Irish Convention Seems to Have Better Chances of Success Than Many Had Thought In England

(By K. Walter of the Reciprocal News Service.) London, August 30.—I have just returned from Dublin after a favored glimpse of the historic scene of the Irish convention, which has taken the question out of English hands...

The convention meets in a lofty hall in the House of the Parliament. The ninety-six members sit at long green tables arranged in semi-circles, facing the president...

All that one may know or say about the proceedings is that members of all political shades have already been heard and the speeches have been temperate and well received...

LABOR IS "DOING ITS BIT" IN THE WAR-- STANDS SOLIDLY BEHIND GOVERNMENT

LABOR DOES ITS BIT. Despite some adherence to the advanced internationalist ideas of radical Socialists, labor day finds organized American labor standing solidly behind the government. In this attitude it follows the lead of European workers, who merged their individual and union desires for organized workers, and the president has shown his own attitude by naming Samuel Gompers a member of the Council of National Defense and sending James Duncanson to Russia as a member of the commission which returned recently.

Today the trial of Governor Ferguson on the impeachment charges began. He has surrounded himself with some of the best legal talent of the state, and we are just wondering whether the eminent counsel for the governor will use their talent in an effort to keep that $156,000 loan made the governor a secret or mystery, or come out boldly and tell who the party or parties were that were so ready and willing to relieve his financial distress.

Geo. Bailey of the Houston Post said a whole big truth in a few short words when he penned the following: "While we thrill at the brave and beautiful way our fine boys rally to the sweetest and noblest inspirations of patriotism, we get as mad as a hornet at the sordid, slacking, soulless bunch of men who see nothing in the war but an opportunity to gouge the very guts out of the people at home."

The Austin press dispatches are authority for the statement that an effort is on foot to have the legislature now in session to take the proper legal steps to have the states primary election laws so amended and changed as to make it impossible for candidates for office to secure party nominations without having secured a majority of the votes cast at such primary election. If the effort succeeds it will prove of great benefit to the state in that it will fill the offices with men who are better qualified to fill them, or at least the men who would be elected by a majority of the voters.

Five or six negro soldiers who raised a rumpus with the police authorities at Waco a few weeks ago, have been court martialed and drew penitentiary sentences all the way from five to ten years. This indicates that when the negro troopers who resented police authority at Houston and to get even shot and killed fifteen civilians, are right in line to get what is coming to them. Murder is murder, whether committed by a white or negro, civilian or soldier, and the mere fact that the murderers were clothed in the uniform of the United States does not make their crimes look one bit better than if they had been committed by a common thug or outlaw. If those Houston negro soldiers are punished for the high crimes they committed in proportion to the offenses the Waco negro soldiers were charged with then we may expect they will receive full justice and in our own opinion that will mean death for the murderers.

In his appeal to the people Governor Ferguson makes the statement that, as evidence conclusive that he is not a grafter and has done no grafting, he is a poorer man today by $50,000 than he was at the time he was elected. He also says that he profited little by carrying a part of the state's money in a bank in which he was interested as owner of one-fourth of the stock of the institution, and also that if it was wrong for him to do that, that other state officials are equally as guilty as he, not only the present state officials, but officials of former administrations. That may be true, doubtless is, but so far the legislature has failed to investigate and bring impeachment charges against any but the governor. If the verdict of the Senate should be against the governor, and by the governor's admissions, it can hardly be figured out how any other verdict can be reached under the laws of this state, we are just wondering if the legislature will stop at that? In the opinion of most people, there should be a thorough cleaning up of the rottenness that has been practiced down at Austin, and there is an abundance of evidence brought out at this investigation that all the abuses have not come through the governor's office.

The Waco Times-Herald says: "The legislature ought to enact a law putting in operation the recently adopted amendment to the constitution providing for reclamation and irrigation districts. This should be by the present session if it can be legally done and if not another extra session should be called for the purpose and no other."

The people interested should not have to wait until 1919 for the opportunity of taking advantage of the law. Five big whiskey plants at Peoria, Ill., the whiskey making center of the United States, will close down Sept. 8 at 11 o'clock and will go out of business, one will close down and the others will devote part of their capacity to the making of alcohol for commercial and medicinal purposes. The five plants says a Peoria dispatch, have for years been making 35 percent of the whiskey of the United States and their consumption of corn and other grains made it impossible for their estimates—given since the manufacture was stopped—of 54,000 bushels daily capacity—from which it might be gleaned that the stoppage of using foodstuffs for spirituous liquor manufacture will have an appreciable effect on the food situation. The five plants employ an aggregate of 1375 men all told and work for these has been already arranged in other more useful industries, the dispatch says.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

The Wichita Falls Times has secured the full afternoon leased wire service of the Associated Press and the full Saturday night service for its Sunday morning edition. This means that The Times and the city which it so represents, have placed themselves squarely with the leaders—the one as a city and the other as a paper. For there is no disputing that the world at large measures a city by the character of news service obtained by its daily papers. And the citizen who can point proudly to his daily paper and say to the stranger, "We read the full Associated Press reports," is giving an introduction to his town which is a sure means of attracting attention.—Houston Post.

The Times truly appreciates the above. The Times was the first daily paper to be published in Wichita Falls, the first issue being May 14, 1907. With the first issue it served its readers with a small Associated Press service. As the city grew, The Times grew with it, and every dollar of its profits above a fair interest on capital stock has been used in making improvements in its plant, and for securing better news service. Its great ambition was to be a full-fledged member of the great Associated Press that it might be in a position to say to its readers: "The Times is a newspaper that is serving its patrons with all the news, the very best news service the world can give." The ambition of The Times, thanks to the liberal and generous patronage it has been favored with, has come to a realization sooner than it had expected. As the esteemed Post so aptly puts it: "The Times and the city which it so well represents have placed themselves squarely with the leaders—the one as a city and the other as a paper."

PRICES AND WAGES.

The student of economics is finding a problem in the present high prices which he is incapable of solving. The Wichita Falls Times says: "If the farmers of the United States could have sold their crops of wheat, oats, corn, cotton at prices that prevailed last week it is asserted by those who ought to be in a position to know, they would have realized a clear profit from their labor of over six million dollars. The average class of the American people have not suffered under the administration of President Wilson, or since the war started. The consumer of farm products is the fellow just at the present time who is being hit hardest. It is rather a difficult matter for a farmer to raise his price for a corresponding increase in wages and salaries that are now paid. The trouble is that the majority of people must work for the same pitance to which they have been accustomed in times of low prices. The man in business for himself can raise his charge for service rendered. The member of the labor union can force higher wages. But the common laborer and the woman working for a bare living have no wedge to place between the upper and the nether millstone.—Houston Post.

MORE KIND WORDS.

The esteemed Wichita Falls Times has subscribed for and is now receiving the Associated Press' full leased wire daily report and full night report for its Sunday morning edition. This step is in keeping with the enterprise that has marked the management of The Times in the processes of growth and development and which has enabled it to keep pace with the progress of the town. The inauguration of the service by The Times puts Wichita Falls in a class to itself as a newspaper town there being no other newspaper in the State published in a town of like population that can equal it. The splendid patronage accorded The Times by the business community of Wichita Falls warranted the additional improvement and it did not wait for the matter to be repeated. The Times has been spurred to new efforts in newspaper enterprise by trying to be a good newspaper, as certain newspapers published in Texas. One of these papers is The Denton Herald. The Denton Herald sets a high mark among the newspapers of the smaller cities of the state. When somebody tells us The Times is as good a newspaper as The Denton Herald we're going to get real chesky.

