Plans for Annual Reunion Shaping Up; Dates Set

Services Held Here For World War II Veteran, Everett O. Finch, 44

Funeral rites were conducted by Rev. George Harris at Barrow-Rutledge Funeral Chapel Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Everett O. Finch, 44, who died early Monday in Hico Hospital. Interment was made in Hico Cemetery. Mr. Finch, a native of Gonzales County, moved here in 1958 from Henderson. He had been employed by Woodard Saweway Produce Co. as Poultry Pathologist since moving here. He was a veteran of World War II. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nell Finch of Hico; two sons, Ronnie Finch and Al Finch of Hico; his father, Olive Finch of Smithville; his mother, Mrs. J. T. Smith of Waelder; one sister, Mrs. Frank Patterson of Houston; and one brother, Steve Finch of Compton, Calif. Pallbearers were Jack Henry and J. E. Walker of Dublin, Ike Williams of Iredell, Derel Fillingim and Ralph Jaggars of Hico, and Henry Mayfield of Clairette. Honorary pallbearers were J. B. Woodard, Al Hill and Paul Ray.

Dates Set July 29, 30, 31 And Aug. 1

Plans for this year's edition of the Annual Old Settlers Reunion are progressing satisfactorily, according to Manager Harold Walker. Dates for the Reunion—the 73rd—have been set for July 29, 30, 31, and August 1. An attempt was made to get the dates back to the traditional first week in August, but carnival conflicts prevented the change. Bob Hammond Shows of Houston, which has furnished the midway attraction here for several years, will again play the Reunion. Reunion booth rentals have started, and the manager urged interested businessmen to reserve theirs as soon as possible. Thirty booths are available, which rent for a nominal fee. The booths have proven over a period of years to be one of the most popular of all attractions during the four-day celebration. Parade plans are already in the making with the intention of staging an even larger and better parade this year. Contacts with various organizations have been made, and members of the Waco Horseless Carriage Club have indicated that they would send several of their antique automobiles to be driven in the parade this year. An attempt will also be made to bring back the Karem Temple Motor Patrol, the motorcycle group which performed here last year and was so popular among parade viewers. The second annual Miss Reunion contest will be held on opening night. Chairman of the contest has not been announced at this time. Last year the beauty contest was one of the highlights of entertainment during the four days. Miss Judy Beth Moore is the current Miss Reunion. Runnersup last year were Judy Griffiths and Julia Hedges. Other information pertaining to the Reunion will be forthcoming within the next few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. East are on a two-week vacation. Mrs. East is cashier-bookkeeper for Community Public Service Company, and Mr. East is an employee of Pure Milk Company at Waco.

IT HAPPENED HERE OR NEAR—

Overcomes Great Handicap To Work and Serve Others

By E. E. DAWSON

Greta suffered a terrible accident in her very early childhood. A horse kicked her in the face and on the body and came very near snuffing out life entirely. The deplorable accident left her crippled, maimed, handicapped. Her affectionate parents did all they could to enable her to recover, taking her to some of the outstanding surgeons of the day. Those medical servants did all they could, but Greta did not recover full use of her crippled body. Now above two score years old she lives and works and serves in most useful capacities despite her handicaps. Some years ago this column dealt with saints, and a list of modern-day saints within the limits of the writer's knowledge was given. This week two are added to the list. None of those formerly named and these now added have been canonized as saints by a council or a church dignitary. Yet they are saints in all assuredness. Greta is a saint. As truly as any ever canonized, she is a saint. In spite of the near fatal accident she started to school in due season, finished the elementary grades, then high school, and on to college where she won her degree. Since then she has steadily advanced in noble characteristics, in her home, her community, her church, her denomination. Today she is secretary of the church to which she belongs and has served many years in that capacity. In addition she serves as secretary of the county organization of her faith. For long years she has served as a worker in the organization of the church of her community. She and her saintly mother now live alone since the husband-father recently died. Greta has a garden, plants and trains the flowers in the yard, drives a car with skill and without accident. I have often remarked there seems to be nothing that the girl cannot do. The other saint that I add to the list is Robyna Jackson Robinson. Unlike Greta, Robyna seems to have a perfect body and as she has added a decade to a half century of years, she is a vivid, lithe, comely woman, carrying on in an effective way, adding numerous good deeds to a long list of worthy qualities of mind and spirit. Wife and I went by her comely home in a Central Texas city recently, and then she came for a visit with us. Both occasions were so refreshing, for which we are forever grateful. Almost a half century ago I was her pastor and came to know the sterling quality of her character and the efficiency of her service. Then the years separated us and for many a year neither knew where the other was. Robyna is a mother. Two sons of noble character serve two strong churches in another state, and are honored with duties of high character by their denomination. Robyna helped to rear three step-children also. She served for a long term of years as counselor in numerous educational institutions of her faith, the last being Mercer University of Georgia. She has two sisters and gives constant encouragement to those splendid women. She has a brother who holds a very important post in the affairs of Texas. One brother is a high school teacher of long experience.

