JODOK thinking people.

As to my predictions last week, in regard to Mussolini, or the Ill Duck, it occurs to me that I just about "hit the nail on the head," as the old saying puts it, and I further think that our President also "hit the nail on the head," in his parabled statement about the dagger, but—I do not think he should have said it. It occurs to me that only harm can come of it.

I did not make any comments of any moment concerning Congressman Jones' escapade in announcing as a candidate for re-election. I just felt like there would be plenty said by others—and I was right about it. —But, I surely agree with them in all they said, especially Dave Warren and Hop Graham.

But, as I have often said—My sympathy seems always to be with the "under dog" and it just occurred to me that Mr. Jones would be the under dog in that matter, so I refrained from saying very much about it. But, it is just too bad. It appeared that Mr. Jones was going to get out of his office with the unanimous approval of his constituents, of his services as a congressman, but had to let himself out as a tool of some scheming politicians, and bring down disapproval upon his head before he retired.

True, he has done what he can to make himself right with the people, and especially those who have entered the race as candidates to succeed him by withdrawing his name; but the die had been cast, and I do not hear anyone speaking of him in the high terms that they used to use. In other words, "The bird with the broken pinion never soars so high again."

Do you know Friona? Just recently I learned that the tractor that I was going to use had been left with water in it and had been allowed to freeze which cracked the cylinder block, and I could not use it until it was welded. For a little while it seemed that I must get another tractor, but, instead, we just drove it down to Phil Wright's garage and machine shop and within a comparatively short time, he had it welded and in perfect condition for work and it has been doing fine ever since.

Many of us just do not know what to do when a breakdown occurs. At times, until we need some of these services, then we begin to look around and sometimes we will go rushing off to some neighboring town to get the

GOODRICH VISITS FRIONA

Lewis M. Goodrich, Shamrock, candidate for Congress from the 18th district was in Friona last week making a house-to-house canvass seeking support of the voters in his campaign.

He invited voters to investigate his record in public office, his private life and his habits. He has been practicing law for about 13 years, serving five years as city attorney of Shamrock and six years as district attorney of the 31st district.

"If I have missed anyone in my canvass, it was not intentional and I invite all the voters to investigate my record and personal life thoroughly and give me their earnest consideration at the polls," said Goodrich.

work done, when it can all be done just as well and lots sooner by having it done at home. When you need your engine welded or repaired, just take it down to Bill's or some of our other local shops.

I just happened around to Claridge Fallwell's shop, over on Washington Avenue, not long ago, and I was surprised to learn the amount of business he is doing in his line, furnishing used parts for automobiles, trucks, tractors, and combines.

He has accumulated an immense stock of these parts, many of them just as good as new, and it occurred to me that it would be hard to think of any piece or part of the above named machines, that he could not supply you with.

I verily believe that he could, if he wanted to, assemble and build several complete cars from the stock of parts he has on hand, and you can get these parts from Claridge a lot cheaper than you can buy new parts.

And I'll bet we could find a lot more worthwhile things in Friona, that we do not know much about, that should make us love our little city a lot more if we knew them. Why don't you—all try it some time? I get lots of "kick" out of it. And judging by the number of young shade trees that have been set out in the city this spring, there is going to be a lot more beauty spots here in a few years. Just look at what the American Legion boys have been doing to the ground surrounding their Legion hall.

LIBRARY WORKERS LAID OFF

Word was received here by Mrs. Grace Hart and Mrs. Ezell, who have been employed by the WPA as library attendants at the Friona Schools, that they would be laid off temporarily Tuesday.

Later word was also received to the effect that the work may be resumed on or about the first of July.

CHEVROLET MAY SALES

DETROIT—Retail sales figures for the last 10 days of May and also for the month as a whole, were announced here today by William E. Holler, Chevrolet general sales manager. They showed substantial increases over the same periods last year, and the final 10-day figure was one-third higher than that for the previous period.

New car sales for the month totaled 92,764 passenger cars and trucks, Mr. Holler said, a gain of 20.1 per cent over May, 1939. In the final 10-day period, Chevrolet dealers retailed 25,751 new cars and trucks, a 27.6 per cent increase over the same period last year and a 33.8 per cent gain over the figure reported for the second 10 days in May this year.

