OPERATION . . . is a word which primarily is given credit for this year's Reunion being successful.

For the first time in several years more people did more for this year's affair a success than can be credited in quite some time. Men, women, and individuals, all out in both expense and effort to put the Reunion over the top. This they did. Cooperation is a wonderful thing, and the past experience further proved that when there is a job to be done, you can count on most of the people of Hico to pitch in and help put it over.

For several years, and certainly the quality of these entries was above normal. The ladies in the riding club division proved to be well received, and the entries, Hamilton, Meridian, Dublin, were all crowd-pleasers in which Donald Hefner lined up entries and moved along its route adding to the effectiveness. Donnie who has always been interested in the parade, proved this by doing such a job. At the request of several persons, he had the parade go by the hospital in order that patients and nurses at that time could view the entries. Entertainment which was planned by Manager Walker was really good, and kept everyone interested from start to finish. The Dairies of Fort Worth came in for a certain amount of special praise. Their booth at City Park drew more interest than any others, and was well received.

Bullock, special representative of Boswell, spent much time working on details for all aspects of the celebration, his efforts are certainly appreciated. He had a big part in every phase of the Reunion, and cooperated to the full in any manner possible. He was responsible for the very fine lighting system used in the "Miss Reunion" contest, and had a public address system in readiness should it be needed. Boswells also had three entries in the parade, sent Mr. Bullock his sound system along with the annual booster trip for the celebration. Also Mr. Boswell was responsible for the truck from Mrs. Baird's company being sent to Hico. They have always cooperated in every way during the annual affair, and we personally thank them for their good spirit.

For thanks should go to Baird's for sending their truck, which was used all day of the celebration. Hico Garden Club, FHA Boy Scouts, and every other organization and merchant who participated in the parade are due recognition for their efforts. Actually the Garden Club floats in the parade, as they were responsible for decorating the attractive Hico Civic Club float for the Hamilton Centennial, which was held over the weekend in the local parade. The Club float was not entered in the competition however.

PARADE WINNER—First place float in the annual Reunion parade held last Wednesday afternoon was entered by Salmon's Dept. Store. The very attractive float, which was decorated by

Mrs. Salmon and Horace Griffiths, required many hours of work, and much expense to complete. The pretty Miss atop the float is Linda Driver, Salmon's entry in the "Miss Reunion Contest."

Hico Little League Teams Play Double-Header With Meridian

The Meridian teams won both games from the locals.

Forgetfulness Becomes More Apparent As One Grows Older

By E. E. DAWSON

Forgetfulness is a thing experienced by all people as they grow old, or even older. A synonym of "forgetfulness" is "absentmindedness." But it is not a good synonym, or one yet has mind, but it just does not always function as desired and intended. For example, Mr. Gude Mann phoned me not long ago to come by as he wanted to see me about something important. I determined to grant his request. So I went to the post office early in the morning with the good intention of going by the home of the man to see him. I made a mental note to go by the Methodist Church and a block beyond it to turn off and go by the gentleman's house. As I passed the Methodist Church I reminded myself of the good intention. As I turned in the gate at the home, more than two miles from the turning of place, I recalled that I had told my friend that I would go by his house to see him. So it was turn around and head back to town. It will just happen.

A long time friend of mine writing about forgetfulness confesses that he forgot to pay the preacher when he got married. That was entirely justifiable, in my judgment, for when a fellow gets married it is an event sufficient to shake all other thoughts out of his mind.

The Rev. Mr. Penrod used to tell of his most embarrassing moment when he was pastor of the First Church of Paducah, Ky. Some good women of the church made him a pair of house shoes and ornamented them with much fancy stitching. Pastor Penrod kept the fancy footwear in his study at the church, and often slipped his regular shoes off and put on the house shoes to ease his feet. But one Sunday night, having been on his feet a good deal during the afternoon, when he got to his study an hour before the service, he slipped into his house shoes to rest his weary feet. Then absorbed with thoughts of his evening sermon he forgot all about those decorated foot coverings and went into the pulpit with them on. Now the First Church of Paducah had quite aristocratic members and everything that took place in the church had to be just so. When the donors saw their gift on the feet of the pastor standing in the pulpit they were shocked beyond any power of expression. There was nothing they could do about it until the service was over, but as soon as the benediction had been given they rushed up to the pastor and said, "For heaven's sake take those house shoes off before we die of embarrassment."

