Watershed Meeting Set Tuesday, July 9

An area meeting of the North Bosque Water Control District has been set Tuesday evening, July 9, at 8 o'clock in Hico, for the purpose of organizing work units to contact farmers and ranchers in the watershed area concerning development of the program, and signing agreements with the Soil Conservation Service to participate in their program.

The meeting will be held at Firemen's Hall. All farmers and ranchers in the area are urged to be present to hear what the SCS has to offer in the way of conservation measures. Business and professional men are also urged to be present to lend whatever support necessary to the program.

Marion Porter, Work Unit Conservationist of the Stephenville SCS will be on hand, as will Roland Madeley, Area Conservationist, to explain the details and requirements of participating land owners. Both of these men are interesting speakers and can give any information desired by landowners and individuals about the watershed project.

The district has been approved by the State Soil Conservation office, and has been given a high priority on the long list of districts waiting for final approval. Fifty per cent of the land owners in the entire watershed district are required to sign the agreements before final action is taken.

There is approximately 200,000 acres of land in the district, which extends from the headwaters of the Bosque River near Huckabee, to just above where the Duffau Creeks run into the Bosque near Ireddell. The district does not take in either of the two Duffaus. Tributaries of the Bosque in this area which are within the district are Honey Creek, Gilmore, Falls Creek, and many of the smaller branches. To the south the district extends to the Fairy mountains.

Main purpose of the July 9th meeting is to better acquaint the farmers and ranchers with what will be required of them in the way of applying conservation measures to their lands, and to answer any questions which they may wish to ask about the structures to be built, their value, and how they work. Both Porter and Madeley will answer any question brought up at the meeting.

The present district calls for approximately 43 flood control dams to be built throughout the area, which will greatly effect the rate of run-off from torrential rains which the area has received in the past, and which it will more than likely receive in the future. The proposed dams will be of similar construction to those built on the Pilot Watershed Project on Greens Creek near Dublin and Stephenville. The Greens Creek program has 13 dams completed, and these 13 were credited this past Spring with saving Hico from a disastrous flood such as was inflicted in 1952. The dams serve one main purpose—that of catching and holding rain where it falls, thus preventing precious top soil from being washed completely away, and also holding the moisture as close to the point of fall as possible.

T. A. Randsall, director in the association from this area, arranged the meeting, and puts special emphasis on a large turnout of both landowners and businessmen to hear these two men, and better acquaint themselves with the program.

Wheat, Cotton Acreage Payment Due Farmers

Payment to Hamilton County farmers for wheat and cotton acreage reserve agreements with the Agriculture Stabilization Committee, will begin within a few days, Jim Gilbreath, ASC director, said last week.

The payments will total approximately $80,000, Gilbreath estimated, and should be mailed out within the next week.

Gilbreath said an additional group of checks representing between $250,000 and $300,000 will be issued to county people about July 1 in the wool growers price support program.

Wheat acreage reserve checks are based on the county's average yield of 8.3 bushels per acre, Gilbreath explained. And the payments are based on price support of $1.23 per bushel.

The cotton growers will receive payments on the basis of $21 per acre for all reserve acreage.

Gilbreath estimated there are between 1,200 and 1,500 acres of wheat in the county and 2,500 acres of cotton.

CONTRACT AWARDED LAST WEEK

Construction to Start July 1 On New Telephone Building

As the first actual construction started in Hico towards installation of dial automatic telephone service here, a contract for erection of the new telephone office building has been awarded by Gulf States Telephone Company.

The contractor is R. E. McClure of Hico, with materials being supplied by Barnes & McCullough. Construction is to start about July 1st, with final completion by October 1, according to Morris S. Burton, Vice President of the company, who was in Hico recently letting the contract and making other arrangements to commence work. The building is to be erected on First Street, facing north, immediately beyond the alley east of Pecan Street.

