"RELIGIOUS WAR" GREENVILLE VS. WICHITA FALLS

The Sunday school of the First Christian church of this city, whose leader is J. W. Bradley, challenged the powerful Sunday school of the Christian church of Greenville, Texas, and now one beautiful scrap has been joined. The Greenville people promise to give the Wichitans an everlasting licking. This of course remains to be seen. The points over which this contest is to be fought and won are as follows:
Each new pupil 10 points.
Each cent in collection one point.
Each person attending Bible school counted by 10-15, one point. Visitors not counted.
Each Sunday school scholar attending in church one point.
Each elder or deacon attending Sunday school one point.
Already some excitement has been aroused by the way the Greenville belligerents have been boasting of the way they are going to clean up on Mr. Bradley and his forces. Autos are being lined up to bring to Sunday school those who cannot come otherwise. The fight is on, and now is the time for every one who can get into the game for all he is worth and put one over on the Greenville bunch. Gerald Pound has been secured to build up a large orchestra and every Sunday morning at 9:45 a special program will be given under his able direction. The Sunday school begins at 9:30.

YEOMAN LODGE HONORS NEW DISTRICT DEPUTY

An informal session of the Yeoman Lodge was held Friday night to introduce to the members the new district deputy, Mrs. Nelek D. Howie, who comes here from Ada, Okla., and there were a large number of members and friends present. To rid the gathering of any formality that might have existed a "Coon Hunt" was instituted, sides chosen for hunters and bounds and a chase for some time "nigger" dolls hidden about the hall. The side finding the fewest "coons" was made to furnish entertainment for the entire party for 15 minutes. Then there was another contest and the losers were penalized to the extent of singing for the company. Piano music by Mrs. Deatherage and Rayburn Hutson and a song by Miss Hazel Hutson added to the program and a number of games were enjoyed until a late hour.

FARM LOAN PAPERS FORWARDED TO HOUSTON FRIDAY

After six weeks of very hard work George Simmons, secretary of the Farm Loan Association, has completed the preliminaries of the organization. Over 25,000 in loans has been applied for, and the abstracts and all necessary papers accompany each application. Nothing now stands between the applicants and the loans but the visit of the state appraiser. It is not known just when this official will be able to make his four or five days' tour of the state, but it is expected such men to do the work of the entire state, Mr. Simmons said, and they are kept constantly very busy. The appraisers are still coming in; applications are still coming in; and there is no doubt, Mr. Simmons said, that the organization, once well started, will grow and flourish. These applications may be filed with the secretary at any time, though they will not be sent off until a sufficient quantity has been accumulated to justify a further visit from the state appraiser.

VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTORS

Buick Model E-Six-45

Why Buick Valve-in-Head is the Most Efficient Type of Motor

In the Buick valve-in-head motor the valves through which gas enters and leaves the cylinders are in the tops, or heads. In other types of motors these valves are placed in pockets at the side of the cylinder.
For this reason the dead gases resulting from each explosion in the Buick cylinders are more completely expelled than in any other type, thus preventing the incoming charge of gas from being weakened through mixture with remaining portions of dead gases, consequently increasing the efficiency of the Buick motor.
The burning, or "exploding" of the gasoline, creates a very high degree of heat. Heat, as everybody knows, expands, and it this expansion of heat against the pistons which causes the automobile to move.
The heat pushes the piston downward, turning the crankshaft and rear wheels.
When gas is exploded in the cylinder of an automobile motor there are just two places the heat can go, two avenues of escape for it.
It finds an outlet by pushing the piston downward, or it can escape through the cylinder walls into the water that is used to keep the cylinders from getting too hot.
In the Buick more of the heat goes against the pistons and less into the water, than in any other type of motor.
All the heat which goes elsewhere than against the piston is waste. The Buick motor conserves, and uses, a higher percentage of this heat than any other.
The Buick valve-in-head motor is guaranteed to have more power and to be more economical in gasoline consumption than any other type.