We heartily concur with The Wichita Falls Times when it says that "every outside influence ought to be eliminated in the trial of Governor Ferguson before the Senate on the impeachment charges preferred by the House" and that if he is "found guilty of the acts alleged he ought to be impeached. The prohibition issue or partisanship one way or the other on the University of Texas should have no place in the trial. If the prohibition issue is allowed to come before the Legislature at this time it is almost certain to become a factor in the impeachment trial. It has no proper place there and it would appear that this is a mighty poor time to ask the Governor to submit to the issue of statutory prohibition. The House has investigated and has filed 21 charges of "high crimes and misdemeanors" against the Governor. Presumably it has omitted the charges in which a majority of its members thought there was nothing. Those charges have been solemnly and formally filed for the Senate to try. And we think that extraneous matters should not be injected, either directly or indirectly, into the Senate's impeachment session. The agitation for a submission of a statutory prohibition law, therefore, should be dropped. It is especially calculated if not designed to promote factionalism and should be lost sight of for the present.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

The lack of grass and water throughout the cattle producing part of Texas is making it exceedingly difficult for owners to hold their herds together. Feed is high and difficult to obtain. As a result cattle are poor and in bad condition. To avoid carrying them through the winter many owners are disposing of their cattle, both young and old, at almost any price obtainable, and those who are not meeting the situation in that way, are driving their cattle from the pastures to sections of the state where grass and water can be obtained.

So far as The Times is able to observe Congressman-at-Large McLenore is the only member of the Texas delegation who has expressed his disappointment at the President's reply to the Pope's peace proposal. But that is not worrying us. The only thing that hits us hardest is that McLenore was ever sent to Congress from Texas, and such a calamity was made possible only from the fact that our primary election laws do not provide for double primaries, or at least require that no man shall be given a nomination for office without securing a majority of votes cast at the election. There were more than a half dozen candidates for the two congressional at-large positions, and McLenore played for and catered to an element that was against this country taking up arms against Germany regard, less of the provocation, and that, in the main, was the strength that put him in office, and he is serving them faithfully.

If England and France will stick with America, there will be no trace with the Kaiser, nor with Germany so long as that country is ruled by the Kaiser. That's the substance of President Wilson's reply to Pope Benedict's peace message. No one doubts the sincerity of the Pope in interceding for peace at this time, but many wonder why such a step was not taken when it looked as if Germany was about to win the war by crushing France as she had already crushed Belgium. And after considering this fact, it looks just a little bit like the Pope's aid, whose aim is high and whose eloquence is most powerful, had been sought by Germany to stop a fight that she had started, and sees there is not one chance in a million for her to win. If that conclusion of the matter be true, then the Pope has been imposed upon, perhaps in a way that he had no thought of.

Henry Ford says he favors a 95 per cent tax on all excess war profits. If by this Henry means that in his opinion 95 per cent of the money of which the people have been forced to give in the way of excess profits in order to obtain the necessities of life since the war started, we are with him. It's better that the government should have this money than allow it to remain with those who took it for no better reason than it was in their power to do it, regardless of the amount of suffering caused by their greed. It is not likely, however, that the government will get back in the way of taxes on excess profits a great deal. Those who have profited by this great national calamity are shrewd, cold-blooded men, and it can be depended on the great majority have already salded down their excess war profits in places where the government will find it most difficult to unearth. The occupation of the exploiters and profiteers, however, is almost at an end, and the people can now with good-reason expect some relief.

Since impeachment charges have been brought against Governor Ferguson, two elections to fill vacancies in the legislature have been held, one for a representative from the one hundredth, and the other for a state senator from the Beaumont district, and in each instance candidates who opposed Governor Ferguson were elected by small majorities. The vote was light in each of the districts, perhaps not more than one-fourth of the voters participating. This goes to prove that Governor Ferguson is still strong—perhaps not strong enough to be re-elected governor in case he has only one opponent against him, but in the event he is not impeached by the Senate and concludes to carry out his announced intentions of asking for a third term, it now looks from the result of the elections just held in the two widely separated legislative districts, that his chances for re-election were not quite so bad, more especially when it is almost certain that it will be a three-cornered race, thus splitting up the opposition in such a way as to elect Ferguson. It is also worthy of note that a petition circulated in Taylor county upholding the acts of the governor and condemning in strong terms the action of Representative Eugene DeLoigny of that district for voting to bring impeachment charges against Governor Ferguson, 1917 signatures, all of whom allege they are voters in Taylor county, and that county's total vote at the last election was less than 4,000. Abilene, however, in the county seat of Taylor county, and as is well known Abilene received the now A. and M. college, over the protest of a majority of the local board who, under oath swore they never voted that way. The governor, however, and the secretary of the board, say that Abilene secured the necessary three votes on the second ballot, and on that announcement by the secretary the vote was made unanimous. That may, to some extent, account for Abilene's friendship for the governor. The trial of the governor on the impeachment charges will begin Monday, and perhaps before it is finished some things that were not fully developed in the House will be aired in the Senate. For instance, the party or parties who loaned the governor that $156,000 in currency, may relieve the present embarrassment of the governor by coming forward and acknowledging doing such a very noble and generous act as coming to the aid of a friend in trouble. If that was the motive that inspired their generosity, they ought not to object to having their names made known. Unless this is done there will always remain a doubt in the minds of about one-half the people of the State as to whether that $156,000 was loaned or given for some official act performed, or to be performed by the governor.

An Austin dispatch gave out the information that ex-Senator Abley was to join the able force of legal talent in defense of Governor Ferguson, but evidently Mr. Abley had not been consulted in regard to that item, judging from the fact that he took pains to deny it the next day by saying "there is not money enough in the world to get me in that case." Just what he meant by that is not made clear, but the presumption is that he did not care to mix-up in a muddle of that nature.

Senator Morris Sheppard wants the government to "unshackle the postal savings bank, and let the people's bank serve the people, according to the speech of Senator Sheppard delivered in the Senate Aug. 14, of which The Times acknowledges receipt of a copy. The postal savings banks of the United States have now on deposit about $225,000,000 for which the 760,000 depositors are paid 2 per cent annually (which is only about one-half the rate of interest paid by the regular commercial banks of the United States). He says that should the government take off the shackles by not limiting the amount any one depositor can deposit in a postal savings bank, paying the depositors at the rate of 3 1/2 to 4 per cent per annum for deposits, the postal savings banks through the United States will increase in deposits, and depositors 20 times over, and the effect will be for the general good of the people for the reason that the postal savings banks could loan their deposits direct to the people on approved security at a slight increase in the rate of interest, the government is paying its depositors, and in that way bring down the rates of interest on money considerably below what it is at present. Most of us have often wondered why it was that the postal savings banks were not permitted to pay as much for deposits as the ordinary banks, but even at the low rate of 2 per cent annually these banks seem to be doing a profitable business for the government. Many contend that, in establishing the postal savings banks it was not the purpose of the government to enter the banking business, but merely to provide a minimum rate of interest that the other banks would be compelled to pay depositors. But should the government act on Senator Sheppard's proposition and "unshackle the postal savings banks" by authorizing them to come in direct competition with the regular banks for deposits and loans, we may expect to hear protests loud and long from the banking interests of the country. But there is not much danger that the government will adopt such a plan. Other statesmen, quite as able as the junior senator from Texas, have made efforts along that line, but were all ways met with the answer that it was not the purpose of the government to enter the banking business, but that the postal savings banks were established for those who wished to deposit their money with the government at a low rate of interest with the word and bond of the government that their money would be there when they called for it. By far the greatest part of those who are willing to accept a lower rate of interest and deposit their money in postal savings banks are people who, for some cause or other, are afraid of the security offered by the regular commercial banks of the country. Doubtless, some have good cause for their lack of faith. They know, however, that there is no possible chance of their losing their money when placed in a postal savings bank. For the government to pay as high an interest rate for deposits as the regular banks would virtually amount to destroying to a very great extent the banking business. The government, has, however, entered other lines of business, and those engaged in it have found that it was impossible to compete with the government in that particular line. They protested considerably at the time, but their protests availed nothing. The great majority of the people approved of the government going into that line of business for the reason that the government was in a position to furnish a better article at a lower price. It would be that way should the government enter in an earnest way the banking business, and it would be the best for the great majority of people, but the banking interests are too strongly entrenched, and there is not much danger that the government is going to act on Mr. Sheppard's suggestion by "unshackling the postal savings bank, and let the people's bank serve the people."