Art Anderson of Stephenville, Manager of Gulf States, explained that the building will be constructed as near fire-proof as possible. It will have a width of about seventeen feet and a length of thirty-five feet, with an office space of five feet at the north end, leaving the dial equipment room with inside dimensions of about sixteen by twenty-five feet at the rear of the building. This feature will allow for lengthening the building when needed for future equipment expansions. Anderson estimated that the initial equipment space would allow the local telephone system to grow to a total of about 800 telephones before added space will be needed, based on the present total of 505 local telephones in service.

In addition to the fire-proofing features, special attention to the dust-proofing and humidity control has been given. The foundation is of concrete with a slab floor pourer as part of the foundation. Walls will be of Haydite concrete blocks. The roof will be supported on steel bar joists including a steel roof deck, insulation and regular tar-gravel finish roof. A photograph of the building as erected at Maybank, Texas is carried in this issue since the identical design features have been used by Gulf States at Maybank and at Kemp on dial conversions there. The floor level will be above the sidewalk grade and the lot filled after construction to improve appearances.

"Although we are starting this building some two or three months ahead of our schedule," Anderson stated, "we are doing so to make certain that we complete this improvement of local telephone service without any delays on our part." He explained that certain carrier equipment must be installed at Hico preparatory to a similar conversion at Dublin, set for December, 1957, hence this equipment will be placed in the new building to avoid an out-of-service move later in 1958.

The dial switching equipment, custom-built for Hico, is now being assembled by Stromberg-Carlson Company at Rochester, New York. Although no predictions of the final completion date and the cutover here can yet be made, Gulf States is planning all details of the building, the re-construction of the outside plant, the placing of new dial sets and the construction of control trunk circuits to Stephenville so that no delays will be encountered over which it has control.

Civic Club Members Hear Talk By Stephenville Group

Meeting in regular session Wednesday at noon, members of Hico Civic Club heard a discussion by representatives of Lowery Manufacturing Co. of Stephenville on a new electrical device which the corporation hopes to start manufacturing in the near future. The representatives, Brad Thompson and A. J. Lowery, gave plans and details of the new device, which was invented by Lowery, and which they expect to manufacture in Stephenville, to the group, and illustrated the advantages of the time-saving electrical clip.

Experts in the field say that the invention will completely revolutionize the outlet box field once it is placed on the market, and the main purpose of the two representative's visit with the club was to explain the device, and offer for sale, stock in the corporation to any person or business in this area.

Harold Walker reported a total of 20 exhibit booths had been sold for the annual Reunion, which starts the last day of July. Walker stated that he hoped to place the remaining eight booths within the next two weeks.

R. B. Jackson, who heads the entertainment committee, stated that a speaker would be available for next week's meeting. The Dublin Development Club is sending a representative to Hico to speak to the group. Jackson urged that each member be present to hear an interesting talk about how other towns secure industry.