to bring impeachment charges against Governor Ferguson, 1957 signatures, all of whom allege they are voters in Taylor county, and that county's total vote at the last election was less than 4,000. Abilene, however, in the county seat of Taylor county, and as is well known Abilene received the new A. and M. college, over the protest of a majority of the locating board who, under oath swore they never voted that way.—The governor, however, and the secretary of the board, say that Abilene secured the necessary three votes on the second ballot, and on that announcement by the secretary the vote was made unanimous. That may, to some extent, account for Abilene's friendship for the governor. The trial of the governor on the impeachment charges will begin Monday, and perhaps before it is finished some things that were not fully developed in the House will be aired in the Senate. For instance, the party or parties who loaned the governor that $156,500 in currency, may relieve the present embarrassment of the governor by coming forward and acknowledging doing such a very noble and generous act as coming to the aid of a friend in trouble. If that was the motive that inspired their generosity, they ought not to object to having their names made known. Unless this is done there will always remain a doubt in the minds of about one-half the people of the State as to whether that $156,500 was loaned or given for some official act performed or to be performed by the governor.

If England and France will stick with America, there will be no truce with the Kaiser, nor with Germany so long as that country is ruled by the Kaiser. That's the substance of President Wilson's reply to Pope Benedict's peace message. No one doubts the sincerity of the Pope in interceding for peace at this time, but many wonder why such a step was not taken when it looked as if Germany was about to win the war by crushing France as she had already crushed Belgium. And after considering this fact, it looks just a little bit like the Pope's aid, whose aim is high and whose eloquence is most powerful, had been sought by Germany to stop a fight that she had started, and sees there is not one chance in a million for her to win. If that conclusion of the matter be true, then the Pope has been imposed upon, perhaps in a way that he had no thought of.

Henry Ford says he favors a 95 per cent tax on all excess war profits. If by this Henry means that to his opinion 95 per cent of the money or which the people have been forced to give in the way of excess profits in order to obtain the necessities of life since the war started, we are with him: It better that the government should have this money than allow it to remain with those who took it in for no better reason than it was in their power to do it, regardless of the amount of suffering caused by their greed. It is not likely, however, that the government will get back in the way of taxes on excess profits a great deal. Those who have profited by this great national calamity are sharp, shrewd, cold-blooded men, and it can be depended on the great majority have already salited down their excess war profits in places where the government will find it most difficult to unearth. The occupation of the exploiters and profiteers, however, is almost at an end, and the people can live with good reason expect some relief.

Since impeachment charges have been brought against Governor Ferguson two elections to fill vacancies in the legislature have been held, one for a representative from the one hundredth, and the other for a state senator from the Beaumont district, and in each instance candidates who opposed Governor Ferguson were elected, by small majorities. The vote was light in each of the districts, perhaps not more than one-fourth of the voters participating. This goes to prove that Governor Ferguson is still strong—perhaps not strong enough to be re-elected governor in case he has only one opponent against him, but in the event he is not impeached by the Senate and concludes to carry out his announced intentions of asking for a third term. It now looks from the result of the elections just held in the two widely-separated legislative districts, that his chances for reelection were not quite so bad, more especially when it is almost certain that it will be a three-cornered race, thus splitting up the opposition in such a way as to elect Ferguson. It is also worthy of note that a petition circulated in Taylor county upholding the acts of the governor and condemning in strong terms the action of Representative Eugene DeBogory of that district for voting

STATE BANK LIQUIDATING AGENT APPOINTED
Special to The Times.
Austin, Texas, Sept. 1.—In accordance with the act passed at the last regular session of the Thirty-fifth Legislature, Commissioner of Insurance and Banking, Chase Austin this afternoon appointed J. C. Roots of Ballinger general liquidating agent. Mr. Roots has been connected with the department for the past five years, most of which time he was a state bank examiner. The office of liquidating agent was created by an amendment to the state banking laws and one of the requirements is that the position be filled by a bank examiner. His duties are to represent the department when any one or more of the state banks are in process of liquidation.