FORMER RESIDENT HERE

Tommy Galloway, a former resident and oil dealer of Friona, but now of San Angelo, is here this week visiting relatives, friends and former neighbors and business associates.

Tom says conditions are looking pretty good in his locality, and that his father, T. W. Galloway, who formerly lived here, has been quite ill during the past few months, is now almost recovered, and that his mother is enjoying good health.

ONE MILLION Texans

One million Texans would have to find other means of livelihood if the Texas petroleum industry were to shut down tomorrow.

Steady employment, good working conditions, reasonable working hours and fair wages are the industry's responsibilities to its workers and their families—a million Texans in all.

It must maintain production, find and develop new fields, meet competitive markets for its products and pay its total expense bill of 750 million dollars a year, which includes its payrolls.

The Texas petroleum industry now has to pay 97 million dollars a year in taxes to Federal, State and local governments before it can consider wages and employment.

When expenses must be cut to satisfy increasing tax demands, employment suffers, and with it, the buying power that employment creates in our State.

IS THIS ANY WAY TO RUN A HOUSE?

"Bills! Bills! Bills!" It's the first of the month again in the home without a Servel Electrolux. Of course, any husband knows he could run the house for a lot less than a woman, anyhow. "Look at this electric bill! Look at this grocery bill! We waste enough to feed two families!" He's got something there—unless you've got a Servel Electrolux.

Vegetables and fruits stay fresh in the new big, roomy Servel automatic refrigerator.

And if you have, you never hear those squawks about the unbalanced budget. It's a nice little royalty that Servel pays you, month after month, in grocery savings and operating cost.

Let's see what Mrs. J. W. Jackson, Paducah, Texas, who used to own another type automatic refrigerator, has to say: "In the summer months, the cost of operating it would be $9.50 a month. Now our Servel operates for 60c a month." And Mrs. Travis Fore, of Nacoma, says, "My ice bill alone ran from $5 to $7 a month before I owned a Servel Electrolux. It costs 70c or 80c a month."

And about food savings, here's the story from Mrs. W. E. Toth, Stamford, Texas: "My grocery bill has been cut to almost half. There is no more food spoilage wherever."

So, next time your husband gasps the "unbalanced budget blues," show him this little arithmetic problem—the savings in several hundred and average homes like yours, where they spent $40 to $50 a month for food:

Saved on leftovers, per month . . . $2.82
Saved on food spoilage, per month . . . 2.60
Saved on buying bargains, per month . . . 5.61
Saved on FOOD ALONE . . . $8.98

Now add what you now spend for ice or electricity to run the alley you have in your kitchen now. Then subtract 2 or 3 cents a day, which is plenty for the operating cost on a Servel Electrolux here. Then see if he doesn't say, "Great Scott, we're paying for one—let's get it!"

But wait... He doesn't know yet that Servel Electrolux is the refrigerator—the only automatic refrigerator—with no moving parts in its freezing system. No, not a one. Nothing to wear; to get rattly and noisy, to lose efficiency, to let you down without refrigeration in August or September, while you wait for the service man. He won't believe this "no moving parts" at first; so bring him to us. We'll show him just a tiny little SILENT gas flame.

And as Mrs. Henry Brooks, Paducah, Texas, says, 100—any home, anywhere, can enjoy Servel Electrolux refrigeration. Yes, town, farm or ranch. She says, "The beauty of Servel Electrolux is, if you move to the country you don't have to trade it off; it operates on butane or kerosene, as well as natural gas." And if you live on a farm or ranch now, by all means come in and see how you can have ice cubes, ice cream and perfect city refrigeration—the same identical Servel Electrolux that a million city families use, except it uses butane or kerosene. And no matter—town or country—we can sure make it easy to own one. Come in and find out these things for yourself—or phone us and we will come to see you.

- NO MOVING PARTS in its freezing system
- PERMANENT SILENCE
- CONTINUED LOW OPERATING COST
- MORE YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE
- CONTINUED SAVINGS THAT PAY FOR IT

FRIONA WEATHER

The past seven days has brought no moisture of any consequence to the immediate vicinity of Friona, but heavy rains are reported to the south, southeast, and east of the city.