Just up above the town of Post City in Garza County is, or was, a community called Rag Town. Of course it had another name but Rag Town it was called by all the folks. Pastor Lamkin lived a good two miles from the church, and travelled in those days in a buggy. He had a wife and three children. They all went to church one Sunday night and the pastor held the service. Following the dismissal of the crowd, Pastor Lamkin went out to his buggy, got

Ag Teachers In Week-Long Session At Dallas

Vocational Agriculture Teachers from across the state nearly 1000 strong began pouring into Dallas Sunday, August 3, for a week-long conference designed for professional improvement.

Among the teachers attending the session is Harold Walker, local vocational agriculture teacher.

Tribute was paid the group by Gov. Price Daniel on July 16 for its part in continued progress in agriculture as he signed a memorandum proclaiming the week of August 3-9 as Vocational Agriculture Teachers Week.

At various times during the week the group will hear from outstanding leaders and educators.

'Miss Reunion' Chairman Thanks Workers

"I would like to express my appreciation to the following persons who worked so diligently assisting in the production of the 'Miss Reunion' contest.

"First, I wish to thank Mrs. Wayne Rutledge for the musical selections that added so much to the coronation program; Mr. Bullock, representative from Boswell Dairies, for the wonderful lighting effects; the decoration committee, Mrs. Alvin Casey, Mrs. George Griffiths, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ramage, Judy Griffiths, Kay Jameson, Linda Holt, Carol Akin, and Juan Williams, who assisted in decorating the pavilion stage; Mrs. Paul Neel for the pretty float, that enabled all of the contestants to have transportation in the opening day parade.

"Also to John Reed and his staff for the prompt, efficient service and excellent photographs of all the contestants; Harold Walker for acting as master of ceremonies; Mayor D. E. Bullock for his part in crowning the winners, and his little assistants, Barbara Casey and Denna Meador; and utmost, to the lovely girls themselves, who were all winners in my estimation.

"The judges, Mayor J. Louis Evans and Publisher Rufus Higgs of Stephenville, and Dr. Verne Scott Jr. of Dublin, did a wonderful job in the selection of the winner, and we would like to express our appreciation for their neighborliness in acting as judges.

"It is my hope that everyone enjoyed the presentation as much as I did in serving as chairman of the affair."

Carlton Civic Club Sponsors City Projects

Carlton has recently installed a new blinker light in the downtown business section. The light was installed by the Texas Highway Department.

Another new installation in Carlton is a new fire siren. Both of these new improvements have been the results of work done by the Carlton Civic Club.

Hico's 72nd Annual Reunion closed Saturday night and was declared as one of the most successful in many years.

From a financial standpoint the Association did little more than break even, but added interest in the affair more than offset the lack of financial gain.

From the first day parade until the final phase of entertainment Saturday night, record crowds attended.

The largest parade crowd and first night gathering in many years was on hand. Thursday night attendance was smaller than other nights but still several thousand persons attended that night.

The parade, which was in charge of Donald Hefner, was declared the best in recent years, and was run with no confusion as Hefner and Manager Harold Walker properly spaced the entrants.

The Karem Temple Motor Patrol from Waco gave a very interesting performance on main street immediately following the parade.

First night's entertainment, the crowning of "Miss Reunion," drew a large attendance, and everyone expressed their satisfaction with the program. Miss Judy Moore was named winner over 27 other contestants. The two runners-up named by out of town judges were Miss Julia Hedges and Miss Judy Griffiths.

An added feature of the contest was a personal appearance of "Miss Universal," which proved to be a crowd-pleaser. Also the very talented group from Carlton drew praise for their act.

Perhaps the largest crowd in the history of the annual affair was on hand Saturday for final day activities.