LAST WEEK GOOD ONE FOR AUTO DEALERS HERE
The outstanding feature of the automobile business last week was the placing of a contract for one hundred and sixty Maxwell cars with the Works Auto and Supply Co. of Vernon. This deal represents approximately $1,200,000 and was transacted by A. W. Phillips, the general manager of the McMullen Auto Co. A deposit of $4400 was put up, and the McMullen auto company has eight months in which to deliver the cars. This is the largest single contract for Maxwell cars ever made in the state, according to the general manager of the Maxwell factory, who telephoned congratulations to Mr. Phillips, as soon as the contract was sent in, and probably the largest single contract for any car ever made in Wichita Falls.

The "Optimist," the Overland house organ came out yesterday, and its tone is as optimistic as the youngest Overland salesman in this district. The Staley Motor and Supply Company—a contract for 25 Buick cars to be delivered to the Motor Supply Co. of Newcastle.

Besides the enormous wholesale business transacted and contracted for last week, retail sales were a little better than they have been for the past two or three weeks. Fifty-five cars were delivered from the various dealers, twenty being wholesale deals. This is exactly the same number as the Overland Sales Co. made sales to T. M. Patton, Petrolia, R. E. Jones, Burk Burnett, and Ed Payton—Electra, the Overland Sales Co., and Watson, Newcastle (one car) Smith Garage, Frederick (five cars), Rogers Bros, Bowie (five cars), and Coker and Adams, the new sub-dealers Cotton county, Okla. (five cars).

The Staley Motor Co. made retail sales to C. E. Bates, city, J. B. Evans, Burk Burnett, R. C. McBrayer, Burk Burnett, and E. W. Brogan, Byers, and wholesale sales to the Motor Supply Co., Newcastle (one car) and the Electra Motor Co., Newcastle (one car). Chenault and Wheat report sales to Marshall Franklin, city, Mitchell, and J. R. Jamieson, city, a Kissel.

The Peter Car Co. report sales to R. C. Marier, E. J. Musgrave, Mrs. Hester, N. VanWinkle, of Petrolia; and J. W. Thompson, and Z. A. Jeter, city. McCall and Orth, made sales to Frank J. Hart, of the Producers Oil Co., city. This house unloaded a carload of cars yesterday, and have two more carloads on the way.

The Excelsior Motor Co. sold a 1918 model Cadillac to W. S. Langford of the Motor Supply Co. The Consumers' Cash Co. made sales to S. Burk, Burk Burnett, M. Potter, Iowa Park, W. J. Hughes, Petro (two cars), H. H. Hester, of M. Phillips, and R. E. Rogers of Olive. The Briscoe Sales Co. made a wholesale deal with Wetzel and Mount of Bellevue (one car). The Lloyd Weaver Co. sold Chevrolet cars to J. L. Channing, and W. A. Mahon.

Indeed, many would be only too glad of the prospect of having nothing more onerous to do for the rest of their lives.

RHINE WINE NEARLY FOUR CENTURIES OLD TESTED

Associated Press Mail Correspondence.—Amsterdam, Netherlands. — Rhine wine, nearly four centuries old was submitted the other day to a critical test of a committee of connoisseurs at Speyer, Germany. In that ancient cathedral city there is a "wine museum" to which the King of Bavaria has donated some bottles, the contents of which date back to the time of the Reformation and the Thirty Years War. The solemn business of testing these venerable vintages was carried out with due decorum. Some brands, dating back to 1728, 1631 and 1450, they say.

Doctor Bassermann-Jordan, who presided, mentioned as an interesting fact that the present method of bottling these wines is comparatively young, it dates back to the end of the eighteenth century.

GERMANS REALLY BELIEVE GERMANY WAS ATTACKED

BELGIAN NURSE LONG CAPTIVE IN GERMANY GIVES IMPRESSION OF PEOPLE.

