Four Former Hicoans Are Involved In Two Crashes

Residents of Hico and surrounding communities were greatly shocked Sunday night when news was received of the accident near Littlefield which took the life of Mrs. D. R. Proffitt of Tahoka, and seriously injured her husband. The accident occurred about 6 miles south of Littlefield while the Proffitts were en route to their home.

Time of the accident was approximately 5:30 p.m.

Reports were that the Proffitt car and another hit head-on, the impact killing Mrs. Proffitt instantly. No other immediate details were available to the News Review. Mr. Proffitt is hospitalized in a Littlefield hospital suffering from severe shock, cuts and bruises.

Funeral services for Mrs. Proffitt were conducted Wednesday afternoon in Hico at the Church of Christ. Bro. Lonnie Brannon of Hico officiating. Due to his condition, Mr. Proffitt was unable to attend the services.

Mrs. Letha Wilson Proffitt was born June 21, 1907 in Hico, and was 48 years of age. She is survived by her husband; one son, James Lee Proffitt of Nazareth, Texas; two grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Lora Johnson of Waco, Mrs. Lola Newton, Plainview, Mrs. Linnie Ratliff, Plainview, and Mrs. Lucille Snyder of Hico; and two brothers, John L. Wilson of Dublin and Delbert Wilson of Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Proffitt had moved to Tahoka from Hico 2 years ago.

Palbearers were Sandy Ogle, S. W. Everett, George Griffiths, Doc Lackey, Andy Hutton, and L. J. Chaney. Barrow-Rutledge Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

TWO FROM HERE INJURED IN LEVELLAND ACCIDENT

An open railway motor car carrying four construction workers, slammed into the rear of a big oil field equipment truck crossing the Santa Fe tracks near Levelland last Wednesday morning, critically injuring three of the workers.

Listed as critical were Chris Nachtigall Jr., 20 of Hico, less seriously injured was J. B. "Whimpy" Britton, also of Hico. The two are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Nachtigall and Mr. and Mrs. John Britton.

Neither of the two men in the truck was hurt. The men on the railway motor car apparently hit the truck without ever seeing it. Jack Cooper of Levelland, driver of the truck, said, "I didn't see them until I started across the track. I don't think they ever saw me." Cooper said his truck was going about 30 to 35 miles per hour at the time of the crash.

The men were apparently thrown against the truck, then back to the pavement by the impact. One was only about three to six feet from the track, while three were thrown 15 to 20 feet.

George C. Price, who made the ambulance run, said none of the men were unconscious when he picked them up.

Price said that one of the men, Nachtigall, seemed to be in the most pain. He said the man had a broken hand and was hemorrhaging internally.

He said that another of the victims was suffering from facial cuts, while a man believed to be Britton was suffering from shock.

The four men injured in the wreck, at Levelland on a temporary construction assignment from San Angelo, were headed toward Whiteface at the time.

R. L. Hallmark, as foreman, was in charge of the operation of the motor car, reports said.

The motor car struck at the rear wheel of the big tandem truck.

The driver of the truck used his truck radio to call an ambulance to the scene.

Nachtigall underwent major surgery Tuesday morning, being in the operating room 3 hours. He was reported to be doing as well as could be expected, Wednesday afternoon. Britton was allowed to return to Hico Tuesday.

Rebuilt Legs---They May Mean Baseball for Boy Who Never Played

By BUD SHRAKE

Fort Worth Press Writer
(Ed. Note: The following story about A. C. (Red) O'Dell, former Hico High School and TCU athlete, is being reprinted in the interest of local readers. A. C.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O'Dell, live on Route 6, Hico.)

Jackie O'Dell, who has never played leapfrog or kicked a football, is dreaming ahead to the day when he'll throw away his brace and dash out of the house like a fireman answering four alarms—on "rebuilt" legs.

That time should come in August, exactly seven years after polio slashed the O'Dell family, crippling Jackie and his father just as Mrs. O'Dell was about to give birth to another son.

Jackie wasn't quite 3 when he was carried to the hospital in desperate pain on a Saturday in August, 1949.

