man, poor man, beggar, from all walks of life they Friday when word spread of a prairie fire of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the serious wounding of Governor B. Connally.

ing American people led the news of the dastardly with great emotion. Differences were foreshadowed by no Republicans, no Democrats; no liberals, no conservatives. There was only one people shaken by the news, their leader was gunned down, like so many animals by a hunter sympathizer, a man once deflected to Russia and now for citizenship in that of life.

more can be said than the words written into history by the fast-moving press; a small spoke in a big wheel to that already writing people at the scene? The tragedy within itself was enough to shake the world; that happened in Texas added further to the injured pride of our state.

should not be blamed. It will be. It should not be blamed. But also, will be. The people of this state, in every generation, will be reminded of the great tragedy on November 22, for as long as there is an America.

ember 22 will go down in history as the day the 35th President of the United States, John F. Kennedy, was assassinated in Dallas, Texas.

onically, on Sunday, the man accused of killing the President of himself, gunned down by a citizen, dying shortly after 10 o'clock in the same hospital, than 15 feet away from the man who further President Kennedy re- further clouding the wheels of justice. Investigators felt that they had sufficient evidence to positively place the blame on the accused, but now, there will always remain a doubt in the minds of people the world over as to whether he was actually the assassin.

What happens now to our state, our nation? Nothing perhaps, with our adored form of government moving forward in an even more vigorous manner. Indications have been that the assassination, heathenish as it is, will tend to bring our leaders together in this time of crisis.

Prominent national figures have already shown their desire to aid the utmost President Lyndon B. Johnson in these critical days, months, and hours, and the United States should go forward in progress as it has never before.

Harmony between both major political parties will perhaps be the key to our security, our future.

American people, regardless of their feelings, their political beliefs, should step forward in renewed efforts to prove to the rest of the world that we are not heathens (as some nations picture us) and that we can have a harmonious government in the face of such a tragedy that left each of us every individual limp with grief.

Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country.

Poll Being Taken to Determine Improvement Needs of Hico

"How Hico rates in the eyes of its customers and friends in the Hico trade area. A personal rating poll. What to do to help Hico grow and give better service."

This is the basic text of the heading of more than 1500 polls which are going out this week under the sponsorship of Hico Civic Club in an effort to determine what can be done to improve Hico.

The poll is confidential, and residents are urged to fill in as accurately and honestly as possible. It is a genuine attempt by Hico businesses to better their services to the consumer in whatever way is needed.

Listed on the poll is a plate to rate each type of business in Hico, for comments on improvements needed in regard to each particular business. Thirty types of businesses are listed on the page and one-half poll.

Majority of the polls were mailed out in bank statements this week with a stamped self-addressed envelope enclosed for the return to the Civic Club. Other forms are available at the Hico News Review, and upon completion, may be turned in to Civic Club Secretary James Cryer, or mailed to Hico Civic Club.

As returns are received, a committee will compile information gathered from the poll and pass on to each business concerned.

A copy of the poll will also be published in the News Review.

It is the desire of the Civic Club that people in this area cooperate to the fullest extent in helping compile this information in an effort to make Hico a better place in which to live and trade.

Mr. Smith said that he witnessed the law abused many times, but that in the future complaints would be filed against those who violate the law.

He urged cooperation of the general public in this important matter.

Thanksgiving Safety Tips Given For Holiday Drivers

The president of the Texas Safety Association today urged Texans to "keep Thanksgiving a time for being thankful by adopting safe driving attitudes."

The president, Quincy V. Tuma of Houston, is asking all drivers to consider the rights of others in traffic and to obey all traffic rules and regulations.

He pointed out that although the Thanksgiving holiday usually is not considered a "traffic problem holiday," the Texas experience of 1962 could label it otherwise.

"Last year in Texas on Thanksgiving Day there were 15 fatalities. The average for a mid-week holiday is about nine fatalities," he explained. "On the Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving Day, there were 10 fatalities and on the three-day weekend following the holiday, there were 31 traffic fatalities. The total for the five-day period was 5."