The following notices relative to the proper manner of addressing mail to soldiers in the regular army, national guard and the national army have been posted in all postoffices throughout the United States for the information of those who have friends or relatives in the army, and writing them should address the mail as follows:

REP. FLY'S RESOLUTION. Representative Fly of Gonzales, of the Austin press dispatches tell us will introduce a resolution in the House to have every state department and state institution investigated at this session of the legislature. Here is the resolution Mr. Fly proposes to introduce: "Whereas, Virtually the second call session of the Thirty-fifth legislature was consumed in impeachment proceedings against the governor of this state, out of which articles of impeachment have been preferred to the senate; and Whereas, The greater portion of the called session was in all probability, at least on the part of the senate, devoted to the trial of said articles of impeachment, thus rendering the passage of any general legislation extremely impracticable, and Whereas, There has arisen and now exists a public suspicion, indeed in some instances, solemn charges have been made, that in certain departments and institutions of this state there are irregularities, unlawful practices and violations of those fundamental principles which must be preserved as the foundation of our government and remain the basis of the public policies of the State; therefore, Resolved, That in looking to the prompt correction of any and all irregular practices, unlawful acts or derelictions in the performance of duty, as well as the extermination of the said irregularities, it is the sense of the house that the necessary steps should be promptly taken looking to the thorough and complete investigation of each and every department of our State government, and each and all of our State institutions, and to the end that this be done systematically and in the most efficient manner, a committee of five shall be appointed, whose duty it shall be to formulate and report at as early an hour as possible, to this house, a general procedure in the carrying out of the above declaration as to investigations."

JOHNSON TELLS HOW AVIATION CAMP WAS LOCATED B. F. Johnson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce reviewed the steps which resulted in the establishment of the aviation training camp in Wichita Falls at the regular weekly luncheon of the club at the St. James Hotel. Mr. Johnson not only told in a most interesting manner the details of the search for a site to secure the camp, but he also gave many other interesting facts about the aviation service, the examination of applicants must undergo and the training after they enter the camp. The speaker next week will be Judge Harvey Harris who will talk on good roads and tell what is being done in this country. The Art Jewellery Co. will make a donation at this meeting. The attendance at the luncheon today was the largest that has been held since the organization of the club. W. M. Ganser, district agricultural agent, was present and made a short talk in which he took occasion to commend Secretary Johnson of the club. W. M. Ganser, district agricultural agent, was present and made a short talk in which he took occasion to commend Secretary Johnson of the club.

Secretary Johnson, in his talk on the aviation camp, told how he read a speech by Colonel Squiers of the aviation service last fall in a New York publication outlining "Colonel Squiers' plans for the aviation service. This caused him to call attention to the item to J. A. Kemp who went to Washington in behalf of Wichita Falls. Mr. Kemp, he said, got to confer with the proper authorities and got them interested in Wichita Falls. Later Mr. Johnson told of his trip to Washington last December when he got a conference for Colonel Squiers with the Texas delegation in Congress, securing their pledge to Colonel Squiers' program. The Texas delegation, he said, was glad to support the aviation program unconditionally. Mr. Johnson said that before leaving Washington he placed a panoramic photograph of Lake Wichita in Colonel Squiers' office above his desk. Mr. Johnson then told the successful inspections of the site here and of its final approval. He said that it was inspected by an English officer for the Canadian government who did not like the site, but he had not been out for that fact Wichita Falls would have gotten the two Canadian camps located later at Fort Worth. Mr. Johnson also told of his trip to Washington to close the contract. He said the camp would be open by November 1. It was not certain he said whether the winter would be ground training or flying, probably both. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Riley of Diamond, Okla., and Mrs. T. P. Hickman were expected to return today from an automobile trip to Crowell, Texas, and Cordell, Okla. Mr. Riley is a brother of Mrs. Hickman.

13900 OFFICERS IN ARMY MEDICAL CORPS By Associated Press, Sept. 5.—There are now more than 13,900 officers in the army medical corps, according to a war department announcement. They are engaged in medical, dental, sanitary and veterinary work.

BRITISH EMPLOY WOMEN WORKERS WITH THE ARMY Headquarters of Women's Auxiliary Corps, Behind British Lines in France. When it was decided to employ women with the British Army in France the main difficulty that arose lay in the question of housing. Accommodations in France had been prepared solely in accordance with the requirements of male troops, and modifications and adaptations for the use of women required careful consideration. The camps and hotels for the women workers have to be fully equipped with reasonable distances from the places of employment, and on a somewhat higher standard of comfort than was required then for the men. With the cooperation of the military authorities, preliminary arrangements were so rapidly carried out that within a month after the decision to send women to France, everything was ready for the first group of workers. These crossed the Channel at the end of April this year. At present the women are quartered in specially built camps and in hotels taken over by the Corps at some of the bases. These camps accommodate from 25 to 400 women each, and the total accommodation has reached a figure over 4000. Each camp, however small is under the charge of a woman administrator responsible for the comfort and well-being of its occupants and for their discipline outside office hours. The question is often asked, "Is the discipline of the women workers very strict?" The question of discipline was a subject of careful consideration. The women of the Auxiliary Corps cannot be treated as children; they are carefully chosen in the first instance and are doing responsible work. For this reason, a great deal of liberty is given them and their regulations are not so stringent. Members of Corps must wear their uniforms on all occasions; there are certain restrictions on their permission to wear hats and ornaments in France. There are occasional roll calls at the hospitals, but out of office hours the women are allowed to dress as they wish. The administrator may sanction invitations to men to the public recreation rooms of the hotel. The idea of enforcing discipline among the women workers is that they should be led, not driven, and that much depends on the Administrator who acts as leader. The women are given the same individual members respond to the trust reposed in them to keep up the personal credit and honor of the Corps. As well as the usual three months in France, only three girls have been returned to England and they for an excellent record of service and liberality of mind. The Administrator is carefully chosen, being in many cases teachers in girls' schools or working in schools or other institutions. Other women trained in welfare work or university women who have had experience in similar work. To fit them for their special work in France, all are women trained in welfare work or university women who have had experience in similar work. FIVE GREAT DISTILLERIES AT PEORIA PREPARING TO GO INTO LIQUIDATION SEPTEMBER 8—MAY NEVER REOPEN

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 3.—Peoria, for more than half a century the whiskey making center of the United States, will lose the title of "The Still City" early in September, at least for the duration of the war. On September 8 at 11 p. m., the five great distilleries located here, the largest in the world, will cease grinding corn for whiskey making purposes. The big plants which have been making 35 per cent of the whiskey in the country are to go under the National Food Administration law and orders from Washington to Edward D. McCaskey, internal revenue collector here, to shut the distilleries down.

Distillery—Atlas: Bushels of corn daily, 16,000; tons of coal daily, 200; number workmen employed, 275; money invested in plant, $1,000,000. Distillery—Clarke Bros & Co: Bushels of corn daily, 8,000; tons of coal daily, 200; number workmen employed, 200; money invested in plant, $850,000. Distillery—Corning Dist. Co: Bushels of corn daily, 10,000; tons of coal daily, 225; number workmen employed, 250; money invested in plant, $1,000,000. Distillery—Great Western: Bushels of corn daily, 10,000; tons of coal daily, 200; number workmen employed, 250; money invested in plant, $1,000,000. Distillery—Woolner's: Bushels of corn daily, 10,000; tons of coal daily, 225; number workmen employed, 250; money invested in plant, $1,000,000.