I assert with complete assurance that Robyna is a saint by any rule of measurement, and salute her as such! What makes a saint? The Roman Catholic Church says a miracle, like turning water into wine, then I dissent. Back to the question: What makes a saint? Three forces combine: God, Life and Self. God works in His providences and His grace, either sending or allowing sorrow and illness and struggles and suffering and disappointment, likewise joy and peace and good fortune. Then life with its inevitabilities, its sudden turns, its ups and downs, its storms and frights and sunshine and shadow. The final element is Self. Greta heroically stood up against all her odds and won the battle, with the aid of God and Life. Robyna struck out at her obstacles and refused to be discouraged and overwhelmed. When sorrow like a great hurricane obscured her life's sun, she wept and faced the future and won her battle. This humble writer is forever grateful for the brave souls that rely on God and face Life heroically and refuses to be overcome, and finally become saints who exemplify the fine qualities of these two noble women.

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. R. LAWRENCE

Aphids and thrips are still working pretty hard on cotton. It seems that we are having a little more trouble each year from the aphids.

This insect is about like the green bug that works on small grain in the winter. As a rule it is not too easy to see on cotton as it usually works on the bottom side of the leaves. Leaves that have aphids on them generally will appear to be wilted some and kinda droopy like, turned down at the edges slightly wrinkled. They are not exactly like thrip damage but are similar to it.

For the control of this insect parathion or malathion should be added to the regular cotton insecticide. I found some fields last week that were working alive with the aphid.

Thrips are very very small insects and are not too easy to see on a cotton plant. They do their damage to the leaves and the bud of the plant. Many fields, when examined closely, will show the bud to be kinda burned, dried up or badly stunted. Leaves will appear wrinkled and the entire plant will not have a healthy look. Toxaphene-DDT should give good control for this insect as well as the other early season ones—endrin, aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor also are good materials and will do equally as well as any.

Right now it looks like grasshoppers are going to be running out of our ears before the season is over. They have begun to move from pastures to gardens and some fields. Any poison that is used to control the hopper is dangerous to livestock and should not be used in pastures where cattle or other livestock is grazing.

Toxaphene, 2 quarts; heptachlor, 2 pints; aldrin, 2 pints; or dieldrin one and a third pints to the acre should give good control.

T. J. Thompson's coastal Bermuda grass set out last year is making a pretty good growth so far this year considering the small amount of rain it has had. The grass is in the field just south of the bridge on highway 281 and it is in the south end of this field. The rows are easily seen and you might stop and look it over.

Believe Bart Oates can raise the biggest beets of any one in the state. He has a few rows in his garden that he has been irrigating and they are mostly the size of watermelons (little melons, that is.)

Egg prices are mighty low most of the egg producers of county are planning to ride thing right on through.

Claude Holley of Fairy, and Bert Greater north of Jonesboro are building new houses and expect egg prices to come back they can pay for them. Albert installed an automatic feeder his new house.

Two egg producers are making plans to air condition their ing houses this summer, and hope they will be able to do so. Seems that air conditioning out production and also some of the stress placed on ing hens from hot summer erature.

They stated that their daughter, Patsy, was a member of a high school graduating class last Thursday evening, and that their son, James Ellis, graduated from TCU last August and is now in the service and stationed in Germany.

Other recent donors are Bill Abel, $2.50; H. S. Pitts, Stephenville, $2.00; Mrs. Lilla Byrd, Carlton, $5.00; Cecil Hutton, Corpus Christi, $5.00, and his sister, Mrs. Fannie Washburn, $2.00. Most of these are regular donors and we appreciate their thoughtfulness in the last resting place of their loved ones.

