NO REPORTS FROM U-BOAT RAIDERS IN FORTY HOURS

SEARCH FOR UNDERSEA CRAFT
EXTENDED TO SOUTHERN WATERS TODAY.

QUESTION OF BASE

Believed Subs May Be Provisioned
From Another U-Boat Or Steamer.

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 6.—While nearly forty hours had passed since the German submarines preying upon shipping off the Atlantic coast had disclosed their position, efforts of the navy department to hunt down the raiders had not lessened in the least today. Instead the search was being extended to more southern regions in the belief that the German undersea craft, after striking the Norwegian steamer, Eidsvold, late Tuesday off the Virginia capes hurried southward in hope of finding a locality in which naval patrols were not so strong.

Location of the raiders off the Virginia capes on the other hand led some navy department officials to believe that the submarines may have taken a position in that region in belief that there in the path of trans-Atlantic travel richer prizes in the form of large cargo or passenger carrying vessels, or perhaps a transport might be obtained.

Details of the sinking of the Eidsvold were lacking early today. Dispatches received last night by the navy department said the steamer was sunk forty miles off the Virginia coast and that the crew had been rescued by a navy supply ship.

The navy department still today was without a reliable report of the encounter, between an American destroyer and one of the German submarines off the Atlantic coast. The destroyer was still seen, as far as known, and the commander of the naval district to which she is attached has not transmitted additional information.

The fact that the enemy craft are able to "listen in" on radio conversations hampers communication of details of the position either of the pursuing craft or of the raiders and commanders of naval vessels and of the naval districts are using the utmost caution in the messages they transmit.

Aside from the effort to locate and destroy the raiders themselves, the navy is using every means to determine whether the submarines have a floating base of supplies. The prospect of a floating base, from the trade and transport routes might mean that they are moving to a previously fixed rendezvous with a supply ship.

Speculation as to the use of a floating base, however, is based on the peculiar circumstances surrounding the sinking of at least two vessels. In each case seamen said that while one submarine held them up and forced them to take to their boats, the other lay some distance off with only its periscope showing.

It may be that the second submarine was such a "silent" one, as the commercial Deutschland loaded with fuel and stores.

SLAYER OF 500 HUNS

Ten Newfoundland soldiers, heroes of the Somme, Arras, Cambrai and Gallipoli, all bearing marks of the Hun's savagery, visiting the United States, are on their way back to blight. Like all his brother heroes, the Anzacs, Blue Devils and Canadians, these Newfoundlanders hesitate to tell of their individual heroism. Among the men is Private Israel Banister, of the Twenty-ninth division, who is said to have slaughtered five hundred Germans with a machine gun in the defence of Monchy during the battle of Arras in April, 1917. He was severely wounded in action and taken prisoner.

NO TROUBLE NOW FEARED AMONG CREEK INDIANS

By Associated Press
HENRYETTA, OKLA., June 6.—Fear of a possible uprising among a mixture of Indians and negroes, and those of mixed Indian and African blood in the Old Hickory stamping ground, was dispelled late last night when the Henryetta company of home guards, led by Captain Kersting, returned here with word that the malcontents had promised to disperse their bands and would not attempt any trouble.

Disaffection over the army draft, the fact that they were forced to buy wheat flour on the card system, and that they were made to support various war causes, were said to be the reasons for the spirit of discontent among this non-descript crowd which inhabits the region of the famous Crazy Snake rebellion of 1908.

Reports last night that three farmers had been slain could not be confirmed today, and members of the home guard company and officers who went to the scene were unable to learn more definitely of the reported killings. Members of the Oklahoma home guard company also went to the scene, and according to last reports, returned about the same time as the Henryetta organization.

Further details of the cause of the uprising today showed that the trouble had its inception at a cross roads store at Salem, a hamlet near Henryetta, where some Indians and negroes attempted to buy wheat flour without flour cards, and were refused. This led, it is said, to threats on their part, and a hastily called meeting in which they planned to take action themselves.

When this gathering was reported here, officers were immediately dispatched to the scene, and later advised by the home guard company that they were sent when sensational reports were received of the purpose of the negroes' and Indians' gathering.

SHARP DEBATE IN SENATE OVER U-BOAT RAID

SEN. LEWIS SAYS ATTACKS BY SENATORS THEMSELVES HAVE INVITED SUBMARINES.

SENATOR LODGE REPLIES

Says Loose Brags Invite Attack—Defends Country by Declaring it Efficient.

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 6.—Attacks on the navy department for permitting submarines to sink American ships off the Atlantic coast precipitated a sharp debate today in the senate. Charges that senators invited the attack by many inaccurate statements as to conditions in the United States were made by Senator Lewis of Illinois in reply to a newspaper editorial read by Senator Branford of Connecticut, which attacked the navy department for not warning mariners of the presence of undersea craft and asked as to the whereabouts of destroyers and submarine chasers the navy has been getting ready to repel attacks.

The U-boat raids were not attempted, Senator Lewis declared, until Germany was advised by inaccurate information that the American government was "honeycombed with fraud" and reeking with pollution and corruption; that the United States had no army and navy, and "that we had fallen down in every undertaking."

"These charges," he said, "induced Germany to believe we could not defend our own country. I was invited to our shores," Senator Lewis continued, "by the false charges against the administration by those who sought to benefit politically by aspersions upon their own country."

With apparent feeling Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican, said: "Nothing has stimulated and invited Germany as the loose brags and boasts about the number of troops we are transporting to France. Germany was not invited here by attacks upon the navy because there have been none. The navy and the navy department have taken every precaution. No doubt in some newspaper offices there are men who might have done better."

"As the navy and navy department," the Massachusetts senator continued, "have necessarily anticipated a submarine attack from the beginning of the war, they have tried to take every precaution to meet it. I think they have."

The navy's activities cannot be held for patent reasons, Senator Lodge said, and a can-can tell where a submarine will strike.

