Bonniers Entertain With Halloween Party Mon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bonnier were host and hostess for a Halloween party honoring his pupils of the seventh and eighth grades Monday night at their home. The party was held on the lawn and all enjoyed diversion of games and refreshments of hot dogs, potato chips and bottle drinks. Several parents of pupils also attended.

The writer attended funeral services Monday morning at Clair-ette for Gerald Eugene Turner of Arlington, who died Saturday morning of injuries received in a car crash in Arlington. A large crowd was present to pay tribute to a former resident of the community. The funeral procession was almost a mile in length. Our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved wife, son and daughter, parents and other relatives, for we, too, know the sorrow of tragedy. May God bless and comfort them in this time of sorrow.

We have received an inch or more of rain since our last writing, most of which fell during the week end. The added moisture will be very beneficial to farmers and stockmen, as there was insufficient moisture to bring up fall grain and many stock tanks were low.

We still have some illness in the community due to colds and virus. At this writing Leon Springer is ill with a bronchial cold and virus. We hope he will soon be fully recovered.

Mrs. Gladys Cox suffered a severe stroke of paint poison last Friday evening. She was painting her kitchen cabinet. Her husband left her painting and went to the garden for some tomatoes, returning to find her in a dazed condition and unable to walk. He rushed to our home for aid, thinking she had possibly had a stroke. Before leaving we had our daughter, Mrs. Selers, notify another sister, Mrs. E. M. Hoover. We found her very ill and administered aid and carried her to the Hico Hospital where she remained until Saturday. She was deathly ill and completely out for several hours. Knowing a few symptoms of paint poison, we had told our brother-in-law we believed this to be the trouble rather than a stroke but we didn't know it would effect a person in walking. She was much better Saturday afternoon but still weak from the ordeal. She had done quite a bit of painting the past two months, but the cabinet job was a more tedious job and required closer observation and the weather Friday was very hot and humid and the open cabinet doors formed a close wall, so to speak, around her head. It is said that after the effects of paint poison are hard to overcome, but we hope she will soon be fully recovered.

Miss Jo Ann Sills of Fort Worth spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sills.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Jimmy Don and Janice, were in Hamilton Saturday where Mrs. Sellers was receiving treatment for a severe crick in her neck. Glad to report her alright by Sunday.

The writer was a business visitor in Hamilton this last Friday and while there visited at the rest home with our former neighbor and friend, Mrs. Brittle Little and others. While there we met Mrs. Albert Berry, the former Avis Petony of Fairy, who told us her mother, Mrs. Tom Petony was at her home and would probably spend the winter with her. We hope to visit her in the near future.

Mr. Frank Hanes spent a couple of days in the Hico Hospital last week due to a severe cold and virus.

We are sorry to report that Pedro Jones is still seriously ill in Scott and White hospital. His wife is staying with him. Final test showed that a throat ailment was malignant. He is undergoing treatment and has been hospitalized there for some ten days or longer. We sincerely hope the treatment is effective and he will soon be able to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hoover of Dallas spent the week end visiting in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover, and at Hamilton with his mother, Mrs. A. R. Hoover at the rest home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Little of Oklahoma City visited Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Brittle Little at the rest home. They were down to attend funeral services for her nephew, Gerald Eugene Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Ford of Arlington spent the week end with relatives at Hico and Carlton and visited Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Pearl Wade at the rest home in Hamilton.

Miss Martha Hanes of Dallas spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanes and Mike.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Jones and family of Whitney visited here with relatives during the week end and visited with his father, Pedro Jones at Temple.

Most of the cotton crop has been gathered and the land sown or plowed. Fall grain is looking pretty since the good rains.

There will be a Halloween Carnival and Mexican supper at the school this Friday night, Oct. 31. All have a cordial invitation to attend.

The writer attended singing at Goldthwaite Sunday accompanying the A. H. Sumerfords from Hamilton. A large crowd was

Color Slides Highlights Review Club's Study of Germany

Review Club study of Germany was especially informative and enjoyable. Mrs. Wayne Rutledge and Mrs. Robert Jackson led the study and this was aided by the showing of color slides by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnett during his period of military service in Germany. Many of the pictures were made in the Heidelberg area. Splendid views of the ancient Castle, the cathedral, and famous Heidelberg University. These buildings and surroundings of great historic interest were beautifully photographed. Also there were breath-taking scenes of the Bavarian Alps, many streams, and famous castles, some built centuries ago, now carrying the heavy traffic of modern age. The views of blue, blue Danube, the colorful towns, and farms that lie in its course are unbelievably beautiful.

