Germans Standing Virtually on Defense On Marne Battlefield; Allies Make Gain

U-BOAT MAY HAVE BEEN CAPTURED OR SUNK

By Associated Press
AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 8.—Unconfirmed reports in shipping circles here today were to the effect that a German U-boat had either been captured or sunk off the Virginia coast some time during yesterday by a United States destroyer. A destroyer which had been patrolling the Atlantic coast in the vicinity returned to port today. Members of the crew were in high spirits but refused to say a word regarding their operations.

CONSTANT VIGILANCE WILL BE EXERCISED

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Plans of the navy department for constant vigilance in American waters against further depredations by German submarines were believed today to have been set in motion. Putting into effect of the home campaign known to have been formulated some time ago, has only been hastened by the visit of raiding U-boats to the Atlantic coast. It was intimated, and the present efforts are but a part of a long contemplated program.

The latest dispatch made public by the navy department concerning the raid was the announcement last night of the sinking by bombs late Wednesday of the Norwegian steamer Vinland, of 1,195 tons, 65 miles off the coast of the state of New York. The Vinland was landed safely.

MAY HAVE EXTENDED OPERATIONS FAR SOUTH

By Associated Press
AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 8.—A coastwise passenger steamer put into port here today after sighting an object her officers said was an enemy submarine. Port officials believe the German craft off the Atlantic coast may have extended their operations to the far south where the object was sighted. Harbor craft were ordered last night to proceed from the river mouth into the harbor.

STEAMER CAPTAIN ASKS ARMING OF VESSEL

By Associated Press
AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 8.—An American steamer loaded with food stuffs put back to port here today and reported she had been chased by a German submarine. The ship's captain was said to have requested the naval authorities to arm his vessel that he might proceed again.

SOME GERMANS BELIEVE RAIDS ARE BAD POLICY

By Associated Press
LONDON, June 8.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says that the policy of sending U-boats to raid shipping on the American coast has critics in Germany. This attitude is revealed in a telegram from Berlin to the Cologne Gazette, in which the newspaper's correspondent believes it necessary to meet objections to this submarine campaign. The objections he assumes are based on the view that the war spirit and fury of the Americans are likely to be increased by such raids.

Local Switching Also Increased Under New Rule

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Local switching charges are to be increased June 25 under the same rules applicable to other shipping, the railroad administration announced today. This will result in doubling the charges on many commodities, such as sand and gravel, moving under commodity rates and originating within switching distance. No carload shipment will be accepted for even local switching movement at less than $15 car.

AIR MINISTER OF BRITISH LIKES LIBERTY MOTOR

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Tests of the Liberty motor made in England "place the engine at once in the first line of high powered air engines," the British air minister today cabled Lord Reading, British ambassador to the United States.

Chickens Go to Roost When Sun Is Eclipsed

By Associated Press
BAKER, ORE., June 8.—The predicted eclipse of the sun found scientists ready for it here. Glasses were trained to study and photograph the sun's corona and spectrum. Definite conclusions drawn from these observations will be available only after comparisons of the results attained and deductions as to their significance. The observations were declared to have been successful, a slight cloudiness being the only drawback.

HAZE ON MOUNTAINS HINDERS OBSERVATION

By Associated Press
PORTLAND, ORE., June 8.—The contact on the moon's shadow with the sun became visible here today at 2:45. Reports from Goldendale, Washington where scientists have gathered to view the eclipse, indicated that a slight haze from frosted mountains partly hid the view but that observations could be made successfully.

CLOUDS OBSCURED SKIES AT DENVER

DENVER, COLO., June 8.—Preparations here for observing the total eclipse of the sun today came to naught when thick clouds obscured the sky. Scientists gathered here swallowed their disappointment and went out on the lawn at the observatory to watch the color effects on the clouds. As the period of totality approached the gloom was almost that of a sepulchre and shortly afterwards a brilliant electrical display was observed in the mountains to the southwest.

Would Make Draft Age Limit From 18 to 45

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Amendments to extend the army draft law to all men between the ages of 18 and 45 were offered by Senator Cummins of Iowa, and France of Maryland yesterday when the senate military began consideration of the twelve billion dollar army appropriation bill passed by the house. The committee decided to hold hearings on the bill and Secretary Baker will appear next Monday.

MANY OPERATORS WIRE PRESIDENT WILL NOT STRIKE

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Several thousand telegraphers, employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company in Chicago, Seattle and Spokane, wired President Wilson today that they would not be parties to any movement looking to a disruption of the country's commercial telegraph service during the war. They deplored agitation looking to a strike of telegraph operators and pledged their loyalty to the government.

MORE BOMBAST FROM THE GERMAN EMPEROR

By Associated Press
AMSTERDAM, June 8.—"With pride and thankfulness I daily watch the giant deeds of my troops which will secure respect for the German for all time. This is one of the striking phrases used by the German emperor in sending a contribution of 50,000 marks to the Ludendorff fund, initiated by the national committee for the care of disabled soldiers. The emperor said: "I also see suffering borne by the German soldier in a manly and heroic manner; I see him bleed and die for the fatherland's greater honor. I gain an insight and knowledge of the innermost life of the wounded warrior."

FIGURES REVEAL GROWTH AMERICAN MERCHANT FLEET

TOTAL OF 629 VESSELS BUILT OF 678,005 GROSS TONS THIS YEAR.
FLEET IS NOW SECOND

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—The steady growth of the American merchant marine in all classes of vessels was revealed today for the first time since the war began in statistics from the Department of Commerce showing that in the first five months of this year there have been built in this country 629 officially numbered by the Bureau of Navigation, a total of 678,005 gross tons.

Second of World's Fleets.

This tremendous fleet is second only to the British fleet in the world. It includes all the new vessels built under the direction of the shipping board and thousands of other ships, small in individual tonnage, but which play so large a part in commerce in the maintenance in a favorable balance of trade.

Why Gross Tonnage Used.

The deadweight tonnage weight of a cargo is about fifty per cent greater than its gross tonnage but in a passenger is less, because the space is occupied by passengers. The former German liner Vaterland, now the Italian liner, has a gross tonnage of 54,000, but a deadweight capacity of only about 5,000 tons, which illustrates why in dealing with these types of ships, gross tonnage or the actual weight of cargo and bunker coal which can be carried.

Campbell of Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton, Calif., who is here to study the phenomena of today's solar eclipse, received a telegram from France today stating that his son, Lieutenant Douglas Campbell, an American aviator was slightly wounded. FEAR GERMANS MAY ATTEMPT TO BESTROY PARIS

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 8.—In an article in the Matin dealing with the recent appointment of the Paris committee of defense, Frederic Brunet, a socialist deputy says: "By another drive made without regard to sacrifices, the Germans if they did not enter Paris, perhaps could approach near enough to hold the capital under the fire of long range guns, not as now, for an intermittent bombardment but for methodical, permanent fire."

FRANCO-AMERICANS WIN SUCCESSES NEAR MONTDIDIER

By Associated Press
WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, June 8.—The second Franco-American attack in the neighborhood of Veully-La-Poterie and Boreches was a brilliant success to the Allied arms. It was continued yesterday with an advance in the Chezy sector, further northwest on the line. American troops took prisoners in a raid. There and in the Woivre and in Lorraine the American and German armies have been active. Anglo-French armies on Thursday accounted for 25 airplanes and a half dozen observation balloons in addition to dropping more than sixty tons of bombs on targets behind the enemy lines.

