REGULATIONS FOR THE ARMY DRAFT ANNOUNCED TODAY

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN IN GREAT DETAIL FOR ARRIVING AT EXEMPTIONS

NO CLASS EXEMPTIONS

Every Case Will Be Decided Upon Merits by Local Board With Right of Appeal

By Associated Press. Washington, July 2.—Regulations governing the next step toward selecting a national army for the millions required for service on June 5 were issued today at the direction of President Wilson. They leave to be prescribed later the manner of determining the order of liability of the men registered but set forth in great detail the method of arriving at exemptions and the work generally of the local district boards named to carry out the task.

Exemption regulations added little to the terms of the draft law, the question of whether a man between the ages of 21 and 30 is entitled to exemption because of dependents, the nature of his occupation or physical unfitness being for the boards to decide after proper investigation. It is made very clear, however, that there are to be no class exemptions and that each individual case must be decided upon its own merits.

The local boards—one for each county of less than 45,000 population or city of 25,000 with additional boards where necessary for each additional 20,000 population will have upon them the industrial or agricultural occupation subject to appeal to the district boards. All cases involving agricultural, industrial or occupational exemptions will be passed upon by the district board—one for each federal judicial district, which also will decide appeals from decisions of local boards.

In the near future a date will be set by Brigadier General Crowder, provost marshal general, for the meeting and organization of the boards. At the same time it is expected the selection regulations will be promulgated so that the process may be put under way without delay. The present intention is to have those selected by the colors about September or as soon thereafter as the contingents to home front can be completed.

In a statement accompanying the announcing of the regulations the president called on the board of directors to do their work fearlessly and impartially and to remember that the army of the future will be strengthened and sustained if they are composed of men free from any thought of injustice in their mode of selection.

Upon organizing the local boards will take over from the registration boards all registration cards which they will number serially and lists for posting for public view. Then after having been advised of the method by which the quotas to be drawn from its territory (minus credits for enlistment in the National Guard or in the regular army) even board will prepare a list of persons in this territory in the order of their fitness to give to it the press and within three days send to each district designated person notice by mail.

As the meeting neared, they first will take a physical examination in accordance with special regulations to be provided, bearing in mind that all persons are to be examined by an army surgeon. If the physical examination is passed successfully then comes the question of exemption.

JONES WILL NOT BE SURRENDERED BY EL PASO AUTHORITIES

El Paso, Texas, July 2.—Felix Jones will not be permitted to leave El Paso county to answer to the indictment in the Dallas County grand jury without a legal trial. This was indicated when Sheriff Seth Ordorm said El Paso has the first call on Jones and that he will take over in this county in the charge of murder in connection with the death of Thomas Lyons on May 17. Before he is taken to Dallas to answer to the indictment in connection with the killing of Florence Brown on July 28, 1913.

Long-distance telephone messages have been exchanged between Dallas Sheriff's office and El Paso county would give Jones up for trial and the reply was negative. El Paso officials say they will fight by legal means any effort to take Jones out of the jurisdiction of El Paso County courts before he has been brought to trial here. Jones has shown extreme nervousness since being told of the indictment has not changed his emphatic denial of connection with the death of the Dallas stenographer.

Friends of the late Thomas Lyons, Silver City stationer, who was murdered followed by the arrest of Jones will it was said resist through legal process the taking of Jones to Dallas before he has been tried here. Jones will be tried at the fall term of District Court, but the date for the trial has not been set.

TURBULENCE IS INCREASING AT EAST ST. LOUIS

RIOTERS TAKE RIFLES FROM NATIONAL GUARDSMEN—WOMEN AND GIRLS AID

THREE DEATHS RESULT

Detective Sergeant Shot By Negro Mob Following Which Negroes Ahe Victims of Violence

By Associated Press. East St. Louis, Ill., July 2.—Two negroes were taken from a street car here this afternoon shot and killed, and a white man, standing in front of his store was killed by a stray bullet. The turbulence of the mobs increased during the afternoon. Rioters took the rifles away from the National Guardsmen. White women and girls are participating in the violence. They pelted the troops with stones and bricks. The attacks on the afternoon and at one o'clock eight negroes were in hospitals. The attacks usually took the form of a bombardment of individual negroes with stones and paving blocks.

The trouble broke out anew about noon when a negro appeared at a street car transfer point where a crowd of white men had assembled. A white man struck the negro in the face and then knocked him down and kicked him. A white man fired five shots at the negro as he lay prostrate, wounding the negro in the leg and arm. The crowd drew back, but the negro had been killed and the negro jumped up and ran away.

Later a white man standing in front of the Illinois Hotel began firing at a negro who had been shot. The aim was bad and the bullet hit an aged white man. The negro fled, the armed white man pursuing and firing. The armed man was arrested but the command of a crowd of white men the police released him.

Illinois Guardsmen are patrolling the streets of East St. Louis with fixed bayonets. Detective Sergeant Samuel Cottledge was killed, three other persons were wounded, one of them so seriously he may die, and two other citizens were shot, earlier this morning by a negro mob, in recurrence of race rioting. After killing of the officers the negroes dispersed.

The trouble began at 12:30 this morning when a mob of negroes estimated at 20 each one armed with guns or shot weapons assembled in a church in response to the firing of a bell which had been rung by a negro. When word was received at police headquarters that a mob had formed four policemen were sent to the scene in an automobile. As the car turned a corner the headlights showed the mob formed in a mass marching toward the machine. Sergeant Cottledge asked the negroes where they were going and was met with a curt reply and an order to "get out of here."

He told them that he and his party were officers and had come to see that order was maintained. "Well go about your business," was the answer, accompanied by a volley of shots. Cottledge was killed instantly and the other three officers were injured.

NOW CHARGE AS MUCH AS WICHITA FALLS BARBERS

By Associated Press. San Antonio, Texas, July 2.—Union barbershops in San Antonio today began charging 20 cents for shaves, giving advance cost of laundry, soap and other materials as the reason. Hair tonic applications also were advanced from 15 to 20 cents because of increased cost of tonics.

GOVERNOR'S PAMPHLET IN INSURANCE MAIL

Austin, Texas, July 2.—It has been learned that copies of a pamphlet prepared by Governor Ferguson with reference to his veto of the University appropriations were mailed out of the office of the State Fire Insurance Commission, being sent to many sections of the state. A. R. Andrews, a member of the Fire Insurance Commission, today said that he had sent out copies of the pamphlet in the regular mail of the office.

"A copy of the Governor's pamphlet was placed in each letter going out of our office," Andrews said. "I have no apology to offer for mailing out the pamphlets."

The report that copies of the pamphlet were mailed out of the State Insurance and Banking Department is denied by Commissioner Charles O. Austin.

"Not one of the pamphlets was mailed out of my department," said Commissioner Austin. "I will make affidavit to that effect and my deputies will do the same thing."

1917 COTTON CROP IS ESTIMATED AT 11,630,000 BALES

GOVERNMENT FORECAST SLIGHTLY LARGER CROPS THAN LAST YEAR.