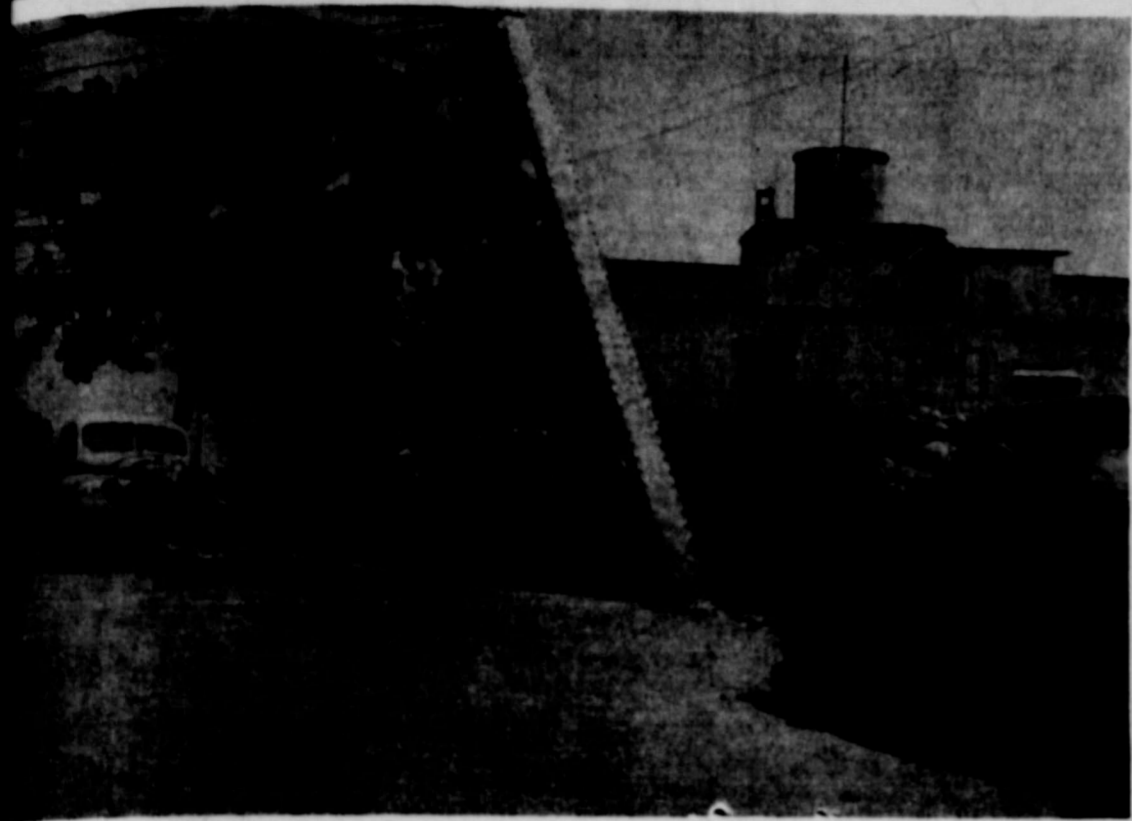

PRIZE ANGUS HEIFER STRUCK BY CAR

The Angus heifer owned by Roland Sherrard was struck by a car Saturday night on the Stephenville highway. The heifer won top honors in the Houston Stock Show earlier this year, and also placed high at the Fort Worth show. The calf was grand champion of the Hico FFA Show in March.

Damage to the car, driven by Fred Jaggars, was estimated at $400. The prize heifer died Monday.

CEMETERY WORKING TO BE HELD AT MILLERVILLE

'Shrinking Man' Plays Sunday-Monday At Hico Theatre

With his huge cast, thousands of extras and towering, awe-inspiring sets, Director Cecil B. DeMille is rightfully considered the king of the spectacular in Hollywood, but Universal-International Studios and Director Jack Arnold feel they've achieved something quite monumental themselves with a cast of less than a dozen and sets that consist of old paint cans, nails, match boxes and a piece of stale cake.

These sets were devised for "The Incredible Shrinking Man," the novel science-fiction shocker co-starring Grant Williams and Randy Stuart which plays Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday at the Hico Theatre.

An unlikely comparison, Not at all, for in "The Incredible Shrinking Man" Grant Williams spends about a third of his time as a man less than two inches tall. In the course of the film he shrinks from 6 feet to a half inch in height.

Since the studio couldn't actually shrink Williams, it had to enlarge every item on every set on which he appears, the enlargement being scaled to whatever size he was supposed to be at that point in the story.

Grant Williams, only two inches tall and still shrinking, uses a small nail in an attempt to spring mousetrap so he can get the cheese bait and eat it in this scene from "The Incredible Shrinking Man," science-fiction shocker in which Williams and Randy Stuart co-star, playing Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday at Hico Theatre.

Alan Ladd Is Star In Friday-Saturday Feature

"The Big Land," starring Alan Ladd, Virginia Mayo and Edmond O'Brien, plays Friday and Saturday at the Hico Theatre.

It is a fascinating story which is recommended to every viewer for its exciting realism.