By Associated Press.—Paris, Sept. 1.—That the Germans firmly believe the Fatherland was attacked and is fighting for national existence, is the opinion of De W. M. a Belgian nurse, just returned after 34 months of captivity in Germany. As a nurse she enjoyed special favor and comparative security and visited Muenster, Zoltau, Hanover, Göttingen, Dusseldorf, Cologne, Aix la Chapelle and Karlsruhe. He says: "The Germans believe hard as iron that Germany was attacked and is only defending her existence. Not only do the people repeat this, but intellectuals, doctors and officers with whom I talked—and I cannot question the sincerity of their conviction—are so convinced of this that they are ready to make the greatest sacrifices. 'Why did not your country let us pass through?' asked one doctor. 'Then you would not have been a prisoner and your country would have escaped the horrors of war.' 'We wished to keep our given world,' I answered. 'We defended ourselves when attacked.' 'But your country was conniving with England and France,' he retorted. 'So one wonders when some particle of truth will penetrate minds so obstinately closed.' 'The English are detested; the French are admired for their courage; the Russians despised as savages. As for the Americans the Germans maintain they will be no help to the allies from a military point of view, but that they are more and more terrified at the universal reprobation they feel is rising against Germany. The working classes rail against the military class, the Prussians and the crown prince but believe that the emperor desires the end of the war by a peace of conciliation but is thwarted by the crown prince and the military leaders.' When asked if a revolution is possible he replied: 'I dare not say but, I can say that in no town I visited have I discovered revolutionary symptoms.'

VERDICT EXPECTED IN HOUSTON INQUIRY

Special to The Times.—Houston, Sept. 1.—A verdict is expected Tuesday in the city's investigation into the negro troop riot here last week. Taking of testimony was concluded last night. Brigadier General Chamberlain, inspector general of the army attended the last few sessions of the inquiry. It is believed the members of the board agreed that the main cause of the riot was that members of the 24th Infantry came into contact only with the more vicious of Houston's negro citizenship. No organized steps are being taken to head off the coming of the Eighth Illinois regiment, a negro contingent, although resolutions urging the war department to prevent their coming have been adopted.

WILSON URGES BOYS TO ENTER WORKING RESERVE

By Associated Press.—Washington, Sept. 1.—It is the patriotic duty of unemployed boys between the ages of 16 and 21 to point the United States Boys Working Reserve, says a letter of the President made public today by Secretary Wilson of the Labor Department. The President's letter follows: "Permit me to express my great appreciation of the work undertaken by the United States Boys Working Reserve and of the employment service of the department of labor. To give to the young men between the ages of 16 and 21 the privilege of spending their spare time in productive enterprise without interruption of their studies at school while their older brothers are battling in the trenches and on the seas must greatly increase the means of providing for the forces at the front and the maintenance of those whose services are needed here. It is a high privilege, no less than a patriotic duty to help support the nation by devoted and intelligent work in this great crisis. Let me express the hope that the young men of the country not now permanently employed may eagerly enter the Boys Working Reserve to fit themselves by training and study for good citizenship and productive service. In this way they can show themselves worthy of patriotic fathers who have fought for democracy in the past to sustain their patriotic brothers who are fighting for it today and command the affectionate pride of the brave mothers who are silently bearing the burdens at home."