Scenes of the Bamberg, the Bamberg, and other areas were of great interest and beauty. Flowing through almost everywhere are perfect and of such vivid colors to seem artificial. The wind-scenes were like fairyland. These pictures provided a key through a "Winter Wonderland."

The showing of these slides with narration by Mr. Barnett, the Club group a very real at Germany as a vital part of today's world. Many of the pictures clearly showed much of modern construction as well as reconstruction and fabulous restoration of old buildings. The Club is deeply indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Barnett for giving us the unique experience of this marvelous journey as "Arm Chair Travel."

The Tale of Two Cities. Mrs. Rutledge told of Berlin, as "Tale of Two Cities," East and West Berlin.

West Berlin is divided with 45 percent under Soviet rule, 55 percent split into American, British, French sectors. The Iron Curtain dividing the city is just a line, but life on the two sides of the line is as different as though worlds apart.

Mrs. Rutledge described West Berlin as an island of democracy in a sea of Soviet domination. The streets of West Berlin are crowded, the shops are full of attractive and good merchandise, the people are well dressed, plentiful, there is ample class entertainment available in the city must have financial resources from West Germany and Western powers to keep up level of prosperity.

Construction in West Berlin almost miraculous. They have poured millions of brick for use in new buildings, and have developed a process for grinding rubble into building blocks.

While only a street divides the two sections, all the hustle, bustle and activity of a free people on the West Berlin side. In contrast on the East Berlin side the appearance of the people reveals a hopeless, pointless existence. There is little money for little entertainment available, even to buy but the essentials to sustain life. The people in the bombed buildings, 4 to 5 in one room, with little done to make these livable; however true to the Soviet pattern the State has masonry structures several stories high along one street called "Stalin Alley." In the state-owned shops the merchandise, most often inferior, is hard for the people to come by. The display is to impress the neighbors—likewise the land adjacent to the roads is heavily fertilized, intensely cultivated, all this to impress the neighbor with the good way of life in the Soviet Zone.

Mrs. Rutledge closed with this—Soviet Patrolman to Companion: "What do you think of Soviet Reconstruction?"

Answer: "Same as you do."

Patrolman: "Well, I'll have to arrest you for having such thoughts."

Old-time Berliners cling to the hope that their free way of life will in time reunite their city and it will again serve as the capitol of the country.

West Germany Today. Mrs. Jackson gave an extensive study of "West Germany Today." The country is divided into four sections: 1. The Federal Republic with West Berlin; 2. The Soviet Zone with East Berlin; 3. The Saar Territory; 4. The territory east of the Oder-Neisse Line.

The German people are the highest taxed people in the world. There is no State Religion in Germany today; the Constitution, the basic laws, guarantee Religious Freedom—freedom of worship.

The entire school system is under State Supervision.

All creeds and faiths are permitted to have their own schools, and instruct according to their beliefs.

State schools give religious instruction as part of the regular curriculum, to Catholics and Protestant separately. Elementary school attendance is compulsory from age 6 to 14.

There are several varieties of high schools, emphasizing classic languages, modern languages, mathematics, natural science. Also there are high schools specializing in domestic subjects, commercial courses, others political economy. Graduates from these latter must pass special tests for University entrance, but all high schools endeavor to provide a general education of high standard.

Retarded children, whether physical or mental, are taught in special schools.

The status of women in Germany has changed; war conditions found the "hausfrau" into the fields of trade and industry. They have had voting rights since 1919; very few enter the field of politics. In fact the average German woman in public life is there by force of circumstances, rather than ambition.

The German people are devotees of many sports, both indoor and outdoor types. Also Germany may be called the land of Fairs and Exhibitions, as many as 55 such in 1956. The Leipzig Fair is an outstanding International Fair. This year "The October-fest" of romantic origin in 1810 celebrated its 148th year. West Berlin and Federal Republic between them, have more theatres, private, Govt. subsidized, incorporated, and other.

During this week I will have been attending the Annual State Agents' Conference which is held in College Station each year. There should be some good reports come from this meeting, and I'll let you know about it next week.

