Undressed and No Place to Go

Four boys in a wheelbarrow, under a gushing fireplug, may make an amusing picture, but there's danger ahead. Supervised play in modern playgrounds would add greatly to summer safety.

Gene Worley Returns To Capital As President Puts Him On Inactive Duty

Congressman Gene Worley, now on active duty "somewhere in the Pacific," will return to Washington as soon as possible in reply to the president's order placing all house and senate members now in the armed services on inactive duty, effective as of July 1.

Worley, who is a candidate for re-election to his congressional post, is expected to stop over briefly in this district before his return to active duty in Washington; but his campaign managers state that he probably will not arrive before the primary, July 25, and in the meantime friends throughout the Panhandle territory are carrying forward Worley's campaign.

The congressman joined the navy as a lieutenant commander soon after war broke out in December in an effort to carry out his campaign pledge that he would join the armed forces if he voted for a declaration of war.

Worley's offices in Washington have been kept open throughout his term of active naval duty and his secretarial staff has taken care of routine business of the office.

Time Now To Sign Scholastic Transfer

"It's transfer time again," says County Judge Lee Thompson urging parents of children who will transfer to a new school district this fall to come by the county superintendent's office and sign a transfer slip to get all records in order.

Students who will require a transfer slip, the county superintendent says, are those whose grades are not taught within their own district and those who have moved to a new district within the county or to another county within the state with territory adjoining Parmer County.

Final date of signing scholastic transfers is August 1 and Mr. Schroeter invites persons who are in doubt as to whether their children will require a transfer to discuss the problem with him.

HOME FROM INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Reeve and daughter, Miss Ruth, returned Friday evening from a visit with relatives and former neighbors near Indianapolis, Ind.

While away they also visited points in Ohio and Pennsylvania making a call on their son-in-law, Harlan O'Rear, at Warren, O., and their son, Charles Reeve, at Champaign, Ill., both of whom are away taking special training for civil service work.

They encountered heavy rains and some high water while crossing Illinois and Missouri. Mr. Reeve reports crops as promising in those states, with corn good, much of it waist high or better.

Save Metals, Cooking Fats

A huge collection of household fats and scrap metals is the goal in the latest government sponsored salvage drive which is already in progress all over the nation.

The Parmer County Salvage Committee feels that now that harvest is practically complete more time can be given to the scrap metal drive and that a big collection can be made here. Farmers are urged to gather up their metal even if it is necessary to take a day off from regular duties to get the job done. Instructions to all persons who collect scrap are to take it to the nearest scrap metal dealer, where payment will be made on a basis of the current market price.

FAT SALVAGE
The fat salvage campaign is renewed proof that the kitchens of the country are fast becoming the arsenals of the allies. From the waste fats in frying pans, roasting pans and broilers of the nation will come glycerine, from which are made explosives vital to the war effort. The fat should be strained to (Continued on Back Page)

Crop Loans Now Available Here

Emergency Crop loans for the production of winter wheat and other small grains are now available to farmers in Parmer County, and applications for these loans are now being received at Frank Spring's office by Leo Forrest, Field supervisor, of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit association, banks, or other private concern or individuals.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing his land and seeding his 1942 grain crops.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of grain crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed.

Thieves Bag 100 Hens At Price's

Some time last Saturday afternoon, while Mrs. Roy Price and her children were in Friona, thieves visited their home and took away about 100 of their 150 laying hens.

Mrs. Price noticed that she did not get nearly so many eggs as she had been getting, but owing to the fact that it was late in the evening she did not notice that many of her hens were missing. However, on Sunday evening she gathered about 15 eggs instead of 70 or 80, and she began to take notice. She could count only 50 of her 150 hens.

When Mr. Price arrived home he began a search for clues but had learned nothing definite.

BOY SCOUTS, NOTICE!

Every Boy Scout of the Friona Troop is asked to be present at a Scout Meeting in the Methodist Church annex next Tuesday night at 9 o'clock. Important.

Repeating his statement that only a unified effort of all farmers in Parmer County can rid the county of the serious grasshopper menace, County Agent Garlon Harper reported this week that some progress was being made in killing the hoppers and that farmers who have put the poison bait out according to prescribed methods report good results.