KAISER HIMSELF RESPONSIBLE FOR WORLD CONFLICT

FURTHER DISCLOSURES MADE
BY FORMER KRUPP DIRECTOR OF GERMANY'S GUILT

FORCED TO SUPPORT

Emperor Made Private Engagement
With Austria, Then Inveigled,
German Leaders.

By Associated Press
ZURICH, June 6.—(SWITZERLAND) Wednesday, June 6.—Germany wholly in agreement with Austria-Hungary concerning the ultimatum sent to Serbia at the outbreak of the war, says Dr. Wilhelm Muehlen, former director of the Krupp works, in a disclosure on the responsibility for the bringing on of the conflict. Emperor William was personally responsible for Germany's participation and for the German leaders to support his war policy.

Dr. Muehlen, who was head of Krupp at the outbreak of the war and who recently started Europe with his disclosures, received the correspondent of the Associated Press at his country place here where he is now living in retirement. The visit came as Dr. Muehlen was preparing to issue a more detailed review of conditions leading to the war and the correspondent had the advantage of going over the document with his personal explanations of the author.

Dr. Muehlen's first disclosures, which caused such a commotion, gave conversations with Dr. Karl Helfferich, former director of the Krupp works, in which both told him the emperor had disclosed his agreement with Austria-Hungary on the ultimatum to Serbia and that Germany would mobilize immediately if Russia mobilized which would in effect mean a personal military pact with Austria-Hungary.

More Details Given.
The document now issued is more detailed and general and gives day by day notes made by Dr. Muehlen at the time of the opening of the war. Dr. Muehlen then had access to the Krupp works and his position gave him constant access to the highest quarters in Germany.

The whole trend of the present work is to show that the world conflict was imposed by the German emperor's personal military pact with Austria-Hungary and his private engagement with Austria on the eve of the struggle.

Dr. Muehlen gives further details of his conference with Dr. Helfferich immediately preceding the emperor's agreement with Austria on the Serbian ultimatum. "I got the impression that the choice of words had not been agreed upon," he said, "and that the emperor's German diplomacy in view of the risks Germany was taking. In effect Austria was given carte blanche and Germany agreed to everything written in the note."

NEXT GREAT GERMAN EFFORT EXPECTED TO BE DIRECTED AGAINST TOUL SECTOR, HELD BY AMERICANS, BELIEVE OFFICIALS

SITUATION VERY SATISFACTORY TO ALLIED CRITICS

SAY GERMAN COMMANDERS HAVE RENOUNCED PURPOSE FOR DECISION NOW.

POINT OF ATTACK

Believed Germans Will Make Attempt
At Some Other Point on Western Front.

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 6.—The battle situation is frankly satisfactory, says a Paris Agency review today and the enemy, temporarily at least, is not likely to make attacks all along the front between Rheims and the Oise. Local attempts seem to indicate that the Germans have renounced for the moment their purpose to win a decision on the battle field picked out by their commanders on May 27.

Nevertheless the newspapers do not believe the German offensive is ended. The Petit Parisien thinks that general Ludendorff is preparing a blow which he expects will have prodigious results.

EXPEDITIOUS ATTACK AT SOME OTHER POINT
By Associated Press
LONDON, (Via Ottawa) June 6.—The battle situation is generally unchanged today. The Germans are held up for the time being on the Somme front from Noyon to Rheims and they have lost heavily in the last few days, particularly on Monday and Tuesday, when their gains were smallest.

French experts now anticipate that the Germans will attempt to break through somewhere else, possibly between Noyon and Montdidier, with the objective of converging their advance toward Paris, although it is not impossible that the enemy will attack in a totally different sector. This would be in accordance with the habitual German strategy of pressing an attack in one sector until the momentum is exhausted and then turning sharply off to strike elsewhere. The proximity of Paris indicates, however, any indication of a departure from these tactics.

TROOP MOVEMENTS MUST NOT BE PUBLISHED
By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 6.—The fact that an attempt was made recently to wreck a troop train in Illinois was made known by the committee on public information, today as an example of the necessity for keeping secret the movement of troops. A statement calling on newspapers to refrain from publishing information regarding train schedules and the advance movement of troops was issued by the committee.

AMERICANS WIN ADMIRATION OF FRENCH TROOPS

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 6.—An official note describing the share borne by American troops in the fighting at Veully, Jalignonne and Chateau Thierry says: "Only a few units are involved at present, particularly machine guns, but at the points where they have been called upon to fight they have won the admiration of the French troops with whom they fought. Their help was just what we expected from gallant soldiers, full of enthusiasm and ardent fighters. We may hope everything from them."

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 6.—The behavior of the American troops at Chateau Thierry has demonstrated more than anything that has yet happened on the Western front the splendid initiative and enterprise with which the American army is endowed says the Daily Mail correspondent with the American army in France. He quotes an unnamed French general as saying that the American spirit and enterprise at a critical moment served to maintain the morale of the French troops around Chateau Thierry. Among the incidents of the engagement the correspondent mentions is the steadiness and persistence of the American machine fire in the streets of the town.

ACTIVITY BEFORE AMERICANS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, JUNE 6.—Extraordinarily heavy railway train movements from the northeast to the westward in the rear of the enemy northwest of Toul were reported this morning by the American patrols.

Aerial observers made the same reports saying that at one time the flares from the funnels of locomotives of several trains were visible simultaneously. The trains apparently headed in the direction of St. Mihiel, passed during the better part of the night.

WAR SUMMARY

The Associated Press war summary says: Held up in their efforts to batter their way through the American and French lines near the Marne the Germans have again turned their attention to the front further north, in a sector which may be considered as the connecting link between the Somme and Marne battle fields. The French forces east of Compiègne have continued to drive back bodies of German troops which had crossed the Oise.