Tuma said the Association has issued a special appeal to all college and university students to use caution and courtesy in going home for the holiday or in traveling to Turkey Day football games.

- Most colleges and universities have a five-day holiday period.
- In concluding his appeal to drivers to develop safe driving attitudes, Tuma listen Ten Commandments of Good Driving. They are:
1. The good driver keeps his car in safe condition.
 2. He drives only when sober and never when extremely tired.
 3. He keeps his mind on his driving.
 4. He recognizes the hazards of night driving and lowers his speed.
 5. He knows and obeys the traffic laws.
 6. He is considerate of other drivers for he knows that he is his brother's keeper.
 7. He keeps his temper knowing that self-control is vital to car control.
 8. His care protects children and pedestrians, for over them he has the power of life and death.
 9. He constantly remembers that courtesy is the first law of self-preservation.
 10. He obeys the Golden Rule, driving with care, caution and courtesy he would have others use.

Thanksgiving Greetings to all our friends and subscribers everywhere!

Items of Interest From Iredell . . .

By MRS. VINITA BLAKLEY

Our Thanksgiving holidays are coming to us with a pall of sadness for our state and our nation and other countries. It should be a day of prayer and Thanksgiving more than ever. We do not know and cannot understand why or what the outcome will be. Time will be the healer of it all. There is no news to take the place of all we are hearing on radio and TV. Maybe after the holidays we can give more of interest to our friends.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HONORS MISS McADEN

A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Mrs. Rance Phillips on Tuesday evening honoring Miss Nicki Beth McAden of Stephenville, bride-elect of Don Delicious refreshments of coffee and pecan pie were served to approximately 30 guests.

Out of town guests who attended the shower were Mrs. Horace Whitley of Meridian, Mrs. Howell McAden, Mrs. Ewell Jones and Mrs. Terrie Phillips, all of Stephenville.

The Church of Christ building is fast nearing completion. Iredell will be able to say by the time the new year comes that there are three new churches, Baptist, Methodist and Church of Christ. The Baptist Church is the oldest in construction. They are churches which any town or city would be glad to have.

ASC Chairman Urges Growers To Keep Adequate Records

By S. E. CLONINGER
County Office Manager

Wool growers who market their lambs in the fall should remember to keep adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program, according to Alvin Perry, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

The sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number and liveweight of lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn." Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn, to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before selling.

The Chairman also reminds growers that current marketings of wool and lamb through December 31, 1963, will qualify for incentive payments under the wool program for the 1963 marketing year. (In previous years, the marketing year ended March 31). Beginning in 1964, the marketing year will be the calendar year.

Growers are urged to file their applications for payment, supported by the required sales documents, with their ASCS County office as soon as possible after their fall sales are completed. While the final date to apply for payments on 1963 marketings will be January 31 of next year—covering marketings of wool and lambs from April 1, 1963 through December 1, 1963—an application may be submitted at any time between now and then.

Eligible Cotton Farmers Urged To Vote December 10

Cotton farmers are urged to check with their ASCS County Office if they have any questions about their eligibility to vote in the December 10 marketing quota referendum, or if they wish additional information about the 1964 cotton programs. The referendum will decide whether marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1964 (upland, upland and extra long staple) cotton crop. Approval by at least two-thirds of the producers voting is necessary to keep the quotas in effect.

Alvin Perry, county committee chairman, explains that farmers eligible to vote in the cotton quota referendum are all those who were engaged in the production of cotton crops in 1963, and all those whose farm's cotton history was legally maintained under special program provisions even though not actually growing cotton.