In some localities to the south it is reported that the rain was so heavy as to fill the lister furrows so full of loose soil that much of the crops will have to be replanted.

In those sections, also a heavy fall of hail is reported, which did much damage to the wheat and growing feed crops and cotton.

Monday, Tuesday and the early part of Wednesday, it was almost uncomfortably cool. At this writing, Wednesday afternoon, there is apparent promise of early moisture.

More Reliable

The new maid had only been with them for a few days and already Mrs. Jones was beginning to find out her faults.

"I'm afraid, dear," she said one evening, "that the girl's dishonest." With visions of once again lightning fires and making early tea, Jones remarked:

"My dear, you should never judge by appearances." "I never do," said Mrs. Jones. "I judge by disappearances."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK—If there is a touch of hysteria as we prepare to prepare, it is more among the basses than the sopranos. Counsels of important women have been singularly calm and restrained. There is little shrill outcry among them.

Currently, Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Juliet M. Bartlett, the latter taking office as newly elected president of the New York Women's City club, urge calmness. Miss Bartlett says we "should keep our feet on the ground and our heads cool."

Mrs. Dunbar, addressing the federation convention at Milwaukee, stresses the collective need for thought, rather than emotion. "Never in our national history has there been a more desperate need for clear understanding," she says. Mrs. Dunbar's job is "community organization," heading this effort for the University of Oregon medical school. It is understandable that she should emphasize reasoned techniques rather than emotional excitements. "Community organization" seems to describe our present national endeavor.

Elected to the presidency of the federation in 1938, for a three-year term, Mrs. Dunbar represents about 2,000,000 club women. She tells them, "I want women to tune in with modern life." A widow and a grandmother, of pioneer stock, she has behind her a unique tradition of "collective organization." Her grandfather was the first white man to plant corn in Ganger, Mo., where she was born in a log cabin. Her family trekked on to Chanute, Kan., to Fresno, Calif., and thence to Oregon, where, after her graduation from the State university she taught school. She has served 24 years as executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis association. She was one of six children and is the mother of a grown son and daughter.

A GOOD reporter these days should have a diploma from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Making inquiries among experts as to the possibilities of swift industrial and military preparedness, this inquirer finds the answers reassuring, but complicated, to be taken on faith, with political factors still an unsolved X in the equation. Both pertinent and encouraging is a general agreement by authorities that with all our fumbling and faltering, the index of productivity in a free state is higher than in a slave state once it gets going.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau recently met with representatives of the machine tool industry in Washington to start team work on tooling and standardization for the mass production of planes. Participating were Dr. George Jackson Mead, vice chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics. He accepts a newly created post, at $10,000 a year, the office being established to facilitate decision on types of planes, swift standardization of parts and swift production.

On technical qualifications, Dr. Mead shows a good report card, as one of the leading airplane designers of America. He received the Sylvanus Reed award, for 1939, for his technical contributions to the advancement of aviation, and his professional and business experience has covered both the technical and industrial field.

Mr. Mead attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1911 to 1915. In 1917, he was in charge of the power plants at the laboratories of the United States air station at Dayton, Ohio. He then became a plane designer for the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation and later chief engineer for the Wright Aeronautical corporation. He founded the Pratt & Whitney Co., and was chief engineer of the United Aircraft corporation. He is 49 years old, a native of Everett, Mass.

HOOVERS and spoofers fade, and men who know something important climb into the headlines. It is Sir James Barrie's play, over again, where specialized knowledge took over at a time of urgency. As our metallurgical industry blueprints a steel matrix of national defense, Walter S. Tower becomes president of the America Iron and Steel institute, which is the clearing house for planned and integrated effectiveness in the industry. Mr. Tower is an expert on both economics and geography.

Operation for Sinus Trouble May Be Futile

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

A FEW years ago there were many operations for sinus trouble—the little hollows or caverns adjoining the nose. These sinuses are called the sounding box of the voice. Thus when a head cold is present and these little sinuses get filled with mucus, the voice sounds flat and "ing" sounds like "ick."

