value is retained if pork is cooked at a low temperature. Pork offers variety—it is available in many forms as cured and smoked, hams, fresh hams, picnic hams, bacon, etc. Fresh pork is usually sold as roasts, pork chops, spare ribs and sausage.

Variety pork includes liver, heart, tongue and pigs feet. Fresh pork must be thoroughly cooked to be safe for eating. The meat thermometer provides the most reliable method of testing doneness when thick cuts such as ham and shoulder are roasted. If a thermometer is not used, small incisions next to the bone can be made to determine whether fresh pork is well cooked. It is thoroughly cooked when the color has changed from pink to grayish white.

Store fresh pork, loosely wrapped, in refrigerator at 35 to 40 degrees. Use within a few days. Ground pork and the variety cuts are highly perishable.

Seen Monk's "Better Half"?

Monk McCarthy's latest creation has the town talking again. You can see it parked in front of Monk's auto repair shop on Maple.

Remember last year Monk cut two cars in half, and put their front ends together? You couldn't tell if the thing was coming or going. Sure attracted attention.

Now Monk's taken Tog Morgan's old sedan and completely restored one half of it. One side is as good as new, the other looks like—well, Tog's old car. "Sort of a before-and-after demonstration," Monk told me, "shows folks the kind of work I do."

From where I sit, some of Monk's ideas may look a little wild sometimes... but I wouldn't want to tell him how to run his business any more than I'd like him to tell me what beverage to enjoy. He always keeps a hot pot of tea in his garage—I'd rather have a cold glass of beer—but respect for each other's opinion is "auto"-matic with us both.

ANTIBIOTICS IN AGRICULTURE

Use of antibiotics in production and marketing of meat animals may have a profound effect on Texas livestock industry.

Definite proof has been established that use of certain of the "wonder drugs" can do everything from bringing more pigs per litter to keeping beef, poultry, fish and even whales fresh.

In tests using aureomycin feed supplements, growth of pigs has been improved an average of 36 per cent. Similar benefits are gotten from use of this antibiotic in beef cattle, sheep and dairy cattle.

This could mean a tremendous saving in feed and labor costs, since animals would get to market sooner. Use of feed supplements also has resulted in a saving of about 20 lbs. of feed per 100 lbs. of gain due to increased efficiency of food utilization.

This speeded-up growth is probably brought about as antibiotic keep down germs of some diseases, create good conditions for organisms which produce vitamins, suppress intestinal germs which combine which produce vitamins, supin its food, and regulate important growth functions in the animal body.

DELAYS FOOD SPOILAGE

More pigs per litter can be produced when the mother sow's diet is supplemented with aureomycin during pregnancy. Although the number of embryos and birth weight of pigs could not be increased by using the feed supplement, it is known that more pigs are born live and an "inborn" resistance enables more of them to survive until weaned.

Remarkable results have been found in preserving meat with aureomycin. Such action of antibiotics in keeping meat fresh longer is to prevent formation of spoilage bacteria for a longer period. It is not a substitute for refrigeration, but a supplement to it.

The ratio of antibiotics used in most of these processes is very small. If these test situations can be considered an accurate measuring stick for the world livestock industry, then a dramatic increase in the world food supply is possible.

Record Hog Run Drops Prices to New Lows

Hogs topped at $12.50 to $12.75 at Fort Worth Monday, the lowest level for the class here since February, 1942. Sows sold at $11.50 downward.

Both these prices reflected losses of $1 to $1.50 per hundred under last week's close.

Behind the collapse of hog prices was a near 170,000 hogs reported at the 12 major markets on Monday. It was 33,000 more hogs than were reported the same day a week earlier and was the biggest run at some Cornbelt markets for a single day since 1942.

Similar declines were reported for hogs all across the country and the big supply of pork was putting pressure on all kinds of meat.

Cattle Trade Uneven, Steers Bid Lower

Mature fed steers attracted sharply lower bids at Fort Worth Monday. Local packers reported steer beef inventories high in their coolers and moving out very slowly, and this accounted for the lower offers. A few lots sold early to small packers about steady, but later sales were generally 25 to 50 cents lower.

Cows were steady to strong, some strong weight canner and cutter cows 25 cents or more higher. Bulls held barely steady. Higher grade slaughter calves and the upper grades of stockers were steady, but the inbetween grades and plainer kinds were easier.

Comparative prices: Good and choice steers and yearlings $16.50-19.50, a few yearlings to $20, common and medium sorts $10-16.00; fat cows $9-11; canners and cutters $6.50-9.50; bulls mostly $9-12, some stocker bulls $12.50; good and choice slaughter calves $15.50-17.50, and cull, common and medium calves $8-15; stocker steer calves of good and choice grades sold for $16-19.50 and steer yearlings cashed at $17.50 downward; stocker cows sold from $8-12.

Sheep and Lambs Dip; Fat Lambs Lose $1.00

All classes of slaughter sheep and lambs were lower on the opening session at Fort Worth Monday. Fat lambs lost $1 per hundred, and yearling muttons sold around 50 cents to $1 lower. Ewes and other aged sheep were weak to 50 cents off. Feeder lambs were about steady, some mixed feeder and fat lambs at $16.50 Monday on the strong side.

Good and choice fat lambs sold at $16-17, the latter figure for some woolled lambs; shorn fat lambs drew $16.50 downward. Cull, common and medium offerings cashed at $9-15; stocker and feeder lambs sold at $13-16.50, latter price for mixed feeders and fat lambs.

Yearling wethers of good and choice kinds sold from $14-15.50; and aged wethers sold from $7.50-11.50; old ewes drew $5-6.50; and aged bucks sold around $5.00.