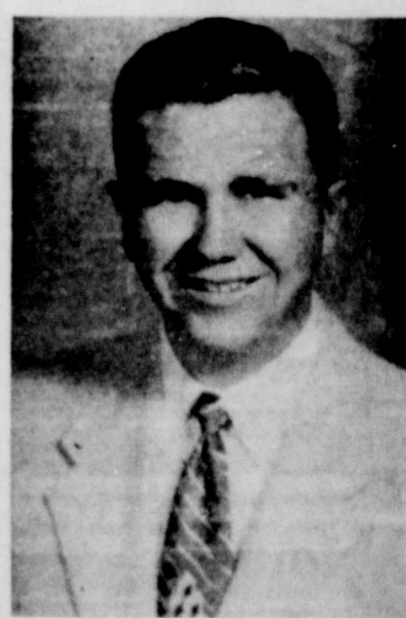

The display booths again drew wide attention, as visitors registered for the many free prizes given away Saturday night by merchants and individuals having the spaces rented.

One of the most interesting booths was Boswell's Dairies, where people tried to correctly guess who Mr. Shadow of Hico was. Officials had a real puzzler for a subject and very few made correct guesses. Nearly everyone knows now that the mystery man was Mr. S. J. Cheek Sr., who for so many years was manager of the Reunion Association, and who was the most logical subject for such a contest.

Reunion manager Harold Walker, and other committee members and workers, expressed their appreciation to each and every person for the cooperation, for their aid and helpful ideas in making this year's Reunion such a huge success.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE—

Congress Reports

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C.—Each day at 4 p.m. the State Department and other Agencies of the Executive Branch brief the Committee on which I serve on developments in the Middle East during the last twenty-four hour period.

These briefings are Executive Sessions and labeled "secret." From these sessions and a study of the background developments occurring in recent years, the following conclusions seem justified.

The whole tragedy of the Middle East can not be blamed on Nasser, or the Communists. They simply fill a vacuum created by what is known as "nationalism."

There is strong temptation to place the blame on recent events in the Middle East, but it is not as simple as that. To do so leads to the wrong conclusions.

Nasser and the Communists have been quick to capitalize on the disruption of the powers in that area, but Nasser does not have the means, either militarily or economically, to become a Hitler. Neither did he create the nationalism in the Near East. It existed long before he came on the stage.

The Anti-Colonial Sentiment has swept Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Africa since World War II. The creation of Israel uncapped a cauldron already boiling

Close to a million Arabs thrown out of their homes and deprived of their property is a running sore that will never heal. The burning sand of Jordan and Syria on which they exist is no hotter than the hate in the hearts of these human beings against those responsible for their tragic plight. Our Country is far from blameless for the part it played in this action.

Sadder still, that which was done in the name of moral purpose, was more political than moral.

Colonialism is associated with the Western white man. Until World War II, many nations and peoples knew nothing else except domination by colonial powers. During the war they saw well-fed and well-clothed soldiers, silver birds flying through the air, and all the things which belong only to the white man. They wondered why they could not have and do the same.

United States foreign policy has been torn between a sympathy for people seeking self-government, and continuing on friendly terms with our allies who are the colonial powers. Our Government has told all nations and people that we wish for them independent governments, but it is difficult for these people to disassociate the U. S. from countries under whose rule they have lived for centuries.

The Middle East generally has been under foreign domination since the year 1500 A.D.—hence, nationalism.

Colonel Nasser of Egypt is a symbol of nationalism. His bid for power has been in any direction from which he could get help. So has the majority of the nations in the area. It is a mistake to assume that the presence of American troops in Lebanon will solve the more basic problem. It is a mistake to assume that Nasser's subversion alone is responsible for the turmoil in the area.

It is an even bigger mistake to assume and hope that if Nasser's influence, or even the threat of Soviet penetration, were removed, that the old relationship could be resumed.

The trouble is deeper and more permanent.

Aside from all the facts justifying our military forces in Lebanon, it solves nothing on a permanent basis.

Starting from the situation in which we find ourselves, what should be our future course of action?

