Final Meeting of Year Held Monday Night by P-TA

The final meeting of the year of Hico Parent-Teacher Association was held last Monday night, May 4, in the high school auditorium, with Mrs. W. C. Howard presiding. Mr. Rex Ellis gave the invocation opening the meeting. "Mother Goose Shows the Way" was the title of the first grade student's program, which was the entertainment for the evening. All members of the first grade class participated in the play, which was directed by their teacher, Mrs. R. B. Jackson.

A report was given by Mrs. M. I. Knudson on the District P-TA meeting that was held April 9 and 10, which Mrs. Knudson and Mrs. A. H. Lackey attended. The theme of the district meet was "Getting to Know You Through Education." Mrs. Knudson stated that the P-TA was the largest organization in Texas and it was too big to be small. She stressed that the P-TA has only one commodity to sell—welfare of children and youth—and if a person wants a community worthy of your child, join your P-TA and work.

Mrs. H. V. Hedges gave the historical report for the past year. Mrs. W. F. Hafer was in charge of the installation of officers for 1959-60.

In closing the meeting, Mrs. Howard, past president of the organization, expressed her appreciation to all fellow officers, members of the P-TA, and to everyone who cooperated in making the year a success. Refreshments were served in the luncheon at the conclusion of the meeting.

RESPONSE LIGHT TO APPEAL FOR AID
Response to E. E. Dawson's appeal for aid for the Vaughan Methodist Church, which was demolished by a recent tornado, has been slow in materializing.

As far as is known, only one contribution has been received for this worthy cause. Miss Vivian Word this week sent in $5.00, which has been forwarded to the proper people. If anyone desires to contribute a small amount to this cause they may send donations to Vaughan Methodist Church, c/o Julius King, Route 4, Hillsboro, Texas.

The News-Review would like to acknowledge each gift sent to the church.

IT HAPPENED HERE OR NEAR—

Why Yankus Was Fined

By E. E. DAWSON
I daresay that Stanley Yankus Jr., has made more headlines recently than any farmer that ever lived. He lived and farmed in one of the Great Lake States. Then he got into trouble with bureaucrats of the Agriculture Department of the U. S.

Disgusted with the treatment he received at the hands of government agents, he took off to Australia and has settled there for the rest of his life. His defense of his conduct is set forth in the following clipping. It will stir your blood to read it. No doubt you will want to express your feelings about the injustice perpetuated on an American farmer.

Well, read the following that Mr. Yankus said to the Congressional Committee before which he appeared.

—o—
Mr. Chairman and Members of the Subcommittee, Permit me to express my deep appreciation for the opportunity given me to very briefly call attention to one of the inevitable results which follow the enforcement of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

The following is a very brief statement of what I would like to say and I hope that after it is read, I may be permitted to enlarge upon the present situation.

What will happen if the present trend in government continues, in my opinion, based upon my experience, is that the people of the United States of America will no longer be free and independent, nor will this be a "free" nation. My name is Stanley Yankus. I have lived on my 100 acre farm since April 1943. I raise wheat and barley and feed it all to my chickens. I have never signed an agreement with the A.S.C. (Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Board). I have never accepted any subsidies. In the Fall of 1953, an A.S.C. agent said I could not raise wheat and feed it to my chickens. I thought this was contrary to everything American. I asked the A.S.C. man how I would be able to make a living if I couldn't use my land. In 1954, my wheat fines equalled my entire net income. That particular year 1100 chickens died in 10 days from a bad disease. Eggs were cheap and feed was high due to support prices. My wife and I made only $1000 that year.

In the year 1955 I was fined about $1,034.00. The March issue of Reader's Digest magazine has an article entitled "The Strange Crime of Stanley Yankus." What is my crime? A man does have to commit an offense to get fined or punished. I did not sell any wheat so my offense is not selling wheat. Then my offense had to be using land for producing crops.

Now, Congressmen, I would like to put the shoe on the other foot. You have passed laws permitting the Bureau of Reclamation to put new land into production. In the year 1955 alone, the Bureau of Reclamation added 136,000 acres of land into production. So who is more guilty of the strange crime of producing crops? The Bureau of Census also states that 6 million bushels of wheat were imported in 1955. I did not add to the surplus of wheat, but you did since you have the power to regulate imports.

