NUMBER 26.

Christmas Bonus Days Get Underway Friday

First Drawing Scheduled Saturday, December 12

Hico merchants will again collaborate this Christmas season to offer residents of this trade territory an added incentive to do their shopping at home.

The trade-at-home program is sponsored by the Hico Civic Club.

Cash awards in the amount of $465.00 will be distributed over a four-day period, to be given lucky ticket holders. Tickets have been printed and participating merchants will start passing out the chances today, Friday, November 27.

A total of 40 merchants are participating in the program this year, which is the same number which was represented last year. This is the fifth consecutive year that local merchants have offered the free prizes.

The first drawing will be held Saturday, December 12, at 3:30 p.m., and five cash awards will be offered that day. A first prize of $50.00, second of $25.00, and three other awards of $10.00 each will be given away that day.

The next drawing will be held the following Wednesday, December 16 at the same time, and prizes the same as the first day will be given away.

Third day of the drawing will be Saturday, December 19, with a schedule of prizes the same as the first two days.

Climax of the huge give-away will come Thursday, December 24, when prizes totaling $150.00 will be distributed.

On the final day, first prize will be worth $20.00; second $50.00; third $20.00; and fourth, fifth and sixth worth $10.00 each.

Committee members working on the program have been Ray Cheek, W. C. Howard, Billy Doty, M. I. Knudson and Conda Salmon. Any merchant who may have been missed is urged to contact one of the above-named committee members at once.

Local stores are literally "overflowing" with good, first quality merchandise at this time, and shoppers can most surely find whatever they have on their Christmas lists in Hico stores.

Much new merchandise is being displayed daily by merchants in an effort to offer the buying public a wide selection. Whatever the shoppers may have on their lists—from a necktie to a new automobile—they can find it in Hico.

IS IT?—Tyrus King discovered the above last Sunday in his pasture north of Hico. It first was a little suspicious of the huge, shape-shaped object. After considerable local weather observer W. R. Hampton through with an answer. The object was a deflated weather balloon that fell on King's place last Monday week. All of the instruments had apparently been removed. The balloon was sighted falling on that particular day, and a helicopter was also in the area at the time.

WERE IN HICO

By E. V. M.

Have you to be thankful this season of Thanks? Many of us have more to be thankful for than we would expect, and for some reason we do not take all of our blessings granted.

With the third grade of Hico Elementary School, the following letter received at class this week, and see how just about cover the things for which we certainly should be thankful for.

Have been making post-graduate school about what we are thankful for.

We are thankful that we are in America. We are thankful for our homes and families. We are thankful for our churches. We are thankful for our food and clothing. We are all thankful for our school and friends."

Newspaper editors are among those who like to accomplish. One editor, I felt the following letter was too much:

Mr. Last year you printed that at least I think it was a newspaper, that interested me very much, but I have for some time. Will you send me another of same, if it was your paper.

There may sound a little bit, and maybe it is, but I don't see some of the reasons we have from people. It is impossible. So please have patience and understand that it is impossible to do.

One I found hanging on my hair cut like dad. The little boy said as he went into the barber chair, "hole in the top."

The News Review has just received word from the North Pole that Santa Claus wants the local paper to again serve as a central receiving point for Christmas "wish letters" from the youngsters in this area.

As in the past the NR is happy to be able to serve St. Nick in this fashion, and all the youngsters in this area are urged to get their letters in the mail early in order that we will be able to get them delivered in time.

All the youngsters need to do is address the letters to: Santa Claus, c/o The Hico News Review, Hico, Texas, and we'll see that he gets them.

The letters will be published at a later date in the News Review.

FAIRY

By MRS. EUNICE DANIEL

We have mostly fair weather at this writing, with cooler temperatures and rain predicted in the next few days.

Farmers are still very busy with their work, and a few who still have cotton to pull are trying to get out what they can before more bad weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bolstad and children, DeAnn and Glenn Edward of Laurel, Mississippi, came in Saturday for a week's visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover. Mrs. Ralph Spencer and little son, Dickie of Lubbock, came in Sunday afternoon for a visit through Thursday in the Hoover home, and to be with her sister and family, the Bolstads. Mr. Spencer and Don are expected in Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving here.

