

NEWLY DRAFTED MEN ARE BEING TAKEN AT CAMP

WHAT HAPPENS TO ARRIVALS AT CAMP TRAVIS TOLD IN DETAIL.

Special to The Times.
CAMP TRAVIS, TEXAS, May 16.—The newly drafted men now being received into the national army at Camp Travis certainly ought to be the pick of the land if they pass all the examinations and inspections to which they are subjected. It doesn't make much difference whether the rookie has a protracted transverse arch in his foot or decadent molar in his lower jaw, there's a specialist waiting for him to find it out and give directions for setting it right.

The first thing that happens to him after he gets here is the preliminary physical examination. This is more or less hurried, but in times past local boards have been known to send in men minus a foot or one lung—though these oversights are less common now that the draft machinery has been in operation for some time and the purpose of this examination is to cull out those who are hopelessly defective or contagiously ill.

Rigid Examination.—Next comes the rigid examination at the infirmaries. By the time he has been thumped over and stethoscoped and poked into and inoculated for typhoid and paratyphoid and vaccinated, even the healthiest specimen feels like a confirmed invalid. But it must be worth while, for as a result fevers of the type sought to be prevented are as rare in an army camp as leprosy or cholera infantum.

The new soldier is then taken in hand by the personnel office and quizzed about everything imaginable, so it seems to him. He tells his birthplace and age, of course, that sounds simple, but when he happens to have a foreign name with about five consonants where vowels ought to be, it takes a patient soldier to make the clerk understand aright. Down on the record he goes, whether he is a steamfitter or a minister of the gospel, whether he is married or single, whether he can do a song-and-dance act in the "local talent" entertainments that soldiers are encouraged to stage at the "Y" buildings, whether he prefers artillery to the quartermaster corps and why—in short, a pretty fair word picture of the man gets onto the cards the personnel force prepares for each soldier in the army. And he gets his army name, thus, "Hiram J. Henderson, No. 324321," and the name goes with him through all his army life. It must always be Hiram J.—H. Junius won't go.

Tuberculosis Board.—There's a special tuberculosis board. When a man gets by these keen-eyed gentlemen he is pretty likely to have a sound chest. If they are suspicious of any soldier, that soldier gets special care and observation with only such work as is suited to his physical condition. The denial board looks after the army's mouth, and the army has clean and capable mouths as a result. Each soldier gets a toothbrush along with other toilet articles, and he is expected to use it.

The psychiatric and psychologist boards have their inning too, on the theory that a prospective "shell shocker" or malingering, discovered before the terrific strain of trench warfare proves too much for him, is just that much man-power saved to the nation. Such men are placed where their work is suited to their capabilities.

Feet are looked over and after by the orthopedists. It has been found that not all cases of flat foot are disqualifying by any means. The foot specialists decide upon individual cases and prescribe exercises or appliances where such measures seem to be necessary. Then there are the hook worn specialists—but why continue with the list? If you have a soldier in the army he is being looked after as he never was before in all his life, and if there is anything wrong with him that will be looked after too. You may be sure of that, for it pays the government to keep its fighters able to fight.

TEXAS TO CONTINUE WHEATLESS PROGRAM UNTIL NEXT HARVEST

The wheatless period for Texas has been extended from June 1st to the next harvest, due to the fact that the shortage of wheat has become so acute that the national government must use every conservation measure in order to secure sufficient wheat to meet the European needs. On Tuesday at noon, in reply to a suggestion from U. S. Food Administrator Hoover that Texas continue its wheatless program until the next harvest and not lift the ban on June 1st, Administrator Peden wired the national administrator as follows:

"Hoover Food Administration, Washington.
 "Complying with your message, I am requesting all district and county administrators to explain the situation, and feel safe in assuring you Texas will cheerfully continue on wheatless basis until next crop. Our people go ungrudgingly making this sacrifice for our allies and our boys over there."
 "PEDEN."
 The state administration will be assisted in making a complete wheatless observance by the Southwestern Milling Division, all mills outside of the state being instructed to ship no flour into Texas. This will cancel trouble now being experienced by Texas mills, who have suspended sales, while outside mills were shipping into the state.