Acreage on a farm is "regarded as planted to cotton" if included in (1) the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank, (2) the Great Plains program, or (3) the Cropland Conservation program, or if released to the ASC County Committee for reapportionment to other farms. Further information with respect to eligibility to vote in the referendums may be obtained from the local ASCS county

FAIRY

By MRS. EUNICE DANIEL

Needless to say our nation is in deep shock and sorrow due to the tragic death of our president and leader, John F. Kennedy. In this time of radio, television and telephone, we feel sure there has never before been so much comment, love and respect shown for an individual as has been for the late President. To add further to our sorrow is the fact that he lost his life while on a mission to our state in an effort to eradicate violence and hatred between our nations. Though reared by parents who were able to give him the best financially, he or his wife never seemed to feel above the most humble of people.

He was a man who had served his country prior to being elected President. As a President, he was young and very intelligent and during his rein had won the love, respect and admiration of his people. Our hearts are grieved in sorrow to his dear companion and children, his parents, brothers and sisters. Also to officer J. D. Tippet's family in his death, as he was attempting to question the party suspected as the killer, May God bless the successor, President Lyndon B. Johnson. May he have full cooperation at this time when this burden of duty was thrust upon him so suddenly.

We overlooked the name of Jewell (Jude) Shields as we gave the list of World War veterans buried at the Fairy Cemetery recently. We had thought one of the Shields boys was a veteran, but since there was no marking to this effect at his grave we were not sure, or which one of the boys it was. We understand the government furnishes a marble or bronze metal marker if relatives will set them, or pay the cost of erection which is around $15.00 and is well worth the price paid. We would surely like to see these markers erected at all unmarked veterans' graves. We believe this information could be obtained from the American Legion.

Recently we called the News Review office to give information on the markers for Civil War veterans. But it seems our message was misunderstood and misinformed the public regarding these markers. We understand these markers will also be furnished free, but the party who places an order for them must pay the cost of erection at the grave and furnish necessary information regarding their Civil War service, date of birth and death, names, etc. If any are interested in this service you can contact Miss Mettie Rodgers of Hico, Miss Winnie Hampton or others at Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hodnett and family of below Jonesboro visited Sunday afternoon in the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Petty and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Pearcy received word of the arrival of a new grandson, born to their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Pearcy of Andrews. The baby is the fifth grandson of the Pearcys. They have no granddaughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Blaine of Dublin visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Pearcy. They are relatives of Mrs. Pearcy.

An epidemic of bronchial colds, accompanied by sore throat and cough seems to be taking its course among the community. This scribe has been a victim for the past week and seems we're not gaining much headway toward recovery but glad to be able to be up and about.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Arrant and family visited during the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Arrant of Fairy and Mrs. Herman Munnerlyn of Hico.

Mrs. T. R. Parks, Mrs. Robert Streater of Lanham and daughter, Mrs. Earl Kavanaugh of near Hamilton spent Sunday in Fort Worth with their son, daughter and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Parks. A little daughter was born to the Weldon Parks at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. She weighed 7 pounds and 9 ounces. They had not decided on a name at their departure for home. They expect to return in a few days when Mrs. Parks and baby can leave the hospital. The baby is the third grandchild for the T. R. Parks and the first granddaughter. The baby is the 2nd and granddaughter for the Streeters and they also have one grandson. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Parks of Fairy and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Streater of Lanham. Greatgrandparents are Mrs. John Newsom of Hamilton and Mrs. W. L. Streater and Mrs. Johnson, also of Hamilton.

Our school was closed Monday in honor of our deceased president. A heavy frost covered the ground here Sunday but we didn't see any ice.

Our winter weather is late arriving, but we feel we'll get our share in the next few months.

Many are looking forward to Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, but we feel that all as a whole will face the holiday season with sad hearts and deep regret of what has happened and the effect it has had on the nation.

We had about one inch of rain last week. Grain is looking pretty at this time.

Rev. Val Nance filled his regular appointment at the Baptist Church Sunday and was a luncheon guest in the Durwood Brooks home. Mrs. Jekie Turner and little daughter of Arlington were visitors at church Sunday morning. Some young ladies accompanied her but we were unable to get their names.