When these head colds became very common and the mucus and sometimes pus was too thick to drain out, the enlarging of the opening was frequently done by nose surgeons to enable this mucus and pus to drain out. The enlarged opening also helped to "ventilate" the sinus, thus keeping its lining of mucus membrane in a more healthy condition.

Unfortunately, these openings from the sinus into the nose are not placed in the best position for drainage when we are standing or sitting, but as Dr. Louis M. Pearlman states in Hygeia, the different positions one naturally takes when lying down are favorable to the emptying of the sinuses.

When one lies on the left side, the right antrum (sinus in cheek bone) is emptied; when one lies on the right side the left antrum is emptied, and when one lies face downward the sinuses at upper and back part of the nose (level with the eyes) are emptied.

However, it has been found that in many cases operation is of no help and may leave the patient in the same condition as before operation and with some loss of smell.

Dr. Pearlman states further: "The present trend of treatment is tracing the trouble to its source and getting rid of it before the condition becomes chronic. Stress is laid on increasing the resistance of the individual and performing only slight operations to increase ventilation and drainage."

Eating less meat and table salt and eating more fruit and vegetables seems to help a number of these chronic sinus cases.

Fat Foods Important In Diet and Weight

VIRTUALLY all reducing diets emphasize the importance of cutting down on starch foods—bread, potatoes, sugar and pastry—if satisfactory reduction is to be obtained. Now starch foods give energy, help to make the fat foods burn more completely, and should be eaten in certain amounts even by those who are overweight.

What about fat in the daily diet? For the overweights who wish to lose weight, the tremendous food or fuel value of fat should never be forgotten; any quantity of fat food has twice the food value of the same quantity of either of the other main classes of foods, that is, starches and proteins (meat, eggs, fish, cereals).

Fat Foods for Underweights. For the same reason—fat foods being rich in fuel value—underweights are advised to eat fat foods up to the point where the amount of food does not cause indigestion and spoil the appetite.

A table that should help overweights to pick out foods they like that are low in fats, and underweights to select foods they like and (which agree with them) that are rich in fats, is given by Dr. R. G. Sinclair, department of biochemistry, Queen's University, Kingston, Canada, in a booklet, "Nutrition in Everyday Practice," issued by the Canadian Medical association. There are three divisions, (a) foods low in fat, (b) foods containing a medium amount of fat, (c) foods rich in fat.

Foods low in fat: Less than 2 per cent of fat; vegetables, most fruits, cereals, bread, egg whites and buttermilk.

Foods with medium amount of fat: 2 to 10 per cent—cream soups, milk, veal, chicken, turkey, lean beef, crab meat.

Foods rich in fats: about 10 per cent—butter, and other fats and oils, salmon, tuna, lamb, pork, duck, goose, egg yolk.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Can worms lower the vitality?
A.—Yes.

Q.—Please suggest foods with their individual vitamin content which are essential to any good diet.

A.—If you use a daily diet containing one part meat, eggs or fish; two parts fat foods—butter, cream, egg yolks, fat meats; and four parts starches—bread, potatoes, fruits and green vegetables, you will get the necessary vitamins and minerals.

Washington, D. C.
FARLEY RELEASES

William Burke, Massachusetts Democratic state chairman, has confided to friends that he received a personal letter from Farley containing authority to release the delegation "if the President's name is presented to the convention." Since this is certain to happen, Jim's letter means he will not fight a third term nomination.

Burke's friends attribute Jim's letter to the sweeping change in public sentiment since the catastrophic war developments. Hitler's blitzkrieg through the hapless lowlands washed up the numerous Democratic hopefuls as well as the Dutch and Belgians.

Massachusetts' 34 delegates are the only ones pledged to Farley. Whether his retirement from the nomination race means that Jim is ready to manage another campaign is unknown.

SUPERIORITY IN TANKS

The fighting which took place in Flanders probably was the most desperate in the history of the world, even bloodier than the Battles of the Marne and Verdun. Corpses were piled house high. The trapped French and British made the Germans pay in floods of blood for every foot they advanced. They knew that most of them had no chance of escaping, but their objective was to weaken the Germans, give time to General Weygand to strengthen the defenses of Paris.