Hoppers are grown now and in many cases are moving out of wheat land onto land where other crops are growing, the county agent states, adding that since the hoppers are grown, poisoning around the fence rows will not get the job done and the poison will have to be scattered over the entire farm. To do such a big job, a spreader will be required and some farmers are using planting boxes on their tractors while still others are having spreaders built from the back end of an old car.

The mixing station at Bovina is doing a big business, Harper says. Some days nearly 20,000 pounds of bait have been mixed and farmers are convinced that the poison mix will really get the job done, if applied properly. Farmers at Oklahoma Lane and Lariat, according to Harper, are approaching the problem right and are working together to spread the poison at night.

Plenty of bait is still available and Harper reminds farmers that it must be put out just after sundown or just before sunrise to get the best results.

Rain Prepares For Row Crops

Friona and immediate vicinity was visited last Friday night by the best rain it has had for several months, when a precipitation of an estimated two inches was received. This is the first rain received here since April that has wet the ground deep enough to prepare for row crop planting.

Reports state that to the north and northwest of Friona the fall was much heavier than here but became lighter farther south. Only about three quarters of an inch was received in the Home-land community. To the southeast of Friona, the fall reached an estimated two inches and more in some localities.

South and east of Friona the rain was accompanied by a strong wind and some hail in spots. Two windmills, one at the Syndicate Hotel and the other some distance east of there, were blown down during the storm but no unusual wind was noticed at Friona.

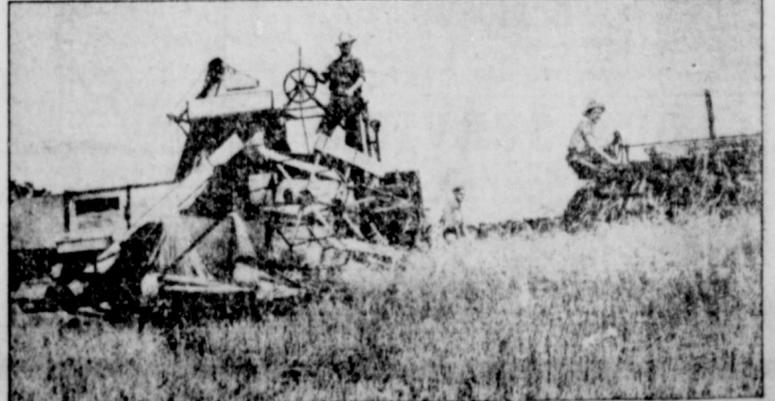

The hail, wind and rain was accompanied by an electrical storm. No damage was done in this locality by either the wind or the lightning, and the farmers are grateful for the generous rain.

Harvest Wheat in Shadow of Plane Plants

First wheat of the 1942 crop in Sedgewick county, Kan., is harvested in the shadows of large Wichita airplane factories where thousands of workers are backing Uncle Sam's war effort. Kansas expects the largest wheat crop in years, although lack of labor may complicate its harvest.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

I have stated in this column many times the fact that I love Friona some times giving some of my reasons for having bestowed a goodly part of my affections upon this little city. (And, by the way, why not some time be able to say just "City", leaving the word "little" off?)

I have been doing a lot of cogitating, off and on about this city. For instance, just why was Friona located in this exact spot, rather than farther east or farther west? Can any of my readers tell me that? Of course we may all have an idea as to why it was placed here, but do you really know the true reason or cause for this location? If you do, and will tell me I will see that you get a year's subscription to the Friona Star, free. I really want to know the real cause for this effect.

If anyone can give me this reason, then I may be able to determine whether or not that same reason will hold good today. That is, if Friona were to be located today, would those same reasons be considered. If such a reason would not be considered today, then that fact has become a liability to the city, rather than an asset, and while we cannot very well change the location of the city, our citizens will be confronted with the duty of producing some other condition to take its place that will remove the liability and produce an asset if we are to make of Friona the city it can and should become as a trading center and a desirable place to make one's home.

I have frequently seen it stated that "Cities do not grow; they must be built," and if that is a fact, they must be built by the people who live in them and that is exactly what must become the job of our people who live here. It has also been said that "God made the country, but man made the cities;" therefore the country will grow of its own accord if it is deserving of growth, because God made it; but the city must be built because man made it.