The following Monday, A. C. O'Dell, a test analyst at Convair, was admitted to the same hospital with identical shuddering pains.

Both father and son had paralytic polio.

While they were in the hospital, David O'Dell was born, prompting a newspaper to observe: "There are three men in the O'Dell family now, and none can walk."

In the labored months that came next, A. C. learned to walk with a cane and a brace, although he is perhaps hopelessly paralyzed from the hip down on his right side. Jackie emerged with an ailment known as drop-foot. His foot was too weak to lift itself.

His leg was bound with a metal cast up to the knee that would pick up his foot and put it down. Jackie could walk, all right, but he couldn't do what he wanted most—play ball.

Now his first ball game may be less than three months in the future.

Surgeons transplanted bits of bone and muscle in his foot, making it stronger, in effect moving the brace inside.

The operation has been performed with startling success all over the country. Hundreds of children once chained to braces are walking normally.

Jackie faces another operation late in June, then six more weeks in a cast, then a brief spell with the brace.

"And then I'll be able to run," he says assuredly.

Mr. O'Dell is not so fortunate. His leg muscles were destroyed to a degree that might make the operation impossible with him.

LIEUTENANT VISITS

Lt. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Angell and children are visiting this week with his mother, Mrs. Louise Angell. Lt. Angell expects to be transferred to Iceland upon returning to his base at Amarillo.

Doctors are going to examine him and make tests to see if there's a chance. If there is, he'll try it.

But Mr. O'Dell, now 34, is looking forward to his son's new freedom as eagerly as Jackie.

"At least I was grown when polio hit me," he said. "I got to do those things that kids like. We pray Jackie will have the same opportunity."

Mrs. Eunice Daniel

This community was greatly shocked to learn of the tragic death of Mrs. Letha Proffitt of Tahoka, who was killed late Sunday in a traffic accident. The Proffitts are former residents of Hico and have attended church at Fairy during revival meetings at the Church of Christ, and had many friends here who are deeply grieved in her passing. Mrs. Proffitt, who was the former Letha Wilson, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wilson, long-time friends of our parents, since the beginning of this century when all attended church at Millerville together. Our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved husband, son and other relatives in her passing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lackey have been going daily to the Hico Hospital to visit his mother, Mrs. Emma Lackey, who is a patient there, and is reported to be very ill.

Frank Driver, who has been a patient in the Clifton hospital for the past five or six weeks, had to undergo a third operation late Friday. This being an emergency operation to correct a twisting of the intestines, following the second operation. He has been very bad, but so glad to learn today (Tuesday) that he is now showing signs of recovery again. We sincerely hope that no other complications arise and that he will soon be able to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Blakley and Lera Jane and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCoy and their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McCoy were in Glen Rose Sunday to attend the McCoy family reunion. Other relatives here to go with them were R. K. McCoy of Whiteface and Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus McCoy of Lovington, N. Mex. Miss Betty Jean Todd of Lubbock is visiting this week in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Todd and Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. Titus and three children of Ohio State visited at the Fairy Cemetery Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Titus is the former Ada Jewell Jameson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jameson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and Jimmie Don were in Waco last week for a physical check-up for Jimmie Don. He has been booked for surgery on his foot, due to the effects of polio, on July 6. The operation will be to stabilize a bone in his foot. He will have to wear a cast on the foot for three months and also undergo further surgery for the purpose of transplanting a muscle in his leg. He is 8 years old.

The writer was in Stephenville Sunday, at noon to meet J. L. Barber of Tucson, Arizona, who had arrived to visit his sister, Mrs. Lura Daniel of Hico, who is ill.

Birthdays for this month which we have had turned in, are John L. Wilson of Dublin, June 29; the late Mrs. Letha Proffitt, June 21; Ronnie Driver, June 14; Lawrence Porterfield of Kansas, June 12; this date we think also being the birthdate of Cone Patterson of Grand Prairie.

Mrs. Rosa Boyd of Dallas spent Thursday night of last week with her nephew and wife, the writer and husband, while here to visit her sister, Mrs. Lura Daniel of Hico.