34,600,000 ACRES IN

Scarcity of Labor and Unfavorable Weather Large Factors in Hiding Down Production

Washington, D. C., July 2, 1917.—Plans for the cotton growers to produce this year the largest crop that staple ever grown have been frustrated. A crop larger than those of last year and that preceding it probably will be realized. This year's production was forecast today by the National Bureau of Agriculture at 11,632,000 equivalent of pound bales.

Scarcity of labor due to emigration of negroes to the industrial centers of the north, higher wages and to the entry of young men in the military service, high prices of food, feed and fertilizer and the movement of the south to feed itself are the important influences against the cotton farmers' efforts to produce a record crop. Unfavorable weather also was a determining factor. The condition by States follows:

SAPP CASE CALLED FOR TRIAL AT WAXAHACHIE

Three Killings Involved And Cases Have Been in Courts for Several Years

By Associated Press. Waxahachie, Texas, July 2.—After being in jail for nearly two years, E. E. and Louis Sapp again started a fight for their liberty when the case in which they are jointly charged with murder was called here.

The two men also are charged jointly with the killing of Frank Arzawa, and in addition to this E. E. Sapp has been indicted for killing his wife. The Sapp case involves three killings and has been in the courts for two and a half years. The Sapps were residents of Bonamant when the killings occurred.

In the spring of 1914, E. E. Sapp who then was deputy state guard warden, married Mrs. Ellen I. Patten of Bay City. At the time, she was sixty-two years of age and Sapp was about 28.

In the fall of 1914, E. E. Sapp, his wife, Frank Harward and Dick Watts composed a hunting party which went into the Trinity bottoms near Rayburn. On the morning of November 7, Mrs. Sapp was killed by a shot said to have come from Watts's gun. Watts said his gun was accidentally discharged and Harward said he has been the only other witness of the shooting substantiated this.

The following January both Watts and Harward disappeared. February 2, 1915, a farmer found a body in the hardin county Big Thicket which was later identified through dental work as that of Dick Watts. About a month later Frank Harward's body was found a short distance from Watts's grave.

Shortly before the Harward body was found, the Sapp brothers, grand jury indicted the Sapp brothers for the killing of Harward. The Sapps were refused bond on habeas corpus hearings.

Later Sapp was indicted by the Liberty county grand jury on a charge of killing his wife. The Watts and Harward cases were set for trial in Hayes county and then transferred to Jasper county upon motion of the defense. Upon motion of District Judge Davis the cases were transferred to Angelina county.

In May last year, both the defendants were convicted of killing Watts at their trial at Lufkin. E. E. Sapp got a life sentence and his brother, Louis, was sentenced to 10 years.

The case then was appealed and the higher court granted a new trial. The case was then transferred to Waxahachie.

It was stated this morning that more than 200 witnesses have been subpoenaed. The trial of the case at Lufkin consumed three weeks and attorneys express belief that the present trial will require fully that long.

FORCE OF BLOW SHOWS RUSSIAN ARMY HAS NOT LOST STRIKING POWER

THE BATTLE CONTINUES

Berlin Apparently Expects Extension of Offensive to Other Areas in Eastern Front

NUMBER PRISONERS HAS REACHED 10,000

Petrograd July 2.—The number of prisoners taken in the advance on Monday is about 10,000. South of Iwra the Russian lines are being strongly fortified.

The Associated Press war summary today:

Russia's armies have not lost their old striking power as the result of their long inactivity. This is evident by the announcement today from Petrograd of the taking of an important Austro-German position in Galicia at the outset of the new offensive, together with the capture of more than 8,500 prisoners. The advance was effected in the field of attack between the upper Stripa and the Naryugka. General Brusiloff moved here yesterday, the Austro-German line being struck along a front of more than 18 miles, after prolonged artillery preparations. In pressing forward the Russians captured the town of Koniuch. The number of prisoners taken compares not unfavorably with last year's loss from General Brusiloff's great offensive along the southern part of the line in the east, considering the comparative shortness of the present line of attack.

A stroke of such force had not been expected from the Russians, considering the disorganization of the army following the revolution. The surprise in the initial announcement was that the Russians had effected reorganization and had been able to resume the offensive in this brief time since the great upheaval.

The artillery battle is still raging far to the north along the Russian line into Volhynia, as far as the middle Stokhod, the latest Berlin statement indicating that attacks by the Russians were expected to extend beyond the area of the original fighting.

OFFENSIVE RESUMED BY RUSSIA JULY 1

By Associated Press. Petrograd, July 2.—M. Kerensky, minister of war, telegraphed Premier L'off today that the Russian revolutionary army resumed the offensive on July 1.

OFFENSIVE FORECASTED THREE WEEKS AGO

Petrograd, July 2.—The Russian official announcement says that the Russians have advanced to the Konichy stream and also have captured heavy guns. Teuton prisoners continue to be brought in.

BERLIN SAYS RUSSIAN LOSSES WERE EXCESSIVE

Berlin, July 2.—The German official statement issued today says that the Russian offensive was frustrated last night by the Russians. But that the Russian massed attack was "cut up in a barring position." A fresh Russian attack against this position, the statement adds, was frustrated. The German general staff says the Russian losses surpassed any measure hitherto known. Some Russian units, it reports, were entirely dispersed.

MARVIN JONES WINS FAME WITH HIS BAT

Washington, July 2.—The mighty batting record of Marvin Jones of Texas lifted the Democrats from the slough of despond in the annual congressional game here Saturday and gave them a victory over the Republicans, 22 to 21. Jones went to the bat seven times and drove out seven clean hits, stole bases at will and played a stellar fielding game.

President Wilson sat through eight innings in the game, which was played for the benefit of the Red Cross. All the American officials and many distinguished foreigners saw the game.

The game lasted three hours and twenty-three minutes and netted about $2,000 in cash and many thousands of pounds. Only forty-five errors were made by the two teams, leaving the old record of fifty-six undisturbed. The leaders of both sides pointed out that not a ball was caught by an outfielder on either team, a showing never duplicated in the many House baseball games.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington American, umpired and umpired the first ball, thrown out by President Wilson.

TURKS FLEEING BEFORE RUSSIANS IN THE CAUCASUS

Chicago, July 2.—An appeal for men between 25 and 35 years of age to put in their application for the second officers' training camp to be opened at Leon Springs, Texas, August 27, has been made by Wharton Clay, executive secretary of the camp association. The appeal says that there are many vacancies still existing on the rolls, many men who are eligible having failed to put in their application because they heard that men over 31 would be given preference by the government in assigning commissions.

Senator Bankhead's amendment adding wool to the list to be placed under control was adopted by a viva voce vote.