The writer and sister, Mrs. Myrtle Enger of Brady, were business visitors in Stephenville and Dublin last Friday afternoon. While in Stephenville we visited a short while in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jacobs. While there Mrs. Jacobs informed us of the death of Jim Jacobs, former barber at Fairy. He passed away on Tuesday, November 10 in the Stephenville Hospital. He had been ill for five years. Funeral services were held the following day, with burial in the East Stephenville Cemetery. He is survived by his wife, one son, Arnold, and a daughter, Pauline, and grandchildren. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giese of 309 West Pierson in Hamilton celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last Sunday week. They were married in Clifton November 14, 1909. In honor of the occasion the children prepared an anniversary dinner for them, and the following guests: Mrs. Betty Edna, Kinsey Albert Giese, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Giese, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. The Giese family are former residents of Fairy.

The writer and sister, Mrs. Enger, attended singing at Olin Sunday afternoon. A very nice crowd was present, and all enjoyed a good song service.

Nona Brunson is employed at the cemetery today, Monday. We hope to be able to catch up on such work as needs to be done.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Noland moved to Hamilton the past week end. They recently purchased a home there.

While at the Hico Hospital Sunday with our sister, Mrs. Gladys Cox, who was some better during the week end, we met Miss Bonnie Cox of College Station, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Cox, who handed us $10.00 for the benefit of the Fairy

Migraine Headaches are Curable

Every three or four days a terrific pain would begin at the back and on one side of the head of this forty-seven year old housewife, and pain would gradually take possession of one entire side of her head, including one eye. She had tried everything she knew, including surgery at a Temple hospital where some nerves were severed. She obtained relief from the surgery but before long the pains returned.

Dr. Robt. H. Walker

When she came to our clinic, she stated that she felt tired all time, was nervous and easily upset.

This patient reported being thrown from a buggy when she was 16 years old, landing on her head, neck and shoulder.

A spinal analysis and spinal xrays located spinal misalignment causing nerve interference. Corrective adjustments were started and within two months time all of her symptoms had cleared up, and now she comes in for check-ups once every to weeks to prevent recurrence and maintain health.

you'll have room to work. A lap-board that pulls out of the counter works fine, too.

Keep supplies on a shelf or in a drawer nearby. If space is a problem, store your equipment in a large bread box.

Some cheese spreads, canned tuna fish, meats, dried fruits, pickles, olives, etc. can be stored on shelves above the center. Keep some good "munchers" such as cheese, crackers, canned potato sticks, and canned nuts on hand, too.

If you have a freezer, keep a wide variety of breads on hand—hamburger buns and frankfurter rolls, pumpernickle, rye or nut bread. Some types of sandwiches can be made ahead of time and frozen. To check on sandwich fillings and other prepared foods that freeze well, get a copy of the extension bulletin on "Frozen Foods" from your county home demonstration agent.

— H R F — WHAT ABOUT BETWEEN MEAL SNACKS?

Ever stop to think how much you eat or drink between meals? And even more important perhaps what kind of food or beverage are you adding to your food intake this way?

Between-meal nibbling and snacking accounts for as much as one-fourth of the daily food intake in some instances. This may not be bad if such eating provides good nutrition—not merely "empty calories." Sweets, potato dips, and carbonated beverages are "empty calories." They provide little or no nutrients.

Snacks after school, during late study hours, at the party or after the show can be tasty as well as nutritious. If you are on the heavy side or want to maintain your normal weight, eat foods low in calories or energy value. Fresh fruits and vegetables are excellent. Carrot sticks, celery curls, cucumber slices, radish roses, and a variety of fresh fruits are always on hand.

For between-meal beverages try fruit juices—plain or in combination. Milk is an excellent beverage containing many nutrients. Serve plain or combined with fruit juices or flavorings.

Cheese, like milk, is a good source of calcium. At snack time, arrange a tray of various kinds of cheese spreads or make a cheese dip. Serve with crackers or strips of vegetables like celery or carrots when the gang drops by after school.

ANY TIME IS TURKEY TIME
Anytime is turkey time, but Thanksgiving and Christmas, especially, are days when our thoughts turn to delicious golden-brown turkey that has been roasted to perfection.

Americans have been choosing turkey as a holiday favorite for more than 200 years, but according to Marshall Miller, extension poultry marketing specialist, the modern turkey is far superior to the one of grandmothers' day. For all practical purposes, research workers have actually created a new bird. Improved programs in breeding, feeding, processing and marketing have made today's turkeys deep and wide bodied with a high percentage of meat to bone.