CHOOSE ACCESSORIES CAREFULLY

Accessories should accent or compliment a costume—not call or hold attention to themselves. Choose them to add spice to simple solid color dress or suit, or to supply the unifying note with a striking print dress or plaid suit.

Plan your accessories carefully before you buy—remembering the color and design of your basic dresses or suits. Avoid bargains with which you have nothing to wear.

Avoid too many different colors in one costume. The eye jumps from one spot to another, and you lose the effect of unity. A general rule for the use of contrasting color, texture or pattern in accessories is never to repeat more than three times—generally two are smarter; for example, shoes, bag and gloves, or shoes, bag and hat or bag and hat.

Intensity of the color is important. Don't overdo it. The more brilliant or intense the color, the smaller the area it should cover. Unusual colors draw the eye just because they are complex in make-up. Use them with care.

Basic colors in accessories, namely black, brown or navy, are always in good taste and easy to use.

Color in shoes is a fashion to be used with caution. It calls attention to the feet and ankles. Be certain yours can stand the attention.

A final suggestion: Look smart but not extreme. Don't overdress. The best dressed women are often the most simply dressed.

Friday Bridge Club Entertained in Home Of Mrs. W. F. Hafer

Mrs. W. F. Hafer was hostess Friday afternoon of last week to members and guests of the Friday Bridge Club at her home near Hico.

The card tables were covered with white cloths and complimented by crystal and silver appointments for the dessert course served preceding bridge play.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. E. H. Randals Jr., Mrs. Bill Howard and Mrs. Morse Ross.

Members present were Mrs. Ray Check, Mrs. Sarah Reeves, Mrs. Sandy Ogle, Mrs. G. K. Lewallen and Mrs. E. V. Meador.

Mrs. Randals held high score and Mrs. Howard held second high for the afternoon.

CLEANING WOMEN'S FELT HATS

If you don't care to invest in a new fall hat, give the old one a new look with careful brushing and cleaning.

Start by careful brushing. This may show up spots and stains that need special treatment.

Try using the sandpaper method first. With a piece of No. 0 sandpaper, begin at center top of crown and gently sand in the same direction around the crown, side crown and the brim.

If this fails, use naphtha or other cleaning fluid. Dip a small brush, as nail brush, in the cleaning fluid, shake out the excess and brush hat until the soiled spots disappear. Remember to work outdoors when using cleaning fluids.

White or light colored felt hats may need special treatment. Saturate cornmeal with naphtha or other cleaning fluid. Rub the mixture into the felt with a clean stiff brush. When fluid has evaporated, brush out the cornmeal and air the hat before storing.

Plowin' Under the "Sorry Land"

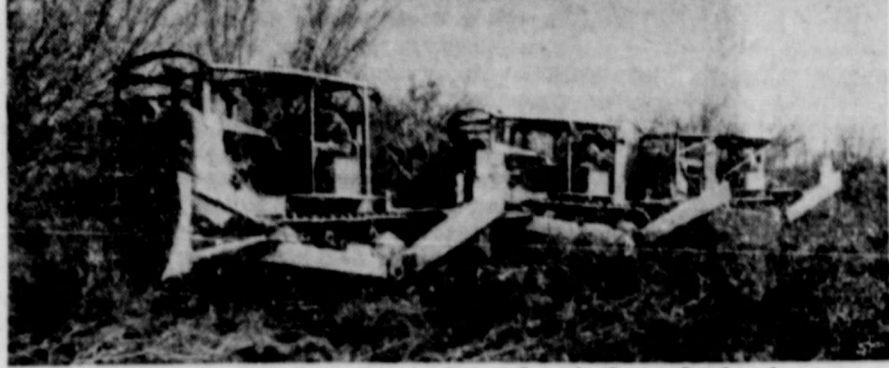

This is the "sorry land." As rancher Dolph Briscoe says, "We'll either turn this country into a desert or we can make it the most productive grass land in the world."

This is the giant root plow. Specially designed and mounted on Allis-Chalmers tractors it cuts deep into the earth to uproot the brush.

Today rich, new grass has replaced the brush that covered the 100,000-acre Briscoe Ranch.

All in one operation the tractor's dozers knock down the brush, root plows sever the brush roots and new grass seed is planted.

Tall, cattle-producing grass is growing again in South Texas.