In my cogitations along these lines it has occurred to me that one of the best means of helping to build our city is for each one of its people to "know Friona" himself, and having known it, to tell others about it; and in knowing it, make an honest effort to know all the good things about it as well as the undesirable things, should there be any things of that sort. And especially is this true of the merchants and business men who are making not only a living for themselves and their families, but perhaps great wealth as well. They especially should know their city and should tell it to their neighbors within the city and also to the people of the surrounding territory from whom they must draw their patronage and their support. Tell them and keep on telling them until you have convinced them that you are right about it. In other words—advertise it.

I am sure our local paper, the Friona Star, will most gladly lend the use of its pages toward the gathering and dissemination of all such information. But some say, "Nobody reads that little paper." That is a misconception, actually, for I am receiving information and indisputable evidence every day that people do read it and read it most carefully, too. I am told that the Star does not boast so much about the quantity of its reading matter, but that it does feel proud of the quality it puts out. In other words, it makes every reasonable effort to secure an absolutely correct version of the news matter it contains and uses all available sources for securing correct statements.

I sometimes hear some of our merchants say they do not have the time to read it. Too busy making money, I suppose. But if they only knew it, the 15 minutes required to read it in its entirety, may be the most profitable 15 minutes per week which they spend in their mad rush for affluence. I have heard it stated about some papers that they can be read through by "the light of a match"; but the Star cannot be read through so quickly, unless, perhaps, it might be a "slow match" and it is a risky and dangerous act to undertake to read anything by the light of a "slow match". Better not try it.

I heard a local business man state over a year ago that if Friona wanted ever to become anything more than it is now it would have to do it within the next two years. He may have been right. I do not know; but, at any rate, a little more than one of those two years has flown by which is making his time set quite short; and while we may not accomplish much in the remaining portion of the time, we can at least make a start. And a start must be made if accomplishments are to come. We can do nothing with the water that has already gone over the dam, and if we have lost opportunity by irresolution and inaction, there is no good to come from crying over spilled milk. Many good things have been accomplished in other cities not too far removed from us and such things are not impossible for Friona.

I am no believer in starting enterprises that have to be begun and supported by subsidies provided by the city or by individuals. I believe in the maxim:

"Let every tub stand on its own bottom," and an enterprise whose bottom is not broad enough to support the "tub" and all it may contain and must be propped up by subsidies that will eventually break down is not likely to be of any real benefit to the city in which it is located.

Some of such enterprises have already been established in Friona and are living evidences of the fact that such things can be done right here, the same as in other cities. They are making money for their originators and furnishing employment for a number of our people at the same time.

Here is something which I am copying from the Publishers' Auxiliary, and is somewhat in the form of a prophecy, and again I will say that I do not know as to the virtue or potency of the prophecy or statement:

"You probably will never again have as good a chance as now to improve business in your town. The tire shortage is bringing new opportunities to small towns. People can now be influenced easier than ever before to shop at home. Make sure that farm families choose your town rather than some other one to do their trading in."

If that is to be accomplished, then the great big majority of our people and especially of the business interests must cast their efforts toward the accomplishing of that goal. And there are many other factors in this effort other than fair dealing and modest prices that go to build up a commendable reputation for a city, and there is not a citizen in any city that cannot practice these factors.

There is going to be another big nation-wide drive for scrap metal and of course that will hit Friona and the Friona territory, and the Star expects to do its part in publicizing this big drive. This will be one good way to place our city and community on the map as an active, energetic and patriotic community, by reaching our quota and more, and doing it promptly and thoroughly. It requires but a few hours' drive through this community to convince one that there are many many tons of scrap metal still scattered promiscuously throughout the territory. We cannot get it nor wear it and we are too far from any river to let it be of any use to us as sinkers for fishing line, so what else can we do with it but sell it? And since our nation needs it so badly for defense purposes, to whom can be more profitably and easily sell it?

Let us do all in our power to get every pound of available scrap metal into the hands of our government to aid in our national defense and thereby win for our city and community an enviable record for patriotism which will also be one of the best acts for publicity as a social and commercial locality.