Reports that the plants will be converted into cereal mills are denied by distillery managers. "The Peoria distilleries manufacture some alcohol for scientific and commercial purposes," W. E. Hull, general manager for Clarke Bros. & Co., said. "But whiskey is the main product. A distillery of large capacity cannot operate on a small scale at a profit. There haven't been enough war orders from the United States or the allies to keep more than one of the distilleries busy and no new ones are in prospect. Hence the distilleries must close."

On August 23, Robert D. Clarke, vice president and principal stockholder of Clarke Bros. & Co., announced the company's distillery for sale. "We are preparing to liquidate in the shortest possible time," Mr. Clarke said. "We have reduced our capital stock and in order to liquidate in the easiest way, have formed five smaller corporations, each to take over some part of the business and each capitalized at $200,000." For several months the distilleries have been running at full capacity and using more than 50,000 bushels of corn daily, so much interest centers in the effect the closing of the big plants will have on the corn market. Farmers of Central Illinois probably will feel the effect of the closing more than others, for Peoria's market has been an outlet for them for all their soft corn, which distillers readily bought up and which is not very useful for purposes other than making whiskey. Distillers say the farmers will suffer a dead loss on this corn.

VIEW OF TRIESTE

One of these two pictures shows a panoramic view of the city of Trieste, against which the Italian attacks are aimed. Loss of this city will be a very severe blow to the Austrian cause. The other picture illustrates the manner in which Italian wounded are carried by cable down the steep mountains which have barred the Italians' way to Trieste. This city is the principal seaport of Austria-Hungary and the most important depot for the trade of the empire on the Adriatic. It is a bishop's see, the seat of an imperial academy, has a school of navigation and many other schools and educational institutions. There are also extensive manufacturing establishments. Trieste existed in Roman days, but became important about the middle of the eighteenth century, when its growth was fostered by the Empress Maria Theresa.

TAKING ITALIAN WOUNDED DOWN MOUNTAINS

REV. KELLY'S TRIAL STARTS TODAY AT RED OAK, IA.

Red Oak, Ia., Sept. 4.—The Rev. Lynn George Kelly, pastor of the First Baptist church in this city, is on trial in the district court here today on an indictment charging him with the murder of one of the eight persons slain with an axe at Villisca, Iowa in June, 1912.

Story of the Crime. Lynn George J. Kelly, an itinerant clergyman, was arrested here May 14, 1917, on an indictment charging him with having killed 11-year-old Lena Stillingler, one of the eight victims of the gruesome Villisca, Ia., axe murders of 1912.

Kelly pleaded not guilty at his arraignment here in the district court of Montgomery county, May 15, and was removed shortly after to the county jail at Logan, in Harrison county, where he had been confined since.

The arrest of the clergyman marked the most startling of a series of sensations growing out of the murders at Villisca among which were an unsuccessful slander suit, a grand jury exonerating a 10-year state senator and his son, and a bitter controversy between the state department of justice and a private detective investigating the case.

It was on Monday morning, June 10, 1912, that Villisca, a city of 2,000 population in the southwest corner of Montgomery county, awoke to find one of its homes a shambles. A family of six and two girls visiting it the mutilated victims of an axe murderer. The axe, covered with blood, was found in one of the rooms.

The crime was committed in the home of Joe B. Moore, an implement dealer, and the victims, slain as they slept, were Moore, 43 years old; his wife, 39; their four children, Herman 11; Katherine 10; Boyd, 7; and Paul, 5; and two neighborhood children, Lena Stillingler, 11, and her sister Lena, aged 8, daughters of Joe Stillingler, a farmer.

Unraveled in the criminal annals of the state, the brutal murders struck terror to the city and countryside for miles around, while the authorities vainly groped for some clue to the assassin. One man was taken into custody, but was released at his preliminary hearing because of insufficient evidence.

J. N. Wilkerson, a detective of Kansas City, became associated with the investigation almost immediately, and in the spring of 1916 a William Mansfield was arrested at Kansas City, Mo., at the instigation of Wilkerson. Mansfield waived extradition and returned here to face a grand jury investigation, which ended with the refusal of that body to indict him.

Wilkerson began holding public mass meetings, and it was as a result of certain utterances he is alleged to have made that F. F. Jones, a merchant of Villisca, and former state senator, brought suit against the detective for $50,000 damages, charging the detective with slander.

After a sensational trial in November, 1916 Wilkerson was acquitted. The defense introduced evidence intended to show implication of Jones and his son, Albert, in the axe murders. In January, 1917, a grand jury was summoned in Montgomery county to consider the status of Jones and his son.

THIRD SUCCESSIVE NIGHT GERMANS RAID ENGLAND

By Associated Press. London, Sept. 5.—The first moonlight raid over the London district occurred about midnight last night and resulting in the dropping of bombs but the full extent of the damage is yet unknown and no casualties have been reported. One bomb fell just outside a hospital, another smashed through a theatre and still another hit a retail store in which a number of girls were sleeping. Notwithstanding the moonlight nothing could be seen of raiders although the engines could be heard overhead. That they were raiding was probably due to a slight haze which, however, was insufficient to obscure the moon. The raiders were constantly shelled by anti-aircraft guns and several British machines took the air to attack the invaders.

"Has Germany got her great air offensive ready before ours?" is a question asked by a morning paper apropos of the invasion of England on three successive nights and Field Marshal Haig's overnight report of aggressive enemy aircraft. Another paper which assumes and frequently warns of Germany's intention to invade England with air craft in very large fleets says: "The enemy seems to be getting on rather fast in their invasion plans. The German aircraft came, bombed and departed. Our guns fired and our aircraft went up but without result, according to the latest official reports."

STORY OF THE RAID IN CHATHAM DISTRICT

By Associated Press. London, Sept. 5.—The Chatham district for the first time experienced an air attack on Monday night when one or more bombs fell on a section of the royal naval barracks, killing 107 blue jackets outright and wounded 87 others. Four bombs in all fell about the barracks, but two were harmless and in fact apart from those which took such a heavy toll of lives, damage in the whole area was insignificant. The barracks was filled with sleeping hammocks and a major of the guns he was asleep at the time of the attack. The first indication of the presence of air raiders was the sound of engines overhead. The presence of highly powered machines overhead did not cause much alarm because notices had been published earlier in the evening that anti-aircraft practice would be carried out that night and when the guns began firing it was assumed that the practice was in full swing. Then came the unexpected, loud explosions were heard in one part of the district and then in another. In all about 17 bombs were dropped and the raiders are thought to have been over the district nearly an hour. Searchlights sought out the raiders, but they failed to locate them, the visibility being low owing to a slight haze notwithstanding the moonlight.

CIRCULARS TELL HOW TO KNIT FOR THE SOLDIERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Half a million illustrated circulars containing instructions for knitting articles for the Red Cross Chapters throughout the country. The circulars contain full instructions for making articles: sleeveless sweaters, mufflers, helmets, socks, wristlets, wash cloths and knitted caps. They are being distributed by the Woman's Bureau of the Red Cross.

Recent cables from Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, Red Cross commissioner in France, again emphasize the necessity for warm knitted articles for the men who face the hardships of a winter in the trenches. Army officers requested that the Red Cross articles be forwarded as soon as possible. The severity of winter with a coal shortage to face and a rising tuberculosis rate to combat demand that several million garments reach France before Thanksgiving.