When the initial plunge along the Aisne had gained extensive ground, but the process had created a salient dangerous to the Germans in the west of Soissons, they attacked along the Ailette river, northwest of that city, to straighten out their line and the German advance along the Aisne operation by the Allied armies. They gained considerable territory in this maneuver, but were held after they had progressed approximately five miles. Since that time the French have held their positions with the Oise river forming a first line of defense and there has been little fighting of a significant nature in the sector.

GEN. FOCH'S STRATEGY

Outguessed Germans But Does Not Have Sufficient Reserves For Offensive.

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 6.—Demonstrations in the western front are looked for by the war department officials now that the Germans are slowed to a struggle of positions west and south of Soissons. It is regarded as entirely possible that increased activity in front of the American sector north-west of Toul may indicate an impending blow there.

The conclusion is based on the opinion strongly held by some officers that the drive was designed to draw off reserves from the Amiens and Flanders sectors. An attack on the American sector in such strength as to drive the line back, it is argued, would compel General Foch in his employment of American units to support his lines in Picardy, Flanders and the Aisne regions.

Foch Outguessed Enemy.
Officers regarded the fact that no new blow has been struck at the Amiens front as conclusive evidence that General Foch outguessed his opponents who had despaired to launch the Aisne drive on its own strength, even at the cost of much territory overrun by the enemy, until he could assemble additional units from scattered points along the front beyond Rheims. The very success of the Germans in pressing on to the Marne, it was argued, meant that Foch was resolved not to weaken his line to the north.

Another indication that the French strategists have outguessed the German general staff is seen in the fact that the original strength used by the crown prince in the Aisne drive was put at 25 divisions. He has since employed in this theatre double that number. Officers point to this fact as evidence that the German hoped was that Foch would bring up his northern reserves to hold the Aisne front, while the German reserve was (Continued on page 5.)

AMERICAN MACHINE GUN BATTALION ACCOUNTS FOR ABOUT 1000 GERMANS AT BRIDGE AT CHATEAU THIERRY

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 6.—The fact that an attempt was made recently to wreck a troop train in Illinois was made known by the committee on public information, today as an example of the necessity for keeping secret the movement of troops. A statement calling on newspapers to refrain from publishing information regarding train schedules and the advance movement of troops was issued by the committee.

While the Germans dominated the town from Hill 204 the Americans and French set up machine guns in the windows and doorways in houses. Great firestorms marked the fighting which raged for several days.

BEHAVIOR OF AMERICANS WINS HIGH PRAISE OF ALL OBSERVERS

The correspondent predicted that much will be heard of the deeds of the Americans in the next few days. "Expect much from Sammies," he said. "American troops fresh from the United States continue to arrive with regularity and in numbers more than sufficient to justify renewed confidence in the ultimate triumph of the Entente." The Americans at this moment are distributed over a very wide front indeed.

CREW OF U-BOAT TOOK EVEN WATER FROM LIFEBOATS

The steamer was shelled for three and a half hours. The British captain returned the gunfire until his ammunition was gone and then abandoned the vessel, which the submarine crew boarded and sunk by bombs. The captain was taken prisoner on board the U-boat. The Germans took the drinking water, the mast falls and all the other expect two from one of the lifeboats.

FERGUSON AND TRAVIS COUNTY GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS

In his speech at Houston on May 22, 1918, James E. Ferguson made the following statements, relative to the indictments found against him by the Grand Jury of Travis county: "They bragged about what they had indicted the Governor of the State. But what became of the indictments? Jim Hamilton sat on the Austin bench.

"I went and threw the bridge down, and said: 'Mr. District Attorney, we are ready on the sufficiency of these indictments in your case. Tell the court all about it. We give permission to tell every fact that you can prove. Let the court pass on it before hand.' The District Attorney told every fact that he could ever hope or expect to prove. After the court heard all the facts, he said: 'Every one of these indictments are not worth the paper that they are written on in effect, and Governor Ferguson has not violated any law. He has not committed any crime against the statutes of this State. All the thirty indictments against him and his appointees shall be kicked out of this court, and he and his friends permitted to go free.' Now, you tell me, I occupied a technicality.

From this and similar declarations made by Mr. Ferguson and his friends, some are misled into believing that it was decided that he was not guilty of the offenses charged in the several indictments. A simple statement of the history of these indictments as shown by the records of the District Court of Travis county will correct any erroneous impressions which some have received.

On July 27, 1917, nine indictments were returned against James E. Ferguson. They were numbered 17,775 to 17,783 inclusive. The cases were disposed of solely on technicalities. The whole record in the District Court of Travis county shows that the question of James E. Ferguson's guilt was not remotely passed on by Judge Hamilton.

Several of the cases were dismissed because the indictments were based on the theory that James E. Ferguson, as Governor, was a receiver and depository of public funds. He pleaded and demurred filed in the six cases in law, admitted that the charges were all true, but that he was not guilty because the State had not made him a receiver and depository of public funds. Judge Hamilton decided just one question in each of the seven cases, that was that James E. Ferguson, as Governor, was not a receiver or depository of public funds, and on this ground, each of the seven cases was dismissed.

In case No. 17,775 Judge Hamilton overruled the motion by the defendant to quash the indictment and also overruled the exceptions to the indictment. Afterward the District Attorney, John E. Shelton, who is a personal and political friend of James E. Ferguson, filed a motion to dismiss this case, which case was based on the misapplication of the appropriation for the upkeep, maintenance and care of the mansion. The District Attorney stated in the motion: "No issue, so far as the State is able to procure testimony, was motioned by the Governor in person or approved by him in person, but were approved by his private secretary and purchased either by members of his family or employees about the mansion. In other words the cook at the mansion is responsible for the misapplication of the appropriation and the private secretary approved the act of the cook, and the Governor did not do it in person and, therefore, no personal guilty knowledge could be charged to him. The District Attorney, not only filed the motion in writing to dismiss the case but in open court stated that he would, if the case went to trial, tell the jury that James E. Ferguson was not personally guilty but that the use of the funds had been approved by his private secretary and purchases made by members of his family or employees about the mansion. On this motion and this verbal statement case No. 17,775 was dismissed.