"READY!" SAID BASE HOSPITAL SERVICE OF RED CROSS WHEN WAR BEGAN

The Red Cross was prepared for war, says Leo Arnsperg, vice chairman of the military relief committee, New York chapter, American Red Cross. To the general indictment that the American Nation was and still is unprepared for war there is one notable exception, the base hospital service of the American Red Cross. When war first broke out in Europe and far-sighted men and women saw that this country might ultimately become involved, the directors of the Red Cross began to prepare on a large scale for such an emergency. Up and down the land went organizers urging public spirited citizens in cities all over the country to establish units and raise funds for hospital equipment. As this meant in each instance the raising of from $25,000 to $20,000 for something whose usefulness was in the minds of the general public very problematical, the task was no light one.

Why contribute such a big sum to war, they asked in something that will not be stored? was the burden of the protest. "But the workers persisted. As a result, when this country declared war the Red Cross was prepared and had already organized forty-four base hospital units, thirty-nine for the army and five for the navy, which will be ready to be turned over to the government with their equipment as fast as they are asked for. Already seven of these have been sent abroad for the use of the allies and the balance are ready to go at a day's notice.

The base hospital, on the other hand, is based on a substantial permanent structure anywhere from 25 to a hundred miles away. The wounded are taken from the trenches by stretcher bearers and carried to the dressing stations immediately back of the front. Here they receive emergency dressing and attention and are then carried back to the field hospitals in ambulances. From the field hospitals, as soon as possible, they are carried by ambulance and hospital train back to the base hospitals, where they are surrounded by the best hospital equipment known to modern medical and surgical science.

CLARENCE OUSLEY GIVES VIEWS ON FOOD CONTROL

By CLARENCE OUSLEY. Washington, July 2.—After some two weeks of more or less intimate study of the agricultural activities of the nation, as reflected in the department of agriculture, I am convinced in the view that the food and feed supply of the United States from the crop of 1917 will be barely sufficient, with the utmost economy, to serve our needs and the needs of the allies until another crop can be harvested. No doubt there will be a plentiful supply of a few articles and there may be, as indeed there has already been, an overproduction of perishable products. The yield of grain for the most part now promises larger than it promised a few weeks ago, but a few weeks ago it promised to fall far short of actual necessities. Hence, the improvement is not to be taken as an indication of a surplus but as a pleasing disappointment of grave apprehensions. Hasty Marketing Harmful. The reaction in prices of grain during the last few weeks is due in part to the improved prospects of yield and in part to what has been aptly called the "autumnal din." That is to say, as the harvest approaches rush to market in larger volume than commerce can absorb, and they are penalized for their haste. Storage and gradual marketing in war times, as in peace times, will not only bring better prices to producers, but will greatly relieve the congestion of transportation which now happens to be a very serious hindrance to necessary war activities. I am short of opinion that storage and gradual marketing will bring higher prices than those now prevailing or advising owners of wheat or other grains to hold for an upset price. But I am firmly of opinion that storage and gradual marketing will bring higher prices than those now prevailing or advising owners of wheat or other grains to hold for an upset price. But I am firmly of opinion that storage and gradual marketing will bring higher prices than those now prevailing or advising owners of wheat or other grains to hold for an upset price.

be addressed to the prevention of hoarding and manipulation by professional traders and speculators. A Worthy War Weapon. It is worth while remarking in this connection that speculation in the present prices to farmers through the fixing of a guaranteed price by the food control administration appears very remote if indeed not altogether impossible. The food control bill, as it is about to pass the congress, vests very large powers in the hands of the president, which will be exercised through Mr. Hoover, who has already been selected for the office—powers which in ordinary times no sane American statesman would propose to give to any man. The food control bill is confessedly a dangerous weapon, but it is a weapon of war, and weapons of war are dangerous, and we must have weapons in order to wage war, and we must trust those whom we call to high command, to use the weapons upon our enemies with the least possible "kick" upon ourselves. The dominant purpose of this provision of the food control bill relating to guaranteed prices to producers for food and feed products, in times past, has been to secure to the government in position to assure producers of a profitable price for their labor in planting and cultivating food and feed products. In times past, however, production has brought low prices so low that frequently a large crop has sold for less in the aggregate than a small crop, and has imposed an actual loss upon the producer. Prudent farmers, are to be excused for fearing a recurrence of price disaster under the stimulation by the government of increased food and feed. In fact, we all—those in official responsibility and those who are concerned about the national welfare—understand at the outset that if the crops of food and feed now being harvested are sold at a substantially lower price than the market quotations of the last few weeks the producers will find such small profit, because these crops have been grown at very heavy expense, that they will not make unusual preparations for equal plantings the next year. We will not have sold our wheat and corn, for instance, before the farmers must make preparation for the next planting. The prices during the next few weeks, therefore, will have a very important if not an all-controlling influence upon the plantings for next year. Hence it behooves all who feel the responsibility of abundantly sustaining this nation and its allies in the great war for human liberty ever waged in the history of the world to face the facts squarely and to realize the advantage to the farmers of making quick selling to meet his obligations or profiting by his ignorance of market conditions, or denying him generous accommodations in credit or storage or any other practice which in peace times would be excused as the exercise of individual rights, to drive a good bargain or to make money, now takes on the aspect of reprehensible conduct if not indeed disloyalty to the government.

How to Choose Your Drug Store

Select your drug store with the same care that you select your doctor. Trade at a drug store that pays more attention to making a customer than to making a sale. crop of 1916 before the crop of 1917 is available, and are greatly stimulated by the increased activities of the government in securing material for uniforms and other war purposes. It is entirely too early to guess at the cotton yield for 1917, but it does not appear to be in the least probable if at all possible, that we will grow more cotton in 1917 than the world will accept at profitable prices during 1918. The prices for cotton seed especially promises to be exceptionally high on account of the world shortage of fats during the next few months to the cotton seed oil. The same cause should make also a high price for peanuts and peanut oil. In this connection it would be useless to speculate on the prices for the various crops in the sections of Texas where corn has suffered more or less disaster from the hot, dry weather to look carefully during the next few months to the yield and prices of peanuts and of the sorghum grains. If expectations are not disappointed this year's records will be a record to be proud of, and in all sandy soils both from the standpoint of profitable returns to the producer and of increased food and feed. For all dry regions the sorghum grains have proved their value and even in the sections of greater rainfall it may be worth while for farmers to divide their plantings of corn and milo maize so that in the event of drought the kafir or milo will make good the Indian corn might fail. The Indian corn will make, though the milo or kafir might suffer from midge and even then make a food fodder supply. These suggestions are far in advance of the time of preparation for the next crop but they involve observations which thoughtful farmers will ordinarily make as a guide to next year's activities. I may say that they indicate to a certain extent the faintest which the department of agriculture is at this time endeavoring to take. We are thinking not only of the farmers' present affairs, but we are trying to anticipate the world's needs as they may be in the future. We have great confidence in the resources of our nation for achievement on the battlefield when our forces set into action, but making due allowance for the fact that we must still reckon upon the possibility of a continuance of the war two or three years.