The Warner-Cloror film, produced by Jaguar Productions, is a film drama of the desperate struggle of the cattle men and railroad builders in the lawless reconstruction period after the Civil War.

The Ladd-Mayo romantic team dates back to 1952 when the two some starred in "The Iron Mistress" also for Warner Bros. Now Ladd is head of his own producing company, Jaguar Productions, which is responsible for "The Big Land."

Edmond O'Brien, who won an Oscar in 1955 for his fine portrayal in "The Barefoot Contessa," is also noted for his memorable performances at Warners in "Pete Kelly's Blues," and "A Cry in the Night." He joins the other distinguished members of the cast under the directorial aegis of Gordon Douglas, to make what is reportedly one of the most action-packed films to come out of Hollywood in years.

The film, based on a novel by Frank Gruber, also features Anthony Caruso and John Qualen in the cast.

Alan Ladd and Virginia Mayo in a scene from "The Big Land," playing Friday and Saturday at Hico Theatre. Edmond O'Brien also stars in the picture.

Funeral Services Held for Mrs. Wilson

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, June 23, at 2:30 in the Carlton Baptist Church for Mrs. Norma Wilson, who passed away Saturday morning after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Wilson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Finley, was born March 23, 1881 in Coryell County. She moved to Carlton in her childhood and spent the remainder of her life in this community. She was married to John Wilson in 1903, and to this union were born two sons, J. C. and Herwood.

Mrs. Norma, as she was affectionately called, was converted and joined the Carlton Baptist Church at the age of thirteen, and lived a truly consecrated Christian life. She was in faithful attendance in her church as long as her health permitted. The large attendance and huge floral contribution at the service gave true evidence to the fact that to know her was to love her.

Her survivors are her two sons, Woodrow of Carlton, and J. C. of Ballinger; one granddaughter, Dian Wilson of Ballinger; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Fisher of Carlton; and a brother, Dock Finley of Carlton. She was preceded in death by her parents and a brother, John Finley.

Traffic Safety Council Stresses Important of Safe July Fourth

More Americans have died in traffic accidents during the past 50 years than in all of our wars put together. Some 40,000 new tombstones are forecast this year as the result of man's lawlessness and carelessness on wheels.

These are the big killers: speed too fast for conditions, involved in 58 per cent of the fatal highway accidents; driving while drinking, involved in 39 per cent.

Toss in such killers as improper passing, following too closely, and crossing prohibited lines, and the evidence is clear that a big majority of the deaths and injuries result from violation of the law.

The newly-created Texas Traffic Safety Council, an official State agency, has launched a statewide educational and law enforcement campaign against human destruction on the streets and highways. A safer Fourth of July is the first goal.

All organizations—State and local, church, school, civic and otherwise—have been urged to cooperate by passing the word to their memberships. Governor Price Daniel has made a special appeal to ministers, Sunday school teachers and church workers by designating June 30 as "Safety Sunday" and urging them to devote part of their lessons to traffic safety.

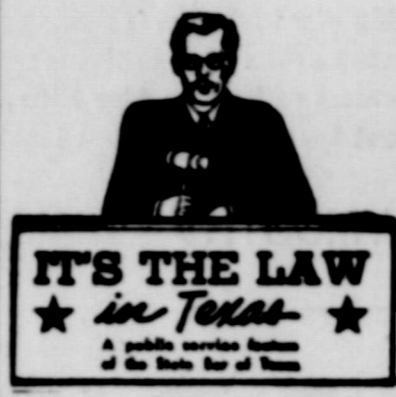

This newspaper asks every citizen of Hico to join in this campaign. If the community was struck by a flood, a tornado or some other disaster on the Fourth of July, none would hesitate to pitch in and fight for their lives and those of their neighbors.

Everyone are faced each day with the disaster of traffic accidents—heightened on holidays such as the Fourth of July.