Turkey is a luxury meat that can be bought at bargain prices. It is high in protein, low in calories, delicious, wholesome and nutritious. Turkeys can be bought ready to cook, small ones for small families and larger sizes for larger families. They make a most welcome holiday gift. Turkeys are in plentiful supply and are available at economical prices. The quality of the birds now going on market is unusually high, and turkeys are a best food buy.

when buying a turkey are: size, quality, wholesomeness and grade.

The size of the turkey depends on the number of people to be served. About three-fourths a pound of oven ready turkey for each person is a generous share.

The quality of the turkey is important. Grade A, the best quality, has a covering fat over the entire body, broad breasted, bulging thighs and large drum sticks.

Wholesomeness of the bird is indicated by a USDA supervision stamp usually attached to the bird—usually the wing—which shows a profile of a turkey.

The grade of the turkey, which indicates quality, is shown by a tag attached with the letters A, B or C. If the turkey is both graded and inspected under USDA supervision, there may be two tags.

In cooking the turkey, allow 15-20 minutes per pound of oven-ready turkey weight. It is recommended that you cook the turkey at an oven temperature of about 325 degrees. The larger the turkey, the less time per pound is needed to cook it.

Coffee Time

CHATTER

By HELEN OGLE

Enjoyed my day off last week. Worked in the yard all day and I don't mind saying, I hope it's fishing weather next week. Doing yard work is no way to spend a day off.

Had a nice visit with an old friend, Mrs. Sam Looney, whom I lived neighbor to some 11 or 12 years ago. We briefly caught up on the past, and really realized how time does fly.

All right, Harry Hudson—You asked for it—I know I looked stupid out mulching (not mowing) the leaves in the yard, and I'm not helping the News Review much, but—I can't see that the Post Office is any better off from your assistance, and that toboggan cap you wear is the "beatnik"st thing that I ever saw! (Hope we both don't get in the dog house over this).

Overheard Lucille McCullough say that all she needed was a cigar. (Heavens knows what for).

And Mollie Wolfe will be glad to see this year end, just to see what's in store for us next year!

Ever heard of Sea Foam or Gulf Spray Cranberry Sauce? If you were watching the 6 o'clock news on channel 4 Monday night, you probably did. I think that the lady had reference to a brand of cranberries called "Ocean Spray." It looks as though cranberries have taken over the TV Quiz scandal.

Mike Reeves wants to give his mother a "Quiet Butler" and a "Lazy Susan" for Christmas. I found out what he meant by a Quiet Butler, and asked what kind of Lazy Susan he was getting. He said he thought that Mother wanted a little girl named Susan and that she would be lazy.

Betty Stephen and Louise Blair returned home from their deer hunt, with this report—"We learned how to cook and wash dishes. Menu for one evening meal—40 biscuits, 10 pounds of potatoes, (fried), 8 pounds bacon, and they lost count of the scrambled eggs." No deer to their credit, but a wonderful time.

Everybody's talking Thanksgiving plans this week. Don't forget let us know about your holiday visitors or visits.

Heard Wilena Sherrard say they were going to Bryan to visit her sister-in-law for the holiday.

This is what we call a short week at the News Review, and we've really had to rush things. Just hope we haven't rushed you too much, but we have to get the paper out early to be able to join everyone in observing the holiday.

I haven't had time for coffee this week, so haven't chatted with anyone. Have overheard people talking, though, and they are really thinking of Christmas shopping in a serious way. And this is easy to understand, as there are only four more shopping Saturdays.

Others are talking of how they will spend the holiday. Most people will be with their parents or relatives, but some will be deer hunting, others meeting with friends, and some will take the day to rest and relax. Then there are a few who will continue to work even though they don't choose to. Regardless of how you spend the day, we at the News Review would like to wish you a very pleasant Thanksgiving Day.

China Painting Class Is New Interest Here

By HELEN OGLE

In the home of Mrs. Harry Hudson and Mrs. J. W. Fairley is the workshop for a china painting class that meets every Friday afternoon from 9 to 12. Mrs. Sid Whitman of Stephenville is leading the group, who have been painting for two months now.

A reporter visited the class Friday morning, and would like to share with our readers what was learned about the group.