The judgment to dismiss the case, not only included the entire written motion but in addition the verbal statement of the District Attorney.

In case No. 17,777 Judge Hamilton also overruled the exceptions and held that the indictment was good, then the defendant, James E. Ferguson, filed a sworn plea to the venue on the ground that the embezzlement charge in the indictment occurred in Bell county and not in Travis county. There is no denial in the plea that the State's money was not misapplied. The District Attorney also filed a motion to dismiss this case on the ground that the act occurred in Bell county. In the motion, so filed by the District Attorney, he explained that there was a deposit with the Temple State Bank for the credit of James E. Ferguson, Governor, a large amount of money which belonged to different state funds. The District Attorney then said: "On or about the 23rd day of August A. D. 1915, while said money was on deposit to the account of the said James E. Ferguson as Governor, there was charged to said account a sum of $5,000.00 from the Temple State Bank in Temple, Bell county, Texas, that the amount so charged to said account was a personal obligation of the said James E. Ferguson, and a no wise an obligation of the State and ought not to have been paid out of any money on deposit to James E. Ferguson as Governor." This motion on which the case was dismissed shows that the charges in the indictment were true. The transactions, however, occurred in Bell and not Travis county. On the motion of the District Attorney and the plea to the venue filed by the defendant, the court dismissed this case. The defendant, James E. Ferguson, relied on every technicality known to criminal law and to criminal lawyers to avoid a trial on the facts. In all of the pleas in abatement and demurrers, in all the statements made by the District Attorney in the written opinion of the court, Judge James R. Hamilton in the decrees entered dismissing the eight cases there is not a suggestion that the defendant was not guilty of misapplication or misappropriation of funds belonging to the State as charged in the indictments in cases Nos. 17,775, 17,776, 17,777, 17,778, 17,779, 17,780, 17,781, 17,782, 17,783 or in the misuse of the funds involved in the Cause No. 17,775, or in the embezzlement of the amount charged in the indictment in Cause No. 17,777.

All of the facts here stated are shown by the written records of the district court of Travis county.

REGISTERED MEN HAVE OPPORTUNITY FOR SPECIAL WORK

Until June 8 volunteers from registrants who have had experience in automobile mechanics and in carpentry to fill four calls will be received by the local board. Two volunteers have already been received on the calls to go to State University at Austin, calls No. 569 and 570, to enter the University for instruction in auto mechanics and more are wanted. Grammar school graduates are wanted, men physically qualified for general military service. They will be trained at government expense to serve in good positions both at the front and behind the lines and their training will serve them well when the war is over as it is along lines valuable in civil life.

Call No. 592 asks for volunteers to go to & M for instruction as auto mechanics and rough carpenters. Men with some mechanical experience and aptitude are required, and they must be grammar school graduates. All men entrained on these calls for special instruction at the schools are expected to carry with them underwear, outer clothing, sweaters, shoes, socks and bath towels, sufficient to last three weeks, as the first three weeks the men are kept in civilian clothing, while their uniforms are being supplied.

The fourth call, No. 592, is for negroes, who are asked to volunteer for instruction as auto mechanics, chauffeurs, blacksmiths and carpenters. The negroes must be grammar school graduates and fulfill the same conditions enumerated for the white in the

TOM FERLMAN WRITES MOTHER FROM CAMP TRAVIS

Mrs. Mary Ferlman has received the following letter from her son, Tom Ferlman, now at Camp Travis, telling of his life in camp. In part his letter follows:

"I will drop you a few lines to let you know I am well. Hope you are the same. I passed the examination all O. K. They are going to attend to my eyes and teeth.

"Conditions are very different here from what I expected. We get plenty to eat and lots of sleep. We go to bed at nine p. m. and get up at six o'clock every morning. We drill about eight hours each day. They are going to send me to school to teach me to be an army cook. Go to the Times and tell them to send my paper to me. I have made arrangements to send you the $15 allotment each month and have taken out the $10,000 life insurance."

Card of Thanks.

At this dark hour of my life, when it seems that all of life's sweetness has vanished, and the clouds of sorrow and grief like a shroud encompass me about, I would not forget those who came like angels of mercy to help me bear the greatest sorrow, and burden of my life caused by the death of my loving husband, who was fatally injured in the recent wreck on the Fort Worth & Denver railroad.

"I cannot find language appropriate to express to each of you the real attitude of my heart for every kind and loving work of condolence tendered the relatives, and myself by the good people of Alvord, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls. May God bless those who so readily came with their message of comfort through songs. And also I would not forget to thank the 'Eastern Star' of Alvord and the friends of Fort Worth and those of Wichita Falls through the 'Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen' for the sweet manifestation of sympathy through the lovely flowers offered in memory of my loved one.

May our Heavenly Father grant that if you shall be called to pass through such a dark hour of sorrow, that a like host of loving and sympathizing friends shall come to your relief to comfort and cheer each of you.

Good-bye to you all.

G. W. AKIN VETERAN OIL MAN DIES AT LOS ANGELES

Word has been received by friends here of the death of George W. Akin, veteran oil man, formerly of Wichita Falls, at a Los Angeles hospital on Monday, June 3. The funeral was held Wednesday. Mr. Akin was an Englishman by birth, but had lived in this country for a number of years. He had been interested in oil production since the first Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields were opened and later had interests in the Mid Continent field and then in Texas and Oklahoma. He had been in failing health for several years, and had gone to Mayo Brothers and various other sanitariums in the United States for treatment, with but little relief. Several weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Akin left their home here, 902 Austin, for California, where they own a ranch, and where a number of relatives live. Mr. Akin is survived by his widow and by several brothers.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

OMAHA MAN AND G. C. JENSEN SEVERELY HURT WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS.