The reason? A pioneering soil conservation and reclamation project called root plowing and rangeland seeding is plowing under and seeding hundreds of thousands of acres of South Texas.

It could mean that an area in Texas as large as the State of Tennessee will be plowed and seeded. An area, much of which has never before been broken by a plow.

Years of drouth, decades of overgrazing and the resulting jungle-like infestation of brush brought 25 to 30-million acres of South Texas the title of "sorry land."

But today in areas where ambitious cattlemen and construction machinery contractors have gone to work with new ideas to lick the long-standing problem of the brush, they have succeeded. The brush is gone and cattle stand thigh-high in a sea of tall, rich grass.

Experiments began several years ago when cattlemen realized the drouth and resulting brush infestation had nearly eliminated the growth of native grasses and turned the soil into a baked, eroded rangeland that would support only one steer for every fifty acres.

Many remedies were tried. Heavy cable chains were attached to teams of crawler tractors to chain the brush down in huge swaths. Big rotating steel-bladed implements six feet in height were drawn by tractors to chop the brush down. Deep discing was tried. So was burning. They all failed. Then, after a number of modifications, construction machinery contractors and an Allis-Chalmers dealer, working with cattlemen and conservationists, developed a wide angling root plow.

They proved this plow, pulled by powerful tractors, could bite through the baked earth to the depth necessary to completely uproot and kill the mesquite and cactus.

On the Briscoe and Gates ranches near Catarina, Texas in the heart of the "sorry land" this plow, together with a new combination of grass seeds, has brought about a dramatic transformation in the landscape of South Texas.

Almost a year ago on these two sprawling ranches, big Allis-Chalmers crawler tractors equipped with dozers, 12-foot wide root plows and unique grass seeders went to work on the first large scale job of this immense soil conservation project.

On the 100,000-acre Briscoe Ranch, 70,000-acres have now been root-plowed and seeded. To do this giant plowing job Southwest Construction company used six crawler tractors and two crews of tractor operators working around the clock, six days a week over a period of several months. Likewise on the adjoining 83,000-acre Gates Ranch, four more crawler tractors and eight operators plowed under and seeded a 15,000-acre test plot.

In the same operation a specially attached seeder utilized draft from the tractor's fan to blow seed over the plowed earth. This unusual seeding operation spread a combination of blue panicum and buffel grass seed at the rate of four pounds per acre. The seed combination was also the result of much experimentation. Neither grasses were native to the area. Blue panicum owes its origin to Australia, buffel to South Africa. Within a few months the grass proved its virtues of quick germination, its ability to develop deep root-systems.

Today, both quality and quantity range grass that will hold the soil and the moisture, reproduce itself and prohibit the recurrence of the "sorry land" covers the root-plowed rangelands of the Briscoe and Gates ranches.

The transformation has meant that instead of grazing one steer for every 50 acres under brushland conditions, the South Texas cattlemen will be able to graze one steer for every eight to ten acres.

When it is considered that 25 to 30-million acres of South Texas could be subjected to this conservation treatment — plus great areas across the Rio Grande in Mexico and others spread across Southwestern United States — it proves the statement of H. H. Cook of the Soil Conservation Service at Laredo, Texas, "This is the biggest soil conservation program ever undertaken in this country."

CRISIS IN THE TEXAS POULTRY INDUSTRY

In these days of high production costs, you don't need a crystal ball to know that a grower who has to sell his poultry at 15c a pound isn't making any profit. Neither is the buyer or processor who buys these birds and then must compete with lower priced poultry from other states on the dressed market. So the Texas poultry industry is faced with that old agricultural bug-a-boo — overproduction in the South, coupled with a decreased demand for poultry. Just a few years ago, Texas growers were receiving as much as 34 to 36 cents a pound for live poultry. Our production capacity was not equal to our state and competition from other broiler for three or four days, we find that other broiler states will ship their birds to western markets at a lower competitive price—and even move into Texas and capture our local outlets. Cutting back poultry production to raise the price here is no solution if other states still place more and more baby chicks on the farm. The neighboring states will merely move into our market outlets to fill the vacuum. The only thing we can hope for is more efficient poultry production in Texas—and a slightly better market price. Fortunately, the supply picture is subject to rapid change in the poultry industry. And prices are quick to rise when poultry becomes short. But it becomes increasingly apparent that we must strive for lower production costs if Texas is to remain a major factor in the broiler business.