I now quote from Boyce House's "I Give You Texas":

Folks, old Boyce House is so busy that let's fill up the space this week from a quotation from a man who can really write—former Governor Pat M. Neff, my good friend, as he is the friend of all the 6,500,000 citizens of this State. In his book, "Making Texans", he pays this tribute to "The Hen":

The hen, hatched and raised in the lowly environment of the barnyard, has scratched her way to fame and fortune. Though she lives and labors in humble surroundings, her cackle—like the voice of freedom—is heard around the world. Hers is a universal language. It is understood wherever the tongues of men fashion the symbols of speech. Her beauty is unadorned in the realms of art but she is known wherever the dinner bell is heard or the banquet board is spread.

Hers is not the elfin grace of the swan. Hers is not the sweet song of the canary. Hers is not the colorful glory of the peacock. Hers is not the arrogant pride of the eagle. And yet all these feathered favorites combined do not rank as high in the affairs and the affections of men as does the placid, the diligent and the unpretentious hen. "Pay as you go" is the hen's policy. She is self-sustaining. Not long ago, a carload of hens was shipped from Texas to New York and they laid enough eggs on the trip to pay for the freight.

This is an age of substitution. We substitute cotton for silk, oleomargarine for butter and jazz for music; but there is no satisfactory substitute for the vitamin contents and mineral compounds of an egg. The hen has less than a teaspoonful of brains and she boasts of no college degree; yet she is the most expert alchemist of the ages. She mixes in her simple laboratory the elements of calcium, magnesium, iron, sodium, potassium, chlorine, sulphur and phosphorized fats—mixes them into rich and well-balanced nutrients in a sanitary and protective shell. She defies the world to make a substitute.

The home is the hub of humanity. On its stability, civilization depends. The hen is a home-maker. She supplies the table, fills the wardrobe and lifts the mortgage. The farm wife of the henless home has no bank account. The hen is the only servant that can just "lay" and still make money.

The hen, feathered aristocrat of the barnyard, the only billion-dollar bird beneath American skies, should be our national bird. No longer should the selfish, haughty, arrogant eagle, which never earns an honest dollar, adorn the nation's coin. Contrary to the American spirit the eagle makes war on smaller birds and steals its daily food from creatures weak to protect their own. All you can say in favor of the eagle is that it flies above the clouds and builds its nest high on the mountain crag. Its meat, its feathers, its eggs and its offspring are worthless in both the homes and the marts of men.

The image of the honest, patient hen, who, by picking up the scattered grain and turning it into gold, has made her business one of the biggest industries beneath the American flat—here is the image that should go upon our coin. She graces alike the paltry meal of the plebeian and the epicurean board of the plutocrat. She cackles but she does not crow. Her daughters are everywhere; her sons never set. Hats off to the hen!

Thank you, Governor Neff.

County Agent News

By GARLON A. HARPER
County Agent
A. & M. College Extension Service

Last week we talked about the job the farmers of Parmer County have in helping to win the war. This week let's think just a little about how we as Parmer County farmers can streamline our plans and operations to accomplish these objectives.

There are so many emergency jobs which come up which our farmers can help to work out, and then our farmers have so many emergency problems of their own in times like these which need some outside help that it may all become somewhat confusing to many of us. There is an organization which has been set up in the county (and over the entire nation) which can be of material help if it is used properly in helping to solve these problems. That organization is the Agricultural Victory Council. This organization can best be described as a "human chain" for handling emergency war information. It is so set up that each community of the county has a community Victory Leader. Working under that Community Victory Leader are several Neighborhood Victory leaders who have direct contact with ten to 20 farm families located immediately around the Neighborhood Leader. When any information needing immediate attention from farm families comes up the Community Victory Leader are notified. They in turn notify their Neighborhood Victory Leaders who are able to contact their assigned farm families immediately and quickly.

It should be understood that this "human chain" of information works both ways. Not only will information come down to them from State and National headquarters but their problems may be sent up the chain to authorities who have the power to act on them. For example, the labor question during harvest time may become serious during the war. Farmers needing labor may notify their leaders who will immediately send this information up the chain where it will reach those who may know of available labor which can be directed to where needed.