Rev. and Mrs. Bobby Jack Parker are the proud parents of a little son, born Saturday afternoon in a Cleburne hospital. Rev. Parker is pastor of the Covington Baptist Church. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Parker of Fairy and Mr. and Mrs. Hanshaw of Iredeil. We did not get the weight or name of the baby. Congratulations to the Weldon Parks and the Parkers on the arrival of their first born.

EIGHTH GRADE NEWS

What a weekend! And a long one at that. For once everyone seems to be glad to be back.

Dennis Solsbery seems to be running rather odd errands for Mr. Bonner. Maybe he will explain if you ask him.

Janis Shepherd has turned out to be a chicken. Saturday afternoon she was about to get her hair cut off when "poof," she chickened out. Oh well, better nerve next time.

A message would like to be conveyed to Cheryl Ramage. Sure you lost your boy friend, but don't take it out on us. Mission accomplished.

Everyone would like to thank Mr. Bonner for getting some new books for the 8th grade. Three cheers!

Jody Littleton and Dennis Solsbery went hunting Sunday and Monday. They didn't get a deer, of course, but they did shoot five armadillos. Yea for the great white hunters.

Doris Shipman finally came back to school but almost wasn't recognized. Boy that poison ivy can be murder, can't it Doris?

With six weeks tests behind us and a holiday to look forward to, the sophomore class can be found in rare form.

Leslie Royal discovered a new way to aggravate the Fish. Just ask S. P. what it's like to return to your car and find it locked and then when you finally get in, the air-conditioner, heater, wipers, and radio are on. Leslie, are you sure you didn't forget anything?

If you hear Lee Anne giggling and see Caudia blushing you can be sure that Lee just asked her "if she has her geometry."

Glenda Ogle surely it's not you singing I'm Just a Lonely Teen-Ager?

We're a week late, but Happy Birthday sweet sixteen.

Voreece Carmichael seemed to have a little problem Saturday night. It's not everyone who turns on the heater and then rolls down the window.

Lynn Redden's going to a wedding Thursday night. Don't get any ideas Lynn.

Saturday night Drewford Barnett had a scare. He thought he was headed straight to Alcatraz but found out it was just a license check.

Now, Kay Tooley has taken an interest in music. This song could only be Michael.

Frances Lepard has a new motto: If at first you don't succeed, try, try, TRY again!

Pat Bruner seems to be taking turn-about. Wonder who will win out. Give them a break Pat.

Sandra Atkins will you soon be singing Let's Go Steady Again?

JUNIOR NEWS

The past week has been one of many shocks and changes in our country. It doesn't seem possible that our smalltown could be so affected by such a tragedy that occurred only miles from us. The whole world was shaken by the death of our President.

The juniors, along with the rest of the school, heard about the death of our leader. Many prayers and resolutions were then made to do everything in our power, as young citizens to preserve our great heritage of freedom.

Edwin Black, do you really like those bright car lights shining on you when you are sitting in front of Lynn Redden's house? It seems impossible that anyone would do a thing like that to you.

Hey Ronnie Partain, you really should be careful about leaving town on the weekends. You just might come back and find that someone had cut in on your favorite girl from the sophomore class. Quiet, reserved Mary Ann McClure really can get riled sometimes. Just ask Marjo if you don't believe this.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF HICO HIGH SCHOOL

Say Sharon, who did you see at Stephenville Saturday night that gave you such a thrill? Anyone we know?

Hey Connie Burch, why did Mr. B. call you "Moo." in history class? You really don't mind go you since it stands for you-know-who!

Leona was all smiles Saturday. She had a right to smile over all the beautiful gifts she received at her bridal shower.

Happy Thanksgiving! Please don't eat too much turkey and pumpkin pie over the holidays.

SENIOR NEWS

Hey, Butch Knudson and Bill Rutledge, where were you all and Charlotte going the other afternoon. Why didn't you take Candy with you and make it a foursome?

If you would like to know what type of person you are and just what is wrong with you just ask a certain helpful senior.

Tommy Donley needs to put on a little weight so that he won't get his ribs hung on ea. door handles any more. Four is just too many in the back seat isn't it Tommy?