The key to this war (and also to American defense) is to remember that khaki does not stop machine-gun bullets, while tanks do. Also that it is impossible to whi, an enemy whose airplanes can spy out every move and blast that move even before it gets started.

The air and tank preponderance of the Nazis is the crux of their successes.

NAZIS IN SOUTH AMERICA

The problem of protecting the Monroe Doctrine has undergone intensive nights of study of late around the state, war and navy departments. Nobody is exactly predicting that Hitler will invade South America this year, but nobody expected him to invade Norway either. And the British, one year ago, didn't expect to be invaded at all, and did not very well prepare for it.

So U. S. strategists, not knowing what Hitler, in the full flush of victory, might do, are endeavoring to be prepared.

On the maps of South America hung in government offices these days are two danger spots. One is Brazil, the other Uruguay. Other spots are bad, but these two have the largest number of Nazi sympathizers and fifth column plotters.

Uruguay is simply honeycombed with Nazi agents. There are also strong German colonies in southern Brazil, and even in Buenos Aires. In Argentina, the older army officers are strongly pro-German, having been trained by a German officer. In Brazil, the younger army officers are pro-Nazi.

Particularly worrisome is the fate of these countries with Italy in the war. There are at least 2,000,000 Italians in Argentina—or about one-fifth of the population. Also there are large Italian colonies in Uruguay and Brazil.

Chief undercover strategy of these racial groups is to overthrow the present governments in South America, in favor of puppet governments friendly to the Nazi-Fascist cause. Then these puppet governments could renounce the Monroe Doctrine and invite Hitler to the Western hemisphere.

Note—New aviation aids, enlarging of airports, training of pilots, and even the co-operation of the U. S. fleet in using Brazilian harbors are now under discussion to bolster the present pro-allied governments of South America.

Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma says: "The people of my state are probably ahead of the President in his attitude toward Europe."

Dorothy Thompson says the best key to Italian war sentiment was given her by an Italian in Milan, who said: "Curse the English, who drove us into the arms of those swine, the Germans!"

U. S. diplomatic reports from Russia describe a bad food shortage there.

Springtime Is Season of Joy And Zest for Wild Creatures

With Nature in Her Gayest Mood, Animals Enjoy Their Own Games and Frolics.

SPRINGTIME in the wilds is playtime. The majority of our mammals have their young in the early months of the year, and in April and May it is possible to watch the most delightful games among the puppies of the fields. Badger, fox and other cubs are very playful little creatures. The otter and badger appear to have a certain amount of method in their games, but fox cubs simply romp among themselves in a wild abandon.

On a sloping sand cliff near my home seven fox cubs came out of a large hole; on the ledge just outside they played with a round stone, pushing it with their feet, tossing it in the air and allowing it to run down the slope.

When tired of this they played a game which resembled "Follow the Leader." One would run forward, dodge and leap over all kinds of imaginary obstacles, and the others would follow in its tracks; then all would roll together in a rough and tumble, in which their small teeth would tug at the fur of their companions.

Bouncing Badgers. Young badgers are among the most amusing cubs to watch at play. With their bold black and white markings they are quaint-looking little creatures, and rather clumsy, but there is no doubt that they thoroughly enjoy life, and their play is exuberant and strenuous.

First they poke their noses in the ground, searching for hidden grubs; then, without any warning, all stiffen their fur, making it stand upright, and now they look twice their size. With their short legs also stiffened they bounce round one another like footballs, then leap in, grip a mouthful of fur, and roll over and over. They break apart, and again play the bouncing game, and just as suddenly as they started to play they cease, and the next moment all are diligently searching for more food.

Fun in the Water. Many young otters are born at an awkward time, that is at the beginning of winter, but they are hardy little creatures and appear to be able to stand any amount of cold. Otters, more than any other wild creatures, show us that they thoroughly enjoy life; a plentiful supply of food makes them contented, and both parents and young play the most delightful games.