RUMORS OF CONTEST IN COLLEGE LOCATION. Austin, Texas, July 2.—Representative Haskell is in the interest of the West Texas A. & M. College, which will be located in Austin, but he has not arrived here Sunday night. Just what is Mr. Bryant's mission to Austin is not known, but it is believed that Mr. Bryant is in Austin further than to state that "this is the first time I have been in Austin in a number of years, and I am enjoying myself in renewing old acquaintances." I worked in Austin back in 1879 as a printer, and I always liked the old town. The fact that Mr. Murphy remains in Austin has given rise to a rumor that San Angelo is contemplating or insisting on a rehearing before the location board. Asked if he had been advised by Mr. Bryant that he was en route to Austin, Mr. Murphy said he had not. Anyway, a conference of the location board in selecting Abilene is likely to be held in Austin this week. The statement made by Lieutenant Governor Hobby at Dallas that he was not certain if the location board would exist after declaring Abilene as the place for locating the college, was discussed here today. Opinion was expressed that the board still exists and would continue to exist until Abilene had carried out its promises, particularly the one with reference to a water supply. In the event Abilene failed to meet its promises, it is believed that the board would be reconvened to make another selection, that await further action until the convening of the next legislature would be made.

TO MAKE CATHEDRAL PANTHEON FOR HEROIC DEAD OF ALLIES. Washington, D. C., June 28.—The proposal to convert the Rhineland cathedral at Rheims into a pantheon for the heroic dead of all the Allied nations at the end of the World War gives timely interest to the National Geographic Society's bulletin on this great Gothic edifice. Pronounced by many students of architecture the most beautiful structure produced during the middle ages, the cathedral of Rheims is one of the world's most historic edifices; some of the most inspiring and magnificent episodes in the life of the French nation are here placed within its walls, says the bulletin. "It is the matchless beauty and symmetry of the cathedral's west facade which distinguished it above all other ecclesiastical buildings of the moyen age. This front of the edifice, which has been so frequently pictured since its disfigurement by the shell-fire of German gunners, has three re-

CHARMING GINGHAM FROCKS ARE QUITE THE THING FOR HOT DAYS

New York, June 11—If you are bound for the country on a summer vacation, by all means let your trunk contain at least one if not more of the charming gingham frocks that everybody is interested in this summer.

From very early in the season there was much talk of these gingham frocks. Society wore them at Palm Beach in the early spring and, immediately their success was assured. There is every kind of gingham to be had this summer, beginning with the small checks in white and colors, of which blue and white, and pink and white are perhaps the most charming. Then there are the larger checks, and the fascinating plaids in which several colors are introduced. Some of the prettiest combinations are yellow, white and dress is buttoned down the center front from collar to hem. The large white pearl buttons which are used really act in part as trimming. In striped tub silks with white pique collars made of the same silk, these frocks are both practical and pretty. The skirts are pleated or gathered, and sometimes trimmed with deep tucks going around the lower part. More elaborate frocks are somewhat on the same order, or some dresses with waists of Georgette crepe and skirts of crepe de chine matching in color. These are charming for afternoons developed in pale-blue or pink. Short Panels and Short Draperies.

While the straight one-piece frock continues to be the main theme of the designers at present, there are very pleasing variations which now and again diverge from the beaten path. In the first sketch is a dress showing a short panel which breaks the straight lines in front. Patch pockets at the sides fulfill the same mission, while the box-pleats at the front and back of the skirt preserve the straight lines as far as possible. The panel is repeated in the back just the same as in the front. There are several frocks in which this hip-length panel appears. The model illustrated is for youthful figures. The dress is developed in oyster-white linen with heavy all-over embroidery in white blue, green, red and white; and white, black and brown. There are also some brown and white, and blue and white plaids which are wonderfully attractive.

These frocks are smart for all sorts of occasions. They are not strictly for morning use, but they seem to fill in nicely for almost any informal summer affair. They are made up in such charming ways, it is no wonder that women are so enthusiastic about them. On their first introduction the plaid and checked gingham were almost always combined with plain gingham, usually in one of the colors of the plaid or check. The plain gingham was used either for piping and collar and cuffs or for making a portion of the dress in those "half-and-half" dresses which are so very popular. These combinations are still seen, but very often the plain gingham is now replaced by plain voile, and sometimes it is organza that is combined with gingham, but this is mainly for the dainty collar and cuffs which go with these dresses.

Plain blue gingham combined with black and white check is an unusual combination but has been attractively used with a touch of red cross-stitch embroidery on the black and white check which is employed for trimming.

The shirtwaist dress, is one of the summer novelties which has been received with much favor. These dresses are rather plain in effect. The waist is attached to the skirt, and the forming the collar, shaped cuffs, and large square pockets.

Another departure from absolutely straight lines is shown in the second sketch. Here the material is cleverly draped at the sides, producing the narrowing effect at the ankles. No definite waistline is given this dress. The skirt section is attached at low waistline, but a loosely arranged giraffe holds the dress into the figure above the joining of the waist and skirt. Brown and white plaid gingham forms the greater part of this dress, and plain white gingham makes the sleeves and body section. One of the Smart Gingham Frocks of the Summer.

We are at liberty to do just as we please about waistlines this season. The long puffed blouses and the smart one-piece frocks which are still in vogue permit of a giraffe being placed in almost any position. The puffed blouses are up in all sorts of materials, none is too sheer or too heavy for the style.

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

TO THEE, AMERICA—MY BOY

My boy—born in the pride of loves sweet thoughts;
My boy—bred in the love of purest hearts.
Long have best glorious hopes been mine.
But now, America, he is all thine!
My boy—'s trembling lest thou shouldst take now;
I bore him and I kissed his infant
brow
And nourished him to give him strength to walk.
And taught his baby lips to lip and talk.
Canst thou not wait?—he seems as such a child—
How can he fight—his manners are so mild?
I trained his hands to do no one an injury.
Thinkst thou that he can ever learn to kill?

My boy—he seems as but a tender
southerner
America, I taught him God and Truth;
If thou must have, I give him all to Thee!
He's brave—I'm brave, and yet—O son, is he—
That something in my breast still holds him fast.
Thy mother love—a tie that's made to
last;
Thy Mother love—a tie that's made to
last!

Thou'ldst thou take him far across the sea?
Thou canst not take this mother love
from me;
Thou hast his Manhood in its perfect flower.
My boy—your Man, will serve thee in this hour.
Thou canst not know the anguish in my heart—
Thou'ldst thou part, I fear the hour to part;
Yet not a tear shall show within mine eye.
And I shall stifle every sob and sigh,
America, I give him up to thee;
Flesh of my flesh—heart of my heart is he!

And I shall leave mine arms to be a Man—
To fight for and to do the best he can deep in his eyes there is incipient fire
And in his heart ennobling thoughts inspire;
And I, his mother, understand them all—
He hears, he feels, and answers to the call;
So short a while upon my breast he lay;
I rocked and crooned and sang the day away.
But now he hears the auring of thy voice,
And I, his mother, have no other
voice.
Than give him up to thee with all my heart—
God grant that he may do a noble part
I surrender him, America to thee—
My boy—my boy—thy Soldier Man to be!