Mr. and Mrs. Texie Dell Allison of Fort Worth spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Garlon Streater and sons.

The writer attended singing at Warrens Creek Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon.

Carolyn Sellers is visiting this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gilmer of Dallas. She accompanied them home Sunday where they were visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones and family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison of Dublin were Father's Day guests in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allison, and also visited in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family.

Jerry Todd has been working some on the cemetery and has made good progress since he began. He doesn't know how long he will be able to continue but we have some other parties in mind which we think we can get. Our thanks to Willard Leach of Hico for a donation of $5.00 for the benefit of the Fairy Cemetery. He stated he had no relatives buried here but did have some good friends buried here and was quite interested in Fairy and the community. Willard is the only one who has responded to our request for donations for the cemetery in last week's newsletter, and is to be commended in the interest he has shown. We expect to use what funds we have on hand to pay for labor so long as we can secure help. When this fund is exhausted then we will be compelled to use some other method to secure funds. The committee will appreciate your earnest consideration in this matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jackson and daughters, Xanna and Jorja of Grand Prairie spent last Sunday night with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson, and left early Monday on vacation to the coastal area. They returned Thursday for Mrs. Jackson, who accompanied them home for a few days visit. Other children Mrs. Jackson will visit while in Grand Prairie are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abel, Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Vance, Cindy and Vivian, and Miss Gwen Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Marty Haire and Mrs. Cal Lowery and children, Lu Ann and Cal Jr. all of Ft. Worth were supper guests of their father and wife, the writer and husband, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hoover and sons of Phoenix, Ariz., returned home last Friday after a week's visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover. Visitors last Sunday week with the Hoovers were their two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spencer and sons of Lubbock and Miss Daphne Hoover of Abilene.

Another birthdate which we overlooked is that of Louis Porterfield of Waco, June 21.

No Federal funds were requested. Much of the labor and materials were donated and the whole town put their efforts into it. Eastland deserves the congratulations of everyone.

The Congress is now in its "home stretch," towards adjournment, but it is still anyone's guess as to the date. The best guess appears to be July 15th, but it is usually longer than anyone anticipates.

Everyone has seen newspaper articles about the fuss and furor going on between the Army, Navy and Air Force. Rivalry between the services is old and of long-standing, but the present one is pretty serious. Wholesome competition is good but the services should not shoot at one another while the enemy is looking on. From my experience in the Navy during World War II we seldom admitted the other services did very much about winning the war. At the same time we were well aware that the Army, Air Force, and the Marine Corps felt about the same towards the Navy. It is different when the top "brass" and "braid" begin to fight among themselves.

President Eisenhower has stressed the importance of inter-service rivalry in the development of defense, but certainly there must be a limit to such rivalry.

It seems the time has come for greater coordination and cooperation in planning the use of new weapons and tactics. There are strong indications that the White House is now studying proposals that would drastically change the present three-service structure. It is more than rumor that a ten-year program is now shaping up to convert our military establishment into a nuclear, single-service defense force, operating on land, sea and air.

It is a fair guess that the President may present a totally new defense organizational set-up to Congress next year. Emphasis will naturally be on atom-powered naval vessels, aircraft propelled by atomic energy, more mobile atomic artillery, guided missiles and nuclear weapons small enough to transport on vehicles.

The cost of such a conversion will, of course, run into the billions of dollars. Even so, our defense cost could be less than trying to produce both nuclear weapons and conventional weapons at the same time. In addition, it is an expensive operation in trying to carry out two totally different concepts, as we are at the present time.

Revised estimates of highway construction cost indicate that Congress underestimated the cost of the highway program recently passed by the House of Representatives. The Bureau of Public Roads now estimates that for six states the cost of completing the inter-state system would be 18 percent higher than had been figured.

There was a strong suspicion in my mind at the time of the debate on the Bill that no one could really know what such a highway program would eventually cost down through the years.

The Department of Agriculture is reneging on some of the promises made during the passage of the Farm Bill. The officials of the Department gave certain promises about the administration of the program, but they have now changed their minds. Some of Mr. Benson's promises seem to be about as flexible as his price supports.