Julia Anderson has already decided where she is going to after she graduates. Could the son for her choice have anything to do with the male population there?

Margaret Burgan and Shaffer have finally had an agreement believe it or not. Over which graduation card should choose. You can make now because the class picked another design.

I suppose the whole school already heard about Frank's lips' short but tragic love. We're sorry that you can't make a go of it, but better next time.

Ronnie Mayfield must have strong resistance because he got out and won several dollars. Congratulations Ronnie about buying us all a martini.

Mike Flowers believes in the policy of planning ahead. He don't believe us just ask the sidents of Dublin.

Some of the seniors and their associates aren't very welcome in the Hico Theatre any more. Wonder why?

WE GIVE

For Freedom, for Plenty, for all the Blessings of Home and Family. We say a prayer of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day.

As we celebrate with the traditional feast, we are grateful, too, for many other American traditions—and for the privilege of all to work, plan and save for a bountiful future.

Jim Jameson Mobil Oil Co.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is a day for family gatherings about the festive board—a day for turkey and fixings, and pumpkin pie. But above all, Thanksgiving is a day to stop and think about a lot of things we take for granted the rest of the year.

Such things as the blessings of abundance, far beyond the fondest dreams of our forefathers, who so courageously wrested a foothold in a New World. Such things as the blessings of freedom—for us not a distant hope, but an ever-present reality.

By JEAN HENRY

I hope all of you have a wonderful Thanksgiving Day. Certainly we have much to be thankful for. Let us not forget, nor take these blessings for granted, less they be taken away.

You know Thanksgiving Day feasting in colonial times was subject to the luck of the year's farming, the current mood of the local Indians, and shipments from abroad. But such hitches could never develop in modern Thanksgiving Day plans. Today's foods are not only abundant and readily available, some are so instant you hardly dare turn your back on them.

Research has made holiday cooking in general a lot more convenient.

To set off the fine flavors of the turkey you are no doubt having, serve a frozen salad of cranberries and frozen orange juice. Take a 6-ounce can of frozen orange concentrate a can of cranberry sauce, half pint heavy cream, whipped, one-fourth cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Put them all together and freeze in paper dessert cups or a decorative mold. You'll find this quick and delicious.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Drake of Fort Worth were visitors during the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Pal Drake.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Lou Whiteside were Mrs. Ralph Hubbard of Keller, and her son, R. W. Hubbard and Debbie and Kathy Clements of Santa Monica, Calif., and his wife and daughter Ralphene of Chalk Mountain. Mrs. Hubbard plans to return to California with her son for an extended visit.

Guests Wednesday of last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Howerton and Russell were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Land of Lake Charles, La., Mrs. Lora Bell Webb, Mrs. Lucille McLendon and Mrs. Betty Williams of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nix, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glover and LaVerne and Orville Glover, all of Hico. Unable to be with the family group were Mrs. Willie Rusk of Carrollton, Jack Glover of Hico and Roy Glover of Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lackey and Neil of Fort Worth were weekend visitors in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cheek and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lackey.

136 persons signed our guest register.

The Extension office will be closed both Thursday and Friday in observance of the Thanksgiving holidays.

There will be about as many cranberries available for the holidays this year as in 1962 and nine percent more than average, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Cranberry production in Washington and Oregon is expected to be the second largest on record—much above last year's light output. All states except New Jersey will have higher than average crops. I have many excellent recipe booklets in my office on interesting ways to serve cranberries, if you'd like them come by of call.

WE'RE GIVING THANKS

Our forefathers gave thanks for food, for freedom, for faith without fear of oppression. They paused in their efforts to acquire the necessities of life to give thanks for the abundance of their blessings. AND SO . . .

We pause at Thanksgiving to express our gratitude for all the good things—your trust, goodwill, and for the right to work and earn the confidence you have placed in us.

Our debt is great—our thoughts sincere. Thank you.

THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN—

Highlights and Sidelights

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas, Nov. 23.—Our guest of honor did not arrive. A "Texas Welcome Dinner" in Austin, honoring President and Mrs. Kennedy and Vice President and Mrs. Johnson, was cancelled.