TO CAMPAIGN AGAINST YELLOW FEVER IN OTHER COUNTRIES

Havana, July 2.—Dr. Juan Gutierrez, the Cuban director of sanitation, has received authority from the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation to institute a campaign in other countries to stamp out yellow fever. President Menocal has granted him leave of absence to undertake an expert on methods of fighting yellow fever. As a member of the International Health Board he visited South American cities last year to aid in suppressing the spread of the disease there. Major General William C. Gorgas, chairman of the Yellow Fever Commission, has written to Dr. Gutierrez giving to him full authority to investigate yellow fever conditions wherever it may be found in other countries, and to make any suggestions that he may see fit toward the extermination of this disease. Director Taylor of Las Animas hospital here is likewise co-operating with Dr. Gutierrez in the work. For the present it is proposed to start the intensive research on the island of Martinique and in Maracaibo. The Rockefeller Foundation has consigned

BOHEMIANS MEET, PLEDGE LOYALTY, DEMONSTRATE IT

Bohemians From Many Points in Northwest Texas Attend Picnic Here

Bohemians of Northwest Texas yesterday demonstrated their patriotism at a picnic held on the farm of Chas. Mataska, four miles east of town, at which time a considerable sum of money was raised for the purpose of defraying the expenses of a general publicity campaign of enlightenment in regard to Bohemia's desire for an independent government. Incidentally a number of recruits were received for the companies of Texas militia now being organized here. Up to date six Bohemians have joined the colors of their country from this county, and the sum of $250 has been raised for the publicity campaign. In view of the fact that there are only about twenty Bohemian families in the county, this is a most remarkable showing. At the meeting yesterday Bohemians were present from Magazari, Bomarton, Emmor, Oklaunion and a few from Oklahoma.

After the picnic dinner yesterday a number of addresses were made, chief of which was one by Hon. Method Padral of West Texas, a leading attorney of Central Texas, and a former candidate for Congressman at large who urged the Bohemians to do their full duty, and even more than their duty for the country of their adoption. He called attention to the fact that up to the entrance of the United States into the war the Bohemians were in an pathetic condition for the reason that for centuries they had been ruled by European masters and while their sympathies have always been with the Allies, their condition at home prohibited them from making any demonstration. Since the United States declared war, however, their hopes for ultimate freedom have been rekindled and at the present time no people of all those engaged in this war are more enthusiastic and patriotic, or more willing to give of their manhood and their wealth for the successful culmination of the Allies' cause.

J. B. Marlow also made an address, urging enlistment in the National Guard, in addition to the six members who have joined the guard here, there have been a number who have joined the regular army, so that Bohemia can well feel proud that her people have done their full duty for the country.

The people of Bohemia have been oppressed for centuries and have no love for their Teutonic masters. One of the chief characteristics of the Bohemian immigrants to the United States has been their burning devotion to liberty and freedom and their undying hatred of oppression and tyranny. They have kept the fires burning in the altars of freedom in the country of their adoption, and at heart the Bohemian citizen is a true patriot ready to serve or to die for the land that has offered freedom and protection.

Several of the Bohemians who have enlisted in the American armies. They are anxious to go to the front where they can fight for the country of their adoption and for their oppressed brothers in Bohemia as well.

GALVESTON CAUSEWAY MAY BE REBUILT

Galveston, July 2.—Prospects that a contract for the rehabilitation of the Galveston causeway would be let some time next week were declared to be good, following a conference today of all the interests involved. Efforts will be made to have some modification of the proposal of one contractor made, and if this is done, it is believed the contract will be let next week, or at least at an early date.

HUGE COAL PIER LOADS WITH BELT CONVEYORS

A $2,500,000 coal pier that can load 7,000 tons of coal an hour has been opened by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Curtis Bay, near Baltimore. According to the June Popular-Mechanics Magazine, the structure is of unusual interest because of its capacity, which is claimed to be the largest of any coal pier yet constructed, and because it handles coal by belt conveyors instead of by gravity. This arrangement greatly reduces the breakage by making 3 feet the maximum fall for coal from the time it leaves the car until it reaches the ship. At the land end of the pier, which is of concrete and steel, are two car dumpers and next to them are balancing bins into which certain of the belt conveyors empty. On the pier are four travelling loading towers that can serve as many ships all at one time. They are supplied with coal by 60 in. belts having a maximum speed of 500 feet per minute. Supplementing these are two towers that rim the ship's loads. The functions of the entire plant are interlocked and controlled electrically by push buttons.

The drafting and construction is now on and by the time it gets going good and strong there's likely to be a scarcity of good hall talent throughout these diggings.

After all human nature is about the same everywhere, and its never any trouble to find fault with the fellows you don't like. It matters not how much good a man accomplishes, he has his faults, and those who don't like him are ever ready and eager to call his attention to 'em. That's the way it has always been, and ever will be.

It has been suspected all along that the Kaiser had his spies in this country, and that they were keeping him pretty well informed as to what we were doing, and how we were doing it. But when they told their boss that it would be well into the year 1918 before American troops would be in France, they missed their guess badly. Thousands of 'em are there now, and the chances are that the Kaiser may have an opportunity to see them marching through the streets of Berlin long before he even expected them to land on French soil.

The onion growers in the vicinity of Brownsville and Laredo have shipped to the Northern and Southern markets 662 more cars of onions this year than were shipped from the same section a year ago, and figures compiled show that the growers received for the 1917 onion crop about $4,334,400, or an average of $1.75 per bushel.

Admiral Mayo, in command of the Atlantic fleet, says "the entire fleet will be ready in the near future" to render valuable service on the scene of active operations. By which we are to understand, we take it, that the entire Atlantic fleet will soon be on the other side of the ocean. The general public will doubtless be informed when the fleet arrives on the other side, as was the case with the first lot of American troops, but beyond that, little will be reported.

The government is in the market for about a half million horses and mules at an average value of $200 each. There is money in horses and mules at that price. At the beginning of the Boer war the English were buying all the horses they had need for in this country for less than half that price.

Ablene landed the West Texas branch of the A. and M. College, and so far as this newspaper is concerned it is glad Ablene was so favored. But the puzzling part of the business is that two or three members of the board say they did not cast their votes for Ablene on any one of the several ballots taken, and without them Ablene could not have been selected. This is another of the mysterious things that sometimes happen and cannot never be satisfactorily explained. The governor says the matter is settled, and there will be no investigation of the ballot. Amarillo, San Angelo, Snyder and Haskell can do all the hair-pulling and worrying they like in their attempts to unearth just who it was that slipped the cork deck in on them while the balloting was going on.

COMMISSIONER WOODS WILL BE CALLED TO TESTIFY

New York, July 2.—Arthur Woods, police commissioner, will be called to testify at P. vor Mitchell's inquiry into the police delinquency in the search for Ruth Cropper, murdered high school student, whose body was found in Alfrede Cocchi's motor cycle repair shop it was announced.

Leonard M. Walstein, commissioner of accounts, conducting the investigation, said Commissioner Woods shall be the last witness.