Permanent stability in the Arab World can probably be found only in recognition of "nationalism" or "neutrality." It would seem better to have neutral friends in the Middle East than to have shaky and undependable allies. Friends are more often made around the world by profits in mutual interest.

The interest of the Middle East and Africa is towards the West, because of the economic appetite of the West as opposed to the Soviet Union or Communist China.

Hard Economic facts, layed on the table, might be more influencing than guns mounted on a hillside overlooking their capitols.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to the many people who offered their assistance and words of sympathy on the recent loss of our loved one. We shall always remember your deeds of kindness. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Chew and Family.

BUYING COTTON KNITS

Most every family wash includes some cotton T-shirts, cotton knit undergarments, baby clothing or other cotton knits. Complaints that these garments often lose their shape in the washing process are frequent.

Questions homemakers have asked about stretching and shrinkage in cotton knits led to research on this type of fabric by the USDA's Institute of Home Economics.

Scientists found that when a cotton knit garment loses shape in laundering, it's chiefly the structure of the fabric that's at fault. They explain that sometimes knit fabrics are stretched and pulled as they are manufactured. The tiny knit loops in the fabric, normally plump and round, are pulled long and thin. Only after this fabric has been made into a garment, and the garment has been laundered, does a problem arise. For then, the tiny loops relax, return to their normal round shape, and the garment becomes shorter and wider.

Some cotton knit fabrics are not stretched as they are finished. The tiny knit loop in these fabrics are round when the fabric is completed, and stay round. Garments made of these fabrics do not lose shape, because the knit loops are already relaxed.

How do you tell one type of fabric from the other as you shop? How can you choose a T-shirt, for example, that will keep its shape and not grow shorter and wider after laundering?

Look for shirts with firm, even knitting. Avoid a fabric that has thin places. Often by examining the knit carefully, you can tell if the knit loops are round and relaxed, or are long and stretched. When shopping, ask the sales clerk to stretch the fabric a little, and hold it over a contrasting background to help you see the loops. The shape of the loop is easier to see on the wrong side of some fabrics. Remember, the more round the loops, the better the chance that the knit will retain its shape through many washings.

FAIRY
 By MRS. EUNICE DANIEL

Tragedy struck at the Eber Vice home last Saturday about six o'clock when their next eldest son, Jimmy, age 8, was instantly killed near Killeen. Mr. Vice and a Mr. Dick Morris and his son of Jonesboro were working on a road construction job near Killeen. Mr. Vice's two small sons had accompanied him Saturday to work. Mr. Morris's children and the Vice children were riding on a water truck used in sprinkling the road. The Morris boy stated he struck a soft place in the road which caused him to lose control and the truck turned over pinning the Vice child under the truck. He was crushed and killed instantly and also badly scalded from the draining radiator. The other Vice child was partially caught but managed to free himself immediately. Mr. Vice and Mr. Morris were only a short distance behind the boys but had to stand helplessly by until the Morris boy drove about one-fourth mile for help. A maintainer was rushed to the scene and lifted the truck off the child's body.

Remains were carried to Hamilton where funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Monday. The child is survived by his parents and four brothers. The Vice family resided on the old Morgan place across from the old Meyers place, now known as the Petsick place between Lanham and Jonesboro. Our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents and other relatives in this dark time of sorrow.

Many were sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Royce Elrod of Hamilton who passed away at the Hico Hospital last Saturday following birth of an infant. The baby was still alive at last report, but survival was doubtful. Mr. Elrod was an employee of the Dick Jones store in Hamilton. Funeral arrangements were incomplete Sunday pending the arrival of out of state relatives. Mrs. Elrod was about 28 years of age. Our sympathy is extended to those bereaved in her passing. Funeral services were held at Hamilton Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for Mr. Woodall, father of Louis Woodall of Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover are enjoying a visit this week from their children and families. These are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bolstad and Betty Deanne of Laurel, Miss., who arrived Saturday afternoon; Mrs. Ralph Spencer and two sons, Don and Dickie of Lubbock, who also arrived Saturday afternoon; and Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hoover and two sons, Charles D. Jr. and Peter Jameson of Daily City, Calif., who arrived early Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Springer of Miles spent Friday night in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Springer and family. They were en route to the Springer family reunion which was held at Rockdale Saturday and Sunday. The Leon Springers attended on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family attended the annual Sellers reunion held at the old Leon River bridge near Jonesboro Saturday night and Sunday.