BRITISH, AMERICANS AND FRENCH PUSHING LOCAL ATTACKS AT MANY POINTS

The Associated Press summarizes the war situation as follows: In the battle field of the Marne, where a week ago the Germans were throwing their masses of troops against the side of the wedge they had driven into the Allied lines in the battle that began on March 26, the Teutons are now standing virtually on the defense in the Chateau Thierry sector. American and French troops are participating in a reaction of the extreme type in that salient.

The British are engaged on the other side of the wedge between the Marne and Rheims. While the operations take the nature of local attacks, they have had their effect in driving the Germans back on the crest of the wave that carried them far on the road to Paris.

The attacks, which began just to the northwest of Chateau Thierry are spreading northward along the line and everywhere the Allies report territory recovered from the enemy. The rush of the American Marines and the French on Thursday afternoon has not continued to gain ground as fast as it did at the inception of the movement but it is still going on. In the meantime they have withstood violent attacks by the Germans and have repulsed the enemy in decisive fashion.

American marines and French troops on the sector northwest of Chateau Thierry have driven the Germans back two and a half miles on a front of six miles and later today are that sharp fighting continues. Along the Clignon river the Americans have taken Torcy and Boreches and the French Veully-La-Poterie and Boreches. The line of the advancing line are marked by Boreches and Vinly.

Friday the fighting was of a more desperate character than on Thursday but the Germans were compelled to give ground, the impetuous marines and French being too much for them. German prisoners taken now exceed 200. As a result of the advance the enemy has been driven back on the river and across it at Vinly. He no longer menaces the height positions, south of Vinly, which form an important part of the barrier holding the Germans from a closer approach to Paris.

Reports from the whole battle line in France are to the effect that there has been renewed activity on the part of the German artillery in several sectors. Notable among the regions under bombardment is the line between Noyon and Montdidier. It is along this line that a heavy enemy offensive has been expected by military experts since the momentum of the German advance from the Aisne has died away. When the Germans pushed west from St. Quentin late in March and early in April, the line from Noyon to Montdidier was almost equal in importance to that in front of Amiens. The French forces were pushed to the limit and fought savagely to stop the German advance and retake ground which was of strategic and tactical importance.

At the same time the Woivre section just southeast of Verdun is claiming attention. Large movements of enemy troops in the direction of St. Mihiel have been reported by aerial observers and there are indications that the position of Amiens along the part of the front may be in the storm center of a terrific attack soon.

The advantages to be gained by the Germans are manifold. Eighteen miles of St. Mihiel, the Verdun salient, the Meuse and still further westward, 28 miles away is Vitry, which would be but a stepping stone to a dash to Chalons-sur-Marne. If the line at St. Mihiel were broken, the German back very far the whole Verdun sector would be in peril and might have to be abandoned.

In the Flanders sector which has been quiet since the beginning of the attack along the Aisne, the Germans on Wednesday sought to improve their positions by capturing the Hosiery at Loere. This point would give them a starting point for an attack on the village of Loere, which is considered one of the keys to the Allied positions along the hills behind the lines southwest of Ypres. The French forces in this sector on Friday, however, attacked the enemy and drove him back to his former positions and the Allied line has been restored.

Increased activity is reported from the Italian front. In attacks between Lake Garda and the Piave, Italian and French troops captured more than 200 prisoners. Austro-Hungarian troops attempted advances on the Asiago plateau only to be beaten back. At several points along the mountain front enemy patrol parties were repulsed by the Italians. There have been no engagements of a notable character on the Italian front but in Macedonia the Allies, particularly the Greeks, have been continuing the aggressive operations with several prisoners captured.

AMERICANS FOUGHT LIKE DEMONS AT CHATEAU THIERRY

By Associated Press.—WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN France, June 8.—American troops on the front northwest of Chateau Thierry moved down the enemy with machine gun and rifle fire at midnight last night when the Germans made an attack on their positions. They fought like demons and at one point killed 100 Germans.

GERMAN DRIVE NEAR ST. MIHIEL THOUGHT LIKELY

By Associated Press.—WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN France, Friday, June 7.—Reports of recent heavy German train movements from the direction of Metz toward the St. Mihiel sector has aroused discussion in the American expeditionary forces as to whether the enemy is planning an assault in the Vosges.

EXPERIMENTAL STAGE PASSED BY CONCRETE SHIPS

INVESTIGATIONS CONTINUE INTO 7 SPY SUSPECTS

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 8.—Investigations by agents of the department of justice are being continued into the alleged activities of the seven persons against whom indictments charging conspiracy to commit treason and conspiracy to commit espionage were returned here yesterday by a federal grand jury...

While five of the seven are being held without bail to await trial, the one woman indicted, Madame Maria K. De Victoria, is a prisoner on Ellis Island while four of the six men are in Tombs prison.

Foremost among the five who appeared in court was Madame De Victoria, also known to the federal authorities under various different names.

Alleged Spies. She and Rodriguez are accused of being German spies. Rodriguez, who also has numerous aliases, is said formerly to have been a lieutenant commander in the German navy and entered this country by means of a fraudulent passport.

Members of the group are accused of assisting Madame Victoria and Rodriguez in establishing means of communication with Germany and procuring chemicals and other ingredients for the manufacture of bombs to be placed on docks, transports and vessels carrying military supplies.

Two indictments were filed against the defendants. One charges them with conspiracy to commit espionage which provides death as the extreme or thirty years' imprisonment.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN CONGRESSIONAL BASEBALL GAME

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Wilson laid aside the cares of state today to see the democrats and republicans of the house of representatives struggle through their annual baseball game...

The game was won by the republicans, 10 to 9. The democrats had a half inning and was staged for the benefit of the American Red Cross.

Besides the President, Vice President Marshall, Speaker Clark and many high government officials were gathered at the American league park and they appeared to enjoy the game.

The players liked it until the novelty of running the bases and chasing the ball was supplanted by weary muscles and shortening breath.

Representative Delaney of New York started out as box man for the democrats and was touched for three runs in the opening, largely because of his co-workers failing to be where the ball hit.

The republicans went right along piling up runs and they settled the contest in the fifth round. With the bases full, Pitcher Mudd came to bat.

Delaney went over from his position at third to give McClintock some pointers on what to throw the republican pitcher. Mudd responded by bouncing a hot one off Delaney's shins, clearing the bases.

Loan Drives, Red Cross drives, Y. M. C. A. drives, War Savings stamps and Thrift stamps: when calls of country, church and city come demanding of us give or go, be a backer or a slacker it's an easy thing to get "sore", to fess a wee bit, and sad be the fact—to take it out on the wife or the husband, the one we love most and best.

All of us 'fighters-at-home' soldiers need to realize fully that keeping the home fires burning is a vital essential for the winning of the war. And every one of us need to realize just as fully that the "GROUCH", the simpering whine, the complaining grunt, and the fussy-spirit is of the devil and hand and hoof in league with the Potsdam Gang! Now take a good, big healthy look at yourself and see where you are going. What are you putting into this fight—the punch with the smile—as you talk Liberty Loan or Red Cross or Thrift stamps? As you swing your hammer or push your pen? As you wash dishes or darn socks? As you sell goods or till the soil? Tribulation and anguish upon the man or woman who so far forgets country and cause as to take time from life and duty to fuss and fume? You old Groucher! get into the game and smile! You thoughtless-whiner! get behind the boys "over there" by doing your darndest here and smile! When you write your letter, put the smile in it. There are mothers who put the tear in letters to their soldier-son "over there."

The last draft has among its quota one of our best young business men. In a letter he wrote informing the chairman of an important committee upon which he was serving that owing to his being called to serve his country he could not be active in the work of this committee. He finished by saying in substance, "no matter what we may be called upon to sacrifice we will trust in God and smile, smile, smile!" That from a citizen going out from all that he holds dear to fight your fight and mine. His going is a challenge to every last one of us to—"Smile-durn yer!"