During the years 1954 to 1958 inclusive, I was fined $4,562 plus interest and costs. Because many of the farmers in my situation had been through courts and received adverse decisions, I decided to appeal through the Press to the American people. The Detroit Times was the first large newspaper in the Nation to champion my cause.

The division of power—legislative, executive and judicial—has been a fundamental concept of English and American law. The A.S.C. has nullified this concept because a bureaucrat in the

Mrs. Sandy Ogle, fund drive chairman for the 1959 Cancer Crusade, announced this week that the annual drive would be conducted next Friday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hico residential section.

Last year, Hico residents contributed more than $250.00 to the very worthy cause.

Odis Petsick is local general chairman for the 1959 drive. Mr. Petsick named the following men to solicit the business district: H. R. Baker and Willard Leach, highway section; Ray Cheek and Buddy Randals, main street; A. H. Lackey and J. B. Woodard, cross streets and wholesale gas companies.

Mrs. Ogle stated at mid-week that a complete list of workers and other information pertaining to the drive would be submitted next week.

In the Friday night drive, the porchlight theme, which has been so successful in past years, and in other campaigns, will be carried out.

The Annual Cancer Crusade is one of the more important of all drives held annually, and people here have always responded generously.

Tri-County Medical Society Has Spring Meeting in Stephenville

Members of the Tri-County Medical Society and their wives had their spring meeting at the ranch of Dr. and Mrs. Vance Terrell at Stephenville, Friday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting was preceded by a barbecue dinner.

A number of out of town guests were present, including Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Hedges, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Hafer, and Dr. and Mrs. Bob Herrin of Hico.

Following the dinner a program on the nature and application of radioactive isotopes was presented. Jack Krohmer, Assistant Professor of Radiology and Radiation Physics at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, discussed the physical nature and direction of radioactive isotopes. He was followed by Dr. Frederick Bonte, Professor of Radiology at Southwestern, who discussed the clinical application of radioactive iodine in the diagnosis and treatment of thyroid disease. He pointed out that this new tool in the doctor's armamentarium has made it possible to more exactly diagnose and treat cases of thyroid disorders. Dr. Bonte complimented the Stephenville Hospital for having made this service available to the community.

This was one of the most successful programs of the year and was enthusiastically received by all who were present.

H. Proffitt Finds Relief thru Chiropractic

Mr. Proffitt came into our Hico office suffering with intense pain in the extreme right side of his face. The condition had progressed to the extent that he could not talk. Three weeks later he voluntarily gave us the following letter:

Dr. Robt. H. Walker

Dear Dr. Walker: I want to give you my many thanks for finding the cause of my trouble so quickly. You can use any part or all of this letter to tell all my many friends about what you have done for me. I went to Scott and Dallas. They didn't give me any encouragement at all. Then my first visit to your Hico office you found the cause of my trouble. I had not slept, eat much, or talked any in two weeks, and on my third visit to your office you had me talking, eating, and sleeping. Mrs. Proffitt and myself thank God and you for your help. Respectfully, D. H. and Mrs. Proffitt. Office Hours: Tuesday and Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

We hope to have a large crowd out in May 1960. We failed to see a number of people Saturday who usually attend. However several were here Saturday that had not been here in some time. #### 4-H DRESS REVUE

This subject is covered in another part of the paper but I just had to add some of my own observations about it. The girls have done a beautiful job of carrying on their clothing work this year. The leaders who have worked with them have given so generously of themselves and their time. Each community owes these leaders a very special debt of gratitude for the fine work that they do with the youngsters. Those of you who missed the Dress Revue really missed a treat.

WASHING COTTON SHAG THROW RUGS

One advantage of small cotton shag rugs is that they can be washed. But how they look after tubbing depends a great deal on your laundering methods.

First decide whether your washer can take your rug. A rug of more than five pounds dry weight probably is a bit heavy for a washer and dryer regardless of size. Better send heavy ones and those larger than three by five feet to a laundry.

If you decide you can wash your rug in your machine, do so before the rug becomes very soiled. Vacuum it thoroughly first. Use hot water if the rug is quite soiled, warm water if it's not so dirty. Use the soap or syndet (synthetic detergent) you like for colored tones.