The handbooks issued by the Red Cross are primarily for the use of Red Cross chapters. They are being distributed by the Woman's Bureau of the Red Cross. PRESIDENT WILSON AND CONGRESS PARTICIPATE IN DEMONSTRATION AT WASHINGTON

30,000 IN FIRST DRAFT

By Tomorrow Night These Men Will Be in 16 Cantonnments Throughout Country

Washington, Sept. 4.—The vanguard of the National Army was being honored throughout the country today with demonstrations to celebrate the eve of departure of the first drafted men to the cantonnments.

Typifying the spirit of the nation sending forth its sons to battle for democracy, the capital gave itself over to a great public demonstration in which President Wilson, Congress and all the heads of the government were the leaders.

The place of honor in a procession between Peace Monument at the foot of the capitol, to the White House, was reserved for the drafted men comprising the District of Columbia's first contribution to the national army. Led by President Wilson and escorted by senators and representatives, sailors, soldiers and marines, men of the officers training camp at Fort Myer and thousands of their fellow citizens, the national army men marched between lines of cheering thousands, bidding them God speed on the first steps of their journey to France.

The Senate and House prepared to adjourn early in order to take part, it being the first time that congress has ever marched in any popular demonstration. The Senate will be led by Senator Gallinger, President pro tem and the House by Speaker Champ Clark and "Uncle Joe" Cannon, both of whom refused to ride in the advanced ranks. Senators Nelson and Warren, who fought on the Union side in the Civil War and Senators Martin and Bankhead, who were with the armies of the Confederacy will march side by side in their respective uniforms of blue and gray. Veterans of the Spanish American War will march with the Senate delegation are Senators New, Frazier, Wadsworth, Lewis, Weeks, Vandamm and Hall.

As the van of the column reaches the White House, the president will enter the reviewing stand. With him will be Viscount Ito, special ambassador from Japan, and the members of the Japanese mission, the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand, the Mexican ambassador and Senora Benfilas and other members of the diplomatic corps.

Five Per Cent Called. Drafted men of the five per cent quota going to the army cantonnments were reporting today to local boards to receive instructions and railroad meal tickets. Most of them will be permitted to take their night at home under orders to report to the board before train time tomorrow.

About 30,000 men, mostly selected because of previous military training are included in the first quota. By tomorrow night they will be in the 16 cantonnments, except those not conscripted at Yaphank, L. I., and Admiral, N. D.

President's Letter. A letter from President Wilson, made public today by the White House, directed to Thomas L. Chatbourne Jr., of the mayors committee on national defense, New York, reads as follows:

Please say to the men of September 4 how entirely my heart is with them and how my thoughts will follow them across the sea with confidence and also with genuine envy, for I should like to be with them, on the field and in the trenches where the real and final battle for the independence of the United States, is to be fought, alongside the other peoples of the world, struggling like ourselves, to make an end of those things which have threatened the integrity of their territory, the lives of their people and the very character and independence of their governments.

"Bid them God speed for me from a very full heart."

PRESIDENT WILSON'S MESSAGE. SOLDIERS OF NATIONAL ARMY

STATE FUNDS USED TO COVER BANK BALANCES

ASSISTANT CASHIER TEMPLE BANK ADMITS PART OF STATE'S DEPOSITS WITHOUT PROTECTION

$760,411.86 DEPOSITED

In June 30, Loans Exceeded $522,000, Cash $45,000 State Deposits $356,138.

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Sept. 4.—Testimony that on one occasion $72,239 of state funds deposited in the Temple State Bank was without protection, was given by H. P. Blum, assistant cashier of the bank, today, at the impeachment trial of Governor James E. Ferguson. Questioned by Atty. Gen. Crane, Blum said that one June 30, 1917, the total of state funds deposited in the bank was $356,138. The bank had on deposit in other institutions $228,216 and its cash on hand was $45,883. This meant, he said, that $2,239 of state deposits covered part of $28,000 in individual loans made by the institution.

After presenting these figures Blum admitted that on more than one occasion he had used state funds to cover the bank's liabilities.

At first he maintained that the state deposits could not have been loaned out, but later, when Atty. Gen. Crane made the statement that some of the money must have been so used. Loans and overdrafts which Governor Ferguson is alleged to have obtained from the Temple State Bank money far in excess of the local limit were again considered. Blum said that the state funds were loaned to the bank, the first witness, again testified.

NEW SENATOR SWORN IN

V. A. Hanger, new senator from the Fourteenth District, was sworn in this morning. He would have been seated last night if the Senate, acting on the opinion of Attorney General Looney that the higher House was its own judge of the validity of Collins' election, had been able to find him. H. C. Fox, former president of the Temple State Bank, who was the chief witness against Governor Ferguson at the March investigation, has been summoned as a witness at the present trial. Senator Gibson by unanimous consent was permitted today to be absent four or five days to go to Washington.

SEATTLE MAN DIES AT HOME OF SISTER HEAL

Monday night at 12 o'clock L. B. Higgins of Seattle, Wash., died at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. E. Carrington, 1801 Eleventh street. The body will be taken to Cleburne for burial. Mr. Higgins had been in railroad office work since his boyhood, commencing at the age of 14 as telegraph operator at Balh, N. Y. where he was born. He came to Texas in 1881 and was employed with the Santa Fe, serving for a number of years as chief clerk in the mechanical department at Galveston and later at Cleburne. For the past ten years he had been with the Stone and Webster Traction Company at Ft. Worth, Boston, Mass., and Seattle, Wash. In every way he held the respect and admiration of his fellow workers, and all with whom he came in contact in every way and place. He was a devoted and successful business man and a fine character throughout the country to whom the news of his death will bring sorrow. Mr. Higgins was 55 years of age. In addition to Mrs. Carrington he is survived by a second sister, Mrs. C. F. Kaneoske of Galveston.

NEW YORK CITY'S SOLDIERS MARCH TO FRANCE

New York city's soldiers marched to the top of the road and came to France. To the rattle of drums and the blare of horns, the hoofbeats of horses and tread of men, 2,000 strong, the New York guards comprising the Twenty-seventh division, passed down the length of Fifth avenue in review, while the millions looked on from sidewalks and trees from window and housetop, from billboard and every vantage point to be found. From One Hundred and Twenty street to Washington square they marched in a parade that, beginning at 10 o'clock, lasted five hours before the regimental ranks swung under the great marble Washington arch. Then for some time it was on the Spartanburg (S. C.) camp and after that to France, while the rest went back to camp and army, awaiting the call that may come any hour. Who cared that it was the greatest military spectacle in the city's history? Not the 30,000 fathers, mothers, sisters, little brothers, sweethearts and grandparents of the marching men, who clothed in their Sunday best, the men, but the women, stiff and starched, their little "relative" tabs hanging from their breasts, lined Fifth avenue from the point of start to Fifty-ninth street and million and tossed in Plaza square and Madison square. Their hearts were in their eyes. They looked for familiar faces and did not see much else. They who cheered as the men marched by? Not these relatives left behind. Their voices were not set for cheering. It was "Oh, Tom!" and "God bless you, Tom!" and "God bless you, boy!" as the men passed on. That's all.

GOVERNOR'S INDEBTEDNESS TO BANK PRIOR TO SETTLEMENT WAS AROUND $17,000

Major General John F. O'Ryan, commanding the division, No. 2, transferred wagons of the troops. Governor's indebtedness to the bank prior to the settlement was around $17,000. They exceeded $32,000. The four notes, aggregating $170,000, were in excess of the governor's obligation to the bank. Blum read the Temple bank's loans to individual customers and deposits in other banks drawing interest June 30, 1917. They exceeded $22,000. The balance in the bank totalled about $700. The state on this date was supposed to have had $356,138 in the bank, Blum said. Mr. Crane sought to show that state funds must have been loaned out. "We can't loan out state money," Blum said. He added that money deposited in other banks, although drawing two per cent interest was not considered "loaned."