Cooperative action in times like these is essential. The proper use of this organization will go a long way in solving many of our problems which have been brought on by the war and will help us in producing foods which are needed as well as help us in doing our share of other jobs during the war. Every farm family should know who their leader is and contact them regularly. Those people who have been selected as leaders have expressed their willingness to serve and we are sure they will do a good job if they are given the cooperation of the people of the county. Let's use this organization to the fullest extent.

BEAVER ORPHANS PERISH

Things like this will happen. A man saw a mother beaver with two young on a ledge below Marshall Ford Dam in Central Texas. The mother fled on being disturbed. The man was relieved of the two tiny beavers by the Game Warden and the animals were placed in a small pen and given food. But two days later they died. If they had been left alone the mother beaver would have returned and raised her young.

E. C. Nelson

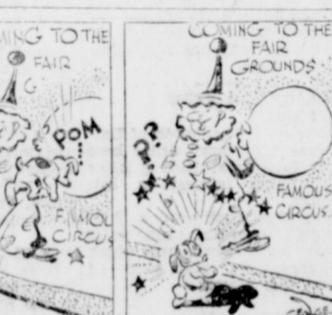

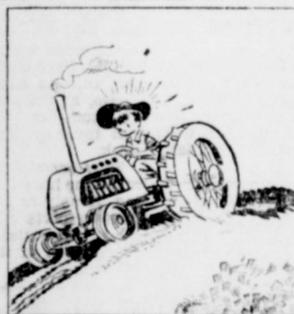

Judge E. C. Nelson is a candidate for Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals. This is one of the highest judicial offices in our State, one that demands the most thorough training and the widest possible experience. Judge Nelson has attended and graduated from the leading universities and law schools in our country, giving him an educational background of the highest order.

He taught school for five years before entering the legal profession, and served two years in the United States Army during World War I, fourteen months of his service being in France.

He has had a well-rounded legal experience. He has been a licensed attorney for more than 22 years. He has practiced law in all of our courts and has been judge of all courts of record up to the Court of Civil Appeals. As an appellate judge, he will be able from his own experience to review a case from the standpoint of both the practicing lawyer and the trial judge. He is now District Judge of the district composed of Potter, Randall, and Armstrong Counties, and his record as a trial judge is one of the best in the State.

Judge Nelson is 51 years old, just the right age to undertake the work of an appellate judge. He is old enough for maturity, experience and judgment, and young enough for the years of hard work the position requires.

The size of the district has made it impossible for him to see all the people, but he solicits the vote and influence of all our citizens. (Political Adv.)

The revival meeting at the Baptist Church begins Sunday morning, July 19, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services. Rev. E. J. Speegle of Clovis will do the preaching. We believe God is depending upon the Christian people of Friona to do their best for Him during these trying times. God has always blessed His people when they meet His conditions for revival. The young people are going ahead with their fall program planning. Much of our time from now on will be given to plans for summer camp. Those who have already attended are eager to renew friendships and meet new ones, those who have never attended do not know what they have in store for them. WHAT'S NEW IN VEGETABLE COOKERY

By Elsie Cunningham
Home Demo. Agent of the Texas A & M College Extension Service

Victory Gardens are beginning to bear so we are turning our thoughts to getting the vegetables on the table. It's one thing to produce foods containing all the nutritive values our bodies require for good health and it's another thing to get them to the table containing all of the nutritive values nature puts in them.

Nutrition authorities today are recommending new ways of cooking vegetables—ways that are radically different from most of the methods that have been considered correct up until now.

Your job and mine is to see that Americans are well fed. Every man who dons a uniform is learning acads of new things in doing his part to win the war. Why should you and I be exempt from new things? It takes us working together to keep up with science.

You may have to "unlearn" many of the things you have learned heretofore but that's all right—Isn't it? Go right ahead and unlearn them. Practice what the nutritionists preach today! Remember, the U. S. needs us strong!

Here are the approved new and healthful ways to prepare vegetables and fruits:—

1. Cook with a minimum of water.
2. Cook as quickly as possible.
3. Cook whole and in the skins as often as possible.
4. Save the liquid the food was cooked in.