STRICTLY NEUTRAL MEXICO'S POLICY, SAYS CARRANZA

By Associated Press.—Mexico City, Sept. 1.—Renewed assurances that Mexico would remain neutral in the world war were given by President Carranza in his message to the opening of the regular session of the Mexican Congress. The president reviewed the efforts the Mexican government had made toward peace, mentioning the note in which it proposed that all neutral cease shipping supplies to the belligerents. He said that probably as a result of this Argentine note he had proposed a conference to discuss the attitude of neutrals but that after many countries had agreed to attend it had decided to postpone the conference indefinitely. President Carranza said that while his efforts for peace had not as yet been successful, Mexico would still strive toward that end and conclude that Mexico, to comply the better with this mission which its destiny offers, completely from the interests for which the European nations are struggling, respecting all nations and the progress reported by them, will observe the most strict neutrality which is now, and has been and which will be its inflexible rule of conduct. The message referred briefly to the fact that permission has been given for the bringing in from the United States of two million cartridges; the settlement of strikes at Tampico and in Coahuila; to the order sending from the country those implicated in the murders of 1913. The message also records the measures taken to aid Mexicans who have returned from the United States. It mentions briefly the closing down of the Cananea copper fields and the measures taken to aid workmen thrown out of employment as the measures looking to the increase of grain crops. As to finance the message says that the government expended 22,500,000 pesos from May 1 to August 15 and gained 21,625,000 pesos from May 1 to August 15. President Carranza announced that a commission has been named to revise accounts and contracts with the Pearson Syndicate and with the Tehuantepec Railroad Company. This is taken to mean the beginning of an investigation of the concessions entered into by the Cowdry interests with General Huerta when he was president.

CHICAGO ATHLETES AGAIN LEADERS AT ST. LOUIS

By Associated Press.—St. Louis, Sept. 1.—Chicago athletes were again the point leaders in the championship meet at the Amateur Athletic Union here this afternoon. First place in the senior events going to the Chicago athletic association. The Illinois Athletic club, which yesterday won first place in the junior events, today came out second in the Seniors with a score of 23. The winning score of Chicago Athletic Association was 60. Boston Athletic Association was third with a score of 15. No world's records were broken today, nor even American records recognized by the Amateur Athletic Union, but two championship meet records of the A. & U. were broken. A new championship record was made also in the three mile walk. The old championship mark was made in 1883 by G. D. Baird, his time for the distance being 22 minutes 8 3/5 seconds; but George Goulding of the Toronto (Canada) Y. M. C. A. today covered the three miles in 21 minutes 15 1/5 seconds. Goulding also is the international Olympic champion.

Nine negroes were arrested last night for trap shooting by Officers Glenn, Johnson, Gillam and McDonald, in a raid on a house in negro town. At the last report the two in the custody of the county officials had been unable to make bond.

A Recognized Modern Road Expert

Mr. Edward Hines, road commissioner of Wayne County, Michigan, speaking of a two-mile stretch of bituminous macadam on the Grand River road near Detroit, says:

"If someone had offered to build the roads absolutely without a penny's cost to Wayne County, stipulating only that it should be maintained by the county in a fairly average condition, at the end of eight years we should have been money ahead by rejecting the offer and building it of CONCRETE under our present specifications."

Maintenance costs on improved roads, types other than concrete, are of interest:

Combined maintenance and repair costs of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and New York, for eight years, 1905 to 1912, total average per mile, $608.00. On concrete, average per mile, per year, $30.00.

We will gladly furnish you with the annual report of the board of County road commissioners of Wayne County, Michigan. Just drop us a card.

Fashion's Fall and Winter Decree

She may be a Dresden China type; she may have olive skin and forty-centimeter eyes; she may be petite and reticent; she may be Amazonesque in height, but she must be slender. And more, oh, woe—she must be youthful. And yet another relentless decision of those who decide destinies of dress—she must have hips. This oracular word will cause shivers of anguish and awe to run unbidden up and down our vertebrae. But this is no use—we who have been on foot parade, who have enjoyed unlimited liberty as to diet, must again turn our heavy hearts and heads toward assiduous consumption of "Eat and Grow Thin." A couturier remarked the other day, with a shrug of his shoulders, that it was "un peu cruel pour les pauvres dames." Like Sherman, Monsieur's vocabulary was limited in this particular instance. It is horrible, unbelievable, but it must be faced, as actual illustrations and descriptions will tend to show.

The bouffant, bustle and barrel skirts must give way to the swathe, straight and slinky. Coats which last year left the waistline to ripple irresponsibly somewhere in the rear are chastened by uncompromising shear into clinging vines which hate to be torn away from the skirt even at the knees.

Some latitude is still allowed in separate coats. The authorities in Fashionland have perhaps betought themselves of war-time economy and of the full garments which most of us bought and all of us strove for last winter, and for this reason have been a bit lenient in cutting top coats.