HINTON CHOSEN COMMANDER OF VETERANS' SONS

BALDWIN MADE HONORARY PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION FOR LIFE.

The election of Comrade Carl Hinton of Denver, Colo., to the post of commander in chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans to fill the unexpired term of Ernest G. Baldwin of Roanoke, Va., who has been called to France, was the principal business transacted at the meeting of the Executive Council of the organization, held Wednesday afternoon in the office of Judge Scurry, who is secretary of the council. Judge Scurry acted as chairman, and Nathan B. Forrest, adjutant, of Memphis, Tenn., was present, the other members of the council being represented by proxy. The other members of the council are: W. O. Hart, New Orleans; J. S. Cleghorn, Summerville, Va.; C. P. Ford, Norfolk, Va.; and G. Baldwin, Roanoke, Va. Mr. Hinton was also present.

Honorary Commander.—The post of Honorary Commander in Chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans was unanimously elected to that position for life. A vote of thanks was extended to him for his untiring efforts to promote the interest of the organization.

In the evening a reception was held in honor of the new commander in chief and Mr. Forrest at the Elks Club, the S. C. V. and the U. D. C. entertaining. There was a number of Confederate Veterans and their wives present, members of the Sons and Daughters organizations and in addition a number of soldiers from Call Field. A short program was carried out, the feature being an address by Commander Hinton. "America" was sung by all present, and two vocal solos were given by Mr. McDonald, Miss Cecelia Addicks, rendered a violin solo pleasingly and little Miss Marjorie Hines gave two readings. Judge Griffin of Dallas, a visitor, made a short address. Refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served by a committee from the U. D. C. Mrs. P. C. Brown was in charge of the program.

Tulsa Reunion.—A special effort is being made to secure a large attendance on the Tulsa reunion, to be held September 24 to 27, and Messrs. Hinton and For-me from now until the reunion in visiting the various states where there are Confederate organizations. A special railroad rate of 1 cent a mile has been granted, the first time such a rate has ever been granted west of the Mississippi, and several thousands of visitors are expected. Only members of the S. C. V. or the U. D. C. or their families can secure this rate. Mr. Forrest states, and all who are eligible for membership and have not taken any steps to join should make out their papers immediately if they desire to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the cheap rate to attend what promises to be the largest reunion and most important in the history of the south.

The broommakers' dance has been postponed on account of the revival meeting. 2-3c

How the Housewife does her "bit"

We are all helping to win this war.

Father is buying Liberty Bonds and Baby Bonds and with a smile, too, he is paying over to Uncle Sam his income tax.

Sister is helping in the Red Cross and mother, too, and they are knitting sweaters—busy, busy every minute.

And mother has signed the Food Pledge so that America may share its abundance with the Allies, who are holding down the line for us "over there." Mother is doing her "bit" with fine spirit, and her refrigerator and our pure ice are helping her. They are old friends tried and true.

They keep the meats, vegetables, the milk and the butter and eggs fresh and palatable. None is wasted—all is saved—with her refrigerator and OUR ice, the two greatest of all conservators. And in other ways, too, mother saves. Garbage pails are having a hard time these days. Mother is consigning those "left-overs" to the refrigerator instead, and the cook is making them over again into tempting dishes. And mother occasionally buys quantities of fresh produce at a low price because it will keep, she knows, with plenty of ice in her refrigerator.

Yes, the housewife with our pure ice is certainly doing her "bit."

NEGLECT TOPIC OF EVANGELIST; MANY PRESENT

"CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST," SUBJECT FOR SUNDAY.

Tonight: 8 p. m.—"God's Call to Wichita," Mr. Brown. Friday: 10 a. m.—"The Heavenly Vision," Mr. Brown. 11 to 2 p. m.—Business Women's Luncheon, Mrs. Stover, Methodist Church. 4 p. m.—Boys and Girls, Mr. Stover. 8 p. m.—"The Question," Mr. Brown.

To another large gathering of people last night Mr. Brown discussed the subject of neglect from several angles. Neglect of home, neglect of society, neglect of church and neglect of personal salvation.

The change of subjects was stressed, and instead of Friday afternoon the talk to women only will be given Saturday afternoon. This was partly to give the high school girls an opportunity to hear "The Devil's Decoy."

