NUMBER 6

HERE IN HICO

By E. V. M.

Recent comparison of groceries of stores in Hico with those of neighboring towns brought a lot of comment, and one particular we especially liked. Lindley, who lives north on Highway 220, and who spent considerable time in Germany wrote a letter in this column. We printed it down in this column. We printed it down in this column. We printed it down in this column.

few days ago, I read with considerable interest the column comparing Hico grocery prices with those of some neighboring towns. Perhaps you might also like to see the rest of your readers' other comparison shopping.

this time to Berlin, Prague, and Bucharest. A friend in Germany sent me the clipping that shows how a fellow has to work to get a few groceries. You may notice, "In East Europe Hangs Breadbasket Higher." Once a fellow could work 5.8 hours for a few groceries; now he works 16 hours for the same bill of fare.

man in Warsaw, Prague, and Bucharest and Sofia worked six, 10, 6.6, and 9.3 hours for that same fare, but now he has to work 15 hours, and the Hungarians 17 hours, and the Poles 16 hours for a day's groceries and here is what I

a dollar an hour a Hico man can earn in a little over an hour for what an east European would have to work at seven hours to get.

any time I say my bed-time prayers, I thank God for the privilege of being one of the poorest in America, for I know I can find a minimum of 10,000 people who would risk lives for a chance to trade places with me. In the Far East, a man is considered rich if he has his own business, his own home, or one hectare of land (about 2.5 acres). Nuff said. —Don Lind-

—I could just go on and on and spend two years, 8 months, 6 months, one hour and 23 minutes to get that slip by "other fellow." Sometimes we all have to read the lives of people in foreign countries to live before we really see how fortunate the Americans are for every day of life.

THIS ONE... comes from the daily issue of one of the state's daily newspapers: "The New York police department is combating the floating crap with the flying machine. They use their newly acquired planes to hover over race tracks and ball parks after the races are over, when the gamblers sometimes get a dice session. When the cops spot men standing in a line and some are kneeling, they are waving their arms—he is a ground force and patrolman in on the game."

ALSO... this from the daily paper: "Bester, Okla. Police Lt. E. Durant investigated a disturbance at a drive-in theater caused by a stranger grabbed the public address system microphone. The man yelled: 'Ha. At last I've caught you together.'"

Fairy Post Office Will Close Friday After 73 Years Service

After 73 years of service to people of the Fairy community, the post office at that place will cease to exist on Friday, June 14, according to orders received recently from the post office department.

The office is serving an estimated 60 to 70 patrons, W. E. Goynne, former postmaster there, said.

Patrons now getting their mail from the Fairy office will be served by a rural delivery route out of Hico, which is Route 3.

Established in 1884, the office filled a definite need when the community's population was much more than it is now. It continued to operate past the turn of the century with a dwindling number of customers, and also a dwindling income.

Mrs. Bill Lackey has served as postmaster at Fairy since the retirement of W. E. Goynne last November. The office is located in the Goynne store at Fairy.

at a meeting of the soil and water conservation committee of the Stephenville Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night.

Committee Chairman Claude Bryant presided over the session held in the Frey Room of the Farmers-First National Bank at which reports were heard from Fred McCleskey, president of the Watershed District; Marion Porter, Stephenville Work Unit Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service; Roland Madeley, area conservationist of the SCS, and Odus Petsick and T. A. Randalls of Hico, leader of the program in this area.

McCleskey reported that "quite a few farmers and land owners in the district are showing an interest in the program."

Porter stated that 19 new co-operators had been signed by the Bosque Soil Conservation District since the last meeting of the chamber of commerce committee and that much interest in the program is being shown throughout the district.

He said the SCS will soon have two new men on the job in the district to speed up the conservation work.

Madeley reported that his area office would send workers to the Hico area and that a meeting would be called in the near future to acquaint the people here with the program. He said that they would start signing up landowners here soon.

Mr. Petsick and Mr. Randalls noted that landowners in their area are ready for the program and will sign up at the first opportunity.

The committee agreed that placards will be printed bearing photographs of land before and after proper soil treatment and detailing the advantages of signing contracts with the soil conservation. These placards will be distributed in banks and business houses over the district.

Grand Opening Slated Today For New Western Auto Store

Hico's newest business, a Western Auto Associate Store, owned and operated by D. C. Hyles, is observing their grand opening today, Friday, with a big get-acquainted sale.