A Close-Up View of the Adventurous Life of the Recruit in the Navy

Note By Editor:

(This article is published with the authority of the Publicity Bureau of the United States Navy, and appears in this journal as a first-hand account of the adventurous life of American youngsters doing their bit in the navy. It is a first-hand account of the month later light on the battle front of the briny. You who have sons among the lads in the navy read this, and if you worry about their welfare, you need not read it twice. It is a good good of not more than a few lines, and it is a good thing to read before I could finish the first page. It is a good thing to read before I could finish the first page. It is a good thing to read before I could finish the first page.

"We didn't shove off, the ship did the shoving, and left us floundering in the boat, me nursing a skin knee from sliding down a boat fall. We were in two boat loads, white and Hawaiian, and us sailors all together in one.

"Say, it was a long way from home and mother and some of us kids just new to the game and never before on salt water, and sort of lonesome, with that sea rocking up and down and all us, I come from a farm in Wisconsin.

"The chief gunner's mate in command was some bird, he said we be out like real gods but I was sick to my stomach, though I didn't let on. We were pulling like the devil. It was sort of rough, but the C. P. O kept us at the cars as if we were training for a boat race. All the while we kept our peepers plumb on the horizon, hoping to pick up a smidge of smoke somewhere. The rubber neck wagon had nothing on us.

"But it was getting more and more lonely and awful. I remembered the old wheeze, 'is the moon coming up to see the sailors?' I was sitting there, pulling on the oar with one hand and shoving a ship biscuit in my face with the other. I couldn't help thinking that at last the Germans got the Hocking again, having two years ago tried to torpedo her. I couldn't help thinking how the ship's lamp trimmer told me that in the middle of the night the cookman crashed down and as the ship stopped the skipper came out of his room trailing his pajamas and bawled out everybod, 'now knowing what happened' anyway, they all had to take to the boats, but after paddling around all night and waiting for help, they found the ship still afloat at daylight, so they climbed on board again and got back to port.

"Making out smoke, we headed towards it and in a little while up lumbered a steamer above the horizon, us holding the colors on our flag. She looked like a squarehead tramp. Finally she changes her course and picks us up. I believe me, those British yan guys were the real ones, and gave us lots to eat, and we cheered up some when we heard that she was bound for the U. S. A.

"But you see, I was dressed up in all kinds of sea rig borrowed from the tramp's stow chest, us looking like going to a masquerade. Hitting the beach, some high ups got us all together and we take passage for the Fleet at Base No. 1—and get back to our old home.

"And say, we weren't the real heroes when we came over the gangway. I guess you, like a circus parade swagging up Main street, with the band playing and the crowd cheering. We had seen war all right, and it was in the eye too. That's what I wrote mother.

"This was the kid's story. Shift the scene to the dreadnaught down at the base. These youngsters talking it all over amongst themselves, touching their names here and there, and putting on the final flourish in the letters to the folks at home, making the censor work overtime reading the dope.

"U-boat ditched us." They went back all right. Here you have a sample of the mettle of these youngsters, some a month in the outfit, but getting the punch and absorbing the spirit of the service, the willingness to do the job, the desire to play the game, the desire to go ahead. And the first week picked men from our battleship fleet have been sent to man the guns of the armed American merchant vessels that go ahead. And the first week picked men from our battleship fleet have been sent to man the guns of the armed American merchant vessels that go ahead. And the first week picked men from our battleship fleet have been sent to man the guns of the armed American merchant vessels that go ahead.

"There is such a thing as being gun-shy, and even old-time men might anticipate things before firing. A draft of men came on board a dreadnaught the other day. Though willing, they had only a mere idea of naval discipline; they had only been at the training station a few weeks. They didn't ask who the 'topside guy' was walking up and down the deck, and several of the boys under his arm doing no work. They knew that he was the officer of the deck, but in man-of-war times, the officer of the deck is the officer of the deck.

"The first thing was to show them a gun; the second, which was the business end of the gun, and where the breech of a gun, in which the blue-jackets had is taught the boys, consists of firing at a mark not very large and at moderate distance. The doors of each gun compartment were closed so that each gun was completely isolated from the other and from communication with the entire ship except by telephone or voice tube. Several runs were made with the gun, the sight-setter set his sights, and outside of actually firing the pieces, it was the first touch in the art.

"One of the precautionary measures which is always taken in target practice is that after a round is fired the first loader looks down the bore of the gun to see that there are no unburned powder grains or parts of the powder bag or any smoke or flame left in the bore. An accident once happened where the gases out of the muzzle, thereby preventing premature explosion. Neither the shell nor the powder charge got out, and the gunner, this man sines out 'bore clear.' But at this practice the wind was on the bow and drifted the smoke into the ports and the muzzle, and the gunner, taking it longer to clear the bore.

"The youngsters knew and had been told what flarebacks meant, and that any premature explosion would send all hands to kingdom come. The order 'commence firing' had been given. Almost instantly the gun pointers found their target and had the cross-hairs in the sights right on the target. One gun fired right after number two. As the breach of No. two was thrown open, some smoke and powder gases from No. one rushed into the muzzle. The second loader, whose duty it was to examine the bore, took a good look through it, and seeing that the bore was clear, he called out with smoke, sang out, 'bore not clear.'

"Now, the lad with the powder charge felt instinctively that something was wrong. Anyway, he called out 'bore not clear.' In his arms he had the powder, he knew its potential energy. He knew the danger. So he threw himself flat on the deck, and wrapped himself around the powder bag just like an elephant wraps his trunk around a peanut. He had the powder in his arms, and the life of the ship depended upon him.

"With only a month's training, the boy had already the instincts of a man of war. He was ready to sacrifice his life to save the ship, and he did it upon his own responsibility without anybody's say so. He had already learned initiative.

"The present fleet is the training school for the navy, a Plattburg school, where in time of war the training which would ordinarily require months is compressed into weeks. The main thing is the morale of the lad, the implanting of self-confidence, of responsibility, of initiative, of the ability to take care of himself. It is around these things that the annals of the navy have been written. The new lads will help to write some more.

"There is a haze like gray fortresses, the dreadnaughts pile up against the evening sky. The notes of Tappan, the light of the patrol glimmer, their reflections in the turning tide. Blinker signals make fire-flies in the night, the red truck lights dot the guard ships. Tired men break out hammocks and turn in for the night. The day's work is done.

TRAINING CAMP LIFE NOT WITHOUT ITS DIVERSIONS

Great Lakes, Ill., June 26.—There are naval yarns to be spun and nautical jokes to be cracked among youngsters at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station here, but circulation by word of mouth—all right perhaps for the narrow confines of a man-of-war—is too slow in the matter of hundreds of acres and 9,000 men that is why The Great Lakes Recruit, edited by Ensign J. C. Waldron, flourishes as the purveyor of all those neat jokes which exist among youths are guilty, but for which otherwise they would have only a limited audience.

"Sketches illustrate many of the whimsical and humorous features of the Recruit, one shows a new man addressing his superior in front of a building labeled 'Radio Station,' over which stretch the antennae of the wireless plant, 400 feet in the air.