Not hard is it? You don't have a lot of expensive cooking utensils in order to carry out these simple rules and you don't have to stand over a hot stove hours and hours preparing a meal. What ever you do—don't overcook—if you want to get all of those vitamins nature put in food—don't let vegetables stand in water—don't add soda to preserve the color, it destroys vitamins—don't prepare vegetables until time to serve or cook them.

Wash them as soon as you bring them in from the garden, put them in a covered pan and keep them in a cool place until ready to use them.

I seem to be using a lot of don'ts—please excuse just one more. Don't keep hot cooked vegetables standing a minute longer than necessary before serving. Time their cooking so that they "come out even" with other foods for the meal. If for any reason they must be kept waiting for some time after cooking, set them off to cool then reheat them quickly just before serving. This is important!

The following instructions give you the general directions for cooking vegetables to save vitamins:

For Green Vegetables as snap beans, lima beans, etc. Cook uncovered in not too deep pan, with just enough boiling water added to keep vegetables "boiling." Cook until vegetables are tender. Do not drain. Season with salt, pepper, and butter.

For Strong-flavored Vegetables as cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and whole onions, cook uncovered, in not too deep layer, in just enough boiling water to nearly cover vegetables; cook until tender and drain immediately. Discard cooking liquid for sake of palatability.

For Red Vegetables as beets and red cabbage. Cook, uncovered, in a small amount of boiling water just until tender; drain immediately. If vegetables fade, add 1 to 2 tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar just before serving, to restore red color.

For White Vegetables as parsnips and potatoes. Cook covered, in just enough boiling water to cover until they are tender but still hold their shape; drain immediately.

Spinach and other leafy vegetables wash thoroughly in several waters, then lift leaves into large saucpan containing a small amount of boiling salted water. Cook rapidly, uncovered, until barely tender, 8 to 10 minutes. Drain and discard cooking liquid.

Panned Vegetables: Panning is a quick and easy, top-of-stove way to cook many vegetables: it is thrifty of food values too, for the vegetables are cooked and served in their own juices with just enough fat to season. This is how vegetables are panned—shred or cut vegetables in small pieces. In heavy saucpan heat to boiling 1-4 to 1-2 cup water and a tablespoon or two of oil, butter, or other fat. Add vegetables at once with salt and pepper; cover tightly and cook about 10 minutes, or just until tender.

Let's Cook Something

No one seems to know where this recipe originated nor to whom it really belongs. It is delicious and almost a meal in itself, it serves as a salad and as vegetables, and combined with a meat dish of ham or fried chicken, it just about rings the bell. Include it in your July menus.

CABBAGE SURPRISE

- 1-2 pound Longhorn cheese
- 3 small or 1 large summer cabbage
- 1 cup cooked macaroni (cut fine)
- 1 cup cooked carrots (cut fine)
- 1 cup tomato juice
- salt and pepper
- buttered crumbs

Steam the cabbages, remove a slice from the top, scoop out center leaves. Make a stuffing of the grated cheese and diced vegetables (may be left-overs); moisten with the tomato juice and season with salt and pepper. Fill cabbages with the mixture and cover with buttered bread crumbs. Set upright in deep casserole, surround with a cup of hot water and bake in oven at 350 degrees F. until crumbs are nicely browned.

EUGENE WORLEY Goes Back to Congress

At The Request of President Roosevelt

Congressman Eugene Worley sent word last week from a far-away port in Australia that he would return to Washington in compliance with a directive issued by the President, calling all members of the House and Senate who are on war duty, back to Congress.

It will require a few weeks for Gene to reach American shores but as soon as he does he will head straight for his district to talk over the war situation with you before resuming his duties in Washington.

Gene has been aboard a U. S. Aircraft Carrier at Pearl Harbor and off the Coast of Australia for the past six months. He volunteered his services to his country when he voted for war—just like he told you he would. He did what his predecessor, Marvin Jones, did in World War I, and what Senator Tom Connally did in 1917.

When he enlisted in the Navy in January, Gene said he would return to Congress when the President called him, and he is keeping that promise, too. He will return with a vast amount of first-hand knowledge of this war that will be helpful in shaping our future course.