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mr. Brown will speak to men and boys only at the tabernacle. "Chickens Come Home to Roost" is the subject which holds a fertile field for the speaker to wander far abroad or range close at hand for material.

Expect Large Houses. Both of these special subjects to women and men are the culmination of Mr. Brown's best style and material and the house will undoubtedly be filled at both services.

Do Nothing: Surely Lost. "The tendency," he said, "for us all is to allow the spoken word of our friends, the sincere sermon, the gospel song, the exhortations of our friends, the prayers of our families and relatives to slip by unheeded. We hear a gospel song, a moving prayer or sermon at that time and it stirs us to the profoundest depths, but after a time we listen to the most earnest sermon as if we were stones or deaf. It is true that Jesus Christ took upon himself our sins, went to Calvary's cross, was dead, buried, rose and sits on the right hand of God, the Father, whence he will come to judge the quick and the dead; if all this be true—and I am just as confident that it is true as that I am talking to you tonight—how shall we escape it if we just sit still and do nothing? If you stand outside the healing blood of Christ you are lost. Not will be lost, but are lost, right now."

Blackest Sin is of Omission. There was a statement he always hesitated to make, the evangelist said, because people were prone to either willfully or ignorantly misinterpret him. "If you're lost at last, it will not be because you smoked, got drunk, led an impure life, or lied; it will be because you turned your back on Jesus Christ, for out of this blackest of sins flow all other sins. Now there are people who go out and say, 'According to him, you can commit every sin and break every commandment and still stand a better chance than people who have always lived a moral life.' I'm not belittling morality, it is a high and noble thing. There is no such thing as Christianity without morality, but without Christianity. All have sinned, the Master says, and come short of the glory of God, and the greatest, the blackest sin is the sin of neglect, of omission. Forget there's a crowd here, and hear me as if I were talking to you in your shop, office or home. I'm talking to you of the things that matter most, and God help you to heed."

Grape-Nuts is a standard mixture containing wheat and malted barley, well suited to these saving times. NEEDS NO SUGAR.

Never mind about the blatant kept, he warned his hearers, the man who chief his unbelief from the housetops, for people pay no attention to him, and he does the church no harm; the greatest enemy of the church is the one who, after its holy rows, goes out into the world and for any and every thing sidetracks the church and stabs it by neglect.

Some Church People "Killers." "If you want to kill the church, the prayer meeting, the Sunday school, the minister, doesn't denounce it, but profess to believe in it, and then go on and let it alone. The ones who do this are the most dangerous enemies of the church. Some of us have, by this very neglect, caused our children to stumble over us into hell. Some of you have got holes in your profession big enough to throw a freight train through."

Must Not Neglect Home. Mr. Brown paid an eloquent and sincere tribute to the home, describing its sweetness and strength when every member was a Christian, with confidence that there would be no breaks in the circle during eternity.

Line of Argument. Following this line of argument leaves us close to blasphemy and discredit of our Savior.

Lowered standards are apparent all over the land. The roof tree where once character was built and destiny decided is watertight no more.

Too Late When Train Goes. For the unsaved sinner, he spun the parable of the man who dashes out on the platform just after the train has pulled out.

The whole Bible is written around a lost man and a saving Savior. The moralist opens one door of his own make, the careless man opens another, the neglectful church member opens another and the outbroken sinner opens another and says with a sneer, "God loves me so much, I can't be lost, he he! Let's sin some more."

Sin is denied by sinners, and the lukewarm church member, and some folks deny its possibility. Then they evolve to where they say there is good enough in every man to save him, and finally they come out with the theory that if God will, there is no depravity or evil at all.

Only partially saved, and if they are not lost at all, then salvation and Jesus Christ had excess baggage.

FEW CHANGES ARE SHOWN IN PRICES OF FOOD STUFF

ONLY NEW QUOTATION IN LISTS IS CHEESE AT ABOUT 25 CENTS A POUND.

This week's report of the Price Suggestion Committee shows few changes in price, the only new quotation being that on cheese, which is now 24 3/4 cents a pound wholesale and 30 to 35 cents a pound retail.