The second mowing and clean up job at the cemetery was completed Monday. The work would have been completed early last week, but Mr. Brunson received a badly wrenched back when a tractor fell on him, and the work was delayed. He came down early Monday to let us know he was going to work on the tractor until the dampness dried off to finish the mowing. He was lying on his side under the tractor when it slipped off the jack. Luckily a 6x8 piece of timber was also under the tractor which caught a portion of the weight or he might have been much more seriously injured. Claude Lunsford, who was with him, jacked the tractor off his body.

JUNE DAIRY MONTH: RECOGNITION OF A VITAL INDUSTRY

This is dairy month, the time of year when we pay tribute to what is perhaps our most vital farm industry because of its essential health-giving products. As the saying goes, milk is nature's most nearly perfect food. To help us to remember that it is dairy month and to make us more conscious of our constant need of milk, here are some interesting facts about milk and milk products:

There are more than 200 nutrients in milk. Considering its cost per pound, milk offers more food for the money than any other food material available.

There is enough energy provided by one glass of milk to play 9 holes of golf, clean house for 2 hours, walk one mile, sew for two hours, or climb 186 stairs.

The record high of almost 60 billion quarts of milk produced in 1957 was enough to fill a river more than 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and 3 feet deep. The river would stretch from Boston on the east to San Francisco on the west coast. Square quart milk bottles filled with this amount of milk and placed side by side would form a band around the world 140 times, and these same bottles, stacked one on top of the other, would reach to the moon thirty times.

The fastest-growing milk product, sales-wise, in the U.S., is cottage cheese. Consumption of the popular low-calorie, high-value food increased 80 per cent from 2.9 lbs. per capita in 1947 to 5.2 lbs. in 1957.

There are some 400 cheese recognized by name today. In spite of its widespread use, cheese was not prepared commercially until about 100 years ago. It takes 10 quarts of milk to make one pound of cheese. In other words, 20 lbs. of milk provide a single pound of cheese. Finished cheese contains a large proportion of the milk proteins, the minerals, the fat, and the fat soluble vitamins found in the milk from which it is made. Per capita consumption of cheese in the United States has risen from 4.7 pounds per person in 1925 to nearly 8 pounds in 1958.

Ice cream making dates back to about the first century A.D. when Nero sent slaves to the mountain tops for the required snow and ice. Commercial production dates back to 1851 in Baltimore by the hand-cranked freezer invented in 1846 by a woman, Nancy Johnson.

Butter has been churned for thousands of years as a home-made product. The first butter creamery established in the United States began operation in 1848 at Goshen, New York. From that inauspicious beginning, the butter industry spread across the nation to become a vital part of dairying.

Dairying is the greatest single source of farm income in the nation. About 20 cents of each dollar of cash receipts from farm products comes from dairying. In other words, one-fifth of the nation's agriculture income is from dairying.

Montreal . . . City of Many Attractions

From Mount Royal in the center of Montreal, a breath-taking view is to be had of the city with the mighty St. Lawrence and the new Seaway in the background. On a clear day the peaks of the Adirondacks in New York State and the Green Mountains in Vermont may be seen from Mount Royal.

Montreal sparkles with a particular charm and excitement of its own, a cosmopolitan world of French and English, with several other languages and ways of life thrown in for good measure.

Cultural activities thrive in Montreal the year round. During the summer, there are symphony concerts at the chalet in Mount Royal Park, set in the side of the mountain with a superb view of the city at night. August is Montreal Festivals Month, featuring concerts, plays and art shows. Among most popular attractions are the open air theatrical performances in the tiny Greek amphitheater in the center of Lafontaine Park. The stage, surrounded by a tiny moat, is the center of a pastoral setting in the heart of the city.

Theater thrives in Montreal, both in French and English. As many as a dozen productions may be on the boards at one time. And for those who seek them out there are often attractions in other languages, such as Yiddish, German and Italian.

The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts offers a fine collection of classical and modern art. And there is scarcely an exhibition that does not feature some of Canada's most promising artists. On the opposite side of Sherbrooke Street, and on the side streets nearby are some of the little private galleries that abound in the city, specializing in contemporary artists from both Canada and abroad.

Montreal, second largest French speaking city in the world, has night life, lots of it. There are scores of chic cocktail bars and supper clubs with intimate entertainment, tiny bistros and brasseries and entertainment palaces, where the world's great cabaret artists and local talent entertain. The newest is Salle Bonaventure in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, featuring "name" entertainment in a charming old World atmosphere.