President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas during the noon hour Friday, just a few hours before he was to be the guest of 3,000 Democrats of Texas at one of the largest honor banquets ever held in the Lone Star State.

He died of bullet wounds received while in a motorcade enroute to a speaking engagement at the Dallas Mart. Also shot by the sniper and seriously injured was Texas Governor, John Connally, who was riding with the President. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, in keeping with customary security measures, was in another car. He was unharmed.

It was a bright, sunshiny day, suddenly turned into darkness and gloom—not just in Dallas and Austin, but throughout the world. Unquestionably it was the blackest day in Texas history.

Thousands of persons, including Texas legislators, heard the news enroute to Austin. Many continued their journey to the capital—a city paralyzed by the shocking events. Hundreds joined the legislators in memorial services in the Houses of Representatives.

It was a sad ending to an even sadder day.

Connally Recovering

First encouraging news to reach the capitol following the murderous attack on the president and governor was word that the operation on Connally was successful. However, he is expected to be hospitalized for at least 10 days.

Johnson Assumes Presidency
Within a few hours after President Kennedy's assassination, Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in as President.

Swearing-in ceremonies were performed by Federal District Judge Sarah T. Hughes aboard the presidential plane just before the jet airliner bearing the deceased president's body left Dallas for Washington.

WASHINGTON—

As It Looks From Here

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C.
17th District, Texas

On June 17 of this year, the Supreme Court of the United States ruled, in part, that the recitation of prayers in our public schools is unconstitutional. At least, this is the general conclusion.

The case which came from the State of New York had to do with a prayer prescribed by the local school board. The fact that a "fixed" wording of the prayer was designed by a political body, became a central point in the controversy. In an attempt to remedy this situation there has been introduced in the House of Representatives what is known as Joint Resolution 9, which says "Prayers may be offered in the course of any program in any public school or other public place in the United States."

Being a constitutional question, to pass the Congress would require a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate. Should it receive this support then it would go to the various state legislatures for ratification.

A great many people are writing support of this proposal.

On first blush, the wording in the pending Resolution appears to be a clarification and an obsolete provision to override the decision of the Supreme Court. But does it really do what it intends or appears to do? The separation of Church and State should be inviolate and zealously guarded. In this one sentence, "Prayer may be offered in the course of any program in any public school or other public place in the United States," immediately raises the question as to who should prescribe the wording of the prayer. Would it be done by some governing body such as the school board, which was exactly the case in the State of New York?

A great many constitutional lawyers believe that the Constitution is clear on this subject of the separation of Church and State. They interpret the decision in the New York case as being based on the fact that an official body, which in this case was the school board, required a "set wording" and that the decision of the Supreme Court related to this one case. Many lawyers contend that the denial of prayer in our public schools is not the "law of the land." Rather, it is the law of this particular case.

The wording in the resolution now pending before the House of Representatives is not the only approach to this question, but any approach becomes highly delicate. It is sensitive because of interpretation which might be placed upon this language in the future, to render a judgment in almost the opposite than that rendered in June of this year. In this instance the opposite would mean an officially directed religious exercise in violation of the principle of the separation of Church and State. The fire is right under the frying pan. For some Court in the future to rule that an individual or an official body was authorized and empowered to pre-

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By DeMARQUIS GORDON

A lot of things have happened since my last column in the paper two weeks ago.

A new Hamilton County Program Building Committee was organized November 12th in the district court room in Hamilton.

Purpose of the committee is to study the present county situation and render, identify major problems, and determine objectives that will help solve these problems.

The membership of the committee represents all major economic interests and geographic areas of the county.

members met for the first meeting. Jeff Perry was elected president; Johnny Harris, vice-president; and Mrs. K. Coats was elected secretary.

The Technical Action Panel was also present for the meeting. The TAP will assist the program building committee when called on in planning the county program.