Rye flour is now on the market, the committee announces. Swainsdown cake flour is now being prepared with only 25 per cent wheat flour, so purchasers of this cake flour now need buy only 25 per cent of substitutes, providing the flour is of the new manufacture.

Cookies For Lunch

Nothing serves so well as cookies for the lunch basket or as a "Bite" for the children after school. Many varieties that are both palatable and nourishing can be made by mixing various substitutes with wheat flour.

Belle of Wichita blends perfectly with substitutes; its use means splendid results in all "war baking."

ARGUMENT BEGINS FRIDAY MORNING ON FEDERAL CASE

MUCH INTERESTING TESTIMONY IS PRESENTED DURING DAY.

Argument will begin Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the case of D. M. Hardy, J. O. Elliott and J. R. Young, charged with conspiracy to transport liquor into Oklahoma in violation of federal laws, on trial in the federal court before Judge E. B. Meek for the past week.

Judge Meek allowed five hours for the argument, two hours and thirty minutes to each side.

Dr. J. E. Daniels was on the stand this morning, testifying that defendant D. M. Hardy was confined at his home during November and December, seriously ill, and that during that time he was unable to attend to business.

Character Witnesses. Three character witnesses, R. E. Huff, C. Ward and J. E. Marlow, were put on the stand for defendant Jim R. Young, all testifying to having known Young for a number of years and to his reputation for being a good, steady and quiet worker.

Warren Shelby, who had appeared for the government, was called in by the defense and testified that he did not know the man who had ordered him to haul the liquor; that he had testified previously to hauling to the rear of Shafer and Wallace's garage.

Put on Stand. W. W. Shuler and W. F. Wallace, the owners of the garage, mentioned in Shelby's testimony, were put on the stand and testified that they knew nothing of liquor being taken to their garage at any time. Cross-examined by the state both admitted that it was possible that events might transpire in the rear of their garage of which they knew nothing.

Put on Stand. W. W. Shuler and W. F. Wallace, the owners of the garage, mentioned in Shelby's testimony, were put on the stand and testified that they knew nothing of liquor being taken to their garage at any time.

FRESH STRENGTH IN CORN SHOWN EARLY IN DAY

Our Red Cross and Our Allies

On a recent trip to America, Major Murphy, formerly Red Cross Commissioner for Europe, said:

"This is a war of nations, not of armies. There is not a man, woman or child in Great Britain, in Belgium, in France or in Italy that is not a factor in this war. I tell you that if you should go, as I have gone, about those ruined districts in France and had seen little children, four and five years old, driving in the herds at night; had seen little boys coming down the road—little bits of tots—with their arms full of fagots that they were accumulating against the winter; had seen old men and old women working in fields until it was so dark that as you looked you could just make out those vague forms gathering in the crops for France, you would realize what this war is, what this war means.

"It is not the armies of France that are the essential thing to France in this war, nor the armies of England, nor of the other countries. Those armies will do their part and do it to a finish, if they are supported by the people behind them.

The great crying need in Europe today is to build up the spirit and keep up the spirit of the people behind the lines, and it is that great work which the Red Cross has performed and which has been, up to the recent entrance of our Army on a large scale, the greatest single factor of our help in France since our entry into the war."

The plainest dictates of humanity, as well as obligations of honor to brave allies, demanded that the American Red Cross, financed by the liberality and spirit of the American people, should do all in its power to alleviate the sufferings and support the morale of the soldiers and people who had been suffering so long in a struggle for that liberty which is the foundation stone of our American Republic.

The Canteen System

An extraordinary canteen service is being carried on with the French, with the Belgians, with the Italians, and with the British, by the Red Cross abroad. There are rolling canteens which are operating right up in the trenches, where the soldiers get hot drinks as they go in and when they come out. These canteens are frequently operated under shell fire and gas, the Red Cross workers often working in gas masks.

Before the days of Red Cross help, a French soldier would come back from the trenches on his seven days' leave covered with vermin—officers and all—and go to a junction point for cars to take them home. Those junction points are equipped for 75 people, yet at times there were 4,000 people waiting, sometimes twenty-four, sometimes forty-eight hours. They slept on the ground and they got what food they could.

They brought home vermin which spread disease among the civil population behind the lines, and a discouraging atmosphere born of the condition through which they passed on their way home. They went back to the lines through the same channels.