With grain harvest just about over, now is a good time to consider doing a little stubble mulching. This is a good practice and is one that will help improve the soil. Some call it trash farming but by any name, it's a good thing to do.

Bag worms are very bad this year and they are working on a number of trees and shrubs not normally bothered. Some pecan trees are heavily infested as well as other fruit trees. Bag worms are easy to control, but can do much damage to shrubs and trees if they are not. About four table-spoons full of lead arsenate to one gallon of water makes a good spray. One tablespoon of 60 per cent toxaphene emulsion concentrate to one gallon of water is another spray that is good.

More than half the work on a poultry farm is made up of collecting eggs and getting them ready for market. Dirty eggs provide the greatest problem to the poultryman. Clean litter and correct management of nests offers the greatest opportunity for preventing egg spoilage. One nest should be provided for every four hens, especially here in the hot part of the summer. A good nest size is 12 inches wide, 14 to 18 inches deep and at least 14 inches high. This is large enough for comfortable laying space. Nesting trays at the bottom of nests should be 4 to 6 inches deep providing high enough sides to hold a good cushion of nesting material. Nesting materials should be fine and highly absorbent. Results of a

Missouri study of seven nesting materials show that where a fine material such as shavings, oat hulls, sawdust or excelsior was used, the per cent of clean eggs ranged from 83.4 to 86 per cent. Where coarser materials such as ground corn cobs, sugar cane pulp, and straw were used, clean egg percentage ranged from 77.6 to 79.7 per cent. It was found that it took more time to clean the nests when straw was used than when shavings was the nesting material. A higher percentage of clean eggs was obtained from darkened nests. Ninety-one per cent clean eggs were gathered from dark nests whereas 82 per cent clean eggs were secured from well-lighted nests. Eggs gathered four times

The poultryman who gives the nests uncommonly good care will profit from the savings in time needed to clean eggs and in the increased market value when sold to the trade.

From now until about September 5 is a good time to spray prickly pear if you wish to kill it this way. A spray made up of one gallon of 2, 4, 5-T to 48 gallons of diesel oil is a good killer. This should be applied until it begins to run down on each pear leaf.

We are pretty dry here in Hamilton County, but not as bad as some places I've seen. Coming back from the -H Round-Up, we came through Rockdale in Milan County. I saw many crops of corn and grain sorghums that were about as dead as corn and grain sorghums can get. Many farmers were cutting and shocking corn, some making silage out of it and some stacking it for winter feed.

WARNING
The Russia-China Axis

While our politicians are giving our money away to our foreign friends and taking us to death to the delight of the Red Chinese and Russians, you might be interested in what Dimitry Z. Manvilsky stated at the Lenin School of Political Warfare in Moscow in 1931.

"War to the hilt between Communism and Capitalism is inevitable. We shall begin (1951-1961) by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. There will be—unheard of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist."

It is not too late for we the people to get more statesmen into Congress and fewer federal governmental politicians.

We cannot pin our hopes on the false friends and bogus peace promises.

We need refreshing representation in Congress. Spokesmen, for the people. Stop giving our billions away. We better have the atomic weapons, aircraft, and missiles to take care of any emergency. If we don't have, we should find out what our politicians have been doing all these years with our money and our liberties.

Circuit Convention of Jehovah Witnesses To Be Held at Bryan

The assembly-conscious witnesses of Jehovah are headed for a circuit convention once again. Texas Circuit No. 3 of Jehovah's witnesses under the direction of Circuit Supervisor Carl C. Krochmal, are scheduled to meet some 500 strong at their semi-annual circuit convention in Bryan at the American Legion Hall, June 29-July 1.

Mr. R. E. Goff, who is the local congregational servant for Jehovah's Witnesses, stated that from Hico and Hamilton, there would be about 18 persons that will be among the delegates. In discussing the purpose of the convention, Mr. Goff outlined it as being a routine check-up by the witnesses on the past 6 months field work, and stated that the program would stimulate as well as specific council and training of the witnesses for their preaching activity.