There is a world of gaiety, excitement and diversity awaiting the visitor to Montreal. FMS

Cementing Friendly Relations

There's nothing like a lump of sugar to cement a friendship between the descendant of one of the original inhabitants of 4,200-square-mile Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies, and some amused and intrigued visitors from down Boston way.

Congress Reports

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C.—There is a growing menace of mail order obscenity. The sale of obscene literature and photographs by mail has now reached sales estimated at more than half a billion dollars a year.

The postmaster general has emphasized that the absolute privacy of the mail is a basic American right. The post office does not and should not violate this right unless it has absolute evidence that the mail is being used for unlawful purposes. For the Post Office Department to reach this problem and prosecute offenders, they must rely on the complaints of an alert citizenry.

Until August of 1958 an additional handicap was on the Post Office Department. Obscenity laws had shackled the Government by permitting it to prosecute only at the point of origin of the mail. This meant that court actions occurred mostly in New York City and Los Angeles, but could not be prosecuted in the community where it was received. In the first place, the offense was difficult to prove by witnesses, and second, the standards of morality and decency are usually different in the place where this filth is received than from the cities where it is mailed.

In 1958 an amendment was enacted into law, which permits the Post Office Department to prosecute violations where the obscene material is received, as well as where it was mailed. During the past year 14,000 separate investigations have been completed. About two-thirds of the investigations were based on complaints from American parents whose children receive lewd and obscene materials through the mails.

A child need not have indicated any interest in this trash to receive it. The peddlers of filth openly solicit young people whose names they can obtain by various methods. They have all sorts of schemes, such as an advertisement to purchase some innocent item such as a baseball bat, a doll or an air rifle. They receive the child's name and they are then on the mailing list.

In a recent raid by Postal Inspectors in New York City, one dealer in pornography had 17 tons of highly obscene printed and filmed materials for mailing, and lists containing the names of thousands of school students, culled out of high school yearbooks.

The Post Office Department estimates that between 700,000 and a million children in American homes will receive unsolicited and pornographic literature through the mails this year.

Undoubtedly the defiant peddlers of obscenity are contributing to the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency.

From investigations of armed robbery, extortion, embezzlement and forgery, authorities find that those guilty were early collectors of obscene pictures and films.

Of all the correspondence we received following a recent radio program in which the "Prayer for the Middle-Age" was read, we like the following note best:

"When I heard Jack Nunery read that prayer for the middle-age, I thought to myself, 'Golly, I need that prayer!' By the time I had your name down, he was reading another editorial and the name of the paper and the town was out of my mind.

"If you are not out of copies please send me one. I'm way past middle age, old enough to have middle aged grandchildren, but I realized all at once that I was trying to get folks to do things my way, think my way, when all the time they are probably a lot smarter than I am.

"It would be nice to read it every morning and then again at night and see if I've improved. It's never too late to mend our ways. Mrs. T. E. Glass, Fort Worth."

Mrs. Glass certainly has a point, and wouldn't it be nice if we could all improve our ways where we could get along with everyone, not talk about our fellow citizens, and just keep our nose out of other people's business in general.

People are the funniest creatures, but as Mrs. Glass said, it's never too late to mend our ways.

The season of family reunions and other gatherings is here, and between now and the first of September, many people will take advantage of Hico City Park for their gatherings.

In past years people from all sections of the country have met here for their annual get-togethers, and most any Saturday and Sunday one can find one, two or even maybe three such gatherings at one time at the park. Local people who will be having a part in these gatherings within the next few months are urged to give the News Review a written report of the affair.

Reports of reunions and other activities should be in our office not later than Tuesday noon the week following the activity order to insure print. And, I urge each and everyone to do in copy while the item is still news value, as so many times have to hold out some items which is perhaps three weeks or more late in getting to our office. Hesitate in omitting any item news of your friends and relatives, but current items should have priority.

Also during the next month or two, why not send us a sketch of your vacation plans or on that trip that many of you will be taking? Your friends and relatives—especially those who reside in other places—are always happy to read about your plans.

From the looks of our column this week, we won't have any problem keeping up with the younger people of town. Just off to a great start, and with cooperation of each and every one she plans to tell of the youth activities, visits, new jobs, etc. any one who att week, and most everyone will her column both newsy and interesting.

ADDING MACHINE paper for at the News Review.