The Red Cross has changed this. In conjunction with the French Government, it is now feeding—not giving drinks and sandwiches—but giving hot meals to a million French soldiers every month. There are great recreation halls where they sit and dine and make merry. There are big barracks with bunks along the walls, there are shower baths and disinfecting machinery, so that the men's clothes, while they are bathing are run through and the vermin killed.

At first these French soldiers were so glad that they did not use the bunks but sat and talked and sang and wondered at what America was doing for them. A prominent French general officer recently wrote to Major Murphy:

"The only thing that matters in this war is to beat the Boche, and to accomplish this the all important factor is the morale of the men. This you have done much to uphold, and the atmosphere you create is more valuable than even you can realize.

"Your work is that of maintaining the morale of the Americans and the French and the Allies, and I wish to thank you in our name and that of General Petain. Your canteens have been well run and kept up to a high standard. Let the men know that they are being cared for not as men only, but as friends; that makes them prefer your canteens to the wine shops. The morale has never been better than now. I need not tell you I feel strongly on this subject, and I am talking to you as man to man. I am speaking not only for myself but for General Petain. He feels as I do toward you and your work, and he endorses every word I have said."

Checking Tuberculosis

The Red Cross is conducting a work against tuberculosis in France which is unparalleled in the history of the world. France has suffered terribly from tuberculosis, brought on by so many of her people living in dugouts and other unwholesome conditions. Tuberculosis has developed in the trenches, too, and the troops are sent back carrying the germs of this dread disease.

In co-operation with the Rockefeller Foundation, the Red Cross is conducting a campaign of education on the care and prevention of this disease. Facilities have been provided to care for bad cases in sanatoriums, and a plan set up which will lead to the establishment of a great system of 300 dispensaries throughout France, with visiting nurses attached.

Four hospitals for tubercular French soldiers are maintained entirely by the Red Cross. At Malabray there is a 135-acre farm in temporary custody of the American Red Cross, where a model village with accommodations for 400 families is being constructed.

The Red Cross is assisting the French medical authorities in rebuilding and reorganizing other hospitals, and is aiding 96 French hospitals devoted to tuberculosis with supplies and funds. Ambroise Rendii, Vice-President of the Paris Municipal Council, says of this work:

"The Americans have fought the good fight against tuberculosis because they have pursued a strategic campaign against an enemy they know and rightly fear. They have taken the necessary measures. You know them well for a practical people; they will not reproach us if we say this of them in the temple of their charity.

"I have seen the program of the social activities the Americans would undertake in our country in the name of the Red Cross. They have drawn up a marvelous program that takes the child from his birth and even before his birth, since the mother also is cared for, and continues the effort all along the line of years. Such is the plan and nothing finer has ever been conceived."

Other Forms of Relief

It is difficult to give any adequate picture of the whole Red Cross program in France.

There is the whole vast program of relief for the refugees and repatries, for those driven before the invader, uprooted from their homes, and for those returned to France and Belgium broken and bent after being subject to the sway of the German for the last few years.

There is the medical and surgical supply service which the Red Cross is giving to over three thousand French military hospitals, the supplies for the most part produced by American women.

There is the Red Cross children's program of caring for needy and destitute children, the reduction of infant mortality. There is the Red Cross factory for the manufacture of artificial limbs. There is the big program of re-education for the mutilated soldier to teach him a means of self-support with its accompanying benefit to France.

Work in other Countries

What the Red Cross is doing for France she is doing, too, for the part of Belgium not held by the Germans, and to a very large degree for Italy. The story of how the American Red Cross rushed to the relief of Italy has already been told. At the time of the Italian disaster last fall, a propaganda was under way in Italy to the effect that America was not really in the war, as we had not yet then declared war on Austria; that we were not well disposed toward Italy; that America had done nothing but lend money to Italy and take back an obligation with interest attached. There was then no official organization that could speak, but the American Red Cross spoke, and she spoke so that the work resulted in the display of the American flag from one end of Italy to the other.

Four days after war was declared by the United States against Austria, the American Red Cross Ambulance Service swung into the Piave Line and took its place beside the brave Italians.