As millions of fun-seeking motorists head for lakes, mountains or beaches of the Fourth of July holiday, safety experts are hopeful that extra care and caution will keep the highway accident toll at an all-time low. To help achieve this goal, ten driving tips are submitted, as follows:

1. Control your temper when behind the wheel. Highways are crowded and travel is slow; don't "blow-up" and take unnecessary chances.
2. Start early, expect frequent delays and leave for home early, preferably during daylight.
3. Watch out for careless drivers who are over-anxious to reach their destinations.
4. Slow down to allow passing cars extra room to get back into the right lane ahead of you.
5. Always give the other driver more than his share of the road.
6. Get into proper lane well in advance of turning—and always signal your intention to turn or stop.
7. Pull your car entirely off the road when stopping for sightseeing or a roadside picnic.
8. Check traffic in all directions, especially to the rear, before pulling out of a parking spot onto the highway.
9. Reduce speed at sundown and drive within the range of your headlights.
10. Concentrate on your driving—it's a full time job.

AGENCY LAW EXPLAINED

Suppose that you hire your neighbor's teen-age son, Jimmy, to cut your grass, and he runs your new mower into another neighbor's hedge. The hedge is ruined. Are you responsible for the damages? Quite likely you are.

Or let us suppose that you find you need a loaf of bread for the evening meal. You ask a friend to take your car and run to the store for it. On the way, he runs down old Mr. Peabody, seriously injuring him. Can you be held responsible. It is possible that you can.

In both instances, an "agent" was acting for you. His acts while performing those duties are, in the eyes of the law, your acts. In legal terms, you are the "principal."

You may be liable despite the fact that you may have cautioned him to be extremely careful. The average individual expects to answer for his own actions. He does not usually consider that he may be responsible for the actions of other persons. That, however, is frequently the case.

Suppose you ask another person to do something for you, that is, to act as your agent. You may pay him, or he may be doing it without compensation.

You may ask him to buy or sell property for you. Or, his responsibility may be to negotiate an agreement for you with a third person.

If representations or warranties are made by your agent in performing the task which you assigned to him, you are responsible.

In a like manner, you are responsible for the contract made

You may be held responsible for the acts of a person who customarily represents you even though he entered into a contract for you without your consent or approval.

For example, you may have a partner in a business, and you and he have agreed that certain contracts shall be made only upon the signature of both of you.

Unknown to you and without your consent, your partner signs such a contract with a third person involving partnership business. If the person with whom this contract is made has no knowledge of the terms of your partnership agreement, you are responsible for the contract which your partner has made.

You may have agreed between you that neither of you would buy, without the other's consent, any items of merchandise costing more than $50. You did not give this information to salesmen who called on you. In your absence on a Thursday afternoon, your partner ordered merchandise for your store costing more than the $50 limit.

When the merchandise is delivered, you can not refuse to accept it because you can be bound by the contract of your partner. This is true in many situations, and the salesman is not bound by your partnership agreement because you did not advise him of the $50 limitation.

As the actions of your agent are considered to be your actions, you assume the responsibility of his doing them correctly.

EASY OUTDOOR COOKERY
A quick, easy way to prepare the main dish for a picnic or outdoor meal is to cook on skewers. "Shish-Kabobs" are delicious and different.

There are many possibilities. You may have all vegetables or all meat on the skewer, or alternate the meat cubes with a combination of vegetables such as tomato wedges, chunks of carrot, mushrooms, pieces of green pepper, onion, etc. A basic "shish-kabob" is made with boneless meat, cut in one and a half- or two-inch cubes. Beef, lamb, ham, or pork may be used. With lamb or veal, use the shoulder or leg; with beef, use the round, chuck or rump. Allow one-half to three-fourth pound per person.

Prepare the meat by simply brushing with lemon juice and olive oil, or marinate from 2 hours to 2 days in the following mixture: 1 part of lemon juice to 3 parts olive oil seasoned with crushed garlic, salt and pepper, and if you wish, add some thyme, oregano, bay leaf or cumin. Now string the cubes on your skewers. If you like the meat rare, push the cubes closely together. For all-around crispness, separate the chunks on the skewer. Broil over coals. It will take from 10 to 16 minutes, depending on how well done you want the food. Serve immediately. If you are planning to spend July Fourth in your own back yard, you might try these.