Emphasizing that the witnesses have devoted their lives to the preaching work and sharing their beliefs with others. Mr. Goff illustrated it by stating that hardly will the Bryan Circuit Convention of the witnesses conclude when they will begin preparing to attend the District Convention to be held in the Heart O' Texas Coliseum in Waco. Some eight to ten thousand are expected in attendance there.

These conventions are all open to the public. All good-will persons are invited to attend; all seats will be free and no collection will be taken, Mr. Goff stated.

Fried potatoes will be deliciously golden brown if sprinkled lightly with flour before frying.

SEVEN STEPS TO INSECT CONTROL

Texas farmers may be living in the modern era, but many of his problems are as old as history.

And about this time each year, the farmer starts his ageless battle with a familiar enemy—crop pests.

CRIMINAL DEFENDANT HAS CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO BAIL

In the United States a defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt. His guilt or innocence is established at his trial—not when he is arrested.

With this concept in mind it is not hard to see why the right to bail in criminal cases is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, with the exception of capital cases. A capital crime is one which the punishment may be death. In Texas murder, treason, rape and robbery with firearms are capital offenses.

All prisoners are bailable in Texas except where proof is evident that a capital offense has been committed and it is probable that a jury will assess the death penalty.

An officer making an arrest is required by law to take the accused promptly before a magistrate. It is the duty of the magistrate to examine into the truth of the accusation made. He determines whether the accused should be discharged or bailed or held without bail. If bail is set for the defendant, the magistrate must determine the amount. The law provides a procedure for reviewing these decisions before the Court of Criminal Appeals.

When an accused is on bail when his trial commences he has the right to remain on bail during the trial of his case. Where the punishment of a defendant has been assessed at confinement in the penitentiary for fifteen years or less the defendant has the right to remain on bail pending the appeal of his case. If the penalty is more than fifteen years the defendant is kept in custody from the moment the jury returns its verdict.

The Constitution also says that bail may not be set in excessive amount. What is considered a reasonable amount depends largely upon the circumstances and the risk involved. Bail must be set high enough to assure the court and the state that the person will not run away, but will return and submit to trial on the date set.

The judge usually will ask the prosecuting attorney for a recommendation as to the amount of bail. The accused's attorney may then ask that the amount recommended be reduced, giving his reasons. The judge will settle on an amount he believes reasonable to assure the accused's presence at the trial.

Occasionally we read of someone "skipping bail." This means that he failed to show up in court at the required time. In such cases the court can order his bail forfeited. The person is still subject to re-arrest and prosecution, however.

control of this pest can save many thousands of dollars in crops this year.

A word of caution about chemical preparations! Although the chemical industry has taken every precaution to make them safe as possible, some of them can be harmful if misused.

Read and study the manufacturers' recommended measures of use. They are printed on every container—and are meant to be followed.

Fortunately, the chemical industry can furnish effective implements in this unending war. But their real utility is no better than the way they are used.

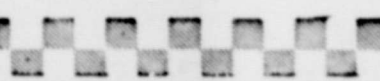

Chemical control of insects—and weeds—can be a boon or a bust, depending upon methods and time of application. Just as irrigation can be wasteful or beneficial, so can crop spraying or dusting.

It will be to the Texas farmer's advantage to follow an organized method of crop treatment for the best insect control. The best plan will be to contact your county agent and study the seven-step program as set up by the Texas Extension Service.

Much effectiveness of spraying or dusting is nullified by poor timing. Treatment on a "guess basis" often catches harmful insects in the pupa stage when insecticides and pesticides have little or no effect. It may also do away with some of the useful type insects.

The seven-step program varies over the state but each area of Texas has a definite plan set up according to local climatic and insect conditions. This type of spraying assures the farmer of getting the most benefit out of money spent for insect control.