Ike Porterfield of Waxahachie attended church here Sunday and visited with his brother, Walter Porterfield at the rest home in Hamilton, and also with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Binkley and other relatives. Mr. Porterfield stated that his wife was in California taking a college course and expected to teach during the approaching school term. They have a married daughter in California and Mrs. Porterfield is staying with her. Mr. Porterfield will go out for her in a few weeks and accompany her home. She is the former Alice Talley of Fairy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Abel and Miss Gwen Jackson of Grand Prairie spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson, and also in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ovie Clark.

Jo Ann Sills was a week-end visitor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sills.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Cox visited with Mont Young at the Dublin rest home last Thursday afternoon.

All are experiencing some dry, hot summer weather. Showers fell in sections of the county Sunday, but none right in this section.

Grasses are so dry and crisp, only a spark is needed to set off a huge fire. All should use precaution in burning trash or disposing of cigarette or cigar stubs.

Only two dogs have been listed for vaccination up until Monday noon. If there are others, we would like to have them listed at once, as we will have to get a sufficient number to justify a veterinarian to come out to vaccinate them. This request is being broadcast on the Hamilton station and if a sufficient number can be received a vaccination date will also be announced on this program which is held daily at 11:30 and 5:00.

The writer attended singing at Evergreen near Jonesboro Sunday afternoon, being accompanied from Hamilton by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sumerford and Mr. Rob Calhoun, neighbor of the Sumerfords. After singing hours the writer visited at the funeral home and at the Wilford rest home in Hamilton. Sorry to report Mrs. Pearl Wade very poorly and Mrs. McCarty and Mrs. Alford not as well as usual.

Quite a number of Fairy folks attended the parade last Wednesday afternoon and also the Reunion at Hico. We thought the parade was very nice. Much time and expense had been put forth to decorate the beautiful floats.

Salmon's float with its beautiful pastel colors and the Burden float carrying out the color scheme of white and dark red was about the neatest we believe we have seen in a long time and was pretty indeed. All are to be commended for the effort put forth to make the parade a success.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Spencer of Breckenridge spent Sunday in the E. M. Hoover home. They are parents of the Hoover's son-in-law, Ralph Spencer of Lubbock. He is employed and has been unable to come so far, but expects to arrive Thursday for a short visit in the Hoover home.

This writer received $5 from W. E. Goynne for the Wilson estate for the cemetery fund.

TO MY GOOD FRIENDS IN HAMILTON COUNTY—

I want to thank each and every one of my good friends in this county for the nice vote they gave me in the race for representative Saturday, July 26th. I did my best to win the top spot but since I didn't I have no ill feeling or regrets. I am still for good government, good schools, farm-to-market roads and a four-year college at Tarleton.

Since I have been eliminated I have given the run-off election much serious thought and consideration. It is my firm conviction that it will be to the best interests of the people of this district to vote for Mr. Bill Shannon, the incumbent. I plan to vote for Mr. Shannon and will do all I can to see that he is elected. Mr. Shannon has been our representative for the past four years. He has served well and has a fine attendance record.

Bill Shannon is a lifelong resident of this district and understands its problems.

Thanking one and all and with every success to Mr. Shannon in his race for the run-off election, I remain,
KAL SEGRIST.

GAINS IN AGRICULTURE THROUGH BETTER RESEARCH

Last summer, Nikita Khrushchev told Americans via a television interview that Communism would eventually win its contest with Capitalism.

The Russian leader was not threatening a hot war. Instead he based his prediction on the claim that the Soviet Union would in five years outstrip the United States in the per-capita production of meat, milk, and butter, plus other agricultural products.