PUBLIC OPINION

CONSIDERS RAISE IN TELEPHONE RATES ARBITRARY

Editor The Times:
I am just in receipt of my telephone bills covering tolls for May and rental for June, the latter payable in advance. My residence telephone was raised from $2.00 to $3.00; my business telephone from $3.00 to $4.00, which seems to me to be a very considerable and arbitrary raise, inasmuch as all patrons are paying the Government tax which is added to each charge for service. Is there no way for the public to be heard in regard to this matter or are we compelled to stand and deliver in this case or any further raises that the company may see fit to make?

Yours truly,
T. J. TAYLOR.

YOUNG GIRLS SHOULD BE KEPT OFF STREETS

Editor Times:
Sheriff Hawkins says there are parents in Wichita Falls who are neglecting their girls, and they are going to the bad in an alarming manner. This is a terrible indictment to bring against any parent. If parents refuse to look after their children the state, the county and city must do it for the good of society.

It would be proper and right for the city council to pass an ordinance forbidding girls, say under eighteen years old, from being on the streets after ten o'clock at night unless in the company of parents or guardians. We must protect the young girls from the "snares of the fowler" if their natural protectors refuse to look after them. We are going to reap a terrible harvest if young girls and boys are permitted on the streets promiscuously at night. It is better to go back to what some would call the blue laws and be a little harder than have sorrow and broken hearts come to the home over our children. Young people under eighteen, especially girls, have no business being out any more at night after ten or eleven o'clock unless accompanied by their close relatives or guardians.

The city must provide for their protection if parents will not.

FRENCH RECAPTURED LOCRE HOSPICE

By Associated Press
WITH THE BRITISH "ARMY-IN-FRANCE," June 3.—Locre hospice, which the Germans captured on Wednesday, was retaken by the French yesterday. They battled their way to this much contested position and completely re-established their line.

The French have thus removed a more or less serious threat to the village of Locre, which itself is an important defense for Mont Houge and other hills lying immediately to the west. The hospice lies only about 50 yards southeast of Locre and is on rising ground, which is built up by lower than the site of the village.

GERMANS TAKE MATERIALS FOR REBUILDING FRENCH TOWNS

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 3.—Millions of dollars worth of building materials imported from America by Miss Anne Morgan's committee to rebuild French villages was engulfed in the last German offensive according to the Paris edition of the New York Herald.

Some of the material had been hurriedly removed to the south but the bulk is now in the hands of the Germans as also are most of the forty-three villages for which it was intended.

REFUSED TO OBEY COMMAND: GOT 25 YEARS

By Associated Press
CAMP DODGE, IA., June 3.—Six socialists from St. Paul, Minn., who refused to obey military commands were sentenced to twenty five years hard labor at Fort Leavenworth, Iowa, late today.

Four of the men testified they left Sweden to escape military service.

The Dangers of Premature Peace

Theodore Roosevelt sounds the following forceful warning on the dangers of a premature peace in the Kansas City "Star." Permission for publication here was granted by the "Star" through the National Security League.

If, as now seems likely, the great German drive fails, it is at least possible, that directly or indirectly, the Germans will then start a Peace drive. In such case they will probably endeavor to make such seeming concessions as to put a premium upon pacifist agitation for peace in the free countries of the West against which they are fighting. To yield to such peace proposals would be fraught with the greatest danger to the Allies, and especially to our own country in the future. Let us never forget that no promise of Germany's military might can be trusted. The Kultur developed under the Hohenzollerns rests upon shameless treachery and duplicity no less than upon ruthless violence and barbarism.

For example, there are strong indications that Germany may be prepared, if she now falls on the Western front, to abandon all that for which she has fought on her Western front, provided that in Middle Europe and in the East there is no interference with her. In other words, she would be prepared to give back Alsace and Lorraine to France, to give Italian Austria to Italy, to give Luxembourg to Belgium, and to let the Allies keep the colonies they have conquered, on condition that her dominance in Russia and in the Balkans, her dominance of the subject peoples of Austria through the Austrian Hapsburgs, and her dominance of Western Asia through her vassal states, Turkey, should be left undisturbed. To the average Englishman and Frenchman, there is much that is alluring in such a program. It might be urged as a method of stopping the frightful slaughter of war, while securing every purpose for which the free peoples who still fight are fighting. Yet it would be infinitely better that this war be carried on to the point of exhaustion than that we yield to such terms.

Such terms would mean the definite establishment of Germany's military ascendancy on a scale never hitherto approached in the civilized world. It would mean that perhaps within a dozen years, certainly within the lifetime of the very men now fighting this war, this country and the other free countries would have to choose between bowing their necks to the German yoke or else going into another war under conditions far more disadvantageous to them. A premature and inconclusive peace now would spell ruin for the world; just as in 1864 a premature and inconclusive peace would have spelled ruin to the United States—and in the present instance the United States would share the ruin of the rest of the free peoples of mankind.

On the face of it, Germany would no longer be a giant colossus, but exactly as on the face of it at present, Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria call themselves simply four allied nations, standing on equal terms. But in reality those four powers are merely Germany and her three vassal states, whose military and economic and political powers are all disposed of by the Hohenzollerns. A peace such as that above outlined would leave these as really one huge empire. The population of these four countries plus the population of Russia and the vast territory annexed by Germany is over two hundred millions. This population would be directed and dominated by the able, powerful and utterly ruthless and unscrupulous German governing class, which the very fact of the peace would put in the saddle; and the huge empire thus dominated and directed would have a greater menace to the free peoples than anything known for the last thousand years.

Short-sighted people will say that this power would only menace Asia, and therefore that we need feel no concern about it. There could be no error greater or more lamentable. Twenty years hence by mere mass armies Germany would dominate the Western European powers that have now fought her. This would mean that the United States would be left as her victim.

In the first place she would at once trample the Monroe Doctrine under foot and treat Tropical and South Temperate America as her fief for exploitation, domination and conquest. In the next place she would surely trample this country under foot and bleed us white, doing to us on a gigantic scale what she has done to Belgium. If such a peace as is above described were at this time made, the United States could by no possibility escape the fate of Belgium and of the Russian terri-

Men Wanted for Aviation

Authority is expected to induct a certain number of specially qualified men in the aviation corps. Apply personally to PERSONNEL OFFICER, Call Field, between 8 a. m. and 9 a. m. 12 noon and 1 p. m. and 4 to 6 p. m.

Thrift Is the Word of the Hour

The main thing that we must do, those of us who are not fighting in the trenches, is to save.

Save that we may share with the Allies our food, our money, our munitions and our men. Save that we may enable the government to prosecute the war with all vigor. Save that we may buy Liberty Bonds and WSS, and contribute to the Red Cross and other war causes.

Thrift, however, is not concerned with the saving of money so much as it is concerned with the saving of goods. When we sift the matter down, real thrift lies not in low price but in good quality. The woman who buys a cheap article of apparel and has to buy two for the season is not as thrifty as the woman who buys one good article that easily lasts the season through.

Nor is that woman in any real sense thrifty, either for the government or for herself, who through a false sense of economy buys ice at less than its established price.

At the end of a week, or month, if she checks up she will find that she has spent more money for ice than her neighbor, who uses good, pure ice which costs a few cents per day more. And not only will she have paid and paid dearly for her "bargain" but she has taken a grave risk. If she will look carefully at the ice, she will see that it has soft, mushy places in it—evidence of a foreign substance that is unhygienic and very unhealthy.