Although most insect infestations are expected to be approximately "normal" this year, one pest stands out as a threat in near plague proportions—the grasshopper. This spring the state and federal governments are carrying out an all-out fight against hoppers on range lands of the Panhandle and West Texas. But cultivated land is the farmer's own battlefield. It Happened Here or Near

By E. E. DAWSON

This writer is now advanced to that point in years that no soul could, with any justice whatsoever, accuse him of being mercenary in what he is going to say in this column this week. I sincerely believe that I have never been mercenary in all my life. But first let me relate some experiences so that the reader may get what it is all about. Once upon a time I was at the Union Station in Memphis, Tenn., when Western Union paged me and when I identified myself a message was given me requesting that I come to a certain Central West Texas city and hold the funeral of the sheriff of the county who had just been murdered. I had my transportation in hand and my train was due to start at any moment. I simply sent a message saying that I would be there as soon as I could get there by train. At the time I lived in the south tip of Texas and my transportation read by way of Houston. I bought new transportation to the place I was wanted and went there, taking chances on cashing in my other ticket when I got home. I went on for the funeral, held in the church with the pastor in charge. I was three days late in getting home, and had a cash outlay of thirty dollars plus. Though the dead sheriff had ample means no soul thought to pay my expenses. It cost me the cash and three strenuous days. The undertaker got his rightful pay, the gravedigger his, all who served in any capacity was paid for his services as a matter of right. I alone was left out.

On another occasion I was called on to travel a hundred miles on a Sunday afternoon over unworked country roads to a Southwest Texas village and hold the funeral of a member of a well-to-do ranch family. I had held my morning service, hastily eaten a bite and driven to the small country church for the funeral, arriving there on time. Following the funeral, we then had quite a distance to go to the cemetery. It was time for my evening service when I got home, too tired to even tell my family of the funeral. Of course I went through with the evening service. Did the rich family remember me? Well, they have not yet though almost thirty years have elapsed.

Since my retirement I was asked to hold a funeral for a member of a well-to-do family at some distance from Hico. I went and did as requested. Everybody having performed any service for the dead was promptly paid but not a penny for me though I had incurred expense. In both these last cases I had never seen a member of either of the families, and have never had any relationships with them since.

There was the time when I boarded a train at Abilene and went to Cisco; there took an old Texas Central train for Waco and spent the remainder of the night in a hotel there after arriving; the next morning taking another train and the traveling a considerable distance by buggy to the scene of the funeral. It was on a Saturday and I had to miss my Sunday service, for I got home late in the night Monday. I paid out money for six railroad tickets and spent three hard days traveling and serving. Were my expenses paid? They have not yet; what the folks mean to do about it some day I do not know.

These are merely samples of the experiences I have been through in holding funerals. I never have said no to an appeal for such service. Why pick on the least-paid man in the whole line of folks who render service in funerals? The preacher in the older days was the poorest paid of them all.

I knew one funeral director who always added an item of expense for the minister, for he had become aware of the minister's hardships in such cases. It was such an acceptable service and I am telling you, podner, the ministers who benefitted from that man's thoughtfulness were eternally grateful.

No minister worth the powder it would take to shoot him would ever turn down a call for service in such times. He goes, in at least most cases, with no thought of compensation, for certainly a majority of ministers have no mercenary motives in their service. But here's a question: Is it commercial honesty to pay all servers in cases of funerals for their service with never a thought for the minister. If a man works he is entitled to something for his work. "Oh, but he's a preacher; he does not expect pay for his services in such cases." What if he does not expect compensation: Is it honest to leave him out and pay all the others, simply because he does not expect or demand it? Well, turn it over in your mind, podner.

WE ARE —

Methodists in Doctrine

The twenty-five Articles of Religion contained in our Discipline as the doctrinal statement of our faith were taken without any change or amendment whatever from the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1852 when our Church was organized.

Methodists in Practice

The mourner's bench or altar, the class meeting or testimony meeting, the old-fashioned shouting in their meetings, the definite opposition to worldliness IN THE CHURCH, the fervent praying, the fiery preaching, the spirited singing and ardent love of the church members for each other.

Methodists in Spirit

The church majors in soul winning more than in anything else. Sinners warned to flee from the wrath to come, backsliders urged to return to the Father's house, and Christians exhorted to pray for perfect love—to live holy, acceptable unto the Lord.
