IT HAPPENED HERE OR NEAR—

'Snipe' Hunt Was Early-Day Pasttime

By E. E. DAWSON

The Snipe is an interesting bird. And he has a wide range: Europe, Asia, Africa, North and South America. No information as to Australia, but he may be found there too. He is a favorite of sportsmen, due to his irregular flight. And he is highly esteemed as a savory food item. I have not seen one in a good while, but then I don't gad around any more. I feel sure they are still in this region, if one looks at the areas they like: marshy land and the borders of lakes and ponds.

For all my years, taking a greenhorn on a snipe hunt has been a favorite gag. In my young days, nearly every adult could tell of at least one such hunt out of which he got great delight, and I loved to tell any audience that would listen how it all happened.

Least some reader might not know the procedure of a snipe hunt, I will explain a bit. First, you have to have a victim, a greenhorn, or a youth who is somewhat of a smartalec. A group is formed and they take the victim at night to some lonely spot, preferably low land where there are trees. Soon after dark the plotters and their victim hide themselves off to the chosen spot. There they gather quite a supply of fire wood, build a fire, give the victim full instructions as to how he is to remain at the site of the fire and hold the big sack they have brought along into which the snipes are supposed to enter after having been attracted by the light of the fire. Then the gang leaves after telling the innocent greenhorn that they will go quite

Band 'Recruiting' Program Set By Director

A special "recruiting" program for students from the fifth through eighth grades was held Thursday afternoon, September 6. Students were tested for music aptitude, and certificates given those making sufficient grades.

This coming Tuesday night, September 11, a demonstration will be given of all band instruments and any parent who is interested in having their child become a part of the music program of the school is urged to be there.

"Band enthusiasm is very promising and we are looking forward to a good year of marching and playing," band instructor Mike Morton said this week. The first football performance by the band will be September 14 when Hico plays Perrin at the local stadium.

Mr. Morton urges all parents to encourage their children to enjoy being a part of the band while they are young.

Mrs. Conda Salmon was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Norman Dove and children of Bluff Dale to Raymondsville this past week where they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ross and family.

First home game will be played next Friday night when Perrin comes to town for a set-to with the locals, Perrin, located between Mineral Wells and Jacksboro, is new on the Tiger slate, and should furnish interesting opposition. They are only in their second year of playing 11-man ball, but dominated 6-man play in their district for several years.

A large crowd is expected to accompany the Tigers to Stephenville Saturday night for the opener. Last year the locals took the Bees 32.2 in a game played here.

First P-TA Meeting Set Monday

Hico Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first meeting of the new school year next Monday night, September 10, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. The executive committee will meet preceding the regular meeting at 7:30. Charles Goughly will be guest speaker for the evening program. His topic will be "Good Citizen-Ship—Service Through the P-TA."

Concluding the program new officers and teachers will be introduced by president Mrs. Sammie Bullman, and school superintendent O. C. Cook.

Mrs. Helen Walker and daughter, Diana of Waco visited during the weekend with her mother, Mrs. G. C. Miller.

TO BE HERE TUESDAY SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICER

TYPE III SABIN POLIO VACCINE TO BE GIVEN HERE SEPT. 16-23

Second of the now famous Sabin Oral Sundays will be held in Hico Sunday, Sept. 16, and Sunday, Sept. 23 at the school cafeteria from 12 noon until 7 p. m. First series of the inoculations were held July 29 and August 5 when the Type I serum was administered.

During the September program, Type III will be administered, with Type II to be given at a later date, approximately six weeks from the time that Type III is taken.

During the first program more than 3200 area residents took the vaccine, which is administered on a lump of sugar. Officials of the program are hoping that an equal number will turn out for this series of inoculations.

Dr. B. C. Dayton, who supervised the last program, emphasized the importance of everyone taking all three series of the vaccine. "To be absolutely safe," the doctor explained, "persons taking Type I vaccine must also take the other two types."

The program is sponsored locally by the Hico Civic Club, in cooperation with the Tarrant County Medical Society. The vaccine is administered free, with a donation taken if people desire to give. The Club is trying to average 25¢ per dose, which is near actual cost of the vaccine. However, officials stressed that the donation was not necessary, and people should not stay away because of it. No one will be refused the vaccine.

Volunteer workers will again take charge of the program, under the supervision of Dr. Dayton and local pharmacists.

The Council's activities in both programs include (1) advertising to create consumer interest; (2) promotion and merchandising work to urge cooperation by all segments of related industries (3) a program of education for retailers and consumers (including schools and colleges) through the use of booklets, educational films,

FAIRY

By MRS. EUNICE DANIEL

We have continued hot dry weather, however we've missed several good chances of rain. Fairly good rains have been received in the Jonesboro and Gatesville areas. We now have that so-called wet moon, so here's hoping.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Driver of the Agee community south of Fairy moved the final loads of their household things to Clifton Saturday where they will make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Driver have resided in the Agee community since their early teenage days and will be greatly missed by their many friends, though all feel the move was best for them since they were no longer able to take care of the duties of the farm. They chose Clifton as their future home since both had been under the care of doctors there for the past several years. Their

Another clean up job was completed at the cemetery early last week. We regret that there are a few lots that had to go unworked since they are unsupported. It takes all we receive to keep the supported lots worked. It seems most any one could pay the small price of $5 a year to have their lot looked after. Have you thought this figures less than 42 cents a month? We're not making anything—just breakin even. That's why we have no extra funds for the unsupported lots. We are so glad to say the majority are paying this fee to have their lots looked after, and we have a few

Senator Culp Krueger of El Campo, a newspaper publisher and radio station owner, is planning to "put the big pot in the little one" sure enough when he becomes governor-for-a-day on Sept. 8.