Mrs. Fairley and Mrs. Hudson have a workshop just back of their home where the artists work. The room is a work shop with a kiln, pouring rack, and shelves of all sizes are kept. One shelf is shelved to hold molds and pieces of greenware, that have been fired up and are ready to paint. Such as plates, cups, saucers, ash trays, vases, figurines of all kinds, or a complete set of dishes may be painted.

China painting small brushes are required, with the smallest brush only two or three brush strokes. The paints come in powder form and are mixed with a china glaze oil to a paste consistency. The palettes, that have been cut into an ordinary cake box, are used, as the paints will not dry out in a closed container.

Presently the group is working on plates. They first transfer the design using graphite paper, on a piece of blank china. There are approximately five steps of painting required on a plate. First, the background is washed in, then the design is painted in; and third, a touch-up of the background and design; fourth, using liquid gold, the rim of the plate is painted, and the final step is a coat of Roman satin gold applied to the rim.

After each paint application the china must be placed in the kiln and fired for 3 to 5 hours at a temperature of 1900 degrees. The china must be sanded with a fine sand paper, and cleaned with turpentine after each firing.

After watching the group work, and learning these facts, one can understand why china is so expensive.

Members of the class are Mrs. H. N. Wolfe, Mrs. H. E. McCullough, Mrs. Bob Herrin, Mrs. Harry Hudson, Mrs. J. W. Fairley, Mrs. J. H. Morgan and Mrs. Hord Randals.

Some of the members are working on various pieces. Mrs. McCullough is painting on a ring box, and Mrs. Herrin is painting on figurines. Mrs. Hudson is painting ash trays; Mrs. Fairley is

The First National Bank

OF HICO, TEXAS
IN HICO SINCE 1890

Dear Friends:

Once again another year has rolled around and we pause to lift our thankful hearts to Almighty God for his blessings . . .

. . . Grateful that the same spirit of thankfulness that filled the hearts of our Pilgrim Fathers still glows in our hearts today.

. . . Grateful that the same basic problems that were theirs then, are ours today — only the unfolding years have made different the setting on the stage of life.

. . . Grateful that the shadows and uncertainties which lie across our paths are as those of our forefathers, and the spirit that carried them thru all the vicissitudes of life is that which gives us hope today.

. . . Grateful that the rock of faith and trust in the ever-loving God, which found its expression in the observance of Thanksgiving Day, is unchanged, and we express our faith and trust in our prayers on this Thanksgiving Day.

We at First National Bank are also most grateful to you, our friends and patrons for the privilege of having served you during the past year, and again I want to say with heartfelt sincerity — Thank You.

Our goal for the coming year will be a greater dedication in our efforts to serve you efficiently and well.

Sincerely,

Odus Petsick

FARM-CITY WEEK

The period from November 20 to 26 was being observed in Texas, as elsewhere, as Farm-City Week in a renewed effort to bring about a closer understanding of farm problems on the part of our people who are not close to the soil.

Kiwanis International served as the coordinating agency for the National Grange, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the American Farm Bureau Federation in setting up local observances and meetings for a mutual exchange of information and opinion.

From the farm viewpoint, the week offered exceptional opportunities for correcting misinformation and misconceptions about what is happening in American agriculture. Again and again, all over Texas, farm spokesmen were emphasizing the following five points in a determined campaign to get the city viewpoint back into proper focus:

1. Food prices are not high as a result of farm programs. In fact, food prices, in terms of man hours required to earn the family food budget, are lower today than ever in history.

2. Farmers do not receive large government handouts, as recently highly publicized articles concerning individual payments under Commodity Credit indicates. These are the rare exceptions, and do not represent the average American farmer.

3. Farmers are not paid for soil conservation practices that are unnecessary, but, in fact, are helped to preserve the productivity of the land for future generations of Americans to insure our national strength in the years ahead.

4. Contrary to many reports notwithstanding, agriculture is more important today than ever before in history. Approximately 40 per cent of our nation's population is supported by agriculture in production, marketing, processing, transportation and services.

5. The welfare of our country, now and in the future, is dependent upon a healthy and effective agriculture.

HERE OR NEAR

By E. E. DAWSON

One who has served humanity all his life has known a lot of folks, and in the sunset years a lot of names recur to him, and one of the things true of this old fossil is that so many of them rhyme. Take for example, Bennie and Ginnie and Jenny and Minnie and Penny and Winnie. Their names come to mind and I am very grateful for having known them and I came to appreciate their characters.