PRESERVE PICKLES AND RELISHES

Vegetables and fruits make delicious pickles and relishes. With a large variety and supply of vegetables to choose from, now is the time to stock up for future use.

Everyone likes some form of pickle or relish. The color, crisp texture and a tangy flavor often adds sparkle and zest to a meal which might otherwise be uninteresting. They add food value too; some minerals and vitamins, especially A and C.

I have in my office copies of "Pickles and Relishes", the Extension bulletin which has "Directions and recipes that you will like. Here is one that I have been using for a long time, and you might like to try it.

- Bread & Butter Pickles
- 25 large cucumbers
- 12 onions (white, medium)
- Half cup salt
- 1 pint vinegar
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons mustard seed (white)
- 2 tablespoons ginger
- 2 tablespoons turmeric powder

Soak unpeeled cucumbers in water overnight. Slice cucumbers and onions and place in pan with the salt (no water). Let stand one hour, then rinse off salt, add vinegar, sugar, mustard seed, ginger, and turmeric powder. Boil all ingredients until peel turns yellow (about 40 minutes). Pack pickles solid in sterilized jars. Seal and allow to stand 10 days before using.

and Peggy, to the Fort Worth markets the first of the week.

Mrs. H. H. Hanes of Jonesboro visited a few days last week in the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanes and Mike. Mike was ill but glad to report him fully recovered at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Driver of Gila Prairie spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Driver and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wolfe.

The writer accompanied our son-in-law, D. E. Allison of Dublin, from Hico Sunday to Mesquite where we visited in the home of our daughter and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pittman and to see little Miss Karen Jean, the new baby daughter of the Pittmans. Mrs. Allison had been visiting in the home since Friday and expects to remain some two more weeks. We had carried a cake and pies and other things for lunch, only to learn after our arrival that Sunday was Wayne's birthday, and Mrs. Allison had been so busy with the new baby she had found no time for baking. So was quite pleased that we brought along a cake, which served as his birthday cake. Other guests in the Pittman home during the day were three young couples, close friends of the Pittmans, whose names we did not learn, and Mr. and Mrs. Texie Dell Allison of Fort Worth, uncle and aunt of Mrs. Pittman, and also Mr. Pittman's sister's husband, Carrol Pack of Mesquite.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Massengale and Mrs. Nettie Parks visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sellers and family of Hamilton visited a while Monday night in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family.

We were sorry to learn that a son of the R. W. Adams family has been hospitalized at the Hico Hospital for a week or more. We hope he has recovered sufficiently to be able to be returned home by this writing.

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

The forms for making claims for refunds of the Federal tax on gas have been put in the mail by the Director of Internal Revenue...

Applications for fish were mailed this week to the Regional office at Albuquerque. They totaled 91 and cover 102 1/2 acres of water.

Talking about fishing reminds me of the District 4-H Summer Camp we had last week over on Lake Brownwood.

like someone had shot a 22, as some boy got his fishing line busted by a big carp.

Some of the club boys spent most of their time fishing and swimming a little. Most of the entertainment at the camp is in the form of a contest when at all possible...

When you get about 50 boys all at one time trying to blow a big balloon, there's lots of popping and that is what happened too.

Anyway, the 4-H boys at camp got lots of fun out of it. Paul Ray got one of the worse cases of sun burn I've seen in a long time...

Don't Cheat Your Pullets Because They'll Cheat You...

To make long profits from the laying flock most of us agree that a good quality chick is a must. Many also agree that the best start possible is none too good, but many put the birds on so-called cheaper feeds after four or five weeks.

We said "so-called" because lost production often makes the "cheap" feed cost more in the long run. That's why we've urged you to start and grow birds all the way on the Purina plan that's right for you.