Sheepmen Should Clip And Save This Item.

For the next several months the length of the wool on sheep and lambs when they are marketed will be of vital importance. In market reports and market broad-casts there will be reference to pelt credits such as "wooled," "Fall shorn," and No. 1, or No. 2, or No. 3 pelts. Unless you know what length wool is meant by each of these your understanding of your market reports can be badly hampered. Here's how they go:

"Wooled" means unshorn, or with a full year's pelt, or over one and a half inches of wool.

"Fall shorn" or "Summer shorn" means the wool is one to one and a half inches long.

No. 1 pelts are one-half to one inch long. No. 2 pelts are from one-quarter to one-half inch long. No. 3 and fresh shorn pelts are

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. R. LAWRENCE

The Blackland Experiment Station at Temple will hold its annual Beef Cattle Field Day, Tuesday, December 6. The program starts at 9:30. The feeding of still-born to cattle has been of interest to many feeders the last year or so and this subject will be discussed during the program. The station has fed this material in some of the rations this year and results of the feeding trials will be seen. Paul T. Marion, Animal Husbandman of the Spur Experiment Station will discuss the advantages and limitations of feeding still-born to beef cattle.

Nearly everyone admits that the best way to re-establish an over-grazed pasture is to let it rest during the growing period. This is a practice that quite a number of stock farmers have followed this year. Monroe Reinert has two places down around Ohio and Liberty that he rests for a part of the year and then grazes them. His practice has been improving his pastures and at the same time making him money. Resting a pasture, for some, does not always make them a profit, that is a cash profit for the year.

Monroe has been buying calves and cows along in the early fall, running them through the winter and selling in late winter or early spring. He rests his pastures then until fall, thus allowing the grass to grow during the critical growing period, from spring to early fall. Here is what Monroe has done on his places:

August 1, 1954, he bought 24 cows and 24 calves running them on 264 acres. Sixty-two of these acres are in pasture and the rest cultivated land. A total of $186.20 worth of feed was fed these cows and calves. Jan. 21 of this year he sold them for a net profit of $450.06.

Then on Nov. 8, 1954 he also bought 33 calves. He ran these on 93 acres and of these 62 were in pasture. He lost one calf before selling time. He fed them a total of $107.60 worth of feed and sold them Feb. 24, 1955. This group of calves made him a net profit of $659.00. He now has on hand 101 calves he bought October 31 and November 7, that he will carry through the winter. He has lost two calves from the original 103 head purchased.

Monroe's places have been dry the past few years just like all others, but his system seems to be bringing his grazing land back fast and at the same time giving him some cash income from them.

I am wondering if we do not have places in the county that are running cows and calves that would make more money if they would drop the breeding cows and run straight calves during the winter as Monroe is doing. This gives pasture lands an opportunity to make good growth during the growing season and after grass is cured out in the fall it is harvested with calves. Some might be interested in running lambs rather than calves. If so, I see no reason why it could not be done profitably. It is being done on some of the ranches in the western part of the state.

Though it has been dry for the past several years, pastures that have been rested during the growing period have shown a rapid recovery. However, not many of these rested pastures can show a cash profit during the years rested. It will be interesting to see how Monroe comes out with the 101 calves he now has on hand and will sell next year. Monroe believes he can make more money running calves than he can running cow and calves.

Poultrymen who are feeding all mash rations need not change the ration during cool weather. If the flock is on grain and mash, there should be an increase in the grain during the cool weather.

Quite often we have bloating in cattle when they are grazing on good green grain fields during the fall and winter. This can be partially overcome by feeding them a little dry matter such as baled hay or bundle feed. Another way this can be done is to mow a strip through the grain field and let the cattle pick it up as they need it.

IF THERE IS NO GOD? IT HAPPENED—

By J. B. TOMLINSON, Minister
Hico Church of Christ

King David wrote in the long ago, "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God." With the tremendous evidence of God's existence continually confronting the human mind, we agree that none but a fool would say, There is no God. We briefly note some questions here which no professed atheist can satisfactorily answer.

Why is belief in God so universal? Can any universal belief be false? There is no atheistic tribe or nation in all the world. Not one positive argument in favor of atheism has ever been made. No atheist has ever been willing to die a martyr to his cause. In the hour of distress, in the face of death, atheists repudiate their disbelief.

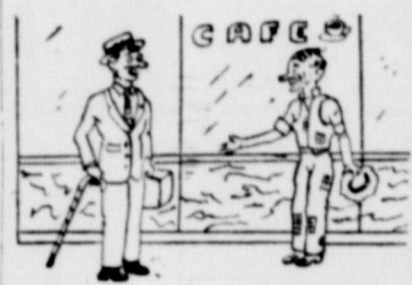

How does it happen that man has a sense of true and false, good and evil, ugly and beautiful, right and wrong? Such a sense of discernment must necessarily be traced to a Higher Being, or man repudiates his own intelligence.

In time of peril or distress, why does one invariably feel the presence of an unseen and spiritual being who is capable of giving help? Many who live Godless lives, who do not concern themselves with His existence, spontaneously pray to Him in the face of peril.

Why does a person have a feeling that he is being observed at all times, whether in the presence of his fellowman or not? There is no perfect crime or sin. However cleverly we have hid ourselves from the observation of men, most of us are willing to acknowledge that we feel, more or less intensely, that the eyes of Another are focused upon us.

Where did man get his moral sense? Man knows, without teaching, that it is wrong to kill, to steal, to lie. Yet how can this be intelligently explained except on the basis that there is a God, that God created man, and that man bears the image of His God?