Mr. Hyles and representatives from Western Auto have been working the last two weeks getting everything in readiness for the gala opening. A complete stock of merchandise is featured in the new store and a display advertisement on page six of this issue lists a few of the many bargains to be found at the store during this sale. A free color film set will be given away Saturday morning and Saturday afternoon at the store, and visitors will be asked to register for other free prizes which will be given away the following Saturday. The prizes are also listed in the advertisement in this issue of the News Review.

Pat Whitacre, area representative from Waco, has been in charge of arrangements preparatory to opening the new store.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyles and their son, Calvin Lee, have moved to Hico from McGregor, where they were in the service station business the past two years. Calvin Lee will be a sophomore in Hico High School next year. The Hyles formerly resided in Eden. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Mr. Hyles' brother, Arthur Hyles, owns and operates the Western Auto Store in Clifton.

Playing This Week At The Hico Theatre

Sunday & Monday—

Starring John Wayne, Dan Dailey and Maureen O'Hara. "Wings of Eagles," showing Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday at the Hico Theatre, unfolds a rousing story based on the career of the late Comdr. Frank (Spig) Wead, a real-life hero who achieved a two-fold victory, first in his courageous fight to walk again after a spinal injury, second in his spectacular efforts to give the U. S. Navy the formidable air-arm which ultimately aided in the victory over Japan in the battle of the Marianas.

Smashing action, heroic spectacles at sea and in the air, and warm characterizations combine to make the picture, special motion picture entertainment. The M-G-M film boasts continuous excitement beginning with a sequence close to the start of the story in which "Spig" Wead, an Annapolis graduate learning to fly at Pensacola in 1919, gives a stunting exhibition in his first flight which results in a crash.

It also results in personal publicity. And when Wead and his team win the Schneider Cup in the International Seaplane Races and later, when he and Lt. John Price shatter the seaplane endurance record, the Navy is given public support for Congressional appropriations for an air arm.

It is on the night that he receives word of his appointment as skipper of a fighting squadron (the youngest squadron commander in Naval history) that Wead incurs the spinal injury which holds his life in the balance. How, through guts and will power, aided by the encouragement of Navy mechanic Sgt. Carson, he learns to walk and to begin a new career as an au-

John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara play the Navy couple of "The Wings of Eagles", spectacular drama telling the story of Frank (Spig) Wead, one of the Navy's great modern heroes. Dan Dailey co-stars in the picture, which plays Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday at the Hico Theatre.

Friday & Saturday—

Not from the legends of the Old

West, but direct from the locked files of a famed American detective agency of 80 years ago, comes the story for "Last of the Badmen," starring George Montgomery, which plays Friday and Saturday at the Hico Theatre.

Tall, handsome and rugged, Montgomery adds to his laurels as one of the screen's most popular action headliners in his portrayal of the detective agency's undercover man sent out to break up the gang. His is a perilous task as an agent marked to die, and Montgomery gives the role a brilliant performance.

Delicious punch and home-baked cake squares were served as refreshments. The men folks enjoyed diversions of 42. Mrs. McDowell is the former Miss Wilma Grace

END OF AN ERA

We are very sorry to report that due to circumstances beyond our control our post office was closed today, Friday. For 73 years the people of Fairy and many outside its boundary have been served by the office. Even though many received their mail on route 3, Hico, they were also served by the Fairy office in many ways. It is with deep regret to many of those who have been served by the office for so long. Yes, it meant much more to them than those it has served only a few years. For 54 years of the 73 this writer has been served by the office in various ways.

As a child it was the mailing address of we and our parents. Since our marriage and our address was on Fairy Route 1, we still as now, appreciated the services of the office, and it had been a help to us in many ways. Mr. W. E. Goynes had served as postmaster for 34 years until his resignation last November. Mr. Goynes was indeed a good postmaster and all regretted his resignation. Mrs. Edna Lackey was appointed to fill the vacancy and she, too, has been excellent and has given good service, and it is with deep regret to many that the post office couldn't have continued under her services. We fear that the closing of the office is going to make a far greater burden on the general public of the Fairy community than some seem to realize. Not only the patrons and route 3 citizens, but to Mr. Barto Gamble, our efficient rural carrier, who is going to be about as hard hit by this blow as the Fairy citizens. It is done and we will have to try to make the best of what has happened. Just to what extent our burdens are going to be we have this to learn as time goes on. The office was a great help to the school and patrons of the school. We want you to know this writer, who has for the past 32 to 35 years served the community most of the time as local correspondent striving to keep our little town on the map, deeply regrets the circumstances leading to its closing. We have burned the midnight oil, so to speak, to get our news letter out on time. Yes, it is a far greater burden than we feel our readers realize. We do appreciate the news items turned in by the faithful citizens of the community, but realize our write-up would be much more interesting to others if we could have more different news items each week. The drop box will still remain at the Goynes store and we will appreciate your news items any time. Your relatives taking the paper would like to hear from you. As the old saying goes "news travels." We recently made a request in our news letter for information as to the identity of Mrs. Kate Edwards of Hamilton who had sent in a donation for the cemetery. Well we got phone calls, notes, and word left here and there, and later a letter from Mrs. Edwards herself, stating that her sister, who lives in Fort Worth or Dallas who takes the paper had sent her the clipping of our news letter making the request. So we don't know just how beneficial or helpful some news item might be. For our home town paper travels too, and we might be surprised if we were to see a list of those subscribing to the paper. Many times one news item is worth the price of a subscription. To us the home town paper is like the little town of Fairy, "dear to our heart," since we have been a news writer since the Aiton and Sons were publishers at the building now occupied by J. E. Woodward Produce. May we ever strive to uplift the community in which we live.