Don't risk the health of the folks at home with impure ice, and remember that "bargain" ice never yet saved anybody any money.

ories annexed by Germany, unless we ourselves became a powerful militarist state with every democratic principle subordinated to the one necessity of turning this nation into a huge armed camp—I do not mean an armed nation, as Switzerland is armed, and as I believe this country ought to be armed; I mean a nation whose sons, every one of them, would have to serve from three to five years in the army, and whose whole activities, external and internal, would be conditioned by the one fact of the necessity of making headway, single-handed, against Germany.

I very strongly believe that never again should we be caught unprepared as we have been caught unprepared this time. I believe that all our young men should be trained to arms as the Swiss are trained. But I would regard it as an unspeakable calamity for this nation to have to turn its whole energies into the kind of exaggerated militarism which under such circumstances would alone avail for self-defense.

The military power of Germany must be brought low. The subject nations of Austria, the Balkans, and Western Asia must be freed. We ought not to refrain an hour longer from going to war with Turkey and Bulgaria. They are part of Germany's military strength. They represent some of the most cruel tyrannies over subject peoples for which Germany stands. It is idle for us to pretend sympathy with the Armenians unless we war on Turkey, which, with Germany's assent, has well nigh crushed the Armenians out of existence.

When President Wilson stated that this war was waged to make democracy safe throughout the world, he properly and definitely committed the American people to the principles above enunciated; and for the American people to accept less than their President has thus announced that he would insist upon would be unworthy. The President has also said that "there is therefore, but one response possible from us: Force—force to the utmost—force without stint or limit—the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world and cast every selfish dominion down in the dust." The American people must support President Wilson unflinchingly in the stand to which he is thus committed, and must resolutely refuse to accept any other position. We must guard against any slackening of effort. We must refuse to accept any premature peace or any peace other than the peace of overwhelming victory.

We must secure such complete freedom for the peoples of Central Europe and Western Asia as will shatter forever the threat of German obligations to our Allies, our loyalty to our own national principles, the need to protect our American neighbors, the need to defend our own land, and people, and our hopes for the peace and happiness of our children's children, all forbid us to accept an ignoble and inconclusive peace.

15 WILL GRADUATE FROM ACADEMY HERE THIS WEEK

EXERCISES CONTINUE THROUGH THREE BUSY DAYS AND EVENINGS.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

Final Exercises Will Take Place Then—No Class Play This Year.

Fifteen graduates will receive diplomas from the Academy of Mary Immaculate on Wednesday evening of this week when the commencement exercises, which were opened with a recital in expression on May 28, will be brought to a close.

This week's program will include the alumnae meeting on Monday afternoon at the Academy when this year's graduates will be admitted into the association, a recital in expression by Miss Alice Steed, assisted by Miss Eileen Crockett, pianist, on Monday evening at the Academy; high mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart at nine o'clock on Tuesday morning. Class day exercises at the Academy at 8:30 Tuesday evening and the final commencement and graduating exercises at the Wichita theatre on Wednesday evening.

A simple uniform called the "win-the-war" dress has been adopted this year by the graduates in place of the usual elaborate costume and the class will not carry out the former custom of giving a class play on commencement night, in order to carry out the war economy plan.

The faculty at the Academy, the graduating class, and the students in general invite the attendance of their friends at these exercises. A section of the seats in the most desirable part of the opera house will be reserved for the parents of the graduates on Wednesday evening.

Members of this year's senior class include Misses Mary and Ann Wilson, Aileen Crockett, Alice Steed, Francis Gilson, Dolores Maxwell, Edna and Helen Grogan, Ruth Simpson, Ruby Seay, Florence Morse, Josephine Hund, Theresa Hund, Agnes Dittie and Adele Kirkpatrick.

THE PROGRESSIVE CHRISTIAN THEME FOR MEETINGS

TWO TO GRADUATE WICHITA FALLS COLLEGE OF MUSIC

MISS FRANC BERRY

Mrs. J. M. Baber, of Wichita Falls, and Miss Clem Jones, of Munday, piano students under T. L. Krebs, will be graduated from the College of Music on Friday evening, May 14, at the College. A special musical program has been arranged in which both graduates will be presented in recital. The program will be followed by an informal reception at the college. T. L. Krebs, president of the institution, states that he has simplified the graduating exercises as much as possible this year in order to give all the money and attention possible to the winning of the war.

The management at the college takes pleasure in announcing that Miss Franc Berry, of Chicago, has been secured as head of the expression department for the next year. In speaking of Miss Berry, Mr. Krebs says:

In selecting Miss Franc Berry of Chicago as head of the expression department of the Wichita Falls College of Music, the management feels that a very decided step in the right direction has been taken. In this time of intensive effort in all lines of endeavor the teacher, who is constantly in contact with the soul life of the young, has a position of special responsibility for the history that is making day by day in these times of war shows us more than ever before, that the mind of all good citizens should be trained to see readily the difference between the good and the bad, the sham and the real, the ideal noble life and the material grasping for dominion and power by the might of brute force. Miss Berry is exceptionally endowed with the talents and accomplishments that go to make a successful public reader and teacher. She is a graduate of the Northwestern School of Oratory, of Chicago, and since her graduation she has taken post graduate work at this famous school. She has had years of practical teaching experience, having been for several years at the head of the department of expression at McKendree College, and having also taught as a private instructor. Through her years of teaching she has gained a clear insight into those essentials that make for success in directing musical gifts. Miss Berry is an exceptionally gifted reader, possessing a strong, commanding personality that never fails to please, and that draws her listeners and pupils to her. She is a young woman of energy and perseverance, and has the ability to imbue others with her own strength of personality and determination to succeed. The management of the Wichita Falls College of Music makes no change in its faculty unless convinced, through careful study and observation, that such change will make the faculty stronger and more efficient. It retains only teachers that make good not alone

Meeting Library Association At 4 P. M. On Monday

A meeting of the Library Association has been called for Monday afternoon at 4:30 at the First Methodist Church, South. Important business is to be considered and arrangements made for the formal opening of the library on Friday, June 15. MRS. C. W. SNIDER, President. MRS. W. S. ROBERTSON, Secy.

as instructors but also as fellow workers with the management and with all other members of the faculty. Miss Berry has traveled extensively as an entertainer, and has appeared in many of the more important cities of the east and middle west, receiving every where the most flattering press and personal endorsements. With Miss Berry secured for the expression department, and with the other teachers whose services are engaged for the coming year, the Wichita Falls College of Music will have a stronger faculty than ever before, and the results shown will doubtless justify the faith the friends of the college and all good citizens interested in the work of higher education have in this institution.

In a publication of the U. S. Food Administration, of January 26th, 1918, is the following comment:

"A baking powder-concern in Chicago is distributing a placard that consumers purchase double-size packages of all food articles packed in tin, thus saving about 25% tin plate for use in ammunition. Baking powder is also recommended with corn bread and a special booklet of War Time Recipes is offered housewives who are interested."

The baking powder concern referred to was the Calumet Baking Powder Company and its efforts to conserve our resources were thus commended.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

You want style in your clothes, of course, but if you're a through and through young American, you want something else beside. You want clothes that save the things your older brothers and friends need over there in the trenches of France.

We're saying a good deal about this because it's one way of doing our bit. The more young men we can help to be wool savers, the more we indirectly help the cause.

PERSHING ASKS SOLDIERS TO WRITE LETTERS HOME
 By Associated Press
 WASHINGTON, June 8.—The war department today made public a general order issued recently by General Pershing encouraging members of the American expeditionary forces to keep up correspondence with their relatives and friends at home. One of the greatest arguments for a constant flow of letters from France and America, General Pershing said, was that it relieves much distress and anxiety on the part of relatives and friends at home.