Hugh Samples, oil man of Omaha, Neb., and G. C. Jensen, president of the Sunshine State Refinery company of this city, are in the Wichita General hospital, the former suffering from a gash cut in his head and a broken collar bone and the latter with a broken arm, following an accident Thursday evening, when the Nash Six, driven by Loren Taylor, skidded in the soft dirt of the newly graded road about two miles east of lower Park, and turned over, so that he escaped with a bruised hand and the fourth occupant of the car, Mr. Burk, of Omaha, escaped any injury.

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Jensen were thrown through the automobile top and Mr. Burk fell clear of the car, but Mr. Samples was pinned underneath and while Mr. Taylor was lifting the car from him so that he could be pulled out the car caught on fire, but the flames were extinguished by means of the chemical apparatus carried on the car. Parties from lower Park carried Mr. Samples and Mr. Jensen there for treatment and they were then brought to the local hospital. Mr. Taylor had his car repaired and drove it into town last night.

MORTUARY

WILLIAM C. YATES.

William C. Yates was born December 29, 1883, near Corinth, Mississippi, and came to Alford in the service of the Fort Worth and Denver Ry. Co., where he resided until his death. He had been in the service of the above named company for about 12 years, and had made a clear record and died in his post of duty, a "Knight of the Thistle."

He was married to Miss Cora Hall of Alford, Texas, on October 11, 1908. Mr. Yates came very near losing his life in a hospital October 29, 1911, and even amidst the spoils of the wreck, there it was he asked Jesus to help him take care of his immortal soul, and since then has ever trusted in the Saviour of men.

Mr. Yates had for some time past contemplated retiring from active railroad work, but on account of the renewed demands for railway engineers and firemen under present war conditions had continued, but indeed, when he had finished this "run," he had planned to at least take a vacation for some time, and as early as possible retire and make Alford his home, but alas on this seemingly unfortunate "run" his engine plunged through a culvert some six miles south of Memphis, Texas, and he was fatally injured, and was immediately rushed to Fort Worth for medical attention, and on this last trip to the hospital told one of his friends that "all was well with my soul." This wreck occurred on or about 5:25 a. m. on May 28, and Mr. Yates died in the hospital at Fort Worth at 5:30 p. m., May 29, 1918. He leaves a good christian wife, a score of relatives, and friends to mourn his departure.

Funeral services were conducted at the Sturdy Hotel in Alford, Texas, at 2:00 p. m., May 30th, by Rev. J. F. Baker, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. P. Humphries, of the M. E. Church (South), and his remains were laid to rest until the Resurrection morning in the Pella cemetery.

As a citizen, he was respected by his fellowmen, and as a fireman and engineer, he was honored by the Brotherhood and as a husband he was truly loved by his wife. May God's richest blessings ever attend his widow in her hours of loneliness, and after awhile may they be re-united in the "home of the soul." J. F. B.

CLYDE LESLIE BRANNON. Clyde Leslie Brannon, eighteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Brannon died Wednesday at the home at 404 Lee street. Death was caused from pneumonia which developed from an attack of measles. Funeral services were held at the cemetery late Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Moore officiating.

REPORTS ARE DUE FROM BOARDING HOUSE KEEPERS

Only three boarding house and restaurant keepers, out of all the local eating places, have filed their monthly report of meat, sugar, wheat and other food commodities consumed during the month of May with W. S. Curlee, the county food administrator. These reports should be filed by the fifth of each month according to the food administration's ruling and Mr. Curlee is required to file his reports with the state food administrator in Houston by the tenth of each month. A slight extension of time for filing these reports is given the local cafe and boarding house keepers, but the reports must be in within the next few days, according to Mr. Curlee. The necessary blanks have been sent out from the office of the county food administrator and the record should have been kept daily during the month so that there would be no delay in getting the total for the month made up, ready to turn in on the date set by the regulation.

First American Telephone Girls Now In France

When the first group of American women telephone operators arrived in Paris in March they found awaiting them comfortable living quarters which had been made ready for them, according to the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Mary George White, writing from Paris of this work, says:

"The Y. W. C. A. accepted gladly the responsibility offered it by the Signal Corps officer in charge of the first group came with a request for help. The Y. W. C. A., recognizing that these arrivals might be the forerunners of an American organization similar to the British W. A. C., gladly undertook the task. "It was easy for the telephone operators assigned to Paris to live at the Hotel Petrograd, our Hostess House there. Those assigned to the interior could be looked out for by secretaries in certain other places. Workers were fortunately already at the first town chosen south of Paris. For the fairly large group, however, who were assigned to General Headquarters, some provision had to be made. As I was the only secretary with a permit enabling me to travel freely in the Army zone, I was assigned to that task.

"The town where the general headquarters is situated is, of course, very much crowded, but we were fortunate enough to obtain a house which had been rented and fitted out as a club-house by a group of officers just before they were transferred to another post. The house had been furnished very modestly for the most part, considering the wealth and rank of the reserve officers who had planned to use it, and we could take over the furniture almost without exception. The men had added such things as extra bathrooms and a central heating plant to mitigate the horrors of Army life in France. We were delighted to fall heir to these luxuries. Sufficient equipment was added to make it possible for three or four persons instead of one to occupy each of the large rooms. Behind We had a house ready to accommodate 30 people.

"Miss Julia Russel was assigned as 'hostess' to the house, rather than 'matron,' the term at first suggested by the Army men, but quickly abandoned when we suggested the other. Miss Russel was installed in the house, with an excellent French woman in charge of the housekeeping. On my last visit, the telephone girls were already feeling themselves part of a very real and happy family. As I write this report, I am just preparing to go up to General Headquarters to attend their first reception to the officers of the post."