A smart, severe model known as the "Trench Coat" is of tweed waterproof with two belts run through metal buckles and a snug-fitting collar, which fastens under the chin or may be thrown back when the wearer is under fire.

Another coat reflecting the military is of dark blue Bolivia cloth with collars and cuffs of scarlet and scarlet bands on the square pockets. Gleaming buttons complete a clever ensemble.

Gray is one of the best colors for lovers. Large fur collars are still being worn, and will probably continue to be worn, whether they are utterly au fait or not. For they are universally becoming and very comfortable. And in these days American women are wisely thinking of comfort—and looks combined. Metal embroideries appear on collars and cuffs, with an occasional departure as to pockets and belt.

The new suit silhouette will bring joy to the hearts of the great majority of women who feel most at home in a "strictly tailor-made," one notch below collar, snug sleeve and smooth shoulder and armhole is with us again, while the coats are nearly all finger-tip or knee length. Skirts are sparsely pleated, if at all, and have intricate pockets. Tweed, homespun, the ubiquitous blue serge, oxford and twills are all in top style. For her who must lean a little toward dressiness in her tailoring, there is always black tweed cloth—never old and ever shaming.

One particularly attractive suit in black French serge has a semi-fitted coat, the black being a masterpiece in fine seams, ending at the waist line with proto-bas embroidered in black silk. The collar and revers are finished with these same ornaments, and the crowning attractions are hand-stitched collar and cuffs of sheer handkerchief linen. The skirt is plain, with the slightest fullness over the hips, allowed by two tiny box pleats.

As early as last spring women in England were wearing plain, ready-made suits of blue—and of more colors. Surely, our plain styles are leading us thither and ere long we shall be doing another bit for our dear ones "somewhere in France" by foregoing woolen suits that they must have socks and other warm comforts. American women are constantly proving themselves eagerly willing to help in any way toward the equipment of the men in service, and this may prove a big factor in this conservation of warm clothing.

There has been considerable argument as to the durable popularity of capes. As we do at everything, we have fairly leapt at these all-covering garments, only to lose, by so doing, their principal charm, that of exclusiveness, they have become so universally popular that they are consequently cheapened, and will not be to the fore in the fall and winter wardrobe of Miladi Ultra.

Separate skirts are quite good, and of course will have their place so long as top-coats are in good style. Heavy, satin, trimmed in stitch-in and cords, is popular in dark colors, while French flannels in stripes and color suits are in vogue for sports wear. Practical skirts of khaki are trimmed with patent pockets and bone buttons on belt and pockets.

Then the blouse there is nothing upon which so greatly depends the success of a costume. First in importance is the collar line, even before material. For no matter how perfectly "accounted" a woman may be in other appointments of dress—a trying neckline will undo a world of effort. One can have no set rule to abide by. Trills on your neighbor may look classily on you, while your unique collar would add ten years to her appearance. High collars of net with jabots attached are being worn quite a bit.

For young women sports stocks with Ascot ties are next and nifty scarves are being trimmed cleverly in Flet and Irish lace, combined with artful bits of hand embroidery. Some of the Italian blouses, made of finest voile and batiste, combine with embroidery, encroaching thereon in delicate tracery. We are indeed glad to avail ourselves of Irish motifs and edgings, as the majority of us have saved pieces which will come in most acceptably.

Some critic has told us that the populum blouse is losing its pep, but the best shows are still showing populum and Russian blouse effects. Green, flower blue, café au lait biscuit, amethyst, amber and cerise are popular colors.

A blouse of lettuce green georgette crepe has collar and cuffs of fllet bound in green taffeta. Silver embroidered leaves and flowers grow on the lower part of the blouse, which has a wide crushed belt of taffeta. A black moire necktie has for ends two jade rings.

Our beloved one-piece frock is still amongst us, and loquacious if live! Blue serge still claims supremacy, though several pretenders have an alarming number of followers. As in suits, the skirts are narrower, two widths sufficing for most of the daytime frocks.