We also learned this week that there will be no mail pickup service at Fairy, as has been the case in the past. To this writer, as correspondent, this will mean a great disadvantage unless we can make arrangements to mail in some of the boxes near here, who are served on the return of Mr. Gamble. The highway department had an employe out last Tuesday setting up stands and mail boxes in Fairy.

Mrs. Myrtle Dickerson of Holloman, N. Mex., and sister, Mrs. Powell of Plainview visited Saturday with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Britt Little. She sold her place north of Hico while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson and children of Amarillo returned home last Thursday after a few days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Todd and Sue. Sue returned home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goynes have moved back from Morgan where she has taught for the past several years. We are glad to have them back with us again.

The writer attended singing at Lund Valley Sunday afternoon and visited with Mrs. Minnie McCarty after singing hours. Glad to report her doing alright.

The Westbrook family, who resided at the Newman homestead house for a few months, have moved. We didn't learn where they moved to.

Thanks to Mr. N. A. Leeth for a $5.00 donation to the Fairy Cemetery Association, which he handed to Mr. Todd while in Hico recently. We purchased a large eye hoe while in town last week for the cemetery. Mr. Todd had been using ours, but with all this rain we find we have a full time job at home, and have been making the weeds fly in our little pasture and elsewhere. We think that most every kind of a weed that ever existed is in evidence this year. In fact we just can't remember ever seeing so many weeds. Many roads are getting hazardous at corners due to the high growth of sunflowers and other weeds, and motorists should use every precaution where such conditions exist.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Carolyn and Jimmie Don visited Wednesday night of last week at the Gatesville hospital with his little nephew, Bobby Sellers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sellers, who underwent an appendix opera-

We received a letter last week from our son, Billy Daniel. He stated his train was stopped between two freights in Chicago. He was en route to New York where he expected to sail for overseas duty with the army on Tuesday, June 4, and expected to arrive in Germany June 12. We have written him under the following address: Pvt. William E. Daniel, US 54192963, Co. B, 29th A-1-B 3rd, A.D.A. P. O. 39, New York. SENTRY DUTY

IN AMERICA every editor is on sentry duty, guarding constantly against all encroachments on the Freedom of the Press. It has always been like this. Ever since the press battled for and won freedom of expression, its guardians have had to be on the constant lookout for infiltration by the enemies of that freedom. Infiltration—pressure from powerful groups to tone down comment on a situation...pulling of strings to keep a story from being published...predigested propaganda releases.

But the press knows the importance of never giving up its freedom. For on freedom of the press depend all other freedoms that make up democracy. Therefore, the men of America's press refuse to recognize any check—except military security—on complete, unabridged and inviolate freedom to print the truth.

That is the challenge of today to the courage and the vigilance of these sentries of America's press.

PLAN SUMMER FUN FOR ALL THE FAMILY. Recreation and summertime just seem to go together. Summer recreation is a year-around need of old and young alike. We are realizing that fact at the time.

With summertime at hand, get out of school, and lots of parties, picnics and family gatherings planned, this is a good time to take a look ahead. Call a family conference sometime soon to plan for the best use of leisure time for energy and recreational dollars for summer months.

First, study the recreational interests and need of each family member. Help each one develop a variety of outside interests.

Next, plan time for recreation in the family schedule. Talking over often helps family members see how adjustments can be made so that everyone has some recreational time for recreation, and all members plan some time for family recreation—at least weekly.

Next, plan and provide a place for recreation. For indoor recreation, the family can arrange a court for horseback riding, volleyball, badminton or tennis. A cement porch or driveway can be a good shuffleboard court. The garage or car port provides a good space for table tennis or other outdoor games. A simple fire-ing ribbons with the couple's names and date of the wedding, which will be July 7. A lovely arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums accented the serving table.