In response to a request for a recipe for pickling beefs, Miss Sadie Oliver, food demonstrator, offers the following: Leave two inches of stems on. Cook small beefs until tender; slip the skins off; pack into jars, cover with spiced vinegar; seal and process for thirty minutes at simmering. FLORAL HEIGHTS KNITTING CLUB BUSY

Although unable to hold the regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon, members of the Floral Heights Knitting Club are continuing in the work, and the leader, Mrs. Mary Daniels, turns in completed garments to the Red Cross headquarters almost every week.

MISS WILSON PLEASURES IN RECITAL WEDNESDAY NIGHT

In the second of the commencement entertainments included in the graduating exercises of the Academy of Mary Immaculate, Miss Mary Wilson, graduate in expression under Mrs. E. L. Fulton, was presented in recital at the auditorium at the Academy on Wednesday evening. Miss Wilson was assisted by a number of excellently rendered musical selections by Miss Lucille Fonville.

The reader gave a special arrangement of Gene Stratton Porter's well known novel "Michael O'Halloran." The story itself is unusual, interesting and filled with the bright, sound philosophy of the little newsboy's life, and had been admirably arranged for the development of dramatic situations while the character interpretations of the reader added much to the telling force of the narrative. Miss Wilson has a charming presence and delighted her hearers in her presentation of every incident and situation throughout the evening.

NEW IDEA CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. D. DELLIS

A "war garden luncheon," the menu being comprised entirely of products from the war garden of the hostess, featured the meeting of the New Idea Club, held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. D. Dellis. Knitting for the soldiers occupied the time of some of the members, those present including Mesdames C. A. Andree, Harry Thornberry, J. J. Simon, T. E. Dobson, L. W. Newton and Miss Clara McCarty. Mrs. C. A. Andree will entertain the club next week.

The Ladies Bible class of the First Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. W. Lee, 1501 Travis, on Friday afternoon.

In the interest of canning and the use of the modern pressure canner, Miss Sadie Oliver addressed the members of the canning club at Thornberry on Wednesday demonstrating her remarks by canning a number of jars of beans. Miss Oliver is anxious for the housekeepers of the county to see the value of the pressure canner in the work and is urging its use instead of the more old fashioned and inefficient methods of canning fruit and vegetables.

Invitations have been sent out by the officers of Call Field who are entertaining with a dance at the lake pavilion on Friday evening.

The cadets at Call Field will entertain their friends with a dance at the lake on Saturday evening.

All day workers included Mesdames Weidman, McGrath, Hancock, Reese, Reid, Davis, Scharff, Russell, Connor, Sarah Smith, W. L. Smith, Christensen, L. L. Allen, Duffy and Gray. Members working a part of the day were Mesdames Montgomery, A. A. Young, Strango, Hill, Dozier, Hyatt, May Jones, Downing and Misses Pearl Jones, Ruby Jones, Wilma Jones, Dora Coons, Margaret Rodgers and Bjuhl Hancock.

Assistant Pastor Will Be Employed By Presbyterians

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church voted for the employment of an assistant pastor to aid Rev. N. F. Grafton in the regular ministerial work and for leadership of the young people, at the meeting at the church on Wednesday evening. The pastor hopes to secure Rev. H. H. Bowers, recently graduated from McCormick Seminary at Chicago for the position and is in communication with him. A number of new members gained through the recent evangelical campaign were received into the church on Wednesday evening after the special prayer service.

OFFICERS' CAMP AT LAKE WICHITA ENDED WEDNESDAY

With red faces and peeling noses, tired and sore, but very much wiser as concerns military lore, the commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Second Squadron of the North Texas Cavalry, T. N. G., broke up camp at Lake Wichita at 9 o'clock Wednesday night and by today are back at their regular work, waiting for the federal call.

The out of town officers here for the three days training, which commenced Monday morning, have all returned to their homes and no further training until as a unit the squadron is federalized is contemplated.

Each troop or part of a troop will continue drills as in the past, however, and with the training received in the concentrated training camp just closed the officers and non-commissioned officers are now better equipped to give the fundamentals of drill to their men, so that the troops may make a better showing than would be possible with raw recruits without any training, whatever.

Major Namier is very much pleased with the success of the camp and all of the officers express themselves as feeling that all that could be hoped for had been accomplished.

Thrift Is the Word of the Hour

The main thing that we must do, those of us who are not fighting in the trenches, is to save.

Save that we may share with the Allies our food, our money, our munitions and our men. Save that we may enable the government to prosecute the war with all vigor. Save that we may buy Liberty Bonds and WSS, and contribute to the Red Cross and other war causes.

Thrift, however, is not concerned with the saving of money so much as it is concerned with the saving of goods. When we sift the matter down, real thrift lies not in low price but in good quality. The woman who buys a cheap article of apparel and has to buy two for the season is not as thrifty as the woman who buys one good article that easily lasts the season through.

Nor is that woman in any real sense thrifty, either for the government or for herself, who through a false sense of economy buys ice at less than its established price.

At the end of a week, or month, if she checks up she will find that she has spent more money for ice than her neighbor, who uses good, pure ice which costs a few cents per day more. And not only will she have paid and paid dearly for her "bargain" but she has taken a grave risk. If she will look carefully at the ice, she will see that it has soft, mushy places in it—evidence of a foreign substance that is unhygienic and very unhealthy.

Don't risk the health of the folks at home with impure ice, and remember that "bargain" ice never yet saved anybody any money.

SIGHTSEEING WITH HOME FOLKS.

By MARGARET WALTER. (A Middle West War Party at Brighton.)