The livestock marketing school which I attended last week with 23 other county agents was a rewarding experience. The school was taught by representatives of Swift & Company.

The agents accompanied Swift buyers in the stock yard. The buyer must be very skilled in his judgment and be able to determine the dressing percentage of an animal by looking at him on foot.

Several things mentioned in the school stand out as very interesting to me. First is the very complex nature of meat marketing.

Another fact that stands out is that "Mrs. Consumer is the boss. She selects the meat that her family desires and can afford.

Buck Tales

Deer reports were slow coming in this week, but a few of the better hunters continue to bag their bucks.

Bud Stringer used the "back door" method to kill his buck, bagging a huge spike on his place north of town.

Bill Boyd and his hunting partner, Jim Brannon of Fort Worth, each killed bucks on their lease near Fredericksburg, and Bill rushed home in time to watch enviously as Joyce again topped local hunters with her 138-pound beauty.

Fred Jaggars brought in perhaps the second-best set of horns Saturday morning when he killed a 116-pound 8-pointer with a huge rack. The buck topped all previous kills on his six-man lease for the year, and sent the rest of the boys back to the brush in an attempt to "catch up." Pete Keller downed his buck on the lease last week, making the party 100 percent in kills.

M. H. Hodge, out in Black Stump Valley, was telling of the first real case of "buck fever" heard this year. Seemed one of the hunters on his place had sat in wait for "Old Joe" to come along, and when he did, the fellow simply couldn't pull the trigger and the buck walked off very unconcerned. It happens to the best of us.

Lusk Randals took offense at the remarks directed at him last week, and rushed out to his place exact of Fairy and downed a nice 7-point buck last Thursday.

Speaking of buck fever, that reminds us of the fellow who hunted all last season for the "really big one."

Near the end of the season the local man got his chance and killed what he termed "Old Joe." Buckitis didn't set in until he discovered just how big the deer was, and then it happened.

Being nearly dark, and since he was out at the place by himself, the fellow decided to go for help. Starting out around the mountain in a fast run and after going about 500 yards he decided that he should really go back and clean the animal, just in case he couldn't find aid. So he ran back to the buck, cleaned it as fast as he could, and started out again in a fast trot.

By this time darkness had closed in, and about half way around the mountain he remembered that he had left his expensive gun at the site of the kill. So back he went, still in a hard run, to get his gun.

With gun in hand, he took off again for the car which was parked half a mile away on the other side of a creek which couldn't be crossed. All the time enroute to the car (still in a hard run) he was thinking of the possibility of not being able to find help that night to get the big buck out, so—aw, you know the rest!

Back he goes a third time hoping to hang the deer in a tree out of reach of varmints so it would keep until morning. He dragged the buck to the nearest tree, and tugged and tugged. But it just wasn't possible to get the buck off the ground, so away he went dragging the buck behind him, back to open spaces in hopes that bobcats wouldn't eat the deer before morning.

No need to say that he did get the deer out the next morning, and it was indeed a nice buck although not as large as he had thought.

After the story was told he took a lot of ribbing from fellow hunters. This is just an example of what can happen when "buck fever," really sets in. Not many hunters will admit to such a thing, but it happens to the best of them.

Other successful hunters in bagging bucks include Andy Hutton, Ernie Jacobs and Pete Norwood. Fred Hyles, hunting near Chalk Mountain, killed a 90-pound 10-point buck Monday afternoon of this week.

THANKSGIVING STILL MEANS THANKS

Our Pilgrim Forefathers conceived Thanksgiving as a day to stop and take stock of all the good things in life. They were beset by problems—economic, political, big and small—but they found time, once each year to thank God and thank each other for all the good things they enjoyed.

THANKSGIVING IS A TIME FOR EXPRESSING GRATITUDE

Implicit in the name (but all too often lost sight of in our pre-occupation with the feast time aspects of the day) Thanksgiving is a time for giving thanks for all the good things we enjoy—to the creator from whom all blessings flow. What better way to express your gratitude than giving thanks on this Thanksgiving Day.