NO EXHIBIT AT DALLAS

On Account Of Failure to Obtain Good Exhibit The Project is Abandoned

F. N. Lawton, manager of the Wichita Water Co., and one of the committeemen having the supervision of the aviation contracts for the Chamber of Commerce reported before last night's meeting that still further progress had been made on the work at the camp. The city and county, Mr. Lawton said, had been very liberal in the work they had done in having the camp cleared, filling the irrigation ditch, grading, and other matters. The ditch is now filled, and all but three hundred feet of it has been graded. Mr. Lawton said. Work on this business had been going on for a week, according to Mr. Lawton's report, and there had been about thirty teams used for hauling, grading, and so forth.

KATY QUERATIVES GIVEN SPECIAL CONSIDERATION

The Katy has been selected by the War Department as one of the railroads which is to be especially protected from the encroachment of the draft. According to officials received by officials of the Katy lines, the War Department has selected several railroads throughout the country which were to be kept operating at a maximum efficiency during the war in order to have available at all times a complete system of railroads covering the United States. No parallel lines were named in the order from the War Department. The railroads in general will be protected, but certain lines that are very important are to be kept running at their full capacity. The fact that the Katy is one of the most direct routes from the Central West States to the Gulf and that they carry the most important goods, excellent service, is the opinion of local officials of the road. The fact that shipments of supplies, cotton and other commodities are to be made to Southern ports to avert a congestion in the Eastern ports will mean a heavier business for the Southern roads, especially the Katy.

PETROGRAD SITUATION

Wealthy Classes Leaving City and Business Houses Considering Removing to Other Cities

By Associated Press. Petrograd, Sept. 6.—Although Petrograd, in the opinion of various military authorities, is in no immediate danger on account of the fall of Riga, preparations are being made against the possibility of an unexpected descent by the Germans. The temporary government has appointed a special civil commission with authority to arrest, suppress seditious meetings, suspend the publication of newspapers, and where desirable, clear the city of undesirable elements. It has also decided that there is yet no need for the government to be transferred elsewhere.

Although there are no signs of a panic, there are elements of the population, particularly members of the wealthy class, who are leaving, or attempting to leave in large numbers. Many business firms are considering transferring their headquarters to Moscow, Nishinogorod or some other provincial city.

According to the newspapers, the present Russian front represents the arc of a circle from the mouth of the River Aa, southeastward about forty miles from Riga. Dvinsk according to reports, is still held out. The newspapers of all shades of opinions comment extensively on the Riga disaster. The Socialist papers publish articles in almost identical terms calling on the workers to perform their duty in defending the revolution. The organ of the Social Democrats, the Minimals, the Rabotcha or Gazette, appeals to the workers to work for the moment when the Riga disaster will have become irreparable, but to close ranks immediately with discipline to proceed to prompt and decisive action.

The Zemlja Vola, organ of the revolutionary socialists says: "History will show on whom lies the blame for our military defeat. Meanwhile the nation demands that all internal political quarrels be forgotten and that an energetic and unanimous effort be made to face the enemy."

COMPLETE DEFEAT OF GERMANY ONLY PEACE GUARANTY

By Associated Press. London, Sept. 7.—Coincidentally with the announcement that Premier Lloyd George will deliver an important speech on the war aims of the British government, a statement is given by the newspapers to a statement by Sir Edward Carson to a correspondent in which Sir Edward declares: "There is a great deal of very loose and mischievous talk about peace. Some people seem to imagine we have only to conclude a treaty with Germany and all will be well, that should like to ask what is to happen. Are the nations of the world to proceed with preparations for the next conflict? Is it to be a mere truce, a truce of still more deadly weapons of war? Are we to spend their resources in the creation of enormous numbers of airplanes and submarines for the destruction of unfortified towns and the murder of innocent women and children? Or are we to take advantage of the war to perfect of lethal and poisonous gases for the destruction of human life? Are we to live in daily terror of the day when another conflict may arise which might lead to the extinction of civilization itself? The truth is a treaty of peace does not necessarily secure peace. In the military sphere it can be of any real use to progress and humanity. We talk platitudes about a league of nations to enforce peace without considering conditions essential to its success. There was a league of nations to protect Belgium—there were solemn treaties and conventions with the promise to apply the principles of humanity as far as possible in war and give effect to international law. How did these avail on the outbreak of the war?"

Sir Edward then quotes the German emperor as saying: "There is no international law; that is a scrap of paper, and so forth and so on."

"I have not yet seen a single suggestion made as to how the future generations are to be prevented from recurring, if the lawless temper of the Germans remains unchecked and the power to repeat their crimes remains what it has been in the past, relatively to the rest of the world. President Wilson is right when he declares no terms signed by the present rulers of Germany would afford the slightest security for the peace of the world and nothing is more certain than that just in proportion as the military defeat of Germany is incomplete, the duration of peace will be short."

In conclusion Sir Edward said that it was obvious that Great Britain must carry on the war until such a victory is attained as will remove all political danger of war in the future, and any man who tries, whatever his motive, to distract the attention of the country from this goal of deliverance, is the worst enemy of real peace."

HOBBY RECOMMENDS TRANSFER LIENS ON SCHOOL LANDS

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Sept. 6.—Acting Governor Hobby today transmitted a message to the legislature recommending the enactment of a law which will permit the transfer of liens on state school university lands into the federal farm loan bank in order that the owners of such land may be able to borrow money thereon for the purpose of improving the land. There are many thousands of acres of such land sold by the state to actual settlers on forty years time, and because of such terms, it is impossible for the owners of the land to borrow money on it. The passage of the proposed law will enable the bank to take up the liens and lend the owner of the land money thereon.

CONSIDERED DUNNAM RESOLUTION REFLECTION ON HOBBY

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Sept. 7.—In the House today, Representative Dunnam introduced a resolution regarding the Acting Governor Hobby to submit to the Legislature the subject of repealing the laws relating to the new educational institutions. The resolution declared that the acting governor had introduced a resolution to submit the question as requested in a former resolution on this proposition adopted in the House. There were objections to the resolution because the subject was already under consideration in the House.

Mr. Dunnam said he had no intention of reflecting on the acting governor. He said that after some further debate, the speaker held the resolution in its present shape, out of order.

Representative Reeves introduced a resolution requesting the state auditor to make a report to the House on the financial condition of the system. Mr. Bertram said that there was already a committee appointed to make an investigation of all departments and systems, and he could see no reason for this resolution. WEDGE IS BEING DRIVEN

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 7.—Reports and disclosures made by officials in connection with the seizure of the country indicate it was said today that there has existed for some time a nationwide conspiracy to hamper the government's activities in every way possible. Opposition to the draft law burning of crops, some of the so-called labor strikes and attempts to curtail production on war industries, reports indicate, were all part of the same alleged conspiracy whose prime motive was thought to be the crippling of the government's activities in every way possible, short of interference with military and naval operations.

The investigation was made by the federal grand jury at Chicago in connection with Wednesday raids on I. W. W. offices throughout the country. It probably would be the most comprehensive investigation undertaken on behalf of the government since this country's entrance into the war. Tens of thousands of letters, checks and other documents, in the possession of federal authorities, will be turned over to the grand jury at Chicago or other grand juries which later may investigate ramifications of the alleged conspiracy. It was indicated today that the government theory is that the alleged conspiracy was entered into in Chicago, although its operations extended to virtually every section of the United States.

In the list of reports made recently to officials here, the numerous instances of opposition to the draft law already a part of the general alleged conspiracy and were prompted by virtually the same set of men. Burning of wheat fields and attempts to curtail production on war industries, strikes and acts of violence are regarded as a third phase. Many evidences, it is said, point to the fact that the alleged conspiracy was lavishly supplied for work of the alleged conspirators.