Place one rug or two on ones in the washer. Be careful how you load some machines. Balance the load. With one rug may have to add bath mats or towels for balance. A wash of six to eight minutes should be enough. Rinse well to remove a bit of washing compound. Left will increase future soiling.

A dryer fluffs shag rugs beautifully. Overdrying has a tendency to mat the pile, so check the drying time carefully. Rugs can successfully dried on a line. Whether they are washed in automatic or non-automatic machine with a wringer-type machine loosen the rollers before you put the rug through.

A fabric softener added to a clear rinse water makes a rug more fluffy.

USE THE RIGHT KIND OF FLOOR WAX

It pays to read labels on wax containers. The right kind of your floor is a great house aid. The wrong kind can do damage.

In general there are three kinds of floor waxes—paste, liquid, and self-polishing. Paste waxes are the most common. Liquid waxes are more solvent than paste. Self-polishing waxes give maximum protection, a soft glow to wood floors in linoleum and vinyl tile. Liquid polishing wax is also excellent. The same purpose and ease to apply. Neither should ever be on asphalt tile or many types of rubber tile, for the solvent will pit asphalt surfaces and set rubber.

Self-polishing wax is water soluble and is the kind recommended for asphalt and many kinds of rubber. It may be used on linoleum, enameled felt base vinyl. You may use it on wood cork only if the surface is sealed with sealer, shellac or varnish and the finish is in good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Macel V. Coleman of Midland visited Saturday night in the home of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Jones. Coleman and children who are in the States on furlough following two years in South Iran where Mr. Coleman is employed with an oil company. They will soon return for two more years in Iran.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Marshall visited last week in San Marcos with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Marshall and son. They also visited in Loraine with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Nubbin Segrest and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ratliff spent the week end in Fort Worth with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Luckie and Sherry Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ratliff and Vickie Lynn.

Mrs. McKandless was unable to come due to employment.

The writer visited Saturday in Dublin in the home of our daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison. Others present were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pittman and Karen.

We finished up the work at the cemetery last week. We are glad we have in good condition for the coming week end, since it is Mother's Day. However all lots will have to be worked again soon.

Yes, another Mother's Day is nearing and again let us say, we hope all who have a living mother will honor her on her day. For soon will the old home be broken. No living mother or dad to visit. If possible visit them and make their heart glad.

Below we give the words of a song which we like very much, in honor of all dear parents:

While strolling alone in the country; Reviewing the scenes new and old; I found an old fashioned log cabin; So beautiful there to behold; A stranger was standing in silence; His eyes firmly fixed on the door; My heart ached in pity to see him for these were the words that it bore.

Chorus
And the sign read, an old log cabin for sale; An old oaken bucket and well; Easy terms; Just keep a log on the fire each day and a light burning bright in the dell; Many years an old couple so patiently looked; For a boy whose last promise did fail; Now the old rocking chairs will be rocking no more; There's an old log cabin for sale.

AN "INDESTRUCTIBLE" COTTON FABRIC

In the constant battle of "cotton vs. synthetics," Texas' major crop has been given a boost with the development of a preservative which should give cotton fabric a better advantage on the market. Cotton has always suffered a serious disadvantage because of its low rot resistant qualities. Each year, synthetics have grabbed more and more of the fabric market, partially due to superior lasting qualities under extreme weather conditions. Now that picture may change as a result of a practical method for weatherizing cotton materials.

The improved properties imparted to cotton give it outstanding rot resistance as well as improving its chances for longer survival under ordinary weather hazards. This research development should open up even more markets for

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. B. LAWRENCE

Dr. C. B. Cathey, on Circle S Ranch, is making some improvements that will not only improve the place but will save some money for the ranch. He is replacing all the gates on the ranch with good, well-made cattle guards.

Cattle guards save time and money that in a few years pay for themselves. There is much time lost on any ranch or farm when gates are opened and closed. The time is expensive when the cost of labor is considered. Too, wear on pick-ups and other machinery soon mounts up. Gas is saved, as well as brake bands.

More and more are cattle guards coming into use over the county, but not too many places are using them between pastures. Dr. Cathey is making all the guards plenty wide so that most any size truck or piece of farm machinery can go through them without hitting the sides.