Gene will not be back in time to ask you for your vote, but his friends ask you for him.

News of AAA Farm Program

By JOHN MARTIN, Administrator

The measuring of farms for general compliance in connection with the 1942 Agricultural Conservation Program for Parmer county will, in all probability, begin during the week of July 20. Individual notices will be mailed to each producer in the county within the next few days advising them of the exact date that compliance will begin. We are hoping for the usual cooperation we have enjoyed with the producers of this county.

To date 20 Commodity Credit Corporation grain storage bins have been delivered to producers of this county. We are in receipt of bill of lading for 35 bins to be delivered within the next few days; a total of approximately 140 bins have been ordered for Parmer county to be used in storing 1942 and 1941 loan wheat. Producers will be notified immediately upon arrival of these bins and we ask that they make every effort to unload the bins immediately in order to avoid demurrage charges.

On July 20 and 21 a school and examination will be given for the purpose of employing performance reporters to measure land in Parmer county in connection with the 1942 Agricultural Conservation Program. We are faced with the possibility of a shortage in employees for this purpose, therefore in order that we might complete the measuring of land at an early date and be able to issue benefit payments to the producers within the near future we urge that each boy or man who is interested in doing work of this kind be present at the AAA office at 8:00 A. M. on the above dates. The regulations provide that each person employed in this capacity must first show by written examination that he is qualified to do this work. The rate of pay this year will be $5.00 for eight hours for performance reporters and $3.00 for eight hours for chairmen. Employees of the association now have priority rating where by they are eligible for re-tread tires when it is necessary in the execution of their duties.

Farmers who have placed orders with the AAA for prefabricated grain storage bins are hereby advised that on July 14, five cars or 25 bins were delivered to Friona; one car of five bins delivered to Farwell, and two cars or ten bins to Bovina. If you have an order in for one of these bins, please contact the AAA office immediately in order that the bins may be unloaded from the boxcars and demurrage charges avoided. In the event you have ordered a bin and have made other arrangements for the storage of your wheat, please notify the AAA office so that your order may be cancelled. Your immediate cooperation in this matter will be appreciated.

Chants of the Chanticleer . . .

There were lots of people in town again last Saturday afternoon and all of them seemed to be in the best sort of humor, judging by their jesting, laughing and good-natured rally. Are they "war conscious"? You just bet they are. If they were not, they had plenty here Saturday afternoon to remind them of it, as there were several of our soldier boys here on the streets mingling with the rest of us.

ERIC RUSHING HERE

A popular member of the Saturday afternoon throng was our friend and former townsman, Eric Rushing. Everybody knows Eric. He was one of our popular merchants for several years, then he served several years as our efficient County and District Clerk. He is now a citizen of Portales, N. M., but is, apparently, the same old Eric. His Friona friends were pleased to have him here, and he took pleasure in teaching some of us what he called the "New Mexico" hand clasp.

One friendly group was composed of Mr. Sheehan, Zach Malone, Oscar Pope, Joe Bell and one or two others. Their chief topics of conversation were the crops, the hail losses, the wheat yields and the WAR. Sugar and tire rationing were also mentioned, but not a word of complaint or grouching. They took occasion to poke quite a bit of fun at the "Chanticleer", but we were able to take it. One fellow grasped our arm and remarked that "Some people thought we are bloated, but it was not true—it was just pure old solid-bone." We asked Oscar Pope if he was still in a good humor and he replied that he is always that way, which verified our statement about him two weeks ago.

Joe Bell put in a part of the day, Wednesday, cutting the weeds in the rear of Ben Gallo-way's store. He seemed to be doing a very thorough job, and if he does not charge too much for his services, we may have him cut some weeds for us.

V. L. Todd, from away south of Friona, seemed pleased with the amount of rain that fell at his place Friday night. V. L. was in a cheerful mood, but it was easy to detect by his remarks that some things are not going to his liking, and he is usually about right in his surmises.