AUSTRIANS RETAIN PRECARIOUS HOLD ON SAN GABRIELE

ITALIAN PRESSURE BEING MAINTAINED AND DECISIVE RESULTS ARE EXPECTED

WEDGE IS BEING DRIVEN

Cadorna's Strategy Aims At Isolation Of Southern Part of Austrian Forces

The Associated Press war summary follows: Although the Austrians apparently still retain a precarious hold upon Monte San Gabriele, their last position in the mountain stronghold, northeast of Gorizia, the end is in sight for them in this region, according to the Italian press. General Cadorna's report today shows the Austrians still resisting desperately but staggering under the heavy losses which the incessant Italian pressure of the last few days has inflicted on them. This pressure is being maintained and is becoming decisive, the commander of the attacking forces announced.

The Italian reports are invariably conservative and it has been noted withholding announcement until he is able to obtain a security on Monte San Gabriele to give him complete dominance of the Bainsizza Plateau and the country far to the south making it impossible to push his way into the Piave valley and drive a wedge between the two Austrian armies, virtually isolating the southern army which directly bars his way to Trieste.

Several times the San Gabriele post has been in Italian hands but the Austrians have battled desperately for this vital position, and each time surged back again. There has been no let up in the Italian pressure however, and it now seems as if the decisive phase of the battle has been reached.

The continued retreat of the Russian armies has not yet caused the Petrograd authorities to fear seriously for Petrograd, according to general reports here. There has had the effect of awakening most of the football elements in the capital to the prospects of a strengthening of the organization in the South. The authorities stated they were trying to induce football players to leave their present clubs and join the Chicago team.

Cadorna's Strategy Aims At Isolation Of Southern Part of Austrian Forces

The Associated Press war summary follows: Although the Austrians apparently still retain a precarious hold upon Monte San Gabriele, their last position in the mountain stronghold, northeast of Gorizia, the end is in sight for them in this region, according to the Italian press. General Cadorna's report today shows the Austrians still resisting desperately but staggering under the heavy losses which the incessant Italian pressure of the last few days has inflicted on them. This pressure is being maintained and is becoming decisive, the commander of the attacking forces announced.

The Italian reports are invariably conservative and it has been noted withholding announcement until he is able to obtain a security on Monte San Gabriele to give him complete dominance of the Bainsizza Plateau and the country far to the south making it impossible to push his way into the Piave valley and drive a wedge between the two Austrian armies, virtually isolating the southern army which directly bars his way to Trieste.

Several times the San Gabriele post has been in Italian hands but the Austrians have battled desperately for this vital position, and each time surged back again. There has been no let up in the Italian pressure however, and it now seems as if the decisive phase of the battle has been reached.

The continued retreat of the Russian armies has not yet caused the Petrograd authorities to fear seriously for Petrograd, according to general reports here. There has had the effect of awakening most of the football elements in the capital to the prospects of a strengthening of the organization in the South. The authorities stated they were trying to induce football players to leave their present clubs and join the Chicago team.

Many evidences, it is said, point to the fact that the alleged conspiracy was lavishly supplied for work of the alleged conspirators.

BURKBURNETT'S REFINERY WILL BE 2,000 BBLs. DAILY

The Burkburnett Star contains the following this week concerning the new refinery that is to be built there: Since reporting in last issue of the formation of an oil refining company in Burkburnett the Star has received information that the plant will be much larger than at first reported. While the company is not fully organized as yet, it is announced that the plant when completed will represent an investment of $200,000 or greater, and that it will have a daily capacity of 2000 barrels to begin with, and it may be enlarged at a later date.

possible, for the building and equipment. It states that a force of 30 or 40 carpenters will be employed in the construction work, and that under favorable conditions, the plant should be finished and ready for business within 60 days. Mr. Rathbone states that the refinery when in operation will require the services of about 50 men the most of whom will be skilled workmen. He states that material is being placed on the grounds as fast as possible and that he hopes soon to have the work of construction begin in earnest.

The company is to be known as the Burkburnett Refining Company, so we are informed. The completion of the organization and the election of officers is expected to be accomplished at an early date. As previously stated the company has bought 20 acres of land out of the Cropper farm, about one mile south of town, to be used as a location for the plant. It is situated along the railroad tracks and switches will be placed on the grounds. This location is also right in the edge of the producing oil fields.

The location of this big enterprise in our town is of great importance. It creates a market for the crude oil right at home and will doubtless enable independent producers to get better prices. It will add to our population and taxable values and will increase almost every line of business in town. This is the biggest enterprise our town has succeeded in landing, and our people will watch its completion with much interest and satisfaction.

MEXICO REGARDS INDUSTRIES AS PUBLIC UTILITIES

By Associated Press. Mexico City, Sept. 7.—After a meeting of the cabinet yesterday orders were sent to the governors of all states to the effect that many industries, including cotton factories must be regarded in the light of public utilities. Should the proprietors close these factories, the government, in case of refusal to reopen, will take over and operate them.

It is understood that a proposal from the department of interior nullifying an exemption from taxes granted to companies by former governments was approved. The president and members of the cabinet agreed to contribute one day's salary in each month of thirty days and two days salary in months of thirty-one to establish banks of emission. The president will advise all government employees to do likewise, but it is understood that it is to be purely voluntary on their part.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

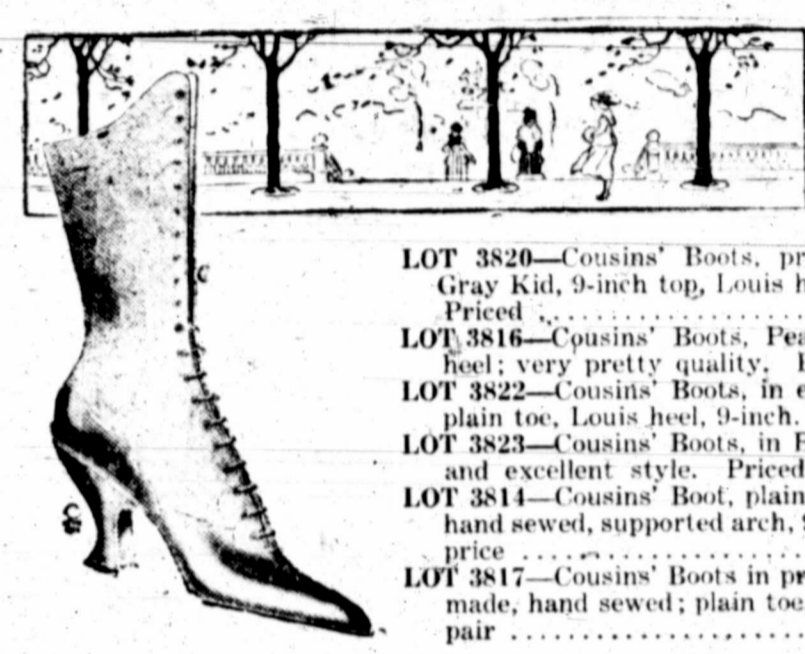

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

Theodor's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it! NC-131

MRS. BULLINGTON ENTERTAINS WITH THEATER PARTY

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Grover Bullington entertained with a theater party a number of girl friends, this being her "good bye" to them as she is leaving Saturday for San Antonio to join Lieutenant Bullington who is stationed at Camp Travis. A box was reserved at the Empress theater for "An Innocent Sinner," then the party repaired to Fells where an ice course was served. If those Italians continue to fight for the next month as they have for the past, we may expect to hear of the emperor of Austria expressing a fresh desire for peace.

The Times has been accused of loaning its type to other newspapers. It wishes to deny the accusation, notwithstanding that appearances seem to convict it of the practice.

Press dispatches tell us the Russian provisional government is preparing to ask this country for another loan—this time about $2,300,000. Our own idea about the matter is that if Russia expects to get any further loans her armies ought to do some fighting.