Extra fullness is placed about the hips and not at the hem, as it was a season or so ago.

One very stunning trotteur is of tulle, made with a skirt one and one half yards around the bottom. The waist descends to hip length in two panels back and front, these panels obtained in half-inch bandings of du gold-embroidery. The skirt's fullness is confined under two inverted plaits which are lined with satin and attached above the waistline under each arm. Collar and cuffs of batiste are edged with real yal lace. This model is invariably becoming to the inclined to be plump—'d bless her.

A frock of blue liberty satin has closely plaited double tulle, a swathed girl embellished in silver and wool embroidery, and a collarless blouse made surplice fashion. Very simple, and very stylish.

For afternoon and dinner wear, crepe georgette in pastel shades has supremacy. Metal embroideries, or trich or fur banding and fringe are popular trimmings. Chiffon veils furnish some wonderfully attractive and novel dresses. They depend upon the richness of the material for their chief attractiveness. Sleeves of self-toned Georgette and perhaps a collar of Kolinsky or ermine suffice for trimming.

Evening gowns of velvet, when well executed, are the loveliest of such, but badly made they are impossible. The choice of colors for evening wear is less restricted than for the daylight frocks. Perhaps the fashion dictator have allowed us this latitude, that we may have our time of relaxation and gaily, after days of handage rolling and strenuous campaigns. Silver and gold lace, radium cloth and tulle will lead in party gowns, though there is more tendency toward a bit of sleeve on the newest models.

Rotterdam, Netherlands—A Russian invasion of Rotterdam is causing the city fathers some concern, and the burgomaster has just had an interview with the premier, Cort van der Linden on the subject. As many as 6,000 Russians have been added to Rotterdam's population since the outbreak of war, most of them refugees from Germany and others escapees from the front. The former's status in Germany dates from before the war. They were employed in the mines there, and were not permitted to leave when hostilities broke out. Ultimately and scarcely drove them to seek refuge in Holland—but they are in many cases even pro-German in their sympathies. In Rotterdam, they want to be supplied by the Russian authorities.

The authorities now complain of the habits of the newcomers and the trouble they give the police with their street fights and the like, while a large number are said to be suffering from diseases and thereby constitute a danger to the public health. More than 100,000 refugees are now in the absence of further accommodation in Rotterdam some 2,000 have been recently sent on to the small neighboring town of Schiedam where they are even more unwelcome. Efforts have been made to get the Russians shipped to England, but the British government made no attempt that are said to have amounted to refusal to receive them. The other lands government is now being urged to deal with the problem.

Military Influence Evident in Men's Fashion's

Trench styles are the keynote of fashioning in both men's suits and overcoats. In fact, the "Trench" is it. The Trench Overcoat is made rather loose, falling in straight lines from the shoulder to a little below the knee with a loose, full belt and an inverted pleat down the back. This Trench coat is a distinct style development of the season. Some of these are made with a slit in the front of the coat through which the belt can be crossed and buttoned underneath, thereby making the coat suitable for the constructive man who does not like the idea of having the belt come clear around the front. They are also made with a half-belt in the back. The inverted pleat or the pinch back is featured in practically every novelty coat for this winter. On many of the best effects, chiefly the Trench coats, large metal buckles are used.

Few of the Balmacaan, Chesterfield or Boxcoats of earlier seasons are shown for this winter's wear. Full draped back coats without belts are sparsely shown and a few Ulster's, but these largely for motorists or men special preference for this class of garment. All these overcoats are made of extremely heavy fabric and are shown in either solid colors, large blocked patterns or small mixtures. Few stripes or plaids are noted.

The colors are of the darker and richer shades, such as browns, greens, steel grey, burgundy, chocolate and myrtle. Many of the cuffs have ornamental tabs and some of the most extreme models have pockets with inverted pleats. For the most part the pockets are either large patch pockets or slash.