Cy is proud of the new bull he bought a week or so ago. He is going to use him on some of the young females he is retaining in his breeding herd. Retaining outstanding females and using good bulls on them is a system of breeding recommended to any breeder of livestock, sheep or goats.

Mark that date, May 16, for the wool preparation demonstration on the Tom Dedford Ranch. Starts at 10:00 and ends after the barbecue at noon. Sheep and goat men are invited.

Tuesday night, May 19, is an important date to list. This is the date that Murray Cox will Untreated cotton was in shreds after one week. But treated cotton fabric still retained 100 per cent of its breaking strength after five months. The preservative not only helps cloth withstand the ravages of outdoor weather but, in some cases, will aid in keeping colors bright after long exposure to the sun. Cost of the fabric treatment is expected to be relatively low, according to research specialists. The method can be utilized with conventional textile finishing equipment. The end result should give cotton a long-desired break in its struggle to keep abreast of the synthetic market.

THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN—

Looking to the Future—Plans Being Formed for Attack

By CRAWFORD C. MARTIN, Senator, 12th District

If an enemy were to attack Austin, the state's legislative, executive and judicial systems would be hard hit, if not destroyed.

In this situation, the President has two choices—he may either declare martial law or install civilian Federal authorities.

With this prospect in mind, the Legislature is studying a constitutional amendment and three accompanying bills, in order to provide for continuation of the state government after an attack.

Adapted by the State Attorney General from a pattern drawn up by the Council of State Governments, these measures have been approved by the Senate State Affairs and Constitutional Amendments Committee.

The first, S.B. 340 which has passed the Senate, extends the line of succession for the office of Governor. At present the Lt. Governor and President Pro Tempore of the Senate are next to serve. The bill would add, in this order, the Speaker of the House, the Attorney General, the Secretary of State, and the Chief Justices of the various Courts of Civil Appeals, beginning with number one.

Our constitution provides for a legal temporary capitol only when Austin is occupied by an enemy or a disease. Senate Joint Resolution 14, which would amend the constitution to allow continuation of government in case of enemy attack, extends this power of relocation. It has passed the Senate. S.B. 342 is the enacting legislation which would follow the amendment. County and local governments could relocate under S.B. 341.

According to the Council of State Governments, 35 states have introduced measures along these lines. Among our neighbors, New Mexico and Arkansas have adopted the plan.

If war did occur, these steps would only provide partial answers to the problems involved, but they would at least make sure our state government would survive.

AVOID LEGAL TROUBLES IN REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

Thinking of buying or building a new home this year? Whether you buy a completed house or simply a lot to build on, how will you know whether you are receiving a good title to the property you purchase? The safest method is to have a title examination made—that is, a careful study of the abstract and other title evidence.

Here are a few of the common sources of trouble in real estate transactions to show why the minor expense of a title examination is justified.

Many persons sign "earnest money contracts" believing that they are mere receipts with no serious implications. In reality they may specify, among other things, the kind of title you must accept.

A "warranty deed" from a responsible seller is comforting to have but it is a poor substitute for a careful title examination. A warranty deed does not guarantee a marketable title.

Moreover, serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller on a warranty deed is dead, has moved to an unknown address, or is bankrupt. Even if he is available a good title is much better than a law suit.

The fact that the seller has possession of an "abstract" does not mean that he owns the property. An abstract is only a history of a title. Possession of an abstract no more indicates ownership of land than possession of the history of Texas mean that you own the state.

Some purchasers of land feel safe because the title is being examined at the time of purchase by an attorney for the mortgage lenders. This seems logical but is a dangerous theory. Mortgage lenders are sometimes willing to accept less than good record title as security. This is sound business for them because, among other reasons, the chances are that the mortgage will be paid off so that no expense in perfecting the title would ever need be incurred. It is risky business for you when you are putting your life savings into the purchase.

These are a few of the reasons why a title examination is an important safeguard to you. When it is completed, the attorney gives you a written opinion stating his conclusions as to who owns the land, the defects in or charges against such ownership, and the requirements to be met if you make good record title.

Off-hand this may seem a needless operation. In fact, it is not. It requires the interpretation of various deeds, mortgages, wills, decrees and other instruments, consideration of the order in which transactions and events affecting the title occurred; and the citation of statutes and court decisions to the various situations closed in the abstract.