Our goal is to help you grow your flock out right at the lowest possible cost.

For the man with no grain we suggest old reliable Purina Growena be fed from 4 or 5 weeks to 10 weeks. Growena gives fast growth and helps build a big frame fast.

COTTON AT THE CROSSROADS

The cotton industry of Texas and the nation has a vital decision to make in the next few years.

It must decide whether to accept more and more controls and restrictions or meet the challenge of modern technology. The first path leads to virtual extinction of the small farmer in a decade or so—the other opens up vast new fields in marketing and demand.

The key to a successful future for cotton lies in greater research towards developing new uses and wider markets for the product. We have a number of research projects now—but they have been directed mainly towards increasing production, or per-acre yields. We have gone about as far as we can go in that direction under the present economic demand.

It is a cold, hard fact that almost every bale we produce over the 9-million bale mark each year must be either stored, subsidized or dumped at a loss in countries abroad. Once our domestic consumption exceeded 12-million bales. But synthetic fabrics have cut deep inroads in cotton markets at a time when our main goals were to get more cotton from less acres!

Today, the industry and government agencies must develop a new approach. The surface hasn't been scratched on all the potential uses for cotton. Only a vast research program will bring them into being.

There are several immediate goals which could create a market demand to equal and eventually surpass our previous 12-million bale consumption. But the cotton industry, and the government, have been guilty of letting many opportunities slide away.

As an example, a vast quantity of jute is imported each year to make binding cloth for cotton bales. Using even poor grade cotton, a competitive fabric could be manufactured to wrap cotton bales and increase consumption by about 35,000 bales annually—right on the cotton industry's doorstep.

Other outlets can be developed by producing superior quality in cotton fabrics such as:

- 1. Flame resistant cloth which would open up a demand for an additional 1 1/2 million bales each year. 2. Cotton garments that require no ironing would utilize some one million bales. 3. Rot and weather resistant cloth—200,000 bales. 4. A superior but competitive cloth for auto seat covers—100,000 bales.

These are just a few examples of new possibilities in cotton marketing.

Of course, our present controls and regulations cannot be immediately abandoned until demand comes closer to the supply. But restrictions should be regarded as emergency measures, not permanent institutions.

name got in there by way of Dr. Russell Dennis of Brownwood who was speaker for the occasion). Bob Jackson, the man who Wayne Rutledge gives such a bad time, showed up without a bowl, with the hopes that he wouldn't eat anything and stay strictly on his diet, but even he couldn't resist the temptation, and wound up by having a helping or two. J. B. Wooton, whose place the affair was held on, hatched out a new batch of Chiggers for the occasion. He was bound to have imported them from somewhere because that many can't survive in one place for long. Of course, all of this nonsense is being written in a joking manner, and if any of those good brethren take some of it seriously, then we're in trouble. Any way, it was a good party, and invite me again.

A LOT OF... comment on the column last week when we let off one of our occasionally bursts of steam about out of town trading. The various comments were all in our favor, so guess we didn't step on too many toes.

The following poem was handed us this week by a local merchant, and there is a lot of food for thought in the poem. We're reprinting it for whatever it might be worth:

If I possessed a shop or store I'd drive the grouches off my floor! I'd never let some gloomy guy offend the folks who come to buy; I'd never keep a boy or clerk... With mental toothache at his work, Nor let a man who draws my pay Drive customers of mine away. I'd treat the man who takes my time... And spends a nickel or a dime With courtesy, and make him feel That I was pleased to close the deal. Because tomorrow, who can tell? He may want stuff I have to sell. And in that case, then glad he'll be To spend his dollars all with me. The reason people pass one door... To patronize another store, Is not because the busier place... Has better silks, or gloves, or lace Or special prices, but it lies... In pleasant words and smiling eyes; The only difference, I believe Is in the treatment folks receive.

Moral: Yesterday's looks and features are no bargain at any price!

No car is a bargain if it's obsolete in styling and engineering features.