What appeared to be a large brown ball was floating gently down stream, hardly making a ripple as it swept along. Suddenly the ball seemed to burst open with a loud splash, and four excited otters with their bright, eager eyes well above the water, started swimming round one another. One leaped right out of the stream and over its companions to dive on the other side, and as they floated along this acrobat made circles around them, those below trying to grip it as it passed over. Then they all joined up again, and seemed to be having a struggle as to which could pull the others under the surface, a sort of spirited ducking game.

They continue to play until all are tired. Then the parents lead their young off to a well-hidden lair, where they all sleep until hunger and high spirits call again. —Oliver G. Pike in London Tit-Bits.

HEALTH NOTES

AUSTIN—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, today warned city and county health officers over the state to take immediate control measures against the spread of diarrhea and enteritis (summer complaint). Widespread outbreaks of the disease have already been noted in several parts of Texas, and unless immediate checks against the disease are inaugurated, there is a likelihood that the 1940 morbidity and mortality total may rise above that for 1939, when a total of 2,338 deaths were reported in Texas.

"June, July and August of each year witness the peak prevalence of intestinal disorders, most of the victims being infants who suffer from so-called 'summer complaint.' Adults are also affected, the aged being quite susceptible," Dr. Cox further pointed out.

Illness is usually of sudden onset, accompanied by fever and severe diarrhea due to inflammation of the lining of the bowel (enteritis). The patient suffers loss of bodily fluids, and the bowel discharges often contain blood and mucus. Convulsions and come frequently precede fatality, particularly in the infantile type of summer diarrhea.

Of the 1939 total of 2,338 fatalities, 1,275 affected infants and children under two years of age, and 563 deaths were among persons over two years of age (chiefly elderly people).

Diarrhea and enteritis as a rule results from the use of contaminated food products or contact with a patient or carrier. Dysentery bacilli or germs are often found through laboratory examination of intestinal discharges. Laboratory studies demonstrated that many patients with diarrhea and enteritis (summer complaint) are really suffering from bacterial dysentery. This infectious disease is very similar to typhoid fever in its method of spread from person to person.

Prevention of diarrhea and enteritis is dependent on positive control factors such as: (1) Safeguarding food, milk, and water supplies. Foods should be covered at all times to prevent access of flies; raw vegetables and fruits should be thoroughly rinsed before using, and should never be sprayed either in transit or in commercial establishments with water other than that approved as being free from contamination.

(2) Improvement in sanitation, methods of excreta disposal, and fly control. Breeding places of flies should be destroyed to prevent propagation; houses and commercial establishments should be thoroughly screened to prevent their entry; garbage should be placed in covered containers to prevent access of flies, and collection and disposal of garbage should be more frequent in the summer during the fly-breeding season. In localities where approved sewage disposal systems are not available, surface toilets should receive special attention as to sanitation. It is recommended that excreta be covered with waste oil, sand, ashes, or lime frequently during the summer season for satisfactory sanitation.

(3) Ready access of food handlers to soap and water so that strict cleanliness in the preparation and serving of food may be had.

(4) Scrupulous attention to the matters of infant care and home hygiene. It is urged that special care be taken in the preparation of the infant's diet. Unless the home is fully screened against flies, the baby's crib should be screened or covered with netting.

Citizens are urged to report to their local city and county health officers any cases of diarrhea and enteritis of which they have knowledge so that immediate control measures may be inaugurated to prevent the further spread of the disease. Persons contracting diarrhea and enteritis are further urged to get in touch with their family physician for immediate medical care.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

In these dark days when the future ahead, the memories of the hardship of the world seems fraught with disaster, there can be no happiness for our children in the years still far and sufferings we endured in France are fresh in our minds today. Although it has become clear how vain and useless those sacrifices were, yet that principle remains far more vital than ever before. Like you, I have seen war, and like you, I hate war. Buddies and friends, our task seems to have just begun. Never has there been a time when our country sorely needed our leadership and aid than at the present time.

Under the threat of war there is a natural tendency for even greater concentration of propaganda, that leads us to war rather than away from it. Therefore, we must be strong in spite of it, and in giving force to the principles upon which the future of our country depends.

We want the world to know we bitterly oppose the destruction of everything we sacrificed and fought for in 1918. We also recognize that both sides were in part guilty, and now we hold this against neither, but this experience has left us in the same place as the mouse caught in a cheese-baited trap. We simply do not want any more cheese.