Samuel Gompers, great labor leader, is talking and acting like a true American patriot. In an address delivered Wednesday he pledged the united support of organized labor to the government in its prosecution of the war.

As yet the investigation or impeachment trial down at Austin has not revealed the name of the gentleman who loaned the governor that $156,500 in currency. The hottest trail uncovered was that a good sized chunk of it came to an Austin bank with the wrapper of a San Antonio bank around it.

Mayor Thompson of Chicago, has brought suit for libel against the Chicago Herald for $200,000. This suit grows out of criticism of the mayor by the Herald for his anti-war attitude.

Cheaper wheat ought to mean cheaper flour. More than six hundred millers throughout the United States have said they would be satisfied with a profit of 25c per barrel on flour.

PROSECUTION TO FOLLOW TRAIL OF THE $76,000

He could get the governor to sign the appropriations, at least for $1,000,000. Mr. Crane's questions brought frequent objections from Mr. Hanger which were sustained.

Dr. Vinson repeated again that he only wanted the students from their classes on May 28, the day of the demonstration in front of the governor's office, in order that they might hold a mass meeting and draw up resolutions.

On the cross examination, Mr. Hanger presented the budget given to the regents at the Galveston meeting by Dr. Vinson and it was identified.

Mr. Hanger asked if the doctor approved the outside work of Dr. A. Caswell Ellis in supervising sanitation in school buildings for which he drew pay independent of his university salary.

"So far as I know Dr. Ellis has not done such work since I became president of the university," he replied.

ed his question. The doctor did not say that he would ask reinstatement of any of the professors, but said he had had things suggested to him which he intended to look into.

Dr. Vinson, on the redirect examination, said he knew nothing against the dismissed professors, that would disqualify them from reinstatement.

Dr. Vinson read records to show that the average cost per student at the university was less in the last five year period than during the first five year period of its existence.

Dr. Vinson was excused and R. S. Sterling, oil and lumber man, was called to the stand.

He is president of the Dayton Lumber Company, he said.

Mr. Hanger objected to Sterling's testifying about the escrow fund in the Temple State Bank known as Governor Ferguson's special account.

Sterling said that while litigation was in process over the title to some lumber lands, $24,900 due on land was placed in escrow in the Temple State Bank and this was not to be used.

Mr. Hanger asked if the doctor approved the outside work of Dr. A. Caswell Ellis in supervising sanitation in school buildings for which he drew pay independent of his university salary.

"I did not see the parade, because I did not look to see it. I did just as I had done on previous similar occasions. I did not leave my office and made no attempt to stop them."

Mr. Hanger asked: "Doctor, is it your intention to ask the reinstatement of all these professors who were dismissed?"

Mr. Crane objected. Hanger altered the question.

EXPECT DELIVERY OF LIBERTY BONDS SOON. Queries as to why the Liberty Bonds have not yet been delivered to the buyers are answered by the following letter from the Treasury Department.

"This is a letter from the Treasury Department, to which the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, adds: "As soon as the bonds are received by us, we will immediately proceed with delivery. Delivery will be made to you in alphabetical order."

"In case any of the banks desire interim certificates, which are exchangeable for definite bonds for delivery to their customers, we shall be pleased to forward these promptly, upon receipt of definite instructions."

"From this it will be seen that even after the Federal Reserve Bank has received the bonds, it will be some time before Wichita Falls may expect to have them in her hands, as alphabetically she is long way down the list. However, it will also be seen that any purchaser of bonds who desires to have interim certificates, which are exchangeable for definite bonds, should mention the matter to the bank from which he purchases the bond, and the request for such certificates will bring them promptly."

A BULLETIN from Bell Mattress Factory A faulty uneven Mattress makes a good night's sleep impossible. Let us make over any such mattress you may have in mind. We'll return it to you, not just as good but better than it was when you bought it new. And as to our own special make, we will not only guarantee its substantiability, workmanship, but guarantee you a good night's sleep, if it takes only a comfortable mattress to induce it.

EMPRESS THEATRE

TODAY MABEL TALIAFERRO "PEGGY, THE WILL O' THE WISP" Typically Irish and dashing is this latest photoplay starring Miss Taliaferro. The story concerns the exploits of a phantom highwayman and the love affair of Peggy Desmond and Capt. Neil Dacey, which succeeds in bringing the underdog GMalley to frustrate it. The manner in which Peggy contrived to relieve the sufferings of O'Malley's tenants, to win her father's independence from a heavy mortgage and to clear her lover of guilt in a story as unusual as it is engaging.

TOMORROW ANITA STEWART "THE MESSAGE OF THE MOUSE" This story is based upon the work of foreign spies in this country and the way the American girl put an end to their plotting.

At the Theatres

The Empress. Second only to her histrionic ability is Mabel Taliaferro's skill as a horsewoman. When this popular star appears at the Empress Theatre today in the Metro wonderplay, "Peggy, the Will O' the Wisp," presented by B. A. Rolfe, Miss Taliaferro will demonstrate what she gained while touring the West on a horse's back. Mounted on her spirited horse, "Sweetheart," this mite of a woman in this five-act picture jumps, fences, dashes along a corral and pulls herself off the back of her horse while the animal is running at a rapid gait.

Traffic in Souls. Tonight at the Palace Pavilion Theater, perhaps the most pretentious offering ever seen in Wichita Falls will be put on "Traffic in Souls," a play far superior to any of the ordinary repertoire productions, once a guaranteed feature play—it is of today.

tells a beautiful love story and teaches a great moral lesson. Children are admitted only with their parents or escorts. Last night "Love and Politics" was pronounced one of the best plays here yet, in fact the Rentrows get stronger with each production, proof positive of the merits of this sterling company. "Dora Thorne" will be put on at 2:30 tomorrow as a special matinee attraction, and the great spectacular and scenic production, "Slaves of the Orient" will be the farewell performance tomorrow night.—101 lip.

ORIENT SHOPS AT SAN ANGELO CLOSED By Associated Press. San Angelo, Texas, Sept. 7.—The shops of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway here and at Wichita, Kansas were shut down yesterday because shopmen who walked out Wednesday failed to return to work. The men demand increase in wages from forty eight to fifty cents per hour. Railway officials declare they will obtain men to fill the depleted ranks and that train service will not be crippled.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

TODAY WILLIAM DESMOND In his past Triangle play Paddy O'Hara proved himself one of the most capable romantic actors in motion pictures. He has followed that success in— "THE PAWS OF THE BEAR" in which the hero is a young American in the Government Secret Service, his adventures begin in Belgium, at the time of the German invasion, and his companion in his many narrow escapes from death is beautiful CLARA WILLIAMS taking the part of Beautiful Countess Raminoff. The young man's impulsive repentment of the brutality of the Prussian host results more than once in the wriggling out of the German net with only his life. The real identity of the girl whom he finds so consistently his companion is a mystery until the very end. A splendid, galloping story of adventure and love and international intrigue. 5c and 10c—Prices—5c and 10c This picture was due us yesterday, but failed to make connections, and will be shown today.

TOMORROW JOY-RIDE WITH HANDSOME WILLIAM RUSSELL "THE FRAME UP" The happiest play this speed star has ever done. Also "SECRETS OF A BEAUTY PARLOR," two-reel Keystone Comedy. 5 and 10c

With Apologies to Tuxedo: We were so impressed with the phrase, "YOUR NOSE KNOWS," as used by the American Tobacco Co. that we have asked and received permission from their advertising department to use it in advertising our coffee. There is nothing the NOSE KNOWS as quickly as GOOD COFFEE. Whether you get a whiff of it as you pass our place, smell a package someone is carrying home on the street car, or its delicious aroma is wafted to you from the kitchen, while still in bed—"YOUR NOSE KNOWS" it's good coffee.