Allie and Callie and Hallie and Sallie and Vallie. Every one of them is a dear good soul, to be acquainted with whom makes one a better person and adds joy to life. Callie was a chum of my wife before I fooled that country lass and she took over management of me and mine. And I could relate a lot of each of them that reveals their nobility and usefulness.

But this bit of writing shall be about Allie, a spinster in a western section of Texas whom we have known a good many years. We came to know her as the housekeeper in a well-to-do family of our congregation. She was always friendly but never gushy, pleasant but without any effort to be agreeable, for it seems to have been a native characteristic. When the father of the family grew old and became ill, Allie went to the hospital to minister to him through the numerous years of his invalidism and was with him in his death. In a few years more the mother of the family was ill for a good long period and Allie ministered to her through all those long days of gloom.

Then came the great test of her character. The eldest daughter became ill and it was an illness not only of the body, but of the mind. Whether at hospital or at home, Allie ministered to the elderly woman with all the fortitude and patience and good care that it is possible to imagine. And those were trying days for Allie and for all the members of the family. Days turned into months and months into years, and yet the faithful woman, herself growing older by reason of her years and the strains she had to endure, kept at her post and was there to close the eyes of the dear daughter of the family when she departed this life.

Sometimes you hear critical words spoken of spinsters. Folks think every woman ought to be wedded and preside over a home and family, and we must concede that that is the normal thing for a woman. But some of the most useful souls I have ever known have been spinsters, serving in a long range of essential services.

Now Allie is advanced in years and has been through some of the rough spots of life, but she still maintains her characteristic poise and cheerfulness and still looks forward on life as an opportunity of service for humanity and God.

Allie used to attend regularly the services of a church I ministered to, coming with the family she served, though she was of different faith. She was a good listener, attentive, reverent, liberal in her attitude. When I would shake hands with her at the end of the service she was always gracious enough to express her appreciation of the service and of the preacher's discourse.

Thus do I take off my hat to a gracious good soul and wish for her the rewards she is entitled to through the remaining days of her blessed life.

Rural Communities Can Win Cash Awards in Improvement

Erath County communities have an opportunity to win some cash awards for community improvement through the Community Improvement Program which has been announced by Reagan Brown, Rural Sociologist for the Extension Service.

Richard Gary, Erath County Agent, and Mrs. Deane Valentine, county home demonstration agent, said recently they are confident one or more of Erath County's communities can have an excellent chance at winning some cash awards in the program by enrolling in the program now.

The electric utility companies of Texas are offering the cash awards, with the Extension Service conducting the program. A total of $6,800 per year will be distributed equally between the Extension Service districts which will permit eight awards varying from $100 for first place to $25 for eighth place in each district.

In addition to the district awards, there will be awards of $500, $400 and $300 in the state contest. The county agents invite leaders in the county communities to come in and enroll for the program and get more details concerning the program.

Motorists Urged to Ready Vehicles for Severe Weather

Motorists of Texas will do well to gird themselves now for another "cold war" in the months ahead, J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, declared this week.

"The annual battle of drivers against the elements will soon be underway," Musick warned. "And the victors will be those car owners who are smart enough to be prepared and skillful enough in their driving to outwit Old Man Winter."

The safety expert urged motorists to "make sure now—before the frantic rush—that your vehicle is prepared for the severe tests which cold weather, snow and ice can create overnight. Have your car serviced by a reliable expert, so you can really depend on it when the going gets tough."

He emphasized that "preventive maintenance pays off handsomely in any season, but particularly during the winter months."

Musick added, "You'll need antifreeze eventually; why not install it now? Your battery will receive additional strain because of heater, defroster, wipers and increased use of lights; check now to make certain your battery has the power you'll need."

"You'll want to be warm; make sure your heater will perform. You'll want to see clearly in rain sleet and snow. Therefore check windshield wiper arms for adequate pressure to remove these dangerous obscurements. You'll want to stop safely. Therefore adjust brakes and make sure your tires have good treads. Always carry a set of reinforced tire chains in the trunk, ready for use when needed, for the most reliable stop-and-go traction during severe snow or ice conditions."

"An engine tune-up to prevent stalling in traffic; neglect of any of the foregoing items will lead to regret," Musick cautioned.

"With your car in shape and properly equipped, the battle of winter is half-won," he concluded. "The rest of the battle will depend largely on careful attitudes and skill in driving under the variety of weather and road conditions which will prevail during the coming months."