The little girls are all under ten years of age and presented the program before an audience of about twenty-five, without any help or suggestions from grown people. They were assisted in the program by little Winbourn Gaither. The program was as follows:

Four dollars and seventy cents, representing ten percent of the Tuesday's profits at the Home Milling company have been given the Red Cross, and the company will follow the same plan in weekly donations for the next four months.

PRESBYTERIAN RED CROSS UNIT WORKS TWO DAYS

Members of the Red Cross unit of the First Presbyterian church worked at usual on Wednesday afternoon and all day Friday. The weather on Friday prevented the usual good attendance. On Wednesday afternoon the following workers under the instruction of Mrs. H. C. Munnell and Miss Bertha Mae Kemp, completed eight jackets and one hundred and forty-four surgical wipes: Mesdames Howard Beavers, Paulkney Darnell, Fowler, Kemp, Roberts, McDowell, Carrigan, Ramsey, McMillan, Quinn, Cobb, Gaffney and Misses Blair, Cecilia Adickes, Audrey Adickes, Walsh and Bauch. On Friday Mrs. J. A. Kemp and Mrs. Frank Kell were

Real Patriotism

"NO BACKSLIDING" should be indelibly printed on every American's mind these days.

We are all willing—yes EAGER to do our part, but we are forgetful. When such things as Liberty Loans, Food Conservation and Thrift Stamps are forcefully brought to our attention, we respond cheerfully, then lapse from our high ideal only too soon.

It takes dogged determination to keep on giving and saving month after month, but Our Boys and our Allies are enduring greater hardships.

They cannot stop—We must not. And every loyal American will do his share unswervingly—keeping uppermost in his mind, the two-word reminder—"No Backsliding."

"BILL" TONEY TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES

day they came they didn't have any place to eat, our mess was compelled to feed fifty after we were through. They single filed into the mess hall and got (cut by censor) at our table, stole all the salt and pepper, drank the vinegar like it was liquor. The mess sergeant had to run them off that night. They all left camp, and came back "ginned up". The next morning to their dismay they awoke in our guard house. Their boss came down gave them a stiff lecture and took them off; he says the bread and water cure is the only way they can be punished, as they are civilians. Our martial laws can do nothing with them, but believe me, they know they are in the wrong place to start a rough house. It was funny last night to see them as the artillery at the school cut loose. They were ready right then to leave. They were told they were in (out out). They are so ignorant they don't even know where they are, but take a tip from me (cut by censor) from this place in a certain direction, for if they do they will hardly be able to ever see their native countries again.

I'll bet you can imagine, you see me up in the thickest of the fighting playing some heroic part, but not so. The air squadrons are stationed in the rear of the lines. We are having an easy time now compared with the long, weary winter months of army life in France, sleeping with cattle in billets, wading in the morning to find our blankets frozen stiff and covered with snow. But that's all over now, we are settled down and things are coming our way. No more moves are expected unless we get hurry up orders to proceed to Berlin. That would be satisfactory to me, for then when we got there we could consume some of the "schapps biere"—all the "frogs" say it's great. Have received two letters from Dad but haven't had time to answer. Am writing this lone one so it will do for both. Have been busy trying to rig up a new vulcanizing plant. The one I had was too large for us, so they took it away from me, so it was up to me to make another with the aid of our machine shop; it is nearly completed. It is some job; I had to make blue prints—you can imagine how much knowledge of blue prints I have. Well, anyway I made them and so far am getting along O. K.; will complete it tomorrow. Have it rigged up in the trailer of a Fiat truck. You should see the inside of my shop. I have electric lights and a built in bunk. The room is 15 feet long. Has two windows. I hope when I get this finished they won't decide it is too good for us and take it away; but I hardly think they will, as we have a fine man for our "C. O." He will fight for us. He's a bird. Before the war he was a motor inspector for the government, was then commissioned as major; knows how to handle men; every man in the outfit likes him. If he were to tell every man over our "Y" that he was a motor inspector for the government, we would all go. Our lieutenant is now our adjutant, but is a non flyer, and they are trying to eliminate all non flyers from the air service. Don't think I am nuts, but I can't help making mistakes with this noise going on, but I thought I would try to write anyhow, for a foolish letter beats none. Speaking of letters, it's funny Gen. Pershing had to issue an order compelling every member of the A. E. F. to write home today (Mother's Day), but from the way parents back in the states are wiring and writing over here trying to locate relatives, no wonder he gave the order. I don't think you'll ever have cause to complain of not getting letters from me, for I always write you when ever I can. The Y. M. C. A. do all they can to get the boys to write home regularly. Wish you could know the fellow that presides over our "Y" but. He's a case. He was a regular rounder before he took the "sky pilot" course; is from Denver. I've heard him lecture several times in Colorado Springs. He slings the slang, and that's what the soldiers like. The pious talk don't go very far towards getting them to come in, unless there is a certain amount of comedy mixed along with it. He is always telling stories and jokes. I never saw a man with such a memory. Think of it—in a camp of a thousand men—being able to know each one by his name and has only been here a short time. I have been eating all day. We have a large case of raisins, dates and figs. Every time I pass I get a hand full. We have good chow now, but no fresh meat until the 20th, as all the meat in France has been condemned on account of no lice. By the 19th the big American ice factory will be going full force, we'll have lots of ice. Well, I've written you all I can

REBREATHING MACHINE USED AT FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, TEX., June 8.—By a "rebreathing" machine here, the first of its kind to be established by the United States government or any of its allies anywhere, aviators flying under the Stars and Stripes henceforth will be classified according to their ability to thrive in high altitudes. The machine is in a research laboratory at Barron aviation field, and is in charge of Lieutenant G. H. Hanson, F. W. Thomas and James Blair, who arrived in Fort Worth recently from Mineola, N. Y. It produces all the sensations of ascending and descending and has been in use by the German air service, it is said, for five years. Henceforth, no pilot from any of the local fields will be assigned to active duty overseas until he has passed the tests of the contrivance and been classified according to his ability to withstand altitude fatigue. Experience has taught that many air casualties are due to this fatigue. One man will be so affected that he will faint. Another will go along with his flying mechanically and with his mind so dulled that he cannot plan or execute an attack on an enemy. Still another will become stupid and his nerves will not react to the excitement of battle.

The pilots will be divided into three classes. In the first class will be those airmen who are never affected by altitude fatigue and who can ascend and fight anywhere their planes will mount. In the next class will be those whose mental faculties are dulled by high altitudes. And in the last, or third, will be those who faint under the stress.

Belgium Under the German Heel

By BRAND WHITLOCK

The White Book, issued May 10, 1915, to justify the deeds of the German army in Belgium, admits all the essential facts and attempts a justification—a plea in confession and avoidance. The claim was not that here and there some maddened and desperate peasant had fired from behind hay racks, but that the whole nation, secretly and unobtrusively, had risen and turned itself on the invader. Man hat geschossen! becomes "Der Belgischen Volkstragedie," becomes "The Belgian Tragedy." To convict a Belgian of anything the word of a German soldier sufficed. He did not have to give evidence of the fact, much less prove that he merely had to assist in it. It was that some sinister notion accounts for the fact that in the White Book there is no convincing evidence that the Germans were ever fired upon. It is indeed a fact that no serious effort was made judicially to establish the fact. As to have a town given over to fire and sword, it sufficed simply for a German soldier to cry "Man hat geschossen!" when justification is attempted it seems sufficient to say "The Belgians fired on us." The fact that in a moment of panic a soldier cried "Man hat geschossen!" is offered as proof that some one did shoot at them. Three hundred times the White Book contents itself with repeating the unsupported statement "They fired on us." It was of course sufficient for Germany, for "a German soldier said so."