Mrs. Dan Seal presided at the guest book. The wedding will take place in Hico First Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howard and Sharon were in Dallas Sunday afternoon on business.

Mrs. Daisy Dankers has returned to her home here following an extended visit in Waco with relatives.

place for outdoor cooking is easy to build and provides lots of enjoyment. If you are really ambitious the family might develop an outdoor living room for all forms of recreation.

Money is usually an item in planning recreation. Family and community recreation can help keep costs down. Check on recreation facilities near your home.

NEW RUBBER SELF-LINER

You can lighten and brighten your housekeeping tasks with a new rubber matting. Available in a continuous roll, it is sold by the yard and comes in many colors. Widths vary from 12 to 22 inches. As a shelf-liner, the matting protects dishes, keeps down noise and clutter and is easy to clean.

The liner can be used in many places—on cooking trays, work surfaces, appliance tops, to cover the laundry hamper, and as entrance mats. This rubber matting can protect any surface where rust, bleaches, strong acids, paint or other marks may be left. Lining the shelves of canned goods not only deadens noise but simplifies cleaning.

Look for the rubber shelf-liner in hardware, department, variety and chain stores.

CLEANING THE WASHER

It's easy to wash out your washer after tinting or dyeing a load of clothes. Just fill the tub with hot soap or syndet (synthetic detergent) suds, add bleach, and let the machine run until clean. Follow with a hot water rinse and then leave the washer open until dry inside.

A NEW APPROACH TO THE SCREW-WORM PROBLEM

Texas stockmen will be keenly interested in a new procedure for eradicating the screw-worm now being tested in the Florida cattle country.

In a joint Federal-state operation, a project is now underway involving the use of male screw-worm flies hatched under laboratory conditions and sterilized through radiation exposure to cobalt gamma rays.

It is believed that when the sterile male flies are released in a screw-worm infested area, a marked decrease in reproduction will result when many eggs produced by female flies in the area fail to hatch.

The Florida experiment, which is being directed by R. C. Bushland of the Entomology Research Division at Kerrville, is not an attempt at eradication of the screw-worm but merely a test to see if it can be accomplished.

The research project grew out of a similar operation held on the Caribbean Island of Curacao in which a complete eradication was accomplished. In the Curacao project, 400 male screw worm flies per square mile were released. The Florida experiment will employ a release of 500 males per square mile each week for four months. This will require a total of about 2,000,000 lab-reared flies a week when operations reach their peak in the area to be treated, which is 40 by 50 miles.

The screw-worm is the larvae, or maggot, of the fly Callitroga hominivorax which develop from eggs laid on open wounds on animals. The screw-worm has been known to exist in Texas since 1842, probably coming up from Mexico.

Because of the heavy Mexican infestation which migrates northward through Texas, the time eradication measure being tested in Florida presently would not be too effective in the Southwest.

However, if tests should prove successful in the Southeastern project, Texas cattlemen can look forward to a time when the ever-present screw-worm problem is relieved.

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. R. LAWRENCE

Dairy producers of the county continue to bring their operations up to more efficient methods. Within the last week or so, George Cox, dairyman just south of Hico on highway 281, has installed a new bulk tank. It is about 700 gallon capacity and is of all stainless steel.

Garland Parker, on down the highway about a mile, is also installing a bulk tank and will have it completed and in operation in about another week.

Bulk tanks are a pretty expensive addition to any dairy operation but they do take away quite a bit of the hard work of dairymen. A bulk tank also helps the dairyman to produce a little better product. The production of a quality product is one thing that we certainly do have to hand it to the dairyman for producing. One can drop in most any eating establishment now and secure a glass of clean, wholesome and nutritious milk. Not too many years ago one would not ask for milk at a cafe unless they knew where the milk came from.

I have often wondered why so many nervous people will walk into a store several times a day and drink coffee when they could get a glass of cold milk. The milk will have a tendency to help quieten the nerves and too, will add to the welfare of the body. We do not import milk either but do all the coffee we drink. And again, we don't plant or grow a single coffee plant here in the county but we do have 20 fine Grade A dairies in operation. Again, in some schools there are automatic cold drink machines that serve pop but not a single automatic milk machine. And automatic milk machines can be had just as any others.

We all thank John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, for the extension of the final cotton planting date. It has been extended to and including June 20. This will help many cotton growers of the county.