Alex Boatman of Hub stated that he is through with his wheat harvest, and that he had about three-fourths of an inch of rain at his place Friday night which was accompanied by con-round huts. I'm sure you have seen pictures of them. They are made of sheet iron but are insulated mighty well and are real cool. We are right at the water's edge and are under the pine trees that line the coast. They say that this camp cannot be seen from the air because of the trees. They tell us that we are going to get a five-day leave here some of these days. If they don't give me some traveling time besides the five days, I can't come home and have any time to be there. I can refuse my leave and get a $25.00 extra check for the time I spend in the camp. If I don't get the extra time I'm going to take the 25 bucks and stay here. If I can get three days extra I am going to come home, 'cause I could have about three days to be there. The round trip would cost me only $36.70 and it will be the last chance I will get to come till after the war is over. The officers say that as soon as the leaves are over we will be off for Island ?? I've just about learned how to swim. I have been in four times and am coming along pretty well. There are always lots of the boys in. I've got to go now and do some washing. Write sometime whenever you can. Lots of love,

Son.

FOUR MORE BOYS LEAVE THURSDAY

Lee Spring, S. V. Chitwood, Jim Griffith and C. L. Vestal, Jr., were scheduled to leave Thursday for the army. Several others, it is reported, are called for their first examination some day next week.

James Edward (Jimmie) Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams, has been transferred to the Pacific coast. His new address is: James Edwards Williams, S-2-C, Navy Recruiting Sta. Bremerton, Washington.

Pvt. P. L. New, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. New, was a week end visitor here with his parents. Pvt. New is stationed at Camp Berkeley.

PRIVATE VIRGIL WEIS WRITES
The Star office has received a letter from Pvt. Virgil H. Weis, considerable hail and a very strong wind. No special damage was done, however.

W. H. Hainey, who lives east of the hotel, stated that his health is better and he is gradually growing a little stronger, but his recovery is entirely too slow to suit him. He lost most of his wheat by the hail storm of June 14th, and his row crops are backward because of weather conditions. He says he has lots of work that should be done but he is physically unable to do much of it. But he has not yet "struck his colors", and is facing his reverses with a cheerful countenance.

Mrs. Oscar Pope, who had just received a letter from her son, Pfc. A. L. (Alva) who is now with Uncle Sam's forces in Oregon, told of his sincere appreciation of the Friona Star which comes to him regularly each week. He says he has lots of work to do, but is liking army life real well.

The Senatorial race was mentioned frequently and one man was heard to remark that Alired has the backing of the administration; Moody has the backing of the Texas newspapers; and that O'Daniel appears to have the backing of the voters, but was still wondering just how it will all come out.

John Silvertooth says he is still for O'Daniel "tooth-and-to-nail" and has received from the Senator a package of his pictures and window cards and several extra copies of "The O-Daniel News", which he is distributing among his friends.

HAD LEG BROKEN SECOND TIME

While hauling grain with a tractor on his farm 18 miles northeast of Friona on Thursday evening of last week, C. W. Dixon's foot or leg became entangled in the tractor's power take-off and the leg was broken.

This is the second time this leg has been broken within the past year, Mr. Dixon having been jerked from the running board of a pickup while trying to rope a calf several months ago.

The leg was broken in the same place of the first break, the first break not having fully healed at the time of the second accident. Dixon was taken to a Dallas hospital Thursday night.

Before starting for Dallas, Mr. Dixon hopped into Jack Anderson's barber shop on his crutch and laid his broken leg across a small table without even a grimace of any expression of pain and conversed about his farming and wheat crop while Mr. Anderson treated him to a hair cut.

Mr. John White:

I received the Friona Star today and was sincerely glad to get it. It makes me feel better when he can read the news from home. I have been in the camp since June 3, 1942, and like it fine. I thank you a lot for sending the paper.

McLELLANS IN SERVICE

A letter was received last week from Mrs. O. D. McLellan, of Tulsa, Okla., who with her husband and son, O. D. Jr., formerly lived at Friona, and still have relatives and many friends here. Believing that the letter will be of interest to a large number of local people, we quote it here:

Dear Mr. White:

The Friona Star came to my old address yesterday and I saw where you had received my card, so I imagine you have been too busy to change the address. I surely will appreciate it if you will send it to our new address as soon as you can. O. D. Sr. has joined the Sea-bees of the Navy, and expects to leave any time now for naval base for training period of six weeks; then he will help build naval bases outside of the United States. O. D.