The Trench coat influence is also shown in the newest development of the sack suit. These are also made with the belt clear around similar to the overcoats and many have the turned belt effect at the side seams so the belt can be buttoned at front underneath the coat. Some of the belt all around models have buckles instead of buttons. The backs are pinch back shirred backs or inverted pleat back

Novelty details are profuse and unique on the more extreme models. These are demonstrated, mostly on pockets and cuffs and are so varied that a detailed description would be futile in the space allotted to this article.

For the conservative dresser there is an ample variety of plain back English models shown. These with plain or patch pockets.

Labels are shorter and wider than last season and come to an acute point or a slightly rounded peak. More double-breasted styles are shown than have been seen for recent seasons. On these the backs are either plain, pleated or shirred as described on the other models above.

Vests are, for the most part, collarless, buttoned high with a decided cutaway at the bottom. Nearly all are single-breasted. The trousers are made along rather straight lines with cut bottoms.

Tweeds, Scotch effects, all manner of rough goods, basket weaves, cassimere, chevots and serges are the fabrics. Club checks, pencil stripes, broken stripes, shepherd plaids, checked mixtures and invisible plaids are the principal pattern schemes. The colors are varied but run mostly to the richer and more subdued tones. Browns, blues and greens predominate. Fur trimming and fur linings will be greatly employed in the more costly overcoats this winter. The skins most used are real seal, seal dyed muskrat or what is known as Hudson seal, skunk, mink and Persian lamb.

We want to talk to you about—

Fashion's Fall and Winter Decree

THE EARLY LIGHT OF THE DAWNING OF THE APPROACHING NEW STYLES CAN BE SEEN; THE EARLY WHISPERINGS OF WHAT'S NEW CAN BE HEARD IN THE MARTS, AND HOW FULL OF INTEREST THEY ARE

A suit appears, forecasting the straight-line silhouette with slenderness the coming feature; another one appears, a seeming contradiction, with loose and full-cut lines, yet keeps the slenderness in its straight lines. The jackets are long; vests and pockets are a decorative feature. Combinations of materials are in evidence. Sports styles bring many new effects.

The coats come rich in pile fabrics, new ideas in fur trummings and vivid in linings.

Introducing many interesting and new effects in skirts for fall that every woman will delight in. The narrow, slender silhouette is the noticeable feature of all, and the "cuff"—or turned-up hem, is used in many variations; many show large pockets and yokes.

Waists appear in smock styles and directoire basque effects, and so on; each one of the new things as they appear filled with interest, and each one a representative style-story of the coming modes for fall.

SEE THESE EARLY ARRIVALS AS THEY ARE UNPACKED IN ALL THEIR SPIC AND SPAN LOVELINESS.

Fashions for the Youthful

Very good indeed are Tweed Coats with double belts and a hat to match; for school or traveling, for little sister or brother, for that matter, the regulation blue reefer coats always have an air that is unmistakably smart. Suits for the juniors lean mostly toward box-coats or pleated backs, with full pocketed skirts with wide belts, colors or subdued—blue, brown and velour checks being the most popular. Blouses of blue or rose batiste have collars of white dotted Swiss. Smocks of various hues silks or linens are practical and universally becoming to school girls.

MANDATES FOR THE LITTLE MAN

As in the styles of their masculine elders, the keynote of boys' fashions in both suits and overcoats runs toward belts and shirred backs, belts and yoke backs, belts and pleat backs, belts all around, three piece belts, two piece belts, mock belts, and more belts. In fact, the belted garment in various conceptions of expression is the dominating style for fall and winter.

With Apologies to Tuxedo:

We were so impressed with the phrase, "YOUR NOSE KNOWS," as used by the American Tobacco Co. that we have asked and received permission from their advertising department to use it in advertising our coffee.

There is nothing the NOSE KNOWS as quickly as GOOD COFFEE. Whether you get a whiff of it as you pass our place, smell a package someone is carrying home on the street car, or its delicious aroma is wafted to you from the kitchen, while still in bed—"YOUR NOSE KNOWS" it's good coffee.