In the White Book there is not a word about Namur, not a word about Etie, not a word about Gommieries, not a word about the region of the north, about sixty-five other places where there were pillage and massacre and incendiarism. The testimony, most of it gathered for the German inquiry, consists almost wholly of such statements as those of Berghausen and his comrades; they were the star witnesses. King of Testimony Germany accepted. "Men of all professions," says the White Book, "workers, manufacturers, doctors, professors, even clergymen—yes, even women and children, were taken with weapons in their hands, in the regions from which the regular troops had retired. They were shooting from houses or from gardens, from roofs and from forests, on the Germans. They used means that would never be employed by regular troops—shotguns and lead shot, old revolvers and old pistols, and they were shooting the men found mutilated or scalded with boiling tar or boiling water. In short, it is not to be doubted that the German wounded had their eyes gouged, their noses and ears and fingers and their sexual organs mutilated, their bodies ripped open; in other cases German soldiers were poisoned, speared and charred, liquid or roasted, so that they suffered an atrocious death."

And by an even more extensive flight of the imagination, one German soldier says that he saw a Belgian boy going about in a field with a basket filled with the eyes of German soldiers. And hence it was necessary to do what was done at Vise, at Dinant, at Aerschot, at Louvain and in a hundred other towns—sacked, pillaged and burned, with masses mowed down by machine guns, children murdered and women raped. And yet, the alleged firing by civilians was done on such a scale, it would seem rather simple to produce some direct evidence of the fact, and show where the soldiers, and where, and when; and the names of the numerous victims.

Doubtless it is not given to us with our common-law notions of evidence and of proof, to penetrate the mystery of the German "Man hat geschossen!" A German soldier said so. That settles it. It is, of course, inconvenient to argue with an opponent who uses such a supreme and impregnable refuge. Attempts to have all the facts submitted to some impartial tribunal, as well as appeals, were all in vain.

The Belgian senator, Magnetti, Grand Master of the Belgian Free Masons, wrote a letter, September 27, 1914, proposing to the Grand Lodge of Germany that a commission of inquiry be constituted, with delegates from the lodges of neutral countries, out the proposal was not accepted.

Cardinal Mercier's Appeal. On January 24, 1915, Count von Wengersky, Kreischel at Malines, having asked for proof as to the murder of priests in the diocese, Cardinal Mercier wrote proposing that an impartial investigation be made.

"To this end I have the honor to propose to you, M. le Comte, and to propose by your kind medium to the German authorities, that the commission of inquiry be composed equally of German delegates and Belgian lawyers, to be designated by our chief magistrat, and presided over by the representative of a neutral country. I am pleased to believe that His Excellency the Minister of the United States will not refuse to accept this presidency, or to entrust it to a delegate chosen by him."

In their response to the French Catholics, the German Catholics, speaking of the violation of nuns, say that when the German Governor-General in Belgium addressed himself on the subject to the Belgian bishops, the Archbishop of Malines, Cardinal Mercier, caused it to be made known that he could furnish no precise information as to any case whatever of the violation of nuns in his diocese. Thereupon Cardinal Mercier published his correspondence with Baron von Bunsen on this delicate subject, in which he said that the priests were bound to respect secrets of the confessional, and physicians those of their professional, and they would not submit any nun to an interrogatory, and that no good could come from a discussion of the subject. But when his words were misinterpreted, he wrote, "I wrote indeed to the Governor-General that I could furnish no precise information, because my conscience forbade me to deliver to any tribunal whatever the information—alas! too precise—which I possess. Assaults on nuns have been committed. I believe them, happily, to be not numerous, but they occurred, to my knowledge, several times."

The Cardinal thereupon published in its entirety his correspondence with the Governor-General. The White Book is fully analyzed by the Grey Book of the Belgian government ("Response au Livre Blanc Allemand, etc. 1916"), and in a memoir published in 1917 by the Belgian government (Armees allemandes a Louvain en aout 1914, et le Livre Blanc Allemand de 10 mai 1915). This review is a very able and conclusive examination and presentation of the subject.

Monsieur Ruten, Bishop of Liege, as early as August 16, 1914, had written to Commandant Bayer, German Military Governor of Liege: "I appeal to your heart as a man and a Christian and I beseech you to put a stop to the executions and reprisals. I have been informed repeatedly that several villages have been destroyed; that many notables, among them priests, have been shot; that others have been arrested, and all have protested that they were innocent. As I know the priests of my parish, I cannot believe that any one of them was guilty of acts of cruelty to German soldiers. I have visited several hospitals, and have seen that they are as well cared for as the Belgians. They themselves have testified to this. I do not wish to discuss past events. I only ask of you, in the name of humanity and of God, to prevent acts of reprisal against our harmless population. These reprisals can no longer have any useful object, but will only push the population to the depths of despair."

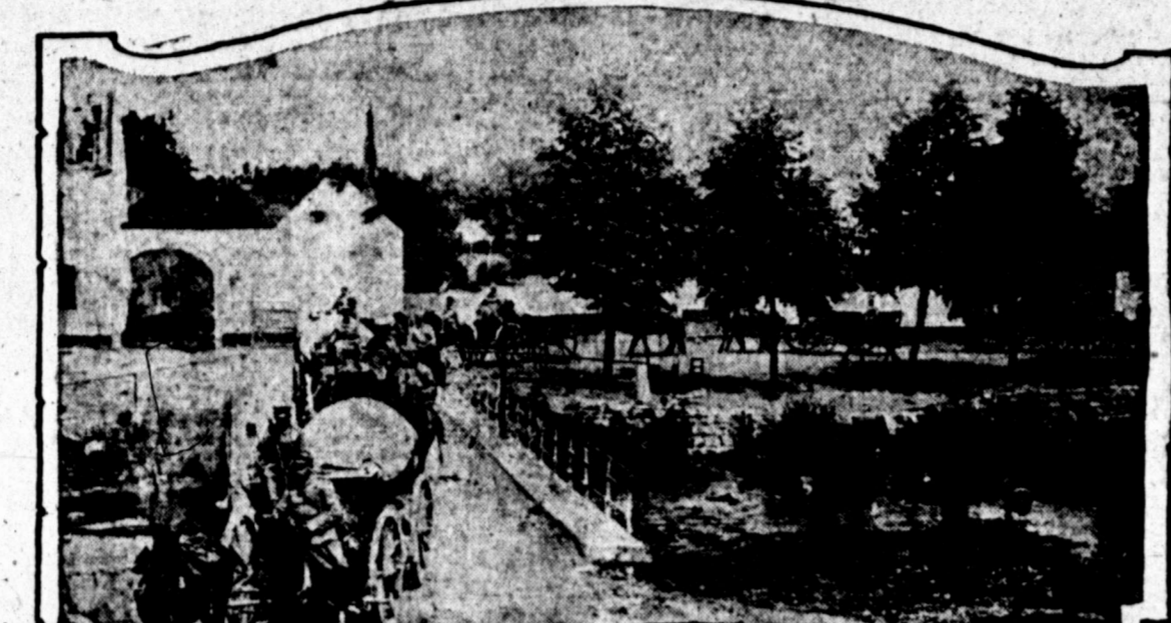

"I should be pleased to discuss the matter with you, for I am confident that it is your wish, as it is mine, to lessen the hardships of war rather than to increase them. At the last minute I learn that the curate of R— has been arrested and conducted to the Chartrouse (a fort), I do not know what the accusation against him is; but I do know that he is incapable of committing a hostile act toward your soldiers. He is a good priest, gentle and charitable; lay him in for him, and beg you to send him back to his parish."