"Say, officer, how do you expect a fellow to hang his washing up there?" the puzzled landsman desires to know.

"An echo of one of the sham battles waged on the lake overlooking Lake Michigan is seen in another contribution. "Rookie: Why does this gun kuck so hard?" "Chief Petty Officer: Probably you overheard it."

every now and then a dash of sentimentality which just couldn't help creeping in as the writer thought of those he left behind. Germany and the U-boats necessarily draw the first fire of men impatient to be up and at them. Typical of the spirit of the station, as of the jokes on these subjects is one which tells of two lads arguing about the translation of "Deutschland Über Alles."

"It means it's all over with Germany, was one's explanation which still remains unshaken. Reports of athletic events at the station and ship lift give a more serious touch to the magazine.

THE NEPTUNE READY TO SAIL TO RELIEF OF THE CROCKER LAND EXPEDITION

New York, July 20.—The steam-driven vessel Neptune is ready to depart for the Crocker Land expedition, marooned in the Arctic. Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who accompanied the expedition, is in command of the Neptune, regarded as one of the most skillful of navigators of the frozen regions of the north. It is in command of the Neptune. The departure of this—the third relief vessel to be sent to the rescue of the Crocker Land expedition, marks one of the most costly enterprises of exploration. Two other vessels, George B. Cluett and Danmark, made ineffectual attempts to bring back the explorers who 4 years ago went in quest of the mysterious Crocker Land, which Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary believed had seen in 1906. The expedition was sent out under the joint auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, the American Geographical Society and the University of Illinois, under the leadership of Donald B. MacMillan. The expedition was merely a mirage and the party had looked for Crocker Land in vain. The MacMillan party, meanwhile, has been conducting explorations on its own account and has discovered six new islands, explored new lands, found extensive deposits of coal and other minerals and has gathered together a vast store of scientific knowledge. These scientists are proceeding with their professional work.

CAMP DODGE HAS BEEN LAID OUT AT DES MOINES, IOWA

Des Moines, Iowa, June 26.—Engineers of the federal war department have completed the preliminary survey of the site here for the thirteenth division cantonment, where 20,000 or more men from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa will go into training next fall as a part of the new training army.

Established on general plans perfected by the war department for all sixteen cantonments, the camp here will include a track three and a half miles long and two miles wide, beginning about five miles northwest of the city limits, and taking in Camp Dodge, the concentration camp of the Iowa National Guard.

City, county and state officials already have inaugurated plans for the expansion of local facilities to meet the demands of the camp, particularly as to transportation both by rail and highway, not only for the original concentration, but to make access to the camp easier from the city for visitors and the student soldiers themselves.

L. P. Wolf of St. Paul, Minn., engineering expert of the war department, in charge of the first survey of the camp site, which was to fix the location of the barracks, camp streets and communicating roadways.

Buildings will cover approximately 1,000 acres, which would leave 2,463 acres for other purposes of the camp, including drilling grounds, ranges, etc. In addition to buildings established by the government, the national Y. M. C. A. will erect probably eight buildings, according to local officials of that organization.

Many interesting figures regarding plans for the camp have been given out by officials, showing the enormity of the task facing the government in preparing the "army city" for habitation perhaps by the latter part of September.

Among the first things to be provided for is the water supply, at least 2,000,000 gallons a day. Sewage disposal is another point of first consideration, as the question of sanitation is foremost in army camp construction.

The camp will be entered by its own railroad, a street, and a half mile long, according to plans announced here, along which the barracks will be built each two stories, 42 by 100 feet, made of wood, capable of holding 200 men. Headquarters buildings and officers' quarters will be properly placed, and other buildings include a hospital, Red Cross store, stables, etc., in all a total of at least 1,000.

Units of the camp, as unofficially announced, will include three brigades of infantry, one regiment of cavalry, three regiments of field artillery, four field hospitals, four ambulance companies, one regiment of engineers, one regiment of signal corps, two regiments of heavy artillery. It was said that two additional infantry regiments might be added.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jones, living in North Wichita, died Sunday and was buried in Riverside cemetery this morning.

A marriage license was issued this morning to J. F. Dood and Miss Lizzie Talley.

PLANNING ESTABLISHMENT OF FISH HATCHERY

Austin, Texas, July 2.—Plans for the establishment of a fish hatchery at some suitable point in Texas are under consideration by the bureau of fisheries of the federal department of commerce, according to information received here.

This is due to the recent closing of the fish hatchery at San Marcos, Texas.

Failure of the legislature to pass a law which would permit state and federal hatchery officials to take fish from public streams of the state for propagation purposes is said to have been the cause of the closing of San Marcos hatchery.

Some arrangement must now be made for procuring of small fish before a hatchery will be established, it is stated.

Half Year Ends with Various Uncertainties But Confidence Firmly Established
R. G. Dun's Weekly Review says: The half-year ends with various uncertainties in evidence, and with many economic problems still to be met and further changes effected. Yet the absence of conspicuous unsettlement during the present period of readjustment, with failures relatively moderate, has demonstrated that business and finance rest on a solid basis, and confidence remains the predominant sentiment. The question of prices compels general attention, and doubts about the future of certain of the leading markets tend to induce hesitancy and a waiting attitude. The market has shown a degree of uncertainty, but a few important commodities, as was expected, have attained an even position. The market for wheat, where supplies are needed with special urgency, exceptional offers are made for cash shipments. Such desirable positions are not often obtainable, with the handicaps of shortages of raw materials and labor and of transportation delays in continuing, in all cases the requirements of business are being met. The government, which in the past has become more diversified, is again concentrating its attention on the production of raw materials and on the maintenance of a stable price level. The government's policy of increasing production of raw materials and on the maintenance of a stable price level, is being carried out with vigor. THOUSANDS DESERTERS POURING INTO HOLLAND

NETHERLANDS FILLED WITH REFUGEES—AND GERMAN SPIES ARE NUMEROUS

Associated Press Mail Correspondence The Hague, Netherlands, June 29.—Thousands of deserters mostly from the German army now are swelling the stream of refugees pouring into Holland from adjoining countries. Holland has become a great place of refuge for fugitives from the terrors of the German front, food hardships of the German military regime.

So numerous have these war refugees become that a weekly periodical, called "The Combat," has been established at Amsterdam to carry on a revolutionary socialist propaganda among them. A society of deserters has been formed in Holland, apparently by German agents in order to discover the names of deserters and exert pressure on their families to induce them to return to Germany. Returning deserters no longer are shot but are sent to the front.

The country is overrun by a small army of spies, persons of both sexes whose work is to spy upon Dutch affairs, to spy upon the belligerents and sometimes to spy upon one another.

These refugees, deserters and government agents, to escape, are using prisoners of war of virtually every nationality, fugitive Poles and other peoples of Eastern Europe, fleeing from forced labor and other hardships have swelled the immigration flood until the problem of what disposition to make of these foreigners has become acute in Holland.