Krueger not only is inviting all his friends and neighbors to help him celebrate the event at El Campo, but he is bringing a lot of state officials to show his hometown folks how government works.

At least a dozen state boards will have their September meetings in El Campo.

Theme of the state agency meetings and exhibits will be "Program of Progress for the Small Towns of Texas."

Senator Krueger's aim is to show that rural districts like his can be, and are being, helped by the state government.

He has drawn fire from a colleague, Sen. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth for having a lot of state officials and employees make the trek to El Campo for the day.

Convention Time

Democratic and Republican leaders are busy planning their state party conventions to be held on September 18. Republicans meet in Fort Worth, Democrats in El Paso.

For the first time in many years careful attention is being paid to the party platforms.

Two big endorsements given to John Connally, the Democratic nominee for governor, hinge on what the platform says. The State AFL-CIO and Political Association of Spanish Speaking Organizations both want to make sure the platform is not in opposition to some of their hoped-for legislation before their endorsements take effect.

Because many Texans remain undecided, both parties hope to gain votes by what they say in their platforms. But the problem is the same as usual. They have to keep friends they now have while trying to attract new ones.

Bribery?

Headlines told of possible payoffs to former Texas Railroad Commission officials working in the East Texas Field as the House General Investigating Committee delved into the crooked-hole scandal at public hearings.

Legislators headed by Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger are trying to find out what new laws are needed to stop such things. They have found that it is not a violation of criminal law to ignore Railroad Commission regulations by taking oil from under a neighbor's lease. It is merely a civil offense for which the state can try to collect $1,000 a day for each day of violation.

Theft is of course against the law. Federal law prohibits the transportation in interstate commerce of illegally produced oil. But even this is a fine legal point in this situation.

Bribery is an offense but hard to prove. Reports to the Railroad Commission must be sworn to, but in the land and insurance scandal the courts held that if the notary public didn't make the swearer hold up his hand and take an oath, it was not false swearing.

Attorneys for some of the oil operators laid a predicate as a defense against possible contempt charges growing out of perjury or failure of some witness to appear, by contending that the investigation committee was illegal. Argument is based on the fact that three of its five members did not run for re-election to the House.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, who headed the investigation, explained the legal shortcomings to the committee. Previously he had briefed district attorneys in counties in which crooked hole drilling has been found.

So grand jury action may be expected next in this scandal which may make peanuts out of the Billie Sol Estes affair.

Teacher's Nest Egg

If teacher comes back to school smiling, it might be because she and the other 190,000 school and college faculties and employees have more than half a billion dollars in the bank.

The teacher retirement fund ended its 25th year with $552,000,000 invested in stocks and bonds.

Just Supposin'

Most popular game today, among employees under the Capitol dome, is "just supposin'" what would happen if Texans elect a Republican governor.

Would it mean filling appointive state offices and boards with Republicans and giving the GOP preponderance in state government?

Most "political experts" warn that the Cox bid in November must be taken seriously. Decision to "ride the fence" until after the November election is being heard more frequently. This, from long-time employees as well as some members of the Senate and House who are popular back home but who also are being realistic about the strength of the Cox following in their home districts.

PTA's Grow—Children Benefit

It happens every fall.

As children the country over start back to school, the grown-ups most concerned with their welfare get together in activities that protect those children and enhance their learning and their lives.

Usually they do it in the PTA, through one of the more than 47,000 parent-teacher associations that constitute the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

AGAIN THIS fall, the millions of Americans who are PTA members will seek new colleagues to help advance "the welfare of children in home, school, church and community." Under the leadership of Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Roslyn Heights, L.I., N.Y., they will most pressing in their own communities.

PTA offers a challenge to parents of children of all ages, even of children not yet ready for school. Throughout its 65-year history, the National Congress has led in establishing kindergartens, needed today especially in the hundreds of new communities that must build schools first, begin preschool training later.

SCHOOL-AGE children get all kinds of help from PTA activity, notably from its long-standing programs for promoting their health—throughout their school years—and their safety. Parents and teachers have worked together to improve the quality of education offered in their communities and, through the National Congress, to upgrade education nationally.

Whether they contribute books to a school library or National Congress leaders as meriting special attention from PTA's.

Depending on their own community needs, they may be working to provide more day nursery services or help for emotionally disturbed children, to prevent school dropouts and juvenile delinquency, to evaluate local opportunities for higher education and professional training.

They may adopt suggestions the PTA program offers for promoting physical fitness and preventing accidents to children, for broadening young people's vistas in the field of cultural arts, for encouraging fuller participation in civic affairs and "two-way" communication within the community.

And as they do every fall, they welcome other parents, teachers and friends of children to the continuing adventure of the PTA, urging, "Join it, serve it, grow with it."

Since its founding in 1897, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has grown to a membership of more than 12,000,000, in PTA's throughout the United States and in American communities overseas. Its activities range from those of preschool groups to high school PTA's.