BRIGHTON, England, (By Mail)—I had been looking forward to the arrival of the American Mission from the Middle West, knowing I'd get all sorts of gossip from home. Agnes Nestor of Chicago, member of the Council for National Defense, came to lunch with me and gave me messages from friends and then I was asked to join the company the party to Brighton. There is a lot to see here: Queen Mary's workshops for soldiers who have lost limbs in the war and have to depend there to recover and get their feet on things before they are sent to the hospital to be fitted with artificial arms or legs or both; the French diamond workers who have cut and made ready more than five hundred thousand dollars and are being extended all the time; the military cooking school of the Eastern Division, all the setting up camp where men who are turned out of hospital are taken to be hardened and made fit for service again.

Other members of the party were Mrs. Helen Grenfell, head of the Col ora State Reformatory, Mrs. Sprague of St. Louis, president of the Missouri Women's Trades Union League, Martin P. Ryan of Kansas City, General President of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, E. T. Meredith of Des Moines, a director of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and proprietor of the Successful Farming, and James Wilson of the Pattern Makers Union from the same place.

It happened that Charles Belmont Davis, Secretary of the Mission, a brother of Richard Harding Davis was American Consul in Florence, Italy, when I lived there years ago. We were chatting about old times and how delighted I was when he arranged to have me presented to Queen Marguerita and we were laughing about my excitement over my dress when my first half grew with a train, which I had to take special lessons to manage in my court coiffure, when a dull boom-sounded out at sea.

We turned around and there came another boom followed in quick succession by others. "An officer standing by told us what it was but I expect the conor will prefer to let you guess whether it was from aircraft surface craft, submarine, gun practice or the breakers on the beach.

The members of the party looked at one another and then laughed, then Agnes Nestor started it by telling a creepy sea story, and others followed with "I was told yesterday" and "A man who has a friend in the war office says" and so on through all the gossip newcomers pick up (and believe) until they came down to the plain facts of their own voyage. The only effect their common danger seems to have had on the Americans is to have been to make them very close friends. Mr. Davis told me that not a particle of dis-tion had occurred since they started. There are men and women from every walk of life, capitalists and workmen, office holders and Trade Union officials, but all are absolutely one in their mission of investigation and in their earnest desire to explain what America stands for in the war.

And how they are learning to admire England and her endurance and sacrifice. As the train made its way through the beautiful country of Surrey with its fields of new grain and wheat, with its well trimmed hedges and its picturesque farm houses, Mr. Meredith seemed fascinated by the sight of such close and economical cultivation. "Why boys are cultivated our fields at home like those, right up to the fence line, and made every foot of ground produce its yield, we'd be able to feed the whole world. There wouldn't have to be any food rations."

But it was when we got to Queen Mary's work shops, where the boys who have lost limbs are getting ready to return to the work they did before the war or are being taught to do some new work adapted to their capacity, that our people broke down. There wasn't a dry eye in the crowd when we filed past the rows upon rows of cots upon each one of which lay what had but a few days before been a fine strong lad ready to give all for his country's sake, and every day now brings its terrific harvest. Every night a train load is sent down to Brighton in the papers we brought down from London were stories about the heroic deeds of the men we were shaking hands with. If ever there was a bunch of sports, they were right on the cots. The iron cots ranged round the sides of the Queen's Golden Pavilion at Brighton.

The Pavilion, which was the favorite resting place of the notorious George IV, is a wonderful Moorish affair, a sort of Alhambra, the walls are painted and inlaid with iridescent mosaics and the light falls upon the narrow walk through the stained glass arabesques in the dome. As some of the weary young heroes lay there with their eyes half shut, abandoned in quiet ecstasy to the care and tender attentions of the nurses, after the hell they had been through, it seemed to me that they were not quite sure whether this was life or something else.

The other boys, those who have been at Brighton for some time, were all as busy and happy as possible. Some are learning trades, some are getting themselves in the work they did before the war, so that they will leave the workshops highly skilled and able to command a living wherever they may happen to be.

The Mayor of Brighton, who was host for the day, took charge of the sight-seeing expeditions. We were his guests to lunch at the Royal Crescent Hotel on the sea front, and when our motor cars swung onto the world-famous parade it thrilled every one of us to see the American flag flying from the hotel and the crowds of people who had turned out to welcome us. Boys in hospital blue waved their crutches and men, women and children, many of whom had little American flags, shouted and smiled.

Later in the afternoon there was an informal tea party at the Fine Arts Museum and afterwards members of the party were asked to speak. People shouted and stamped when Mr. Wilson said that though America had been slow to get in the war she would be stouter still getting out, and Mr. Meredith raised a storm of applause when he said that Americans didn't want to be coming any more, we were brothers and were in this war united for victory.

Falm-Leaf Fan Famine Next. Among all the threatened famines brought about by war conditions, a palm-leaf fan famine is to be expected, according to a report from Consul General George E. Anderson, Hongkong, China. "One of the lines of export of some moment from Hongkong to the United States has been the temporary destroyed by high freight rates and the high exchange value of silver is that of palm-leaf fans," says Mr. Anderson. "Only 157 packages of these fans were exported to the United States in 1917 as compared with 5,928 in 1916 and 16,571 in 1915. The common fans are simply the trimmed leaf and stem of the ordinary small palm which grows wild in most districts of South China. If it is allowed to do so, but usually for the fan trade is grown in low-lying grounds in the San Wu district of the Pearl River delta in Kwangtung Province—one of the four districts from which most of the Chinese in the United States originally emigrate. When this cultivated or grown the palms are thickly sown, varying according to methods followed, from 5,000 to 10,000 plants to an acre, the fewer the plants the better the return in high-grade leaves. "It requires about seven years to grow the palms to the size necessary for good fan leaves and after that they furnish an annual crop indefinitely. The Chinese stating that the trees live for hundreds of years, producing their annual crop. An old tree will produce leaves as large as 5 feet in length with a breadth just above the lower end of perhaps three feet."