There are many decent men among the deserters who, made desperate by the sufferings and slaughter at the front or rebelling against their government's system, or policy, have shaken the dust of their fatherland from their feet. Quite a number are convalescent men who were ordered back to the front. A great number are undesirable to whom many crimes are attributed. Some become scoundrels but wholesale banishment from the frontier regions have virtually closed this profession to them. Police control of them is very inadequate.

Proud of its traditional hospitality, Holland opens its frontiers freely to all comers but public opinion and the government has discovered that there are formidable dangers inherent in this aggregation of immigrants.

What might not happen, Hollanders often ask themselves, if Holland suddenly became involved in the war with all these vast numbers of foreigners spread all over the country, many of them of the worst or at least of the most doubtful character?

Infectious disease repeatedly has been introduced. The great codus of Belgians brought typhus and dysentery; Austro-Hungarian emigrants from Galicia, on their way to join relatives in America, brought smallpox; escaped prisoners of war from infected German camps and others occasionally introduced diseases like spotted fever and meningitis. In each case the disease was quickly checked.

Now, however, smallpox has a real hold in parts of Germany as well as in countries farther east, and it is pointed out how easily this and other scourges may be brought across the frontier.

The Prime Minister, Cort van der Linden, announced a few days ago that the increased influx, and the bodily condition of persons entering the country, had necessitated more drastic sanitary measures. Barracks are to be erected at five different points of the frontier, where all Germans entering the country, of whom the great majority are deserters, will be disinfecting, while a camp is to be erected

ALL FOUR OF COLONEL ROOSEVELT'S SONS ARE NOW DOING THEIR BIT IN THE WAR

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in a speech delivered in the interest of the Red Cross at Oyster Bay made public the fact that two of his sons had already gone to France and that the others are to follow. The two who have gone are Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. (No. 1 in the pictures), and

Lieutenant Archie Roosevelt (No. 2 in the pictures), both of whom it is understood, will be attached to General Pershing's headquarters. The announcement of that they had been detailed to special duty was recently made in any order. This is the first installment of the Colonel's famous pledge that he and his four sons and at least one of his sons-in-law would be ready to join the country's forces whenever the occasion arose. The other sons are already in the service, and Dr. Richard Derby, the colonel's son-in-law, is a major in the army reserve medical corps.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. and Archie Roosevelt were both among the members of the original Plattsburg training camp in 1915, and Theodore was one of the group of Harvard men from whose decision, on the day after the Lusitania was sunk, that something would have to be done to help get the country into a state of better preparedness for war, the Plattsburg movement originated.

No. 3 in the pictures is Kermit, second son of Colonel Roosevelt, who has also served training at Plattsburg. Archie, the colonel's third son, has served in the Massachusetts naval militia, has received training at Plattsburg and is now a second lieutenant in the infantry reserve. Quentin Roosevelt (No. 4) is being trained at Miami for the aviation service and is showing great skill as a flier.

Colonel Roosevelt's other son-in-law, Nicholas Louisworth, is a member of the house of representatives from Ohio.

FIGHTING FAMILY PROUD OF GUNNER W. J. CLARK, WHO SANK A U-BOAT

WILLIAM J. CLARK

William J. Clark of 81 Wells avenue, Lakewood, N. Y., turret captain of the dreadnought Arizona, was in command of the armed guard on the American oil steamship Silver Shell, which sank a German submarine. He may be promoted, Secretary Daniels said.

Clark and his crew sank the submarine after a running fight in which more than sixty shots were fired.

"I only wish I could see and fight by Will's side," said Mrs. Clark when told of her husband's feat. "Both of us come of fighting stock, and I guess they can't say we are not doing our bit for our country."

"Will has been in the navy since he was seventeen, and he is thirty now. Two of my brothers, Charles and John, were in the navy two months ago. Walter, Will's brother, is in the United States marine corps, and Frank, another brother, is a member of the Massachusetts national guard. My father was in the navy 12 years."

"When Will comes home we'll try to get up a family reunion and have all our soldiers and sailors here who are not on duty. My husband's term of enlistment expires next November, but do you suppose he would rejoin now? Well, I guess not. And if he tried it I wouldn't let him."

TRANSPORTATION CAN BE SECURED FOR INSTITUTE

By Associated Press Austin, Texas, July 2.—Transportation for approximately 200 delegates to the seventh annual meeting of the states farmers institute, which is to be held here July 25-27, is to be requested shortly by Fred W. Davis, commissioner of agriculture, and president of the institute, of the railroads of Texas.

The recent decision of the Third Circuit of Civil Appeals, holding that section of the anti-pass law which exempts delegates to farmers meetings as unconstitutional will not effect these delegates it is said, since the supreme court has not yet passed on that feature and is not expected to act before October.

The Empress Hobart Bosworth, the talented Laskey Paramount artist who is prominent in the support of Louise Huff and Jack Pickford in the Laskey-Paramount production of "Freckles," which will be the attraction at the Empress today, has been in the city for some time today, and is now a second lieutenant in the infantry reserve.

WICHITA COUNTY RED CROSS

Wichita Falls and Wichita county as well, have much to be proud of in this preparation for the war. Remembering that the Liberty Loan was greatly oversubscribed, that $200,000 was subscribed for the army Y. M. C. A. fund, much more than was asked for this section, that the Red Cross subscription received a generous over-donation it is seen that Wichita county people have given freely of their money.

When the annual general meeting was held Saturday night, the work of the Red Cross was the subject of the local recruiting officers it was demonstrated that Wichita county citizens have given as freely of their time and blood as of their money.

These young men will be leaving soon and their departure will mean sadness in many Wichita Falls homes. Those who stay behind, mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts, can assist their loved ones very materially by spending some of their time at the Red Cross workrooms.

When the membership campaign is started it is hoped that the call for recruits in the home service will be met as substantially as the former calls, calls which meant much money in some instances, and which meant offering life if possible to serve the country.

To become a member of the Red Cross means only payment of one dollar in dues. There is time for the women and girls who are in the workrooms, but all men, women, boys and girls are asked to join, whether or not it is possible to work. When solicited to join, if not already a member, pay your dues, wear the little button, and work if you can. Your support is needed.

Save your pennies for the Red Cross. There is a penny bank at the Red Cross headquarters, Martin's Book Store. Leave your pennies there.

All members of the Red Cross local chapter who will assist the Civic League in making its membership canvass are requested to meet at the hospital supply hall in Mack Taylor's old stand at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The Red Cross hospital supply hall has been moved from the Bennett building to Mack Taylor's old stand at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The change was effective this morning.

Gene Stratton Porter's novel proved so popular that they made it into a play, and the play pleased so many people that they put it on the screen. The screen version is going to uphold the other means of presentation, for never has Jack Pickford or Louise Huff had a more pleasing vehicle. The story deals with a little wait in an orphanage who was the butt of all the jokes and petty but none the less genuine cruelties, which children practice. And the girl was "the Angel." Freckles met her in the lumber swamp where he had been given the perilous position of watchman. Despite the ingenious and wistful tone of the play, it is jammed with action and thrills and laughs.

HOBART BOSWORTH is also included in the cast.