In a word, he was reminding us that a nation is only as strong as its agriculture. But while Russia still appears to have an edge in Sputniks, that nation is far behind us in farming methods—yet is determined to catch up.

Fortunately, we are not lagging in our scientific achievements in agriculture. The Russians will have quite a way to go if they catch us because our own progress in farming has been phenomenal.

In 1939, when World War II broke out in Europe, American farmers produced a 2 1/2-billion bushel corn crop on 88 million acres. Last year, they produced 32 per cent more corn on 17 per cent less land. Since 1939 the national wheat crop has risen from 740 to 940 million bushels, but harvested acres have gone down from 52 and a half to 43 and a half million. Compared with 1939, farmers last year reduced cotton acreage by 45 per cent, and still produced 95 per cent as much cotton.

The story is the same with livestock. In 1956, dairymen had nearly 3 million fewer cows than in 1940, but each cow produced two-thirds of a ton more milk. For every two eggs a hen laid in 1940, her descendant is laying about three today. Nearly 100 million cattle and horses grazed the same acreage that in 1940 supported only 83 million head.

A pig crop of 90 million in 1956 compares with only 80 million produced on the same farm in 1940.

All told, our farmers today are producing 40 per cent more from about the same acreage they had in 1939.

Figures on manpower required to do the job also are significant. In World War I, our farm commodities were produced by 13 and a half million workers; in World War II by 10 and a half million, and today by only seven and a half million.

The efforts of our agricultural scientists underlie much of this spectacular gain. Their research has practically changed the face of American agriculture. But in the long run, it was the American farmer, himself, who completed the job.

Total precipitation so far this year, 18.78 inches.

This week the same pictures were shown at the Indian Gap Grange meeting. These two organizations are stressing farm safety in their programs this year.

Farm safety is one thing that I think should be practiced every day on every farm. Each year we have some horrible accidents on farms and many of these accidents can or could be prevented. The Texas Safety Council has many suggestions to make in this regard. Some of them are: Know your machinery and operate it according to the manufacturers' recommendations; do not remove the shields that come on the machinery; when getting off machinery to make adjustments, stop the machine; (most accidents happen when the machinery is not stopped when little adjustments are to be made); most accidents happen in the late morning and around mid-afternoon.

The Council recommends that a short rest period be taken about mid-morning and another one around mid-afternoon. One way to get this done is for the wife to fix up a light lunch and take it to the field. Many times one feels tired when really they are just hungry. These mid-morning and mid-afternoon meals not only take care of the hunger, but at the same time give the worker a short rest period.

So don't tempt fate in '58—take a short rest.

In the goat selection meeting recently down at the J. W. Adams ranch, we had some fleeces of mohair, one had been oiled and one had not.

The fleeces were sent down to the Wool and Mohair Laboratory at College Station where they were scoured out. The returns on these showed the following: Oiled fleece, shrinkage 36.06 per cent and a yield of 63.94 per cent. The un-oiled fleece shrinkage was 20.88 per cent and yield of 79.12. The residual oil in the scoured fleeces: oiled fleece, 5.13 per cent; un-oiled 1.58 per cent.

This shows that after an oiled fleece of mohair has been scoured out, there is still some undesirable oil left in it. The figures also show what the buyer generally takes into consideration when he is buying mohair that has been oiled and mohair that has not been oiled. The trade wants some oil in hair after it has been scoured, about 1.5 per cent.

With the showers that have fallen over parts of the county thru the week, one should keep a lookout for stomach worms in sheep and goats. Spread open the eye lids and if worms are present the inside will be faded out to a dull color. Too, check the skin and if it is dingy or faded the animal has worms. A second drenching should be given 21 days later.

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. B. LAWRENCE

Last week at the regular meeting of the Shive Grange, their program was devoted to Farm Safety. Two films were shown, one on the safe methods of operating a tractor and the other film was on the dangers of operating farm machinery such as corn pickers, cotton strippers and combines.

The picture on corn pickers was a true picture of accidents that had happened and it was pretty rough and some got a little sick from viewing it. It surely got over the danger points of operating certain farm machinery.