Letter to Clergy of Germany. And Cardinal Mercier and the five bishops of Belgium, on November 24, 1915, wrote a collective letter to the cardinals and bishops of Germany, Favarla and Austria, in which this touching passage is to be found: "You will say perhaps, 'It is past; let us forget it. Instead of pouring oil on the fire you had better strive to pardon and to collaborate with the power in occupation, whose sole desire is to heal the wounds of the unfortunate Belgian people.' Oh, your eminences and dear colleagues, do not add irony to injustice! Have we not been, are we not continuing to be, tortured with sufficient cruelty?"

"You say, 'All is past; accept it with resignation, forget!'—The past, all the wounds are bleeding! There is not an honest heart that is not inflamed with indignation. While we hear our government say to the world, 'He is twice guilty who, after having violated the rights of others, still attempts with the most audacious cynicism to justify himself by attributing to his victim faults that he himself has committed,' our people can only keep back with violence words of male-diction. Only yesterday a farmer of the neighborhood of Malines learned that his son has died on the battle-field. A priest tries to console him, and the brave man replies: 'Oh, this one—I give him to my country. But my other son, they took him from me, the accursed ones! and like cowards shot him and threw him into a ditch!'"

It had been said that after Louvain orders were given at Berlin that the policy of "schrecklichkeit" be discontinued. If such orders were given they were neither enforced nor obeyed. All through the battles of September, about Antwerp, the same thing went on; the tragedies of Termonde, of Liege, were enacted there. And after Antwerp, when in October the Germans got down into West Flanders, where the Belgian army made its heroic stand along the Yser and blocked the way to Calais, the tragedies of Roulers, of Furnes, of Ypres, of Perwez, of Boesinghe were the result.

And right here we have the key to the mystery: If one will take a fairly large map of Belgium and lay one's right hand upon it, with the wrist at Aix-la-Chapelle, the base of the palm on Liege and the fingers outspread toward the Belgian coast, the thumb will touch Dinant, the index finger Nivelles, the middle finger Brussels, the second finger Antwerp. The five fingers thus disposed will represent in a crude figure the progress of the German forces that, in August, 1914, invaded the little kingdom they had sworn to protect and defend. The first of these, that went southward at about the line marked by the thumb, was the army of the Crown Prince, the next was the army of the Duke of Wurtemberg, the next of the army of von Hansen, the next the army of von Bulow, and the last the army of von Kluck. And it was in the area covered by the hand that the atrocities for the most part that the Germans got into Flanders, were committed.

low. Checked before Namur, they sack Andenne, Bouvignies and Champagne. Compelled to give battle to the French army in the Belgian Ardennes, they ravage the beautiful valley of the Semois, destroy the village of Rossignol and exterminate its entire male population. Checked again by the French on the Meuse, the awful carnage of Dinant results; and on the Sambre by the same army, they burn Charleroi and enact the appalling tragedy of Taminies. At Mons the English balk them and all over the Borinage there is systematic destruction, pillage and murder. The Belgian army drives them back from Malines, and Louvain is doomed. The Belgian army, falling back and fighting in retreat, takes refuge in the forts of Antwerp, and the burning and sacking of Hougaard, Waver, Otignies, Grimde, Neerlinter, Weert St. George, Shaffen and Aerschot follow. The Belgian troops inflict serious losses on the Germans in the south of the province of Limbourg, and the towns of Lummen, Bilsen and Lanaken are partially destroyed. Antwerp held out for two months, and all about its outer lines of fortifications there was blood and fire, numerous villages were sacked and burned, and the beautiful valley of Termonde was destroyed. During the last days of September, the village of Boortmeerbeek, near Malines, occupied by the Germans, was retaken by the Belgians, and when the German army entered it again they burned forty houses. Three times occupied by the Belgians and retaken by the Germans, Boortmeerbeek was three times punished in the same way. That is to say, everywhere the German army met with a defeat it turned on the civil population and punished it. The Belgian army, however, helpless and unoffending civilians. This happened so many times and so precisely in the same way that its significance cannot be avoided. To all this is a striking corollary: But there is a striking corollary to all this. In all those regions where the Germans could pass without resistance from the Belgian or French or English troops there were no massacres and no incendiarism in the German discipline as of German organization. There is, of course, much of both in Germany, but the discipline is mostly of the military kind. There seems to be little self-discipline. There are no sports in Germany and the sense of fair play is not developed. The idea of "playing the game" does not exist. It is said that German school boys see nothing out of the way in snitching, in informing, and are encouraged to do so. And even the higher officers so easily fly into a rage—like the general in Brussels flinging his kept and gloves on the floor when suddenly he became furious with the Bourgmestre. The German language, so wonderfully rich, has a word for it—"Wutherei." They used to tell a story in Brussels of a sentinel in the old Ministry for Foreign Affairs, in the Rue de la Loi, who, halting some one, was instantly inundated by a flood of such shocking German oaths that he hastily saluted and allowed the man to pass.

"Why did you let him pass, dumb-kopf?" demanded a sergeant, rushing to the post.

"I thought he was an officer!" replied the sentinel.

They have a word, too, for the state of wild and beastly rage into which the Wutherei so easily flies—Jahzorn. It may have been "schrecklichkeit," or it may have been "jahzorn"; perhaps it was both.

There should be some word, however, for the worst deed of all—that which followed this. For all those deliberately organized massacres of civilians, those wanton murders and outrages, the violation of women, the killing of children, the destruction, the burning, the looting, the pillage, until whole towns were annihilated, as Carthage and Pompeii and Heracleum were annihilated, and their people either massacred or sent forth to wander on the face of the earth—these were not the worst. It was not the worst even that, after having repelled the dishonorable advances of Germany, Belgium, should have been violated by force and that all these outrages should have been committed to punish her for her virtue. The worst is that, after this, the assailant should have tried to justify the deed by trying to sully the reputation of the victim. There is no word for that—in English, at any rate!

WICHITA FALLS CONCERN BUYS ANOTHER STORE

The Campbell-Anderson Co. has added another mercantile establishment to its chain of stores. The company has acquired the A. Levinson store at Seymour. The Seymour Banner has the following announcement of the purchase: "A deal was closed the past week whereby Mr. A. Levinson has sold his dry goods store in Seymour to Campbell-Anderson Co. This company of stores at Abilene, Wichita Falls and Eastland. Mr. Campbell is at Abilene and Mr. W. W. Anderson at Wichita, the latter being here for the purpose of helping invoice. Mr. Floyd Hardin will be here as local manager and will be joined by his wife when he can make necessary arrangements for a residence. The store is closed this week preparatory to a big sale which opens Saturday.

Mr. Levinson has been a citizen of Seymour almost since the town was started and it will look like breaking up housekeeping if he leaves. However, his health necessitates a change, and he will be out of active business for a while. As stated by him, he will be here for the remainder of this year. We regret to lose him from our list of dry goods men and hope him the best of good fortune in whatever he may undertake. If it was necessary to lose Mr. Levinson the town is fortunate in the people who take his place. They are responsible in every way and have made an enviable reputation at the other towns where they have been in business. Mr. Hardin appears to be an excellent citizen, and Mr. Anderson, another fine man, will be with us frequently. We hope them good fortune with their store, and trust that their faith in the country, at a time when the faith of some wavers slightly, will be abundantly rewarded by the prosperity which may be here in the future and in which we are sure they will enjoy a liberal share.