This is one year that I firmly believe it will pay to get cotton insect control work started as soon as possible. Start when the cotton plants have four true leaves on them. The first two leaves on the plant when it comes out of the ground are not true leaves. After the four leaves have been set, spray the crop three times, seven days apart. This early spraying or control, if done properly, will insure early setting of fruit and early maturing of the fruit. With our crop as late as it is, there is a good chance that fields will suffer from the pink boll worm later on in the season. By early control, the first or lower bolls should be set on the plant. This is one thing that does not generally happen over the county. Most cotton is set from the middle to the top third of the plant. Too, boll weevils have come out of winter quarters rather early this year and indications are that we will have trouble with them.

Boll worms are already here and working on corn and will move to cotton. The corn mostly bothered right now is sweet corn. Thrips and flea hoppers are the two insects that cause most of the early season damage and that prevent cotton from fruiting early. Both of these insects are small and not too many people recognize the thrips. If your cotton begins to look all curled up as though it has been hauled on, the chances are that the thrips are working it over good. Merchants over the county all have ample supplies of cotton insect control materials and they are capable of making recommendations and giving advice as to what and how to use them.

Highlights of Pioneer Life Revealed

(The following story was used recently in the Centennial edition of the Palo Pinto Star, and is being reproduced by request of Frank Mingus).

Mrs. Josie Mingus Duckworth of Hico, before her death a few years ago, wrote an interesting letter to Mrs. Bess Woodruff of Mineral Wells about some early day happenings in the vicinity of Palo Pinto County. Josie was born to William Mingus and Julia Frances Spellman Mingus August 7, 1861 in Palo Pinto County.

Josie was born where Mingus is now located and the town was named after her father. He was among the first white people to locate in Palo Pinto County and he settled at Mingus.

In fact, white people were few and far between and very loyal to each other in those days, they had to be, for protection.

Josie's first remembrance of people were of the neighboring settlers, the Claytons, Davidsons, Curetons, Blues, Hendersons, Strawns, Stewarts, Slaughters, Shelleys and Daves.

Josie's father, William Mingus, was justice of the peace and a captain in the Texas Rangers.

The county at that time was wild, not many settlers were around close. There were lots of Indians, too, and Josie said, "What a terror they were to the white people. My mother was so afraid the Indians would steal some of her children." The Indians did take some of the white children.

The Mingus home was a two room log house that had a large log chain through the door—to fasten it. There was also a high picket fence around the house so the Indians couldn't get in. According to Josie, the Indians came by every light of the moon and tried to steal horses, and kill any white people they could.

Mingus raised horses and cattle "by the hundreds." He was a stockman and one particular time the Indians stole 18 head of horses. He kept a number of fine horses in the corral, and the Indians made several attempts to steal them, but Mingus being a Texas Ranger, kept a close watch. They didn't get the fine horses.

Some of the neighborhood men ran down a wild buffalo and shot him 16 times before they finally killed him after running him in a corral. A little neighbor boy, Billy Cureton, and Josie peeped through the fence and saw the buffalo. To the children he looked as large as a house.

The ladies along with Mrs. Mingus took a large pan and butcher knives to get a steak for dinner, but the old buffalo was so old and tough they couldn't cut the hide or meat. Then the men had to get all the oxen in the neighborhood to pull off the buffalo—to a dump ground.

One time the men had to go to the mill and the nearest mill was at Weatherford, so two men left in a wagon loaded with wheat and corn, with four oxen hitched to the wagon. The men took shotguns and then four more men or horses went along to guard the men and wagon as they drove to the mill. The trip to Weatherford and back was made in four days time.

There were no churches in the neighborhood so all the settlers got together to organize a church. The women baked and cooked all the food they could get and got things ready for the meeting. That night a flood came. Mr. and Mrs. Mingus took their two small children to the little mountain near where the railroad station now stands. (However, this was many years before the railroad). The water got up about three feet or more in the Mingus home.

Flood or no flood, the settlers decided to try church again. This time they built an arbor and had church. Of course everybody took their guns and all the kids to church on account of Indians. Col. Slaughter was the preacher at that first little arbor church of the settlers in the vicinity of Mingus.

The Mingus family hadn't been in Palo Pinto County very long when one of the neighbor's daughters took a fever and died. There wasn't any "bought" cloth to make her a dress to be buried in, so Mrs. Mingus gave them her wedding dress which was a white swiss with gold embroidered flowers. The girl was only eighteen and had been away to school. She was the only daughter of the Davidsons.

Mrs. Mingus spent lots of time at her loom and spinning wheel and today visitors to the Smithsonian Building in Washington can see this loom that was used so faithfully and long by the Mingus family in Palo Pinto County.