The Red Cross record in Roumania is one which will never be forgotten by that unhappy people. It was only when forced from the country by the capacity of Germany to compel a humiliating peace on Roumania that the American Red Cross left that people to its woes.

The turn of affairs in Russia seriously affected the Red Cross program in that country, but the permanent portion of the Red Cross Commission to Russia is still on hand ready to express America's sympathy and friendliness in terms of fact when that distracted land is ready to receive them.

In Great Britain the American Red Cross is carrying on a large work, and one which is having an excellent effect. The Red Cross is operating a number of hospitals, supporting a number of good works in Great Britain, in co-operation with the British Red Cross and the British Government.

During the Fall of 1917 the American Red Cross made a gift to the British Red Cross of a million dollars. At the time of the great German attack against the British in March, 1918, a gift of an additional million dollars was made to the British Red Cross to purchase hospital supplies, as evidence of America's sympathy in the great trial which Great Britain was enduring.

As so it is in Greece, in Serbia, in Palestine, wherever the ravages of war have gone, the American Red Cross has gone helping armies and peoples.

Constructive Work

"No other organization since the world began has ever done such great constructive work with the efficiency, the dispatch, understanding, often under adverse circumstances, that has been done in France by American Red Cross in the last six months."

GENERAL PERSHING.

What does General Pershing mean by "constructive work"? He means the share the Red Cross has had in reuniting scattered families, he means homeless children domiciled, bewildered refugees collected and protected, old men and women and babies received from behind the German lines and sent to homes and hospitals, the terrible tubercular scourge and other illnesses grappled with. He means medical and surgical supplies, nurses, hospitals, ambulances and dispensaries, artificial limbs and convalescent homes for the sick French soldiers. He means food, baths, rest, recreation, comfort and cheer for the poilu on leave. He means that the American Red Cross has helped to sustain the courage, the hope and the patience of our fighting allies, of the soldiers themselves and the soldiers' families. Through the Red Cross the armies and peoples of France and Belgium and the other Allied countries have come to realize that they have friends, and under this touch their spirits have flamed into a new resolution to fight on and bear all.

This is the fourth of a series of five announcements covering the work of the Red Cross. Red Cross Chapters have statements showing in detail how the War Fund is being expended. Ask your Chapter for these statements.

"A SOUL IN TRUST" AT THE GEM TODAY

In Triangle's great seven-reel feature play, "A Soul in Trust," featuring Belle Bennett, a peculiar superstition is revealed. The negro man announces, "I loved I heard a scream owl last night, saying, 'Trouble, trouble, and here the bridegroom done seen the bride in her wedding dress 'fore do marriage.' A laugh follows these words, but a grim tragedy is the sequence.
While many profess to disbelieve omens, history is replete with accounts of prominent men and women influenced by them. One of the best known is Caligula's. She warned her husband, the great Julius Caesar, not to attend the senate the day of his death. Shakespeare's play, Macbeth, contains the significant reference to the king's assassination in the heart of the owl. The dream of the Pharo as interpreted by Joseph are universally known. Abraham Lincoln uttered a premonition of his own death.

Sugar Restrictions Given In Detail By Food Administrator

The new sugar restrictions do not apply to the home, and the Texas food administration officials have issued the following statement in order that the housekeepers of Texas may clearly understand the application of the ruling:
"An erroneous impression has gotten abroad that the program of the United States Food Administration, restricting the quantity of sugar to manufacturers using sugar, also would apply to the home.
Administrator Peden announces emphatically that the rationing of the manufacturers and the retrenchment of sugar going into non-essentials is not directed at the home and that the housewife may continue without alarm of a sugar shortage to buy her sugar as heretofore, that is 5-pound packages in cities and towns and 10-pound packages in rural districts. This sugar is bought on the basis of 3 pounds per person per month. Sugar for preserving purposes may be obtained by filling out special blanks to be had of their respective grocers, the only requirement being their pledge to use the sugar for preserving fruit and if not so used to return all or part after a period of 20 days passes since the date of purchase.
"This statement is issued by Administrator Peden to disabuse the women of Texas of the wrong idea that there is any sugar shortage. The checking up of manufacturers of non-essentials is simply for the purpose of allowing the normal supply of sugar for the homes and for preserving purposes.