We entered the World War with trifling debts, and during that war we increased our debts forty times, and taxed to the breaking point. It has loaded our future with debts and taxes that will chain our younger generations to slavery as the early Roman galley. We received the great heritage from our forefathers without mortgage and were free to make an honest living with reasonable labor. We gambled this grand old heritage with Europe in 1917, and in return, we are now passing this wreck on to our children, rich or poor. They must pay twenty per cent of all they make for this blunder, and the opportunity for these young men and young women has been reduced fully one third, and we are still not through paying yet. We are the only remaining nation now to have some of the old democratic spirit left; and it seems that if we take sides in this struggle it means "goodbye" to democracy.

When the Allies during the World War had fought their last round, we opened our treasury to their needs and sent the flower of our land to fill the places of those that had been killed. We robbed our land of every luxury to feed the hungry and cure the crippled; we also supplied ships to replace those that had been destroyed, and, in fact, a good half of the entire cost of this war was donated, that caused us ten years of depression and loss of income. We were too ignorant of the fact that it was robbing our future, and the Allies accepted our childish enthusiasm with smiles, while they took our money and our lives. We were the world's big fat papa with a bag of candy, and have been ever since. As Will Rogers used to say: "We never lost a war nor won a conference." We were easy prey for the Allies. We were everything in the beginning and in the end. Doubtless as we the British and French have accused Germany and Russia, we simply got our war debts two times, and they threw us a curve on post war peace talks. Nice people, every principle on which we went to war is a mouthful of dust. The thing now is—have we learned the lesson?

The American Legion is today being asked daily what we are going to do about this condition. The answer is simple. Quote: To foster and perpetuate a 100 percent Americanism, and I as a member of the American Legion, believe it my duty to my country to love it; to support the constitution; to obey the laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

If America will adopt this part of the Constitution, given us by our grand old General, George Washington, and associate ourselves together for God and Country, and vow again to seek that goal, it is along that road we will soon find happiness in our minds and our families safe for democracy.

The American Legion wants to be remembered for the kindness of spirit, brotherhood and tolerance, we shall have developed and established in the creation of patriotism, that shall stand exalted and live forever in the hearts of a brave and peace-loving people.

Buddies, if you have never joined this great army of peace-loving associates here at Friona we will be glad to have you come and be with us. We meet every second and fourth Tuesday nights. You are welcome and urged to come. There is something real to do. Can we depend on your presence?

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You No. 9 of a series

ABOUT BEER AND ALE
AN OPEN FORUM OF QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: WHY IS BEER CALLED THE BEVERAGE OF MODERATION?
ANSWER: Because beer's alcohol content is low. Temperate, moderate nations of the world... and their people... prefer beer.

QUESTION: DO BEER AND ALE REALLY AID THE FARMERS?
ANSWER: Since re-legalization the brewing industry has bought 25,000,000,000 pounds of farm products. That has helped farmers... particularly during the depression years.

QUESTION: JUST WHAT ARE BEER AND ALE MADE OF?
ANSWER: Beer is made by a natural fermentation process... from malted barley and other grains, hops, yeast, water. Nature makes beer. The brewer makes it good beer (and ale).

QUESTION: HOW MUCH DO BEER TAXES CONTRIBUTE TO THE COST OF GOVERNMENT?
ANSWER: Beer contributes $1,550,000 a day... $400,000,000 a year... that help pay the costs of government... local, state and federal. Everybody benefits from this contribution.

QUESTION: DO BEER AND ALE MAKE JOBS FOR WORKERS?
ANSWER: Beer and ale have already made a million jobs. This employment is wide spread all over the country. More than 100 other industries benefit from beer and ale.

QUESTION: HOW IS THE BREWING INDUSTRY COOPERATING WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS?
ANSWER: The Brewing Industry is actively on the side of law and order. A "self-regulation" plan to eliminate retail abuses has already been put into effect in a number of states in cooperation with law enforcement authorities. This plan is being extended. We would like to tell you about it. Write for an interesting free booklet. Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N.Y.