164TH READY FOR BIG "STUNT NITE" PROGRAM TONIGHT

With the advance seat sale practically cleaned up the house, the Hundred and Sixty-Fourth Squadron is promised a record audience for their "Stunt Nite" which is to be put on at the Wichita Theatre tonight for the benefit of the American Red Cross, Wichita Falls branch. The Red Cross is assured of a good sum accruing from the benefit and all those who have bought their tickets are assured of money well spent and an evening's entertainment that will surpass any of recent date. The managers of the entertainment, Sergeant Grimes, Hurley and Carville, have been busy making the necessary arrangements and advertising the vaudeville, while the performers have been equally busy with their rehearsals and now their efforts are to be crowned with success.

The program as announced contains many features, every act a "head liner." The first number on the bill is the Squadron Orchestra. This august body of talented musicians is under the direction of Prof. Monaco of Columbus, Ohio. The orchestra will render all of the old and familiar favorites and will play selections for any member of the audience. The featured attraction with the orchestra is the Famous Jazz Four, Larkin at the piano, McGovern at the violin, Garrett at the drums, and McCarty at the banjo.

The famous dancers who are scheduled to appear will dance all of the modern dances and will introduce the very latest thing in dancing, Walking the Dog. Maurice and Florence Walcott, who have danced in the most famous steps used in this act could be purchased but the local team declined an offer said to run into the thousands.

Hurley and Lewis are offering one of the cleverest bits of comedy ever seen in this city. Most of the material is brand new and the bits of acting used to put over this turn are as new as well. Look for "Doc" Hanes Tin-six.

Milo is ready to surprise the people with one of the most amazing acts ever presented to the public. Milo will use gowns by Lady Duff-Gordon (Lucile) and shoes by Mme. de Cortes of Madrid. The costumes used in this act are valued at $3000.00.

"THE ANSWER" AT THE GEM TODAY

A transcontinental romance has been brought to a happy conclusion in the marriage of John Warfield, recent heir to the Grayfriars estate in England, and Goldie Shepard, humble telephone operator on the East Side, New York. Before coming into possession of Grayfriars, Mr. Warfield had been a unique figure on the East Side of New York. The young man had carried on the work of an agitator, railing at the very class of which he is now a member. One of the recruits to his cause was Goldie Shepard, telephone operator. The affair developed when Mr. Warfield was settled in the ancestral estate left him in England, he wrote for Miss Shepard to come to him. They have recently been wedded. But Goldie's professions of idealism were sham, in Triangle's great photoplay of social forces, "The Answer." She plunged into the parasitic life of those around her and bitterly disappointed the idealistic Warfield. His heart turned back to Lillian Lorraine, daughter of the man whose automobile had killed Goldie's father. As when Goldie Garcia, Warfield's former friend, killed Goldie for her betrayal, Warfield came back to the East Side of New York to carry out his uplift work. "The Answer" will be given at the Gem theatre today. Alma Rubens, Joe King and Wallace McDonald are the triangle of Triangle stars that perform marvelous work in this play.

GEN. MICHE DIEZ ABOARD TRAIN WHILE IN FRANCE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—News of the sudden death of Brigadier General Robert E. L. Michie in a railway train near Rouen, France, yesterday came as a shock today in war department and army circles. He was a brilliant soldier. For a long time General Michie was chief aid to General Hugh L. Scott, former chief of staff of the army, and had accompanied the latter on numerous missions of importance. Chief among these was General Scott's trip to the Piute Indian reservation in Utah where he quieted an uprising among the Piutes. When General Scott visited the Mexican bandit chief, Francisco Villa, and when he conferred with the Mexican authorities at El Paso, General Michie's assistance was of value. He also accompanied General Scott with the American mission to Russia last year. When General Scott was relieved as chief of staff, Colonel Michie made a brigadier general in the national army and placed in command of the fifty third infantry brigade, composed of New York troops, at Camp Wadsworth, S. C. After training his troops he went at their head to France. He was a native of Virginia and was 54 years old.

R. R. INTANGIBLE TAX INCREASE IS RESCINDED

AUSTIN, TEX., June 6.—The state tax board, at a meeting today wiped out the $12,354,630 increase in intangible assets of the railroads for 1918, because it was found that to impose this additional burden was virtually taxing the government as the railroads are under federal control. John E. Payne, general counsel of the United States railway administration, had wired that "in view of existing conditions taxing authorities should not make any increases." The railroads also had entered a strong protest against the proposed increases. The state tax board voted to leave the intangible assets of the railroads the same as last year, $150,000,000.

HEROIC PARTS ARE PLAYED BY Y.M.C.A. WORKERS AT FRONT

PARIS, June 6.—American men and women attached to the American Y. M. C. A. units with the French troops played heroic parts in the recent retreat east and west of Soissons and one, Carl Lyttle of North Brookfield, Mass., is believed to have sacrificed his life. Lyttle, who is 35 years old, is officially reported missing. Amid a rain of gas shells he was seen to rescue wounded men who had come out and has not since.

Women workers particularly distinguished themselves. One, Miss Maria Herron, of Cincinnati, a sister-in-law of former President Taft, remained in a hut serving food and coffee to the soldiers until the village was set on fire by German shells. Several Y. M. C. A. men are suffering from gas poisoning and shell shock. One man was wounded by shrapnel.

URGE POSTPONEMENT OF INCREASED RATES

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Postponement or modification of the increased freight and passenger rates which would mean commercial annihilation for some shippers was urged upon Director General Mead today by a delegation of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners. Mr. Mead was asked either to make state commissions his agents in bringing about necessary readjustments in rates or to require railroads to submit to the authority exercised by state commissions before government operation in matters of rate and police regulations.

OFFICE MEN ACT AS VALETS TO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, June 6.—Twenty four thousand hogs, 11,000 cattle and 8,000 sheep which arrived at the stockyards today were met by what they may have thought was a reception committee instead of the usual roughly-clad cow hesters. The Stock Handlers' Union was still on strike and office men habituated to sartorial refinement are trying to fill the gaps.