GERMANS RAZE 100 CHURCHES BISHOP SOISSONS REPORTS

By Associated Press
PARIS, June 8.—The Bishop of Soissons who is now in Paris, today described the havoc wrought in the bishopric of Soissons during the recent offensive of the Germans. He said 100 churches had been razed to the ground by the Germans and that at least 100 others have been pillaged and partly demolished. The famous cathedral in Soissons suffered severely.

The bishop added that the Germans knew neither faith nor law; they knew nothing but war and pillage. They were methodically stripping and carrying away everything, he said.

The bishop also asserted that women, children and old men had been brutally murdered by German aviators who flew over and with their machine guns fired on long lines of refugees on country roads.

Heyser Withdraws As Candidate For County Judge

S. Heyser yesterday authorized the announcement of his withdrawal as a candidate for county judge. Mr. Heyser is withdrawing because he believes it is his duty to serve the government. For several Mr. Heyser has been a special agent of the department of justice and has done an invaluable work for the government. He has filed application for work in the intelligence section of the army, and if not accepted in this section will probably serve in the line, unless the government desires his services elsewhere. Many are anxious that he continue to serve the government here, feeling that his work is highly important and that he can not be replaced.

CITIZENS RAISE $1,100 TO BUY BAND INSTRUMENTS FOR CALL FIELD

More than $1100 was raised by a committee from the Lions Club for the purchase of instruments for a band at Call Field, in a three days canvass. The committee was comprised of J. S. Pitman, T. B. Noble and E. Liepold. Taking into consideration the many calls that have been made upon the business men of Wichita Falls within recent weeks, the response was a most generous one.

The order will be placed with the C. J. Conn Co., at Elkhart, Ind. The instruments, 24 in all, including 5 drums, will be shipped by express and unless there is unexpected delay should reach here within the next ten days.

It is said that the government will send a band director here and a band will be built at Call Field at once.

There is plenty of talent at Call Field for a fine band and it is the purpose of the authorities at the Field to make it the pride of the city as well as of the field.

Weekly concerts will be given down town and the band will be available for special occasions.

World's Record In Shipbuilding Made At Orange

By Associated Press
ORANGE, TEX., June 8.—What is claimed to be the world's record in ship building was eclipsed this morning at the National ship yard when the work of erecting 79 frames in one of the world's largest wooden steamship hulls was accomplished in thirty hours and thirty five minutes. This beats the world's record made on the Pacific coast where 79 frames of similar size and type were erected in 44 hours. It is claimed here. So far as known there is no better record. The margin over the Pacific coast record attained today is 13 hours and 25 minutes.

THE SLACKER.

(Note.—The following was written by Mary Johnson, twelve years old.)

There was an old woman
 All ragged and gray
 Who begged on the streets
 The live-long day.

He had a son
 And ten-five,
 Who loved his money
 And loved to thrive.

He loved to drink
 And sport around,
 And spend his money
 With the toughs of the town.

Finally the people
 Got tired of the sight
 And said, "Old fellow,
 You will have to fight."

So off he was sent
 To the camps to be trained
 To fight the Boche
 In snow and rain.

So his poor old mother,
 Whom he had neglected so long,
 Was taken and cared for
 And given a home.

By our dear Red Cross,
 Who extends her hands
 From America's shores
 To No-Man's-Land.

 HARRISON THEATRE CO.
 COMING NEXT MONDAY

BIG TENT WILL BE ERECTED ON THE CORNER OF TENTH AND OHIO STREETS.

Mr. Harrison wishes to announce to the people of Wichita Falls that the company will be here for at least two or three weeks. It has been over a month since the company played here and at that time it was very hot. The company consists of 35 people, all artists in their line and a fine number of plays will be produced while the show is here. The opening play will be "The Love of a Thief" in three big acts.

The company made a long railroad jump to come back here and it is very hard to get cars to move with, so if the cars do not get in Sunday night it will probably be Tuesday night before the show commences. Mr. Harrison has one of the best equipped tent theatre companies in the United States. The tent is all floored from the front to the stage and elevated so every one can see and hear good. Even the side seats which are only ten cents there are foot rests.

Before the war prices, 10c, 25c, 35c. War tax included. Doors open 7:45. Curtain 8:45. Look for the band. 23-1c

As Light Goes Through Glass

Just as light rays penetrate through glass, so current passes freely through Threaded Rubber Insulation. Nearly 200,000 tiny threads in each insulator mark the path for the current flow.

The hard rubber stands guard against the formation of short circuits between battery plates.

There's another reason why the Still Better Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation is worth so much more than its slightly higher cost. It's the one and only battery with the "Bone Dry" principle that is your absolute assurance of getting a battery as new as the day it left the factory.

Peerless

"Dual Personality" in a Motor Car.

Motor Cars, when they have had sufficient power and speed for pleasurable distance-driving, have been extravagantly wasted of fuel for every-day utility-driving.

But in its Sporting Range the Peerless Two-Power-Range. Eight competes successfully with even those master cars designed especially for power and speed without regard for the gentler virtues.

While in its Loafing Range the Peerless asks no favor of those cars which excel in soft, smooth, economical operation but make no claim to power and speed.

You can not imagine the thrill of such contrasting performances in one and the same car until you experience it.

You cannot appreciate the satisfaction of real operating economy without sacrifice of power and speed until you own the car of "dual personality"—the Peerless Two-Power-Range, Eighty Horse-Power Eight.

Let the Peerless dealer demonstrate—you will enjoy a new motor car and determine how you may lessen the expense of ownership and increase the pleasure of owning a motor car.

COUPLE HELD HERE; LIQUOR FOUND ON PREMISES

Jack Porter and wife were placed under arrest Friday for being in possession of liquor within the ten mile zone. In a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Lantz Saturday morning they waived examination. Porter was released on $750 bond and his wife on $500 bond. The arrest resulted from a raid made on the Porter home on Indiana avenue last Sunday night, at which time a large quantity of liquor was seized, which is now in the hands of the United States Commissioner.

Hugh Jerrit of Bowie was bought before Commissioner Lantz Saturday on a charge of selling liquor without government license. He was arrested on a copias based on an indictment returned by the last federal grand jury. He was placed under bond of $500.

SUGAR FOR CANNING CAN BE OBTAINED

Housewives can obtain any reasonable amount of sugar for canning purposes, County Food Administrator W. S. Currie announced yesterday, in reply to a number of inquiries that have been made. The only requirement in this connection is that the applicant sign a pledge and agree to return any unused portion of the sugar sold for canning within twenty days.

It is believed there will be an ample supply of sugar here for canning requirements.

The WORLD'S GREATEST PHONOGRAPH

The truly remarkable and rapid growth of the SONORA is due essentially to three reasons: First, because of its undisputed and proven superiority in tone. Second, because of its wonderful quality throughout. Third, because every SONORA machine sold has made a SONORA champion and enthusiast, and each machine in turn has developed new friends and enthusiasts, thus creating an endless chain of admirers who have formed the greatest staff of salesmen we could ever hope to employ.

A critical comparison of all phonographs invariably results in favor of the SONORA. STONE QUALITY—Tone is the essence of a phonograph, and in no feature does the SONORA excel to a greater degree. All the velvety smoothness, all the delicacy and fragility, all the vigor and resonance of the original are retained by the SONORA, which has a special appeal for those whose musical tastes are cultivated and discriminating. It does not, however, require a fine perception of differences of tiny degrees of tone quality to appreciate SONORA.
